Baldy Cotton added his bit, saying that you will never get enough topnotch NHL players, but must build from the ground up for first-class material. He felt that, barring another world war, the brand of hockey was improving rapidly both in amateur and pro, and would soon be at an all-time high. But, he added, there were plenty of openings for promising young material at top prices.

Lynn Patrick, who turned down a New York offer and retired to Vancouver, was coaxed back by the Bruins to handle them this year, and Mr. Ross said he was tops as a coach. The young NHL club players were hustling for him all the way, and the Bruins' manager said Conny Smythe, Jack Adams and the others would have plenty of trouble with the Boston club before the NHL schedule ended.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

The annual meeting of the skips of the Peterborough Curling Club for the purpose of choosing their schedule rinks for the coming season, will be held in the club parlors next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. All skips are urgently requested to attend. If you are a skip and you cannot attend, please see that your vice-skip is there.

Peterborough Ladies' Curling Club held its meeting on Wednesday afternoon. They, too, chose their schedule rinks for the coming season. Mrs. T. Doughty and Mrs. V. Selkirk were appointed tankard skips. The ladies are looking forward to a big season and we believe their membership is somewhat larger than last season. Mrs. J. Green, president of the ladies' club, presided.

They intend holding a general meeting on Friday, November 3, at 3 o'clock.

Frank Sexton To Tackle Henning

Frank Sexton, former world's heavyweight pro wrestling champion, has been matched against Lee Henning for the main grapple bout next Tuesday evening in the Brock St. Arena. The husky ex-champion has not been seen in Peterborough in a long time, but he was a highly popular and colorful—as well as capable—wrestler who had many followers in this district when he performed before in these parts. This may be his only appearance here.

Lee (the Leer) Henning showed here last week in that sizzling team bout, he and Wee Willie Davis defeating Pat Flanagan and Toar Morgan, the bout nearly ending in a riot. Fans still resent the mean manner shown by Henning when he deliberately kicked and jumped on Morgan as the latter lay, knocked out, on the arena floor after going through the ropes. The Sexton-Henning bout should be a hot one. Two supporting bouts are being lined up this weekend for the card.

Cavanagh's Roll High In City Bowling Loop

Cavanagh's were tops among City Bowling League teams at Duffus' last night, with a hefty 3,419 total, while Bond's Clothes rolled best single of 1,209. Tony White of Sunocos led the way for individuals with a triple of 828 and Jack Barnes of Esquires had leading single of 350. Some fine bowling was served up all evening as this neat loop rolled into high gear.

Tony White's 828 was closely followed by Ray Clifford's 822, while good singles after Barnes' 350, were Ron Bassett 345, Ray Clifford 322, Vince Anthony 321, Eldon Downer 307, Fred Martin 304 and Stan Murduff 301. McGillis took over first place as they blanked Moore's, and four-point games were registered by Campbell & Best, Esquires, Shockey's, Dunn's and Cavanagh's over Fashion-Craft, Sunocos, Clapper's, Swartz and Bond's in that order.

Hawks Force Canadiens To 3-3 Draw

By The Canadian Press

The 1950-51 edition of Chicago Black Hawks seems a bit stronger than a couple of hockey-wise men have figured it to be.

The Hawks came within an ace Thursday night of ruining the National Hockey League season opener for Montreal Canadiens, rated top contenders for the league title.

Penalties late in the game, played before Canadiens' largest opening-night crowd on record—14,224—forced the Hawks to settle for a 3-3 tie and one point in the league standing.

Even at this stage of the race, their performance, however, stamped them as a force to be reckoned with during the 70-game schedule.

The result of the night's lone game left Detroit Red Wings, league and Stanley Cup champions, alone in the lead with two points picked up from their 3-2 victory over New York Rangers in Detroit Wednesday.

Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs, the loop's other two teams, swing into action Saturday when the Bruins visit Montreal and the Hawks invade Toronto.

Appear Unimpressed

The Canadiens took to the ice only a few hours after their coach, Dick Irvin, said they could win both the league title and championship. They appeared unimpressive, for all their goals came while Hawks were short-handed.

Irvin had support for his choice in Toronto, where general manager Conn Smythe of the Leafs told a press conference he figured Canadiens and Detroit were the teams to beat.

Roy Conacher, who bagged the 198th goal of his NHL career, opened the scoring at 7.35 of the first period. It was the only Hawk goal scored while they had an advantage in manpower.

Veteran Elmer Lach knotted the count less than four minutes later on passes from Glen Harmon and Doug Harvey.

Bill Mosienko sent the Hawks out front with the only goal of the middle session, and they moved two up after [illegible] of the final [illegible] Bodnar.

Ken Mosdell and Floyd Curry were the marksmen for Canadiens as the Hawks failed to kill off penalties in quick succession to Doug Bentley, Ernie Dickens and Jack Stewart.

Mohawks Flatten New Haven Eagles 8-3

By The Associated Press

The amazing Cincinnati Mohawks are the rage of the American Hockey League.

Last year, theeir first in the circuit, the Mohawks finished last in the western division, although they were pretty hot in the latter part of the season.

This year the Mohawks are setting the pace in the infant season and are showing no signs of relenting.

They stretched their unbeaten record to three games Thursday night by snowing under the New Haven Eagles 8-3.

Hershey Bears and the Springfield Indians battled to a 3-3 overtime tie.

OHA Season Opens

TORONTO, Oct. 13 — (CP)—Eight of the 10 teams in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A League swing into action in season openers tonight. Waterloo plays at Guelph; Galt at Barrie; Marlboros at St. Catharines, and St. Michael's at Stratford. All 10 teams play Saturday.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Dick Irvin and Conn Smythe seem to have one thing in common. Both pick Montreal Canadiens to finish well up in the National Hockey League this season.

Irvin told reporters in Montreal Thursday night that his Canadiens not only will be in the Stanley Cup series, but can win it. Smythe gave an even more surprising assessment of Canadens' strength, coming as it did from the major domo of Montreal's arch rivals.

The Maple Leafs' general manager told a press conference in Toronto that he was picking Canadiens to finish in second place. He picked Detroit to repeat in first spot.

Smythe predicted his Leafs will finish "about third." He said Toronto will have quite a team "if our youngsters grow up and play as professionals instead of as juniors or seniors as happened last year at times."

Concerning rookie left winger Danny Lewicki, Smythe said "he's another boy on a man's job, I'm afraid. However, we'll give him a chance." About rookie defenceman Hugh Bolton, he said "if he steers away from injuries, I think he will become the first defenceman to be named the N. H.L. best rookie of the year."

Smythe said goalie Turk Broda —at 36 the oldest player in the league—will start the season in the nets. "However, Al Rollins, his understudy, will get enough games to show whether he's a prospect or not."

At Montreal meantime, Irvin went on record as saying that Canadiens can win the Stanley Cup if one player comes through 100 per cent. The player? Defenceman Doug Harvey, said Irvin.

All that's needed, added Irvin, is for Harvey to shed a tendency to hot-and-cold play and to produce consistently a fighting spirit and a will-to-win enthusiasm. That could make the difference in the whole team, he thought.

Two jockeys were taken to hospital for observation and three others were shaken up in two spills in the third race at Toronto's Long Branch race track Thursday. The riders taken to hospital were Hugh Campbell and Willie Zakoor.

The first spill occurred on the first turn when Kanhythe broke a leg and fell. Geemanjo, racing behind, fell over her. As the other horses turned into the stretch Laffaday crossed her legs and fell bringing down Northern Thrust and Hemflag.

The favorite, Five Fourteen, escaped any trouble and registered a half-length win.

In Sydney, N.S., it was learned that Dick Wray of Listowel, Ont., problem player with Saint John Beavers for the last two years, has been suspended by the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association.

It was understood that Wray's suspension was for playing in a league game without a release from Beavers.

Wray has played two games so far this year with Chicoutimi Saguenays of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Jake Mintz, manager of Ezzard Charles, said in New York Thursday that the heavyweight champion definitely will defend his title in Cincinnati Nov. 30 — against Freddie Beshore or some other opponent yet to be selected.

At San Mateo, Calif., meantime, promoter William P. Kyne announced he has offered $100,000 for Charles to defend his title against Joey Maxim, light-heavyweight titleholder, in San Francisco Feb. 22.

At Newmarket, England, Winston Churchill's horse, Colonist II, scored his fifth straight victory Thursday in winning the 1¾ miles Lowther Stakes. Britain's wartime prime minister flew there from Copenhagen to watch the race.

Brothers Meet After 59 Years

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 13 (AP) — The man tried to hide bashfulness behind a wide grin as he stuck out his right hand.

"Hello," he said to a larger man who grabbed his hand. "You are Ewen, aren't you?"

"I certainly am. How are you Albert?"

The brothers Ewen and Albert Macdonald sat on a sofa in the home of Mrs. Rufus Warren and looked over each other.

"Let's see," Albert said finally, "you're 69 now."

"And you're 84," Ewen replied.

Which was all the conversation the brothers could come up with during the first few minutes of their meeting. Both were too surprised to do much talking.

Albert stopped off for a visit on his way from his home in British Columbia to Detroit.

Ewen last saw Albert when the older Macdonald said goodbye and left their home in Wilkesport, Ont., to go to British Columbia. That was March 24, 1891.

Trinity College School Bows 12-1 To UTS

TORONTO, Oct. 13—University of Toronto Schools Firsts defeated Trinity College School, 12-1, in a scholastic exhibition football game on a muddy Varsity back campus Thursday.

The Port Hope school took a 1-0 lead in the first few minutes of the opening quarter, but went no further. After Jim Arklay had done the kicking on a rouge, the home side took over and dominated the scoring for the rest of the game.

Stuart Matthews was the leading point-getter with a touchdown and two converts, but the day's most spectacular play belonged to wing-back Bill Corcoran, who caught a 35-yard pass one-handed and went 10 more yards for the second major. Another Corcoran touch was called back in the fourth quarter when UTS was offside.

Suspend 3 Players in Soccer Fracas

HAMILTON, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Three members of Hamilton Westinghouse Soccer Club were suspended Thursday and a fourth censured as a result of a scuffle during last Saturday's Glebe Cup match with Toronto Canadians in Toronto.

George Campbell, veteran Hamilton captain, was suspended until May 1, 1952, by the National Soccer League executive. Goalie Tommy Love was suspended to Aug. 1, 1951, Hugh Suttie was suspended for the rest of this season, and Dave MacNichol was censured.

Referee Bob Crawford, who brought the case before the executive following the game, said he was struck during the match. He laid civil charges against the players, but said he will withdraw them as a result of the league's ruling.

Aiming For Big Force

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)— Gen. Omar Bradley reported Thursday night that the United States military high command is aiming for an armed force of 2,100,000 men by next June, with 62 air groups and 905 navy ships.

May Quit Yankees Joe DiMaggio Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(AP)— Joe DiMaggio, who finished the 1950 baseball season in a blaze of glory, is not sure he will return to the New York Yankees next year.

DiMaggio, discussing his ailments of the past season, said Thursday: "I finished strong, felt better than I had all season and really felt great in the Series.

"But I can't be sure about next year. I'd like to know how my health is going to be. I don't want to go through 1950 all over again."

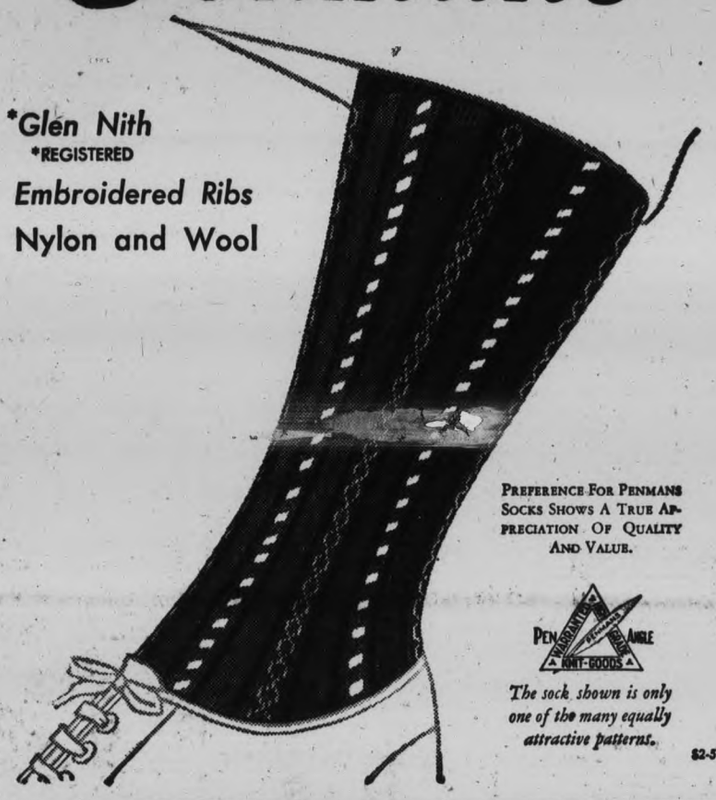
The Yankee star, who earned $100,000 this year, also said he sees no reason for taking up contract negotiations at this time.

DiMaggio, who wound up with a .301 mark, plans to leave soon for his native San Francisco.

230 Lepers Escape

ATHENS, Oct. 13—(AP)—All or most of the 230 inmates of the Leper Colony on the island of Spinalonga have escaped and many of them are hiding on Crete. Police have picked up 22 of them. The lepers were angered because their defands for a higher subsistence allowance and better medical treatment were turned down on grounds of economy.

Candidate Withdraws



OTTAWA, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer, said Thursday he had been notified that Rene Cazes, a Liberal candidate in the October 16 federal by-election in Rimouski, had withdrawn from the contest. Still in the running are Maurice Tessier, Rimouski lawyer and official Liberal candidate; Joseph Herve, of Trois Pistoles, who designates himself as a Liberal, and Lucien Robitaille, of Rimouski, Independent.

Danny Kaye In No Hurry Try Television

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13 (AP)—While nearly every other top comedian is scrambling to television, Danny Kaye is in no hurry.

"I don't think I'll do TV for a couple of years," he remarked on the set of "On the Riviera." "Everything is in too much of a turmoil. I'll wait until it simmers down."

Kaye does not even own a television set. But that will soon be changed. His three-year-old daughter, Dena, has put pressure on him into ordering one.

Friday Footnotes

Robert Young, now in "Goodbye, My Fancy" with Joan Crawford, is playing his first film role since last December. A long-time free-lancer, he reports the independent field is rugged these days. The major studios are using their contract players and independent producing is largely on the rocks. Meanwhile, more players are being dropped by studios and joining the free-lancers.

Dan Dailey is playing one of his rare non-musical roles in "I Can Get It For You Wholesale." Which kind of film does he prefer? "The pay's the same for either one," he shrugs.

Bill Maudlin is finishing up his first screen role in "Red Badge of Courage." How he would like to do more? "I'd have to be awfully broke," said the baby-faced cartoonist.

Doris Day is off the Bob Hope air show this season. The reason "Bob wants to do a lot of travelling this year and I can't do that and pictures, too."

Capsule Review

"Two Flags West" is just a fair western, despite its big cast and handsome settings. All of the elements for greatness are there, but the whole thing stumbles into a muddy plot. It centres around a headstrong cavalry commander, who is getting to be pretty familiar in bigtime horse operas. Joseph Cotten, Linda Darnell, Jeff Chandler, Cornel Wilde and some fine photography help make it passable entertainment.

Oleo Output Shows Increase

OTTAWA, Oct. 13— (CP) — Margarine production continued to climb in September, while butter production fell off.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday that butter-substitutes manufacturers produced 7,962,000 pounds of margarine in September, compared with 6,710,000 pounds in August and 7,035,000 in September, last year.

Nine-month output for 1950 totalled 69,601,000 pounds, sharply up from last year's 53,078,000.

Creamery butter production during September totalled 28,081,000 pounds, compared with 30,686,000 last year. Output for the nine months totalled 217,271,000, against 226,431,000.

Output of cheddar in September declined to 11,931,000 pounds, from 15,034,000 last year and in the nine months to 80,436,000 from 92,523,000.

Spain In Optimistic Mood Things Looking Brighter

By HENRY BUCKLEY

MADRID, Oct. 13 (Reuters)—Spain is in an optimistic mood this autumn.

The $62,500,000 Spanish loan voted by the United States congress has played an important part by injecting an optimistic tendency into the business world.

The invitation by US military authorities to Spanish officers to attend "Operation Rainbow" manoevers in Germany also strengthened the feeling that Spain is becoming less isolated.

Furthermore, editorials in several British papers, formerly sharply critical of Spain, have recommended restoration of full diplomatic relations between Britain and Spain.

Excellent Summer

The invasion of foreign tourists filled hotels and brought considerable trade to city shops. For the first seven months of the year, tourists totalled 230,000 compared to 300,000 for the whole of 1949. All holiday resorts reported an excellent summer.

Miners, railwaymen, bank employees, building workers and newspapermen are among the many categories of employees who have had substantial increases awarded them by the labor ministry following negotiations between workers and employers.

In Spain, strikes are prohibited. Negotiations between employer and employee take place under government supervision. If agreement is not reached, a labor ministry ruling is the final word and is binding on both sides.

These wage increases have come at a time when, although prices of manufactured goods are tending to rise, food prices on the whole are stable.

Belatedly, but on her own feet and with no Marshall Aid "crutches" to help her in her convalescence, Spain is getting out of the wood of economic ills resulting from a civil war, followed by world war.

This recovery is attributed by many commentators to Spain's faith in free enterprise.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco has never liked nationalization and, except for the fusion of some 80 railroads into one big state railway concern, no key industry in Spain has been taken over by the state.

U.E. ASKS WAGE INCREASE NOW

15c PER HOUR INCREASE FOR ALL GE WORKERS

20c PER HOUR INCREASE FOR SKILLED AND OTHER DAY RATE WORKERS IN GE

The GE Workers of Peterborough and Toronto, who are members of the UE, have by membership decision instructed the Joint UE GE Conference Board to immediately proceed to open negotiations with the Company for a 15c per hour general wage increase, and 5c per hour additional wage increase for skilled and other day rate workers.

The following is, in part, the official request made to the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd.—

Mr. H. M. Turner, President,
Canadian General Electric Company,
212 King Street West,
Toronto, Ontario.

Dear Sir

This letter is to advise you that the UE Locals which are parties to the agreement between your Company and the Union have by membership action instructed their Joint Conference Board to communicate with your Company, and request a meeting between the parties for the purpose of negotiating an immediate increase in take-home pay for all GE workers covered by the agreement.

This request of the Locals arises out of the new set of economic conditions prevailing today, wherein substantial, rapid and continuing increases in the prices of the commodities going to make up a working family's budget have already cut deeply into the standard of living of the workers. This is happening at a time when, by all reports available to the public, the net profits of the corporations are rising to new heights.

Further, it is common knowledge today that many, if not most, corporations, recognizing the above stated facts, have in some cases initiated, and in other cases willingly co-operated with the unions in opening and concluding negotiations for wage increases in the middle contract periods.

We would, therefore, urge that your Company make early arrangements for the commencement of negotiations as requested by the membership of this union.

Yours very truly,
C. S. JACKSON, President,
District 5, U.E.R. & M.W.A.

IMPORTANT FACTS

The cost of living index is now 169.8 points. This is an increase of 14.8 points since GE Workers last received an increase in take home pay.

On the Government's own method of calculation, this represents a rise in the cost of living of 15c per hour.

Increased taxes equal approximately $25.00 per month for each working family, or approximately 15c per hour.

Food for a family of four that cost $10.00, now costs more than $40.00. The Government Food Index is now at 218.6 points.

The parent Company of GE reported an overall profit of 77 MILLION DOLLARS for the first 6 months of 1950, compared to 46 million for the same period of 1949.

Many other Companies have recognized the effects of high prices on their workers' living standards and have granted wage increases.

CGE is the largest employer of labour in Peterborough.

Our wages help to increase the purchasing power in the city.

When we receive a wage increase the money is spent in Peterborough and many people benefit.

When we do not receive adequate wages, and instead the money goes to shareholders outside our city, the hole community suffers. The purchasing power is lowered.

The justification of our request for a general wage increase can readily be seen.

The Cost of Living Index equals a minimum of 15c per hour rise since GE Workers last received a wage increase. Increased taxes equal approximately 15c per hour increased living costs. Other Companies have granted wage increases to help offset the rise in living costs.

The CGE can well afford to pay wage increases out of the profit they are making. The Company has an obligation to provide Workers with a decent standard of living.

The UE has blazed the trail for improved living standards for the Peterborough workers. The UE will continue to insist on workers receiving adequate wages and proper working conditions!

OUR CASE FOR WAGE INCREASES IS A COMMUNITY CASE.
WE SOLICIT YOUR FULL SUPPORT IN OUR ENDEAVOURS.

Want To Raise Funds For WI

BETHANY, Oct. 13 —(ENS)— Ideas for methods of raising funds were asked for at the October meeting of the Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. Mansell Finney.

Mrs. H. L. Challice, presided, Mrs. Hope Rayson gave a talk on the Traditions of Thanksgiving, Mrs. Ona Thorndyke read a poem and Mrs. T. Jenning spoke about the preparation in the factory of breakfast cereals.

During the business session, it was decided to lend the institute card tables to the Ladies' Orange Lodge for euchre parties. All members were requested to attend the meeting of the fire prevention committee called for October 23. It was decided that this branch would not apply for the legislative grant for this year.

Miss Lily Thompson invited the members to her home for the November meeting; the roll call to be answered by a Remembrance Day Thought. Members were also requested to submit ideas for raising funds for the branch at that meeting.

Mrs. R. Palmer moved a vote of thanks to the hostess and to those who had assisted with the program and lunch.

Sunday Marks Church's 50th Anniversary

BETHANY, Oct. 13 —(ENS)— On Sunday, Bethany United Church will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the present building.

The celebration will mark the 25th year the church has been used as a United Church. The first 25 years were spent in the Methodist Church. Church union in 1925 marked the dividing point.

The Rev. T. G. Husser of Millbrook will preach both morning and evening services, and the choir has prepared special music for the anniversary. Guest soloist will be F. Allan Clark, Toronto. On Monday, women of the congregation are holding a supper in the church basement.

Early Records Lost

Though early records of the church have been lost and the date of building the first Methodist church in Bethany is not known, it is known that the first religious services in the district were held in Josiah Wilson's barn, now owned by T. J. Jackson.

The ministers of the two denominations came on alternate Sundays to conduct the worship of the early settlers of Manvers township.

Some time later, the Methodist congregation built a chapel at what is now known as Graham's Corners, a mile west of the present village, and so-called because a family of Grahams owned 600 acres around the corners.

The Bible used in the church today was presented in 1860 by James Little, and the inscription reads: "Presented to Grameses Hill (Graham's ?) Chapel as a New Year gift by James Little, Esq., 1860." Below that inscription is another: "To Bethany Chapel, December 7, 1870."

These inscriptions indicate the Methodists had some sort of chapel in 1860 and a newer one in 1870.

A son of pioneer settlers, Robert McMullen, 87, is an elder in the church at present, and was a member of the board of session in the old church. From his memory comes much of this information.

The first Methodist Church in Bethany was a tiny white frame building, on the same property, quite close to a blacksmith shop, owned by Robert Kennedy. Much of the material for the new chapel came from the church at Graham's Corners.

When the church was rebuilt and enlarged in 1899-1900, during the ministry of the Rev. Thomas Brown, it was moved to the present location, slightly to the west of the original site.

The deed of the land was registered in 1876, but old-timers say this does not necessarily mean the property was purchased then. Grantors of the deed were Charles Reynolds of the township of [illegible] his wife Catherine Ann.

Deed Grantees

Grantees of the deed were "Isaac Preston of the township of Manvers; John Richmond Taylor of the same place, Merchant; Thomas Magee, James Brown, and James Wilson, of the township of Manvers, Yeomen; Charles Columbus Cain of the same place, Miller; and Peter Shannon of the township of Ops in the county of Victoria, Yeoman; and the trustees of the Methodist Church of Canada.

At the time, the preaching circuit was composed of the churches of Bethany, Lifford, Fleetwood, Hebron, Yelverton and Franklin. Two ministers handled this district—a senior minister at $600 a year and a junior minister at half that sum.

The junior minister was usually a student who came in only on weekends.

Besides the ordained ministers, there were several licensed local ministers, among whom were: T. R. Richardson, James Steer, W. J. Grandy, John Lowes, William Lee, Silas Beer, and A. H. Monk.

Circuit Changes

In 1901 Hebron church closed, and Ebenezer was added to the circuit. In 1921 Lifford, and in 1931 Franklin churchs were closed both for lack of members. In the latter year, Ebenezer was made part of the Cavan circuit but returned to the flock in 1947, when the church at Fleetwood was closed.

The first parsonage was situated on property now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Edmunds. In 1917, the trustees purchased the home of the late Silas Beer on the main street, and it remains as the minister's home to this day.

Gifts from members of the congregation have helped furnish the church. The bell which still rings out its call to worship, was presented by the Graham family, who contributed time, work and money to the church.

John Graham was one of the carpenters who helped build the church. James Graham was first treasurer, and Thomas Graham was the first Sunday School superintendent, and the first recording steward.

The communion table was precented by Mrs. Lavina Murphy, and a mirror was placed in the choir loft in memory of Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer.

FIFTY YEARS OLD is Bethany United Church, but it has been a United Church only since 1925, when groups of the Methodist Presbyterian, and Congregational Churches united. Inset is Robert McMullen 87, one of the original members of the Board of Bethany Methodist Church, and still an active church worker.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

It was Sept. 22, 1949. At Little Rock, Ark., Toronto Tip Tops were matched with the Clearwater (Florida) Bombers. Tip Tops had battled their way undefeated through the cream of North American softball teams—with the world title as their goal.

Faced with the Bombers' ace hurler, the Toronto team trailed from the 3rd to the 7th inning—then tied it up, 1-1. For the next 10 frames the teams battled a deadlock. Suddenly Tip Tops rallied. In the 18th they blasted two men home . . . and became the first Canadian team to win the world softball championship.

Close teamwork has won many firsts for Canadian sportsmen. And teamwork, with sportsmanship, can help you, too—in work and play. Together they keep your scope for opportunity in Canada . . . unlimited.

Cattle Trade During Week Reported Dull

TORONTO, Oct. 13— (CP). — Cattle trade was dull with prices firm on cows, bulls and fed yearlings and steady on steers and heifers at the Ontario Stockyards this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today. The supply was largely of plain quality.

Calves, lambs and sheep were steady. Hogs settled 25 cents a hundredweight lower.

Cattle receipts of 4,254 head were chiefly of plain quality slaughter cattle and stockers. Included in the run were 2,400 Western stocker cattle.

There were no choice weighty steers offered, while medium to good weighty steers sold at $25-$27.50. Common weighty steers sold downward as low as $23. A sprinkling of good light steers and heifers ranged from $20-$26.50.

Good cows brought from $18.50 to $20; canners and cutters mostly sold for $13-$16.50. The few good bulls offered sold at $20-$22, with common bulls selling downward to $17. Choice fed yearlings sold at $28-$30, with mediums selling as low as $23 a hundredweight. Stockers met good demand with good quality stockers and feeders selling from $27.50-$29. Commons brought downward to $22.

Calf receipts totalled 1,898 head. Prices steady at $29 to $31 for good to choice vealers; common to medium selling from $19-$28. Heavy calves were slow and hard to sell.

Hog receipts totalled 2,681 head. Prices on hogs were 25 cents a hundredweight lower, to settle at $29.50 for Grade A. Sows gained $1 a hundredweight to close at $25 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 2,174 head. This was some 761 head fewer than last week. Prices held steady at $25.50 a hundredweight for good ewes and wethers and $24.50 a hundredweight for bucks. Good light sheep sold at $13-$15 a hundredweight. Cull sheep sold downwards to $7 a hundredweight. Few small lots of feeder lambs sold at $22-$24 a hundredweight.

LITERALLY FLASHING THE TRUTH in the faces of Eastern Berliners living in the Red sector of the former German capital, West Berlin publishers are erecting this sign on the Russian sector border to give the Easterners a daily report of news from the western world. Two thousand electric lamps are to be installed to illuminate the 100-foot high electric sign. The board will stand on towers on the Potsdamer Platz, where the Russian, British and American sectors meet. The photo was taken through the window of a bombed building.

Mrs. Dan Ferguson Is Widely Mourned

Annie Ferguson, widow of Dan Ferguson, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. D. A. McKinnon 187 Lock St., Peterborough, recently in her 85th year. The deceased, who was the oldest daughter of the late John and Annie Campbell, was born in Fenelon township, and spent several years of her married life around Glenarm, later moving to Peterborough, where she has resided for the past 23 years. Her husband predeceased her 14 years ago. She was a staunch Presbyterian later joining the United Church and was a faithful member of Mark St. United Church. She was a wonderful friend, and neighbor, always willing to help when needed. She made many friends and was known to many as Grandma Ferguson. Rev. Mr. Rowland, a very dear friend of the deceased conducted the funeral service.

Left are three daughters, Ella, Mrs. D. A. McKinnon, Peterborough; Bell, Mrs. Will Osborne, Toronto; May, Mrs. R. S. Cameron of Oakwood; five sons, Tom, Pete, Jack, Kenneth, Peterborough and Don, of Hamilton; also 25 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren, one sister, Mary, Mrs. Will Nesbitt, Peterborough and five brothers, Kenneth of Toronto, Angus and Colin of Oakwood, Jack of Woodville, and Dan of Peterborough.

The funeral service was held at her son Kenneth's residence, Peterborough, thence to Glenarm Presbyterian Church.

Burial was in the family plot at Glenarm Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were her five sons and son-in-law, D. A. McKinnon. The many beautiful floral tributes from family, friends and neighbors showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

VOL. CI. No. 86 — FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1950

New Art Centre To Open At Public Library

A new project in conjunction with the art activities of the Public Library will start tomorrow. This new activity is a children's art centre which will consist of two classes, junior and senior, of children selected through the schools for their interest and enthusiasm in art as well as talent.

The chief aim of these classes is to get the children to express themselves in art with guidance. Miss Gertrude Cox, teacher at Queen Alexandra School, will be the general supervisor.

"We hope that this art centre will be used as a workshop for the teachers in the city schools and that they will carry back these new techniques to the children," stated William Graff, librarian. "As it expands, other art centres may be set up in various parts of the city."

The art centre will consist of two sessions in the fall and spring. At the end of this time, the best of each group will be chosen for a composite group which will be given another session.

The junior class will be held at 9.30 a.m. and the senior class at 10.30.

City School Teachers To Have TB Check-up

All primary and secondary school teachers on the Board of Education staff are to be checked for tuberculosis.

It will be a patch test. The patch is put on the arm and an examination after 48 hours reveals either positive or negative symptoms. If the result is positive the teacher will have a chest X-ray film taken.

"It will be a protection for both teachers and children," said Dr. Russell Morgan, chairman of the health committee, who introduced the committee recommendation.

At present, new teachers are medically examined when they join the Peterborough staff, but there is no checkup on those who have been teaching several years.

Unlucky Friday 13th For Transport Driver

Big Truck Cracks Up Lindsay Gasoline Station

LINDSAY, Oct. 13—(By Staff Reporter)—Friday the 13th was only 20 minutes old when John Stockdale of Orillia had his first stroke of bad luck.

Stockdale's trailer-transport, laden with 15½ tons of cement, broke a front spring while crossing the CNR railway tracks on Lindsay St. south, Lindsay, at approximately 12:20 a.m. In the next half-minute the Clark transport of Orillia had veered to the left ripping off two gasoline pumps and plunging forward to crash into the home of Vincent Mangan, Lindsay St. south.

The transport ripped out a front corner of the white brick house, tore down the verandah, ripped up the verandah flooring for 15 feet and cracked a portion of the north front wall of the house. Bushes were uprooted along the path of the truck in front of the house.

One of the tanks ripped from the stand of Tocher's Garage was thrown about 20 feet north of the stand while the other was tossed eight feet. A third pump was left standing undamaged. Gas fumes hovered throughout the area and people were warned to put out cigarettes and pipes.

Driver Stockdale told Constable Gordon Eberts that a front spring broke just as the transport was crossing the tracks. He said it dragged tending to throw the truck to the left. He added that he could not pull the truck onto the highway.

Stockdale was unhurt.

Barrie Man, 25, Committed On Theft Charge

Gorman Ritchie, Barrie, 25, was committed for trial on a charge of breaking, entry and theft following a preliminary hearing in police court today. Bail continues at $1,000.

Constable Allen Edmison testified he saw Ritchie in a store on Charlotte St. at Louis St. about 11:30 p.m., Sept. 27. He said he had been called across the street by two boys.

He put his flashlight on and saw Ritchie crawling on the floor on his hands and knees with his head partly averted trying to keep his face hidden. He said Ritchie then "made a break" for the rear of the building.

The constable ran to the rear of the building and saw the man about 30 yards away. He lost him in some empty buildings along Charlotte St. He later searched the area with two other constables but could not find Ritchie.

The accused, said the constable, was not carrying anything when he left the building, but articles were reported missing later. He said Ritchie got out a back window which had been boarded up with a piece of plywood.

Was With Him

Lillian Smith, a friend of Ritchie's, said she had been with him the day of the alleged theft from the morning until about 11:45 p.m. when she pointed out a house where he could get a room for the night. She said during the afternoon they had been to two rummage sales, one at the Salvation Army and one at the store he was charged with robbing.

Taking the witness box, Ritchie said, "He (Constable Edmison) never seen me, otherwise he would have hollered 'Halt!', and no one ever hollered at me, and furthermore, I was never on my knees."

"Then you're admitting you were in there?" asked his lawyer, Emmett F. Sheehy.

"I was in there in the day time looking at clothes," said Ritchie.

Car Stops Before Turn Two Vehicles Collide

Two cars collided when one driven by Margaret A. Oliver, Shiny Bay, Ont., stopped for a truck while turning left from George St. into Ware St. Thursday afternoon.

Driver of the other car, Leo Delaire, 299 King St., driving in the same direction, met in collision with the stopped car.

No damage was done to the Oliver car but the grill, radiator and front left fender of the Delaire car were damaged.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley investigated.

Increased Premiums Force Board To Cancel Policy

Because this year's premiums were considered too high the finance committee of the Board of Education dropped the pupil accident insurance. And the Board, at its monthly meeting Thursday night, adopted the committee recommendation unanimously.

The pupil accident insurance, covering all pupil accidents regardless of liability, was introduced in 1949 as an experiment. It paid a maximum of $50.

It was a case of all or nothing —all pupils had to be covered (either through the pupil or the Board paying the premium) or the policy was not effective.

The Board still retains its liability policy which covers it should the accident be the fault of the Board.

Not Desirable Insurance

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of finance, said the committee was sorry that the policy could not be continued. But after an extensive search they had found only three offers and these were unacceptable.

Many parents of the pupils work in industrial plants and other businesses where their children are already covered by a similar scheme, explained Mr. Craw. "These parents felt they were paying for protection twice."

"I agree it's unfortunate," said Mrs. Paige Rowell, "but I think the parents should be fully aware that the Board is not accepting responsibility."

Because parents assumed that their children were covered the committee felt it should meet any claims that were made in September.

Board Not Advised

The Board also had assumed that the children were covered when school opened in September and had collected some of the premiums. Early in July application was made for renewal and it was not until a week after schools opened that the insurance company advised the Board that there would be a drastic increase in the rates.

The Board also agreed to pay the doctor's bill for a PCVS student, David Best, who broke his arm while playing in the gym October 3.

"There seems some doubt whether or not the parents were properly informed and I think in this case we should accept the cost," said Murray Irwin.

Mr. Craw seconded the motion, amending it to read that the Board accepted no further liability in the Best injury. The motion passed.

Ask For Money To Hire Guards

Traffic guides for school children crossing busy intersections may soon make an appearance on Peterborough's streets if the city council approves a request by the Police Commission for money to hire five elderly people for the jobs.

Acting on a suggestion of the city's special traffic committee, five of Peterborough's busiest corners near schools would get guides for children.

The intersections named were: Sherbrooke and Park streets; Murray and Water streets; Murray and George streets; Lansdowne and Lock streets, and Weller street and Monaghan road.

It was suggested by members of the Police Commission that a salary of $1.50 a day might be paid to the men or women hired to make sure that school children going to and from school would cross the intersections safely.

Three Motorists In Geo. St. Jam

Three cars all travelling in a line south on George St. Thursday at noon became entangled in an accident when the driver of the first car braked suddenly because he thought a car was going to pull out from the curb in front of him.

Driver of the first car was Paul R. Konkle, 325 McGill St. He had almost come to a stop when hit from behind by a car driven by Jack A. R. Whyte, 484 Brioux St.

Whyte had been slowing down behind Konkle when Edward G. Turner, 150 Montgomery St., rammed into the rear of him, knocking him ahead into Konkle.

No damage was done to Konkle's car, but Whyte had about $35 damage done to his car and Turner came out worst with about $200 damage to the front of his car.

Constable Dennis Traynor investigated the accident.

WAS BURIED TODAY

The funeral of the late William P. Tobin took place this morning from the Lane Funeral Home, Hunter St., to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass was celebrated by Right Rev. P. P. Butler, rector of the Cathedral. The pall bearers were: John Boyle, Harold Kendry, Maurice Lafave, Leo Tobin, Charles Crowley and Thomas McMurray. Prayers at the graveside at St. Peter's cemetery were offered by Rev. R. J. Garvey.

Remand Silvester Said Mentally Ill

Harvey David Silvester, 31, was reported in police court today by two doctor's statements to be mentally ill. He was remanded for sentence to Saturday.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw said the two doctor's reports were "positive". Silvester is charged with starting the $200,000 fire which demolished the interior of the S. S. Kresge store in Peterborough Aug. 17, 1948.

Sept. 24 this year, said police, Silvester walked into the office of the Cobourg provincial police and confessed to starting the fire. He was a janitor of the building at the time of the fire.

CONSTABLES PROMOTED

Two city police officers who joined the force a year ago were promoted to third class constables by the Police Commission Thursday. Acting on a recommendation made by Chief Constable John Thompson the commission promoted Constable Douglas Stark and Constable Robert Menzies giving them the normal raise in pay that accompanies the promotion.

Good News

Paving Finished In Week

W. B. Bennett, of Oshawa, head of the W. B. Bennett Paving Company, told members of the city council Thursday afternoon that he expected to begin the completion of his local contract by Thursday of next week or possibly Wednesday.

"We have only seven hours of work to finish a job in Oshawa, but we have been held up by weather this week," Mr. Bennett said. "We have been promised that there will be no delay in the delivery of cement and asphalt, and we are hoping to have our plant here by Monday. We can't begin moving it at the weekend, because the Department of Highways does not permit over-width equipment to be travelling on the highways at that time.

"Some of the machinery is not wider than the regulations allow, and we can get it on the way to Peterborough, but on the other equipment we are held up until Monday."

Mr. Bennett estimated that his company would require twenty working days to finish the paving on Park St. North, Monaghan Road and Rogers St.

Ald. H. Dodds, chairman of the Board of Works, presided with Aldermen Gillespie and Dewart and Mayor Swanston present. The chairman read the letter the council recently received from Mr. W. B. Gordon, solicitor for Ted Moore, service station operator at Monaghan Road and Chamberlain Sts., complaining of serious loss of business and income as a result of the unfinished condition of Monaghan Road from Frank St. south.

"We expected to have the Oshawa job finished by the end of June," Mr. Bennett said, "but we are just finishing the asphalt top now. It has been much the same with other work in Whitby, but that is not a municipal job. We move from Oshawa to Peterborough."

Mr. Bennett said the company had been held up for supply of cement.

Extension Given Taxi Men To Meet Bylaw

In answer to a request by a committee of the Peterborough Taxi Owners' Association, the City Police Commission Thursday set Nov. 6 as the date when all taxi owners will have to have their applications for new taxi licenses in.

The commission will decide at its next meeting, Nov. 9, which owners will be granted renewals and which will not. Chief among the reasons for not granting a license under the new taxi bylaw which went into effect Sept. 30 will be whether or not the owners have met insurance requirements and whether their men have been fingerprinted.

14 Applications

Chief Constable John Thompson reported to the committee that up to Thursday, 14 applications had been received in which the insurance requirements had been met. These applications had been made mostly by owners who previously carried the insurance now required by the bylaw.

Representatives of the taxi men, association president Clare Donnelly, secretary William Kemp and Edward Sullivan, met with the police commission after they had polled taxi owner members of their association.

The committee first asked that the required insurance be $5,000 and $10,000 personal and $1,000 property instead of $10,000, and $20,000 personal and $1,000 property because of the difficulty of cab owners had in getting insurance.

If the commission would not change the insurance requirements, then the committee asked for time to comply with the bylaw. It required a month, said Mr. Donnelly to take out an ordinary policy and two months to get assigned risk insurance.

Oppose Fingerprinting

The committee also said the association wanted to go on record as being opposed to fingerprinting because it could see no justification for it.

The Police Commission was also asked if it would consider a zoning scheme if the association had one prepared. This would result in fairer apportioning of costs of taxi rides to customers it was intimated.

The commission made no move to lower the insurance requirements but gave the taxi owners until November 9 to get insurance and put in their applications. Under the bylaw passed by the commission in July all applications should have been in by September 30 when the bylaw went into effect.

The commission said it would consider a zoning scheme when one was presented.

Collapses In Bank Woman Dies Suddenly

Mrs. George C. Roy, Oshawa, formerly of Peterborough collapsed in the Bank of Montreal Thursday and died on way to hospital. Mrs. Roy resided in Peterborough for many years and moved to Oshawa 15 years ago. Her husband who predeceased her was with Prudential Life Insurance here. Mrs. Roy was in charge of clubhouse catering for several years at the Peterborough Golf Club.

She leaves three daughteers, Mrs. F. McDonald (Margaret) of Montreal, Mrs. D. R. Pearse (Inez) and Mrs. E. McIntyre (Betty) both of Oshawa.

The funeral service will be held Monday at the Luke-McIntosh Funeral Home, Oshawa, at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Mount Lawn cemetery, Oshawa.

DR. K. G. R. WIGHTMAN

K. G. Wightman Heads U of T Therapeutic Dept

The appointment of Dr. Keith G. R. Wightman as professor in charge of therapeutics was announced Thursday by the University of Toronto. Dr. Wightman is the son of K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools and secretary-treasurer of the Board of Education in Peterborough.

Dr. Wightman succeeds Dr Robert Kerr, recently appointed first professor of medicine in the newly organized faculty of medicine at the University of British Columbia.

Dr. Wightman, who is 36, was born in Windsor and was educated at Peterborough Collegiate Institute, the University of Toronto and Cambridge University in England.

He graduated from the U. of T. attaining his M.D. in 1937, and was awarded the faculty gold medal given by the senate for the highest average marks. While at the University of Toronto Dr. Wightman also won the Baptie proficiency scholarship, and an Ellen Mickle fellowship awarded on the basis of work during the fifth year. It was on this latter award that Dr. Wightman went to Cambridge University, where he studied for a year.

During the Second World War, Dr. Wightman saw service with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, and for the past five years has been an attending physician at Toronto General Hospital where he has specialized in haematology (blood disease) and assistant professor in the department of medicine of the University of Toronto. He is a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians of Canada and a Fellow of the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Wightman is married to the former Florence Lois Hawke, and has three children, Carolyn, 6, Pamela 4, and Peter, 2. He lives at 181 Glencairn Ave., Toronto.

Car Hits Rear Of Truck Waiting To Make Turn

A car came off second best when it ran into the rear of a Public Utilities truck waiting on Lansdowne St. to turn left onto Aylmer St.

The truck driven by Murray Todd, 477 Arndon St., was waiting for a break in the traffic before turning. Driver of the car, Wesley W. McGill, RR 2, Bethany, was travelling in the same direction as the truck had been.

The truck was driven ahead about 25 feet by the impact, but was undamaged. The grill, radiator, headlights, fenders and running board and left windshield of the car were damaged.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley investigated.

Bicycle And Car Crash Boy Comes Off Cycle

A teen-age boy, Roy Genge, 127 Hilliard St., had his left wrist cut when, riding his bicycle, he crashed into a car driven by Miss Jeanne Robson, 583 George St., and broke the right front door window of the car at Reid and McDonnel Sts. this morning.

He also injured his shoulder when he fell to the ground after the impact.

Miss Robson was driving west on McDonnel St. and the cyclist was travelling south on Reid St when they collided.

Board Confirms 19c Milk But Increase Allowed Where August Price Holds

Nineteen cent milk in some 40 different Ontario markets was confirmed in the finding of the Board of Arbitration which was announced in Toronto late Thursday night. On the question of price, the following pertinent paragraph is quoted: "After very careful study and consideration of the briefs which have been presented, the Board is of the unanimous opinion that due to the present existing circumstances and conditions that this is not the proper time to grant any further additional increase in the price of milk except in those markets where the prevailing price of milk has been in existence prior to Aug. 15, 1950."

The report was signed by the members of the board: Judge J. A. McGibbon, of Lindsay; Roy F. Lick, representative of the milk producers, and William G. Ovens, of Peterborough, for the milk distributors of the province.

The prevailing price of milk in Peterborough has been 19 cents a quart since Sept. 14, and therefore is not included in the exception clause of the board's report.

Provides For Increase

Mr. Ovens informed the Examiner today that the present price in Peterborough and the 40 other towns and cities, which are grouped together for the scope of the arbitration, provides for an increase of 12½ cents per hundred pounds of milk in (the price paid to the producer (the dairy farmer) and also 12½ cents in the the price to the distributor.

That decision provides recognition of the claims of both those agencies, in the production and delivery of milk, for increased revenue to meet costs of production and wages and processing which have been pressing on them, according to the statements they separately submitted to the board.

"There was some talk of demands for further revenue to producers which would have meant another one to three cents a quart increase if it had been approved," Mr. Ovens said.

Same In 1948

"It should be remembered, we felt, that the retail price of milk in Peterborough has not increased since the fall of 1948," Mr. Ovens said. "Everybody knows that general costs have been increasing since then, wages, materials, cost of living and so on, and it was the opinion of the board some concession should be made to both the producer and the distributor of milk."

Mr. Ovens pointed to one clause in the triply signed report:

"It is quite evident from these briefs (from the producers and distributors) received by the Board of Arbitration that the dairy industry producing and distributing milk is in a very depressed condition, but we are chiefly interested in finding the best ways and means of producing and distributing milk at the lowest possible price."

On the other side of the milk business and its needs for sound and healthy operation, it was agreed by the board that the retail price of milk should not reach a level at which it would discourage public buying and consuming.

Has No Conception

"The layman has no conception of the vast amount of detail which is involved in the production of milk and having it prepared and ready for distribution to the consumer," the report commented.

Mr. Ovens remarked to the Examiner that mention of possible two or three-cent higher milk was regarded as inimical to the interests of first the milk producer and after him the milk distributor.

"We had to make some reasonable provision for the labor that is engaged in this business both in production and distribution," Mr. Ovens said, "but we could not go further in that direction than the nineteen-cent milk, and that is the substance of this board's report."

The basic price of milk to the producer is $4 per hundred pounds for 3.4 per cent of butterfat, with an increase of 3½ cents per cwt. for each decimal increase in the quality. That is, for example, 3.5 milk will pay the producer $4.03½ and so on upward with each advance in quality.

Gave Fraudulent Promissory Note For $100 Cash

Orville Melonson, 33, Nassau, was found guilty in police court today of charges of forgery and defrauding the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Montreal of $100. He was remanded to Saturday for sentence.

Melonson pleaded guilty to the charges previously.

John Evans, an employee of the bank, testified Melonson presented a promissory note to the bank signed with the name Norris Williamson and endorsed on the back with the same name.

On the strength of that name, the bank paid Melonson $100. Oct. 2 Melonson returned to the bank with a second note, but this time it was evident it was not Norris Williamson's true signature on the note.

Mr. Williamson, who runs a garage and service station on south George St., testified Melonson had worked for him three months finishing Aug. 12. He said the signature on the two notes was not his writing.

Melonson, father of three children, said he had come from Nova Scotia last April.

He said he had been out of work three weeks and couldn't collect any unemployment insurance.

"There was nothing to eat in the house. I owed a few bills and they were bothering me for them and that's the reason I did it. I didn't intend to steal from anybody," he told the court.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

District Holstein Championships Here Wednesday, Oct. 18 Wind Up Farm Events of Season—Campaign To Boost Cheddar Cheese Opens Oct. 15 — Farm Living Costs Increase 77% Since 1939 — Federation Said To Be Lacking in Home Propaganda.

J. Derno Innes, Woodstock, will be the judge at the Central Ontario Holstein championship show in Peterborough Wednesday, Oct. 18.

The first class in the male section will be called at 10 a.m. in the former drill hall at Morrow Park.

Central Ontario district extends from Simcoe county to Lennox-Addington. Winners at the county Black and White Days are eligible for these finals. Peterborough county is expected to have forty entries.

The district fieldman, Roy Ormiston of Brooklin, is expecting 200 head of the best Holsteins in Central Ontario to be shown here next Wednesday. His estimate is largely based on the big entry lists at the local shows.

Twenty-four breeders in York showed 153 head at the county B and W Day at Markham Fair last week. This was the biggest display of Holsteins in the ten counties of Mr. Ormiston's district this year. Thomas McGriskin and Sons, Unionville, were awarded the grand championship for females on the aged cow, Segis Toitilla Rag Apple. The grand champion bull was from the herd of H. C. McCloskey, Queensville. Eentries of Hon. G. S. Henry topped the classes for senior and junior herds.

CO-OP ANNUAL OCT. 27

Annual meeting of the members of Peterborough District Co-Op Services will be Friday, Oct. 27, at the Empress Hotel. Dinner at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by the general business meeting and election of directors. Norm J. MacMurchy, general manager, told the Examiner that the board is inviting a guest speaker.

NEED GAYLORD HAUSER

After more than 60 years of manufacturing a high class product, dairy farmers of Canada are forced to advertise their good Cheddar cheese.

They collected in June $300,000 by voluntary levy on their factory deliveries of milk, and they are planning a month's publicity campaign Oct. 16-Nov. 15.

"While the primary object will be to stimulate a greater use of this dairy food, much effort will be concentrated on making Canadians conscious of the fact that, in quality and flavor, Canadian cheese is the equal of any cheese produced in other countries."

Directors of the National Dairy Council should take a tip from the interest apparently aroused by an article on health foods condensed in one of the monthly pocket-sized magazines.

The book itself is entitled: "Look Better: Live Longer". One of the cereal byproducts it recommends is wheat germ which sells, at least it did a few months ago, at a dime for a cotton sack you can buy down on the ground floor of the Quaker Oats Company. If people knew and believed what the author, Gaylord Hauser, says about wheat germ, QOC might have to open a retail outlet on the Hunter St. bridge floor. And milk powder, you could hardly give it away months ago when export business folded up.

On the other hand Milk Foundation advertising accounts largely for the high volume of whole milk that is sold and consumed in this country.

The average Canadian consumes only four pounds of cheese in twelve months as compared with 8.6 pounds per capita by Americans, and 16 to 18 pounds as the yearly average in Sweden, Denmark, The Netherlands and Switzerland. Either the Canadian is an unintelligent fellow or the dairymen have failed to impress on him the "what and why" of Cheddar cheese.

Most of the cheese made in east Peterborough, Hastings and Northumberland, selling on the Campbellford board, is Ontario Cheddar, a first rate and economical food.

Groundwork of the Dairy Farmers apparently requires an educational campaign informing the Canadian consumer of the excellence of cheese. Methods of preparing and serving it are of secondary importance in an advertising and selling effort.

LACK OF INFORMATION

At a meeting of directors of Brant branch of the Federation of Agriculture, Roy Turnbull remarked that six out of 10 farmers did not know what was going on in the Federation of Agriculture.

V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation, speaking to the board, said that was another problem facing all groups—getting information to the farmers. Much the same opinion, although less definite, was expressed by Clare Burt of Farm Radio Forum in his recent talk to representatives of its Peterborough groups.

Mr. Burt said the Forum wished to be an agency of reinforcement to the Federation, and, without any reference to the Ontario secretary, he affirmed the assertion Mr. Milburn has repeatedly made, that where Forum groups are active the Federation is strongest and most useful.

Mr. Burt's comment was that too many farmers on the concessions did not know what was going on in the Federation ,and no one present disputed his criticism, for that is what it amounted to. Incidentally the Forum receives financial support from the Federation.

Mr. Milburn was discussing in Brantford the primary need of unity and cohesiveness of the Federation membership. "Government is influenced by pressure groups, a development we farmers do not like. We are individualistic and like independent effort, but we are obliged to build a pressure group if we are to have any influence at Ottawa."

Farmers could have just as vigorous an organization as the railway unions, Mr. Milburn said, but the basis of their strength had to come from the county Federations.

INCREASED FARM COSTS

In the eleven years from 1939 to 1950, farm living costs increased 77 per cent and farm wage rates 245 per cent, according to government records which were elicited during the recent session of Parliament.

During the same period, cost of farm machinery advanced 60 per cent, binder twine 227 per cent, gasoline and oil 51 per cent, fertilizer 46 per cent, farm equipment and materials 100 per cent, building materials 128 per cent, hardware 65 per cent.

The summary from the office of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture is accompanied by the comment: "A study of the government's index figures for the cost of goods and services used by farmers indicates increases even during the last four years.

"During the years of price control, prices were held within fairly close range in most cases, but since 1946 increases have been pronounced, and the over-all increase in 1950, since 1939, has been heavier than many realize."

The statement includes a list of percentage increases in 1950, since 1947, and therefore part of the increases since 1939, quoted above. These later upward changes were: farm living costs 22 per cent, farm wage rates 7 per cent, farm machinery 33 percent, binder twine 34 per cent, gasoline, oil 17 per cent, fertilizer 31 per cent, equipment and materials 31 per cent, building materials 31.8 per cent, hardware 22.5 per cent.

This information is from the Canadian Federation of Agriculture office, Ottawa.

MATURING EAR CORN

Practice of Peterborough farmers with a crop of grain corn still in the field is in line with the recomendation of the forage plants division of the federal department of agriculture.

"There is no purpose in harvesting the crop earlier than necessary because the ears dry faster in the field on stalks than anywhere else," is the advice of a recent bulletin. "In harvesting, the husked corn should be removed as completely as possible before cribbing, and all green or soft ears sorted out and fed at once. Only well matured clearly husked ears should be placed in the crib.

If the corn tends to be on the high moisture side, then delaying harvesting until the cooler weather arrives is another reason for leaving the corn in the field as long as possible. Well matured corn, containing 25 to 30 per cent moisture in the grain at harvest, may be stored safely in cribs in eastern Ontario."

MARKETING BOARDS NOT AFFECTED

Decision of the supreme court of Canada last week that the federal government and provincial governments cannot exchange or delegate from one to the other powers under the constitution has no effect on the operation of marketing boards under the federal marketing act, known as "Bill 82".

This was made clear to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture by officials of the federal department of agriculture following the announcement of the decision.

Under Bill 82 the federal government may delegate powers to a marketing board set up in any province under provincial legislation for the purpose of making it possible to carry its marketing operations into the inter-provincial and export field. This, according to legal opinion, is not delegating federal powers under the constitution to provincial governments. It merely confers the right to provincial marketing boards to carry on in fields of operation which are purely under federal jurisdiction.

ISOLATING GRASS AND CLOVER SEEDINGS

Isolating of clovers and grasses for registration has been reduced to a minimum of 80 feet. Their separation from contaminating crops used to be a minimum of 200 yards for alsike, red and white clovers; a quarter of a mile for alfalfa, sweet clover, grasses and millets.

These changes in the isolation regulations was recently reported by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association to the crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, of which A. H. Martin is director. They were requested by the Ontario Crop Improvement Association.

Study had shown the older isolation limits were not necessary, Mr. Martin said some eight tons of improved strains of grass and clover seed had been distributed last spring. Under the old regulations it would have been almost impossible to have all seed from these plantings registered.

PRICE OF STEERS

According to the federal Department of Agriculture, western two-year-old steers that are being shipped to Ontario today are costing about $280 a head or $6,000 a car, as compared with $20 a head or $600 per car lot at shipping points about 20 years ago.

Reporter Says Conventions Do Good Work

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Busines Editor

This being the convention season, here are a few words about them by a newspaperman who attends quite a few.

For the most part conventions are, of course, gatherings of national or provincial organizations, ordinarily held once a year. These organizations are made up of groups of people with similar interests and deal with problems common to their whole membership.

In the business world, they may be groups dealing with particular interests; or they may have broader scope. The grocer, for instance, may belong to an organization dealing with the buying and selling of groceries, and he may also belong to a federation which deals with problems common to all retailers, be they grocers, haberdashers, florists or what.

The manufacturer may belong to a steel organization if his interest is steel; but also to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association; and, if he is an engineer, to the Engineering Institute of Canada; or to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce which takes in all business interests.

Steady Consultation

The work of each organization proceeds through the year in the various communities across the country, and steady consultation is maintained by the branches with the central office, by letter or through visits of officers.

However, if there were no central get-togethers, there would be a tendency for the widely-spread branches to drift apart in ideas and understandings.

So a convention of delegates from all over the country is held, and is heralded as the occasion on which that particular group gets together on a national basis to make decisions.

This, in fact, it does; but it would be virtually impossible for 100 or 1,000 people to get together for a few days and accomplish much if the groundwork had not been laid through the year and through the years. So there is fairly - well - developed group thinking before a convention meets.

Re-Examine Ideas

However, the convention gives an opportunity for re-examination of ideas, exchange of view, a freshening where required, the setting of policy on current or new developments. And it gives the man from anywhere a forum in which to express his opinions if he disagrees with anything being done.

Full sessions of most meetings are open and are reported by newspapers, according to their news value.

Actually, though, much of the work is done in committee meetings which are closed. A policy of resolutions committee, for instance, is a large one, with representatives on it from every part of the country, and is the forum in which ideas are really tossed around and debated.

In this writer's opinion, one of the major benefits of a convention, if not the major one, is that it brings together people from all over the country. This seems vital in a country as large as Canada. The man from Halifax may possibly disagree with the man from Vancouver, but after they meet they are not likely to think of one another as just plain stubborn, selfish or addle-pated. They still may disagree, but each will understand why the other holds a different opinion, and the chances are that both their views will be modified.

War Veteran Dies

TORONTO, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Arthur Henry Smythe, 72, first world war veteran, died Wednesday in Sunnybrook Hospital. Born in Kingston, Mr. Smythe worked with the Northern Crown Bank in Saskatchewan before service with the Canadian navy and army. He was wounded at Vimy Ridge. A brother, Frank A. Smythe, lives in Kingston.

Press Institute Picks Committee

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — An organizing committee for an International Press Institute was appointed Thursday after a four-day series of meetings attended by 15 foreign editors, and delegates from the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The foreign editors came from 14 countries including Canada.

It was agreed that an international press institute could further freedom of the press, understanding among editors and peoples, the free exchange of accurate news, and improvement of journalistic practices.

Named to the organizing committee were:

Lester Markel, Sunday editor of the New York Times; Claude Bellanger, editor of Parisien Libere, Paris; Harold Campbell, editor of the Melbourne Age, Melbourne, Australia; Eljas Erkko, publisher of the Helsingin Sanomat, Helsinki, Finland; M. Chalapathi Rau, editor, The National Herald, Lucknow, India; Dr. Oscar Pollak, editor, Arbeiter Zeitung, Vienna; Alfredo Silva-Carvallo, editor, La Union, Valparaiso, Chile; Marcel Stijns, editor-in-chief, Het Laatste Nieuws, Brussels; and J. Murray Watson, editor, The Scotsman, Edinburgh.

Wants To Strengthen Official Opposition

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 13—(CP)—Strengthening of the official Opposition in Ottawa was urged Thursday by Sam Hughes, Progressive Conservative candidate in Monday's Welland riding Federal by-election.

Mr. Hughes told a political rally:

"Fair play and common sense alike require this move. The Opposition supplies the brake to a too-powerful government."

J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood), supporting Mr. Hughes, said, "the Government with its 189 members needs another supporter as much as a cow needs two tails."

The by-election was necessitated by the death of Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell.

FindOverturnedCanoe Believe 2 Drowned

CHAPLEAU, Ont., Oct. 13 (CP) —An overturned canoe owned by two missing hunters was found Thursday near Borden Lake, 12 miles east of here, and police said they believed the two men had drowned.

Max Brunette, 72, and his son Leo, 44, were last seen Oct. 4 when they set out with ther dog on a duck-hunting trip. The dog —drowned—was found Thursday tied to the canoe.

The elder Brunette was a former reeve of Chapleau and registrar of deeds in Sudbury for many years.

The Dominion Experimental Farm System was established in Canada in 1886.

Shaw Won't Finish Play Recently Started

LONDON, Oct. 13 (Reuters)—George Bernard Shaw, 94-year-old playwright, told a reporter Thursday night he did not think he would ever write again.

In an interview with a London Daily Mail reporter, Shaw said a play he was writing before his accidental fall in his garden, would never be completed.

"The truth is I can't do it. That play will be another 'Unfinished Symphony'," he said.

Shaw began the play "The Lady She Would Not," before his 94th birthday last July.

Superintendent Under Arrest

THREE RIVERS, Que., Oct 13 (CP)—Roy Leach, superintendent of the Textile Weavers Company plant at nearby Grand-mere, was arrested Thursday and charged with having fired a number of his employees because they were union members. He was released on bail of $100 until Oct. 19.

A similar charge was proferred against the company.

The trouble broke out several weeks ago when 64 employees were dismissed. The company terms the situation a "partial strike" while the United Textile Workers of America (AFLTLC), seeking certification, says it is a lockout.

Some 75 per cent of employees continue to work but picket lines are on duty. Picketing to date has resulted in several arrests.

Earlier Thursday, Mr. Leach brought a charge of organizing an illegal strike against Lucien Dufour, union organizer, and textile worker Michel Elemont. Hearing was adjourned until Oct. 23.

An independent union at present represents employees. Its contract is due to expire Oct. 24.

Mrs. A. Mathews Vividly Describes Foreign Situations

Vividly describing the situation of missionaries and native Christians in the war-ravaged countries of the world today, Mrs. Arnold Mathews, on Tuesday afternoon, caused the WMS members, of George St. United Church to take stock of their fortunate position in a land of freedom and plenty. "People of Seoul, Korea, are receiving two handfuls of rice daily as their food ration," she told them.

Mrs. Mathews then asked, "are you contributing as much as you should to the missionary cause by your prayers, time and talents?"

Coming from a family of ministers and missionaries, the speaker had gained much of the information she imparted at first hand. Also from her husband, new minister of the church, for whom she substituted as speaker.

Mrs. G. H. Cutmore contributed much in her solo, "Thanksgiving." Mrs. Rose Moore was her accompanist.

The Board room had been decorated with flowers, fruit, vegetables and sheaves of golden grain by the ladies of District Seven. Mrs. Roy Powell, their leader, was in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. Wm. Tinker gave the scripture and lesson thoughts with Mrs. V. Boorman leading in prayer.

President Mrs. E. Brown, in the business session, called for full reports by all secretaries.

Supply secretary Mrs. F. W. Burnham announced a collection of good used and new clothing for the overseas relief bale which will be taken during the week November 12 to 19. All who contribute, are asked, if possible, to send to the United Church Committee on Overseas Relief a gift of money to cover shipping charges equal to at least ten cents a pound, which is the approximate cost.

A pleasant interlude, sponsored by Mrs. W. P. Purdy, accompanist, was singing of a song which is being circulated by the Missionary Monthly Department, Toronto office to boost subscriptions to the paper and the World Friends Magazine. Singers were members of Group Eight, Mesdames C. Hurl, R. Moore, G. Marshall, E. Bullock and O. Rosborough. Publications secretary, Mrs. A. Fitzgerald was busy taking subscription orders at close of the meeting.

Lunch was served.

Don't Want Freedom

NELSON, B.C., Oct. 13 (CP)—Fourteen Doukhobor women here say they don't want freedom if it means they must pledge to obey the laws of Canada. So they're staying in jail, despite the recent mass release of Sons of Freedom sect members convicted of parading in the nude. Police said the holdouts here have been staging displays of nudism in their cells to emphasize their stand.

Need Sturdy Volunteers

STOGUMBER, Somerset, England. — (CP) — Parish councillors decided that volunteers needed to survey should have the following qualifications: "Long legs, map-reading skill, 20 years' residence in the parish, stout hearts and boots."

Province Aids Windsor In Clean-up

WINDSOR, Oct. 13—(CP) — Windsor is being given full assistance of the Provincial government in combatting lawlessness and carrying through "a clean-up with a thoroughly vigorous law enforcement," Premier Frost said here Thursday night.

No direct mention of the present investigation by the city police commission into Windsor law enforcement was made in Mr. Frost's address, prepared for delivery at a public dinner sponsored by the Progressive Conservative Women's Association of Windsor.

Mr. Frost said he wouldn't discuss "intimate details" of the present clean-up, but added: "We will hit evil on the head wherever we find it."

Mr. Frost said the crime problem in Windsor and other Ontario cities is related to the same problem in United States border cities.

Convenient Spot

"It is quite apparent that a neighboring province such as Ontario might become the headquarters for rackets which found conditions on the other side too hot for them," he said.

The Provincial government intended to make Ontario "too hot for these gentry" and for "any rackets or illegal organizations which have their inception on this side and who think they can operate in violation of the law."

The Premier, here for a tour of the city, also promised a stricter enforcement of liquor laws.

The Government's policy was "essentially one of control."

"We will continue to shake up our inspection services . . . until we have the very best that can be obtained," he said. Inspection of premises now holding liquor licenses would cover "not only the sale of liquor but services, including good food."

Earn $1.04 An Hour

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Hourly-paid workers in Canadian manufacturing averaged a record $1.04 an hour at Aug. 1, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday. Average hourly earnings in Ontario was $1.10.

MORE HEAT FOR LESS MONEY!

Don't wait until next winter—now is the time to insulate! GYPROC WOOL Insulation enables home owners to save up to 30% in fuel costs, yet the house is kept warm and comfortable in spite of the coldest weather.
With GYPROC WOOL protecting your house, every bit of heat from your fuel is made to work—it is kept inside to warm you, instead of being allowed to escape through walls and roof to the outside.
GYPROC WOOL will give you comfort this coming winter—and year after year, for GYPROC WOOL is the "Lifetime Insulation". It is mineral; does not deteriorate; is moisture-resistant and fire-safe; and permanently retains its insulating properties.
Write for a copy of "Insulation Manual", which explains how insulation works and shows how easily GYPROC WOOL may be installed in your home.

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Follow Recipe Closely When Making Apple Pie

Comments on the two previous Friday columns "Canadiana—Department of Cookery" have begun to arrive by mail and the general opinion seems to be "that's good—print more of same."

So I have decided tentatively to devote every Friday's column to detail instructions for making one typically Canadian dish.

Without treading on anyone's toes I can say with conviction that my mother made the best apple pies I have ever tasted—and I have been in a lot of apple country—ranging from the Ozarks in Missouri to Okanagan Valley in British Columbia, to say nothing of Ontario or Nova Scotia.

The best pies of the year and the continent come in the fall and in Ontario. Do I hear any contradictions?

Use Gravensteins or Wealthies or Alexanders this month. They are light and moist and sweet and tender and tangy.

But first make your pastry.

Perfect Pastry for Apple Pie

(Some of my readers are young brides and have asked me to tell them exactly how much water to add to their pastry, instead of saying some such thing as "add just enough cold water to make dough hold together." This recipe gives exact amounts.)

Two and one-quarter cups sifted all-purpose flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup best quality shortening OR one-half lard and one-half butter or margarine, 5 tablespoons ice cold water.

Add the salt to the flour and rub the shortening into them with fingers and thumbs or use pastry blender, mixing until it resembles course oatmeal in appearance. Add exactly 5 level tablespoons ice cold water, sprinkling over top of flour mixture. Mix with a fork until the mass of dough will hold together. Break in half. Roll out one half on lightly floured board to one-eighth inch thickness. Fit into deep pie plate, and trim off rough edges with sharpe knife.

Apples and Filling: Pare apples and slice, or pare and quarter and core and slice. My mother belonged to the school that sliced the apples off the core directly into the pie plate. As she had the pie plate about one-third full she would sprinkle on some sugar from ¾ cup she had standing ready, also a light little sprinkle of nutmeg. She continued until pie plate was piled high with sliced apples sprinkled with the remainder of the ¾ cup of sugar. I think she added about one-half teaspoon nutmeg altogether. She rolled out her top crust and made many more gashes than most bakers do these days in it, for she folded it over and slit it almost the full length of the fold, at half-inch intervals. She moistened the edge of her bottom crust and very carefully lifted the top crust to cover the apples evenly. Then she gave it a preliminary press-down with her thumbs and cut off the excess crust at the edge. Then she used a fork dipped into flour to crimp the edge lightly.

The top was brushed with 2 teaspoons each sugar and milk stirred together. Mother started her pies in a very hot oven of 475 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, and reduced the temperature to 375 deg. Fahr. for about 35 minutes to 40 minutes. Do you remember those little white glass jars of cream cheese you could buy about 25 years ago? One of these was always on the table when we had apple pie. Good old days.

"Experience, mum, Lor bless yer, I was a plate-layer on the Southern for 15 years."

Homemade Bread Likely To Be Popular

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Oct. 13— (CP) — Home-baker bread may become a fashionable food again as mother tries to curb her jumping food budget.

With bread ranging around the 16-cent mark she may find it worth her while to bake the occasional batch. She will find her family fully appreciative of the treat.

Here are a few suggestions either for housewives who have never before tried their hand at bread-making, or those whose skill has become a little rusty for lack of use.

Sponge Method (overnight) — as recommended by the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Ingredients: One cake dried yeast: one-quarter cup lukewarm water; four cups liquid (water, milk or potato water); three tablespoons sugar! two tablespoons salt; 12 cups sifted all-purpose flour (approximately); two tablespoons melted fat.

Scald liquid, then cool to lukewarm. Crumble yeast cake and soak in the quarter cup lukewarm water for one-half hour. Add sugar, dissolved yeast and half the flour to the lukewarm liquid. Beat until smooth. Use a bowl sufficiently large to allow sponge to rise.

Leave Overnight

Cover and leave sponge at room temperature (65-70 degrees Fahrenheit) overnight or until sponge is light and porous and more than double in bulk.

Second mixing: stir sponge, add salt and fat, melted but not hot. Add enough of the remaining flour to make a dough that does not cling to the bowl and is easily handled.

Kneading: turn dough onto a floured board or cloth and knead 10 minutes or until smooth and elastic and small bubbles show on the surface .

First Rising

Form dough into a ball and place in a lightly-greased bowl. Turn dough over once or twice in the bowl so that the surface becomes lightly greased. This prevents a crust from forming on the dough.

Cover the bowl and let stand in a warm place (80 to 86 degrees Fahrenheit) away from draughts until dough retains a finger print when pressed lightly or is double in bulk (about two hours).

Punch dough, fold edges into centre and turn dough over with smooth side up.

Cover and let rise again until dough retains a finger print when lightly pressed (about one hour).

Divide In Pieces

Turn dough onto board and divide in pieces which will half fill baking-pans. Allow to stand a few minutes before shaping which is done by kneading pieces slightly and shaping into loaves or rolls. Place in greased pans and lightly grease surface of dough.

Cover and set in a warm place to rise until dough reacts again to the finger-print test (about one hour).

Baking: Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) until the loaves or rolls shrink from the sides of the pan and give a hollow sound when tapped (about one hour for bread, 25 to 30 minutes for rolls).

If a soft tender crust is desired, brush loaves with milk or fat as soon as taken from oven. Remove from pans immediately and place on racks or set crosswise on top of pans. Do not cover while still warm. Quantity: Four loaves of approximately 1½ pounds each.

Home and School Association News

GROVE SCHOOL

Grove Home and School Association had as guest speaker Wednesday evening Dr. M. G. McCartney, dentist, who spoke about care of children's teeth and states the aim of the Dental Health Committee is to cut down on the consumption of sweets, and that the co-operation of parents is needed in doing so.

"Most detrimental to teeth is the habit of eating before going to bed. Cavities can't happen where there are no sugar," he said. The doctor urged parents to see that a toothbrush is always used after eating. He then showed a film on care of the teeth.

Mrs. Nels Foster who was representative to the Dental Health dinner introduced the speaker.

Mrs. W. Sheppard was pianist for the opening exercises and Mrs. N. Bowler read the school creed.

A short reading by Mrs. Mitchell, home education convener, was entitled "You need never lose a tooth."

Mrs. F. Sanders, president announced the regional conference will be held October 28 at the Empress Hotel and the next executive meeting will be on October 25.

Finance convener Mrs. W. Hargreaves announced that "waistline teas" will be held in various homes, admission being the amount of the waist measurement. A rummage sale is to be held October 27 at Orange Hall, Brock St.

The attendance prize was won by Miss Carole Donald's room.

A sing song was led by Mrs. Foster and Mrs. R. Clements, and duets were sung by Mrs. A. Beckett and Mrs. E. Druery.

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

Principal Mr. J. Telford explained the new curriculum at the meeting of King Edward Home and School Association Tuesday evening.

Mrs. A. McClaren sang two solos with accompaniment by Mrs. G. Wallace. Mrs. L. Aikenhead gave two readings and Mr. Wm. James played several banjo selections.

President Mrs. V. Reynolds conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Ritchie Gives Message

Thanksgiving was the keynote in opening devotions of the autumn thankoffering meeting of St. James WMS on Tuesday in Wesley Hall. They were led by president Miss M. Bowers and Mrs. G. Wallace was at the piano. Mrs. W. K. Sloane read a timely message on Christian stewardship. Mrs. Col. Ritchie of the Salvation Army, guest speaker, delivered an inspirational message based on the text "They first gave their own selves unto the Lord." She said "The whole problem of life is to discover what should be put in first place. The Christian world calls for the unselfish giving of energy, resources and personality." Mrs. Ritchie, who was introduced by Miss Bowers, also led a sing song of sacred verses to old familiar choruses with guitar accompaniment. The worship service continued on the theme and was in charge of Mrs. E. M. Davis. Bible reading was by Miss M. Morton and prayer by Mrs. A. E. Prest.

HEAD OF THE PETERBOROUGH BRANCH of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers this year is Mrs. Elsie Flett, which organization is sponsoring a tea in the YWCA on Saturday afternoon.

O'Brien-St Thomas

The marriage took place in the Church of the Sacred Heart on Saturday of Evelyn Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack St. Thoms, 485 Albert St., and James Anthony O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien, Otonabee. Rev. Dr. F. M Grant performed the ceremony and Mr. J. Armstrong played the wedding music. Mrs. Gleason, of Lindsay, sang "On this day" during the signing of the register.

The bride wore a navy crepe dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias, and she carried a white prayer book. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Colleen O'Brien, who wore a beige crepe dress with navy accessories and corsage of pink baby roses.

Mr. Joseph St. Thomas was groomsman and ushers were Wm. Gleason and Frank O'Brien.

A reception was held at the Club Aragon, attended by guests from Toronto, Orillia, Oshawa, Lindsay, Ennismore and Peterborough and district. Mothers of the bride and groom received, both dressed in navy and wearing corsages of baby roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Montreal and the United States, the bride was wearing a grey gabardine suit with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr and Mrs. O'Brien will live in Oshawa.

Curtis-Warner

The wedding was solemnized at Trinity United Church, Cobourg, Thursday afternoon of Dorothy Jean Warner, Reg. N., daughter of Mrs. Herbert Davies, Centreton and Bruce Dalton Curtis, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Curtis, Orillia, formerly of Centreton.

The Rev. John Griffith, Castleton, officiated with the Rev. E. C. Kelloway assisting. Miss Catherine Garnett was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Ross Farr, wore a gown of white satin with lace bodice and long pointed sleeves. Her floor length veil was held in place with a tiara headdress. She carried a white prayerbook in a bouquet of gardenias with streamers of pink rosebuds.

Attendants were her two sisters, a sister of the groom and Miss Irene Harris, all wearing ice blue satin gowns styled indentically with matching hats and mittens.

Mr. Donald Curtis, brother of the groom was groomsman. Ushers were Gordon Moore and Allan Curtis.

A reception was held at Fielding House where the bride's mother received in a dress of navy taffeta and wearing a corsage of pink mums, assisted by the groom's mother wearing a dress of air force blue, with navy accessories and corsage of mums. Luncheon was served to 180 guests.

For travelling the bride donned a cinnamon brown gabardine suit with matching accessories and a white top coat. On the return from a honeymoon in Boston, the couple will live in Orillia.

Rev. Griffith, who officiated, also officiated at the wedding of the groom's parents at Burketon 23 years ago.

Fewer Weddings This Week-end

Five city churches will be opened this Saturday for autumn weddings with wide interest.

At Knox United Church Miss Marion Patterson, daughter of Mrs. C. Sporle, Dalhousie St., and the late Mr. Wellington Patterson, will be married to Mr. Michael Surkos, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Surkos of North York, the ceremony to take place at three o'clock.

Miss Phyllis Isabel Gardiner, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hopcroft and the late Mr. Bruce Gardiner, will be married in St. Luke's Anglican Church to Mr. George James Bishop of Peterborough.

In the Church of the Sacred Heart at nine o'clock Joan Ileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Heath, 185 Perry St., will become the bride of Joseph E. Sexsmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sexsmith of Actinolite.

[illegible] Wilson, daughter of [illegible] Wilson, 210 King George St., will be married in All Saints' Anglican Church at two o'clock to Mr. Kenneth John Saunders, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Saunders.

At George St. United Church Miss Lillas Mae Ingraham will be married to Mr. Ralph Huber Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Huber G. Burke of Omemee.

Out-of-town wedding include the following: In High Park United Church, Toronto, at 12 noon of Carol Corine Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Emerson Thompson, Peterborough, to Melvin Cecil Wallis, of Toronto;

In Bailieboro United Church at two-thirty o'clock of Laura Charlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eagleson, to Robert Alfred Hazelden, who comes from Sevenoaks, Kent, England;

In Trent River United Church at two o'clock of Gayle Eleanor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ross Pollock, Trent River, to Mr. John Maclean Donald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Donald of Campbellford.

IODE News

57TH REGIMENT CHAPTER

New regent Mrs. M. E. Clark presided for the regular meeting of 57th Regiment Chapter Wednesday evening in the Officers' Mess at the Armouries.

It is hoped to have Queen Mary's carpet displayed in Peterborough early next year since receipt of a letter from the committee in charge of the Canadian tour. The secretary also read copy of a letter from Queen Mary to the National president expressing pleasure in the purchase of her carpet by the IODE.

Mrs. P. Latchford, post war convener, reported having sent overseas 12 pairs of boys' pyjamas, 12 girls' nightgowns, six dresses, six sweaters, six pairs of socks and one afghan.

Mrs. R. Gilders completed arrangements for the annual Remembrance Day tea to be held in the YWCA Green Room on Saturday, November 11.

Tea was served by Mrs. Gilders and her committee.

P.-T. Meet

ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL

The Trojan Boys' Choir, under direction of Wally Bent, was a source of fine entertainment at the regular meeting of St. John's Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening. During the program Mr. Bent gave a humorous description of the choirs' trip to Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. O'Connor tendered a vote of thanks to Mr. Bent and the choir. The business meeting then got under way.

Mr. A. Butcher, chairman of the Parks Commisison, gave a brief summary on the cost of playground equipment and maintaining it. He stated that this equipment is being wilfully destroyed by older children and asked for the full co-operation of parents and children in overcoming this. "They are your parks and if they are not looked after, very stringent measures will have to be taken" he said.

A motion was passed on the giving of an extra-curricular course by Mrs. Grady.

Mr. P. Dominik, assistant district commissioner of the Boy Scouts, gave a talk on the procedure of forming a Cub or Scout Pack, pointing out that a sponsoring body is needed. He gave the age groups of Cubs, Scouts and Rovers and outlined their various activities, stressing the necessity of good leadership and how leaders are trained. His closing remarks were very well chosen, "Look after our youth, they are our future."

Graduation ceremonies are to be held on November 1.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Philcox, social convener, and her committee.

SPEAKING OF FOOD —

Cooking has rightly been described as an art . . . an art in which most homemakers take keen pride. Sometimes a perfectly wonderful meal has been marred through serving a poorly made cup of coffee. Fragrant, stimulating coffee is easy to make if you follow a few simple rules.

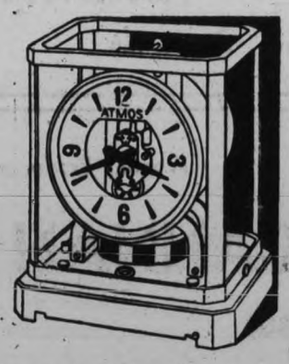
Use a tablespoon and a half of fresh coffee for each cup of water. For stronger coofee add more coffee or use less water. Once you have discovered the proper amounts to suit your taste, always make it the same. To bring out the flavour, some people add a pinch of salt.

Be sure you use the right grind for your particular method . . . "extra fine" for the vacuum type glass coffee-maker . . . fine for drip process . . . medium for percolator . . . and coarse for the ordinary coffee pot.

Coffee tastes better if it is served piping hot as soon as it's made. Boiling causes the flavour-giving oils of the coffee to evaporate.

Always use a clean coffee-maker. Coffee oils will cling to the inner surfaces and are likely to give an undesirable flavour.

At Dominion you will find an outstanding array of favourite brands from which you can select a blend to meet your particular taste. So the next time you buy coffee, first visit Dominion, select your brand and have it custom-ground while you wait.



Meat is the central portion in any meal, and with prices of meat as they are today, it's most important that you get the most from every penny thus spent. At Dominion all meats have been carefully selected for quality and flavour by experts with years of experience. Then, too, at Dominion you get personal service from qualified salesmen who are ready, willing and able to help you choose the cut most suited to your needs. And here's another point worth noting well . . . like all merchandise sold at Dominion, all meats are backed by our 100% guarantee of satisfaction. Perhaps these are some of the reasons why so many housewives are turning to Dominion for all meat requirements. This week your Dominion Master Market is featuring delicious porterhouse, sirloin and round steaks and roasts at 69c per lb.

How would you like to win some cash? Of course you would, and here's how! Next time you have shopping to do, go to your Dominion Master Market at George and Sherbrooke Sts. Fill in your entry blank for Dominion's "Dollars for Shoppers" programme. Then listen in to Station CHEX at 6:45 p.m. If your name is drawn, you may be the winner of a valuable cash prize. That's all there is to it, folks. Remember, for your entry form, go to you Dominion Master Market, corner of George and Sherbrooke Streets, and when you're there, you'll enjoy pleasant shopping, so typical of Dominion.

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Goes into Hysterics If Adult Son Takes Girl Out

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 35, living at home with my widowed mother, who is a middle-aged woman in fine health and financially independent. My trouble is that my mother insists that I must never marry, but must always stay with her. Every time I have ever gone with a girl she has had hysterics over it. Now I am in love with a splendid young woman and we want to be married, but when I try to talk the matter over with my mother she works herself into a passion of fury and cannot abuse the girl enough. I love my mother very much and want to do everything I can to take care of her and protect her, but I also love this girl and she loves me. What can a man, who is an only son, do under the circumstances and still do his duty all around?

—W.P.L.

ANSWER: He can act with some courage and common sense and the part of a man, instead of a fraidycat little boy. You can refuse to let a selfish and tyrannical old woman ruin your fiancee by the utterly unreasonable position she has taken.

She Had Husband

Your mother married when she was young. She had the happiness of having her own mate, her own home, her own child. She must have found these experiences very sweet, since she clings with such tenacity to what is left of them, and that makes it almost inexplicable that she is willing to deprive you of them in order that her old way of life may not be broken up. Certainly no real mother love could ask such a sacrifice of you. Nothing but self-centred egotism prompts it.

No one believes more than I do that children should honor their fathers and their mothers and show them every proper respect and consideration. But when parents impose unjust conditions upon their children and demand needless sacrifices of them, I think the children should refuse to submit to such tyranny, just as they would to any other oppression. Being a parent gives no one a right to wreck their children's lives.

So my advice to you is to go on and marry your girl, no matter how much your mother opposes it.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young married woman very much in love with my husband and very happy, except for one thing. I have a lot of friends who are always telling me how wild my husband was before we were married and how many girls he went around with, and they are always advising me to watch him and be careful, and telling me that he is a philanderer. And this makes me very miserable. No man could be better to a wife than my husband is to me. He is so tender and considerate and never wants to go anywhere without me, and says I am the only woman he has ever really loved. Don't you think I should believe him instead of my friends? And what can I answer to them when they say these things

BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

ANSWER: Tell them up and down to mind their own business, and that you don't care who was your husband's first love so long as you are his last.

If you are wise, you will break off all relationships with these conscienceless and unscrupulous women who are deliberately and cruelly out to wreck your home. You will lose nothing in losing them for they are no friends of yours. They are the worst enemies you can possibly have. And lay this truth to heart: Never believe any story that is calculated to hurt your feelings that anyone brings you. They are virtually always lies. Anyone who is mean enough to be willing to make you unhappy is mean enough to make up the tale.

It is a strange thing that any woman in the world could be heartless enough to plant suspicion of her husband in a young wife's heart, or to come between them and wreck the happiness of a home.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy of 17. Last week my mother passed away and ever since then I have changed. I don't care for the things I used to, and I have lost interest in my school work. I have tried to amuse myself, but everything falls flat. I had planned so many things for my mother and father and now it is all gone. What can I do to get rid of all this gloominess and restore the ambitions I had?

ANSWER: The death of one we love leaves us all like that, with the light gone out of the world and life flat and tasteless. Mercifully, time numbs our pain and our interest in our old pursuits revive, but life is never again the same. There is always the old scar.

Plan Means Tests For Britain's Day Nurseries

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON — (CP) — Means tests may be imposed in Britain's day nurseries to prevent mothers abusing the privileges.

Some authorities feel that too many parents "with money to burn" park their children in the nurseries and then go out and earn more money.

The question was raised by the council of nearby Croydon, which ruled that nurseries no longer need take children of parents whose net income—after payment of rent, rates, taxes and transportation—exceeds £5 ($15.50) a week (The average wage in Britain is about £7 a week).

One Croydon councillor, pointing to last year's deficit of £46,000 on day nurseries, said it would pay the council to give mothers £2 a week to stay at home instead of going out to work. Every child placed in a nursery cost the council £3 5s. a week, of which the parents paid only eight shillings.

The council adopted the £5 maximum by a vote of 38 to 11. It was suggested that priority be given to the children of widows, married women deserted by their husbands, and unmarried mothers.

Big London Deficit

British newspapers promptly hinted that other local authorities might follow suit in restricting eligibility for day nurseries. Sample of a large deficit on this type of care is that of the London county council, £634,000 in the red.

A defence of working mothers was made by Mrs. V. L. Child, chairman of a special committee. She said there are always some women who abuse privileges "but a lot of good, hard-working mothers are going to be penalized because of a few."

Mrs. Gertrude Williams, lecturer in social economics at London University, commented that "we lose more manpower in staffing day nurseries than the mothers put into factories."

Shorts Are Skirts By English Ruling

LONDON —(CP)— A skirt is a skirt when it looks like a skirt and serves the same purpose. That was the ruling of the Board of Trade when the question was raised by clothing manufacturers.

The manufacturers wanted to make shorts under the utility range, which is confined to government specifications and exempt from purchase tax, but they wanted to call them divided skirts.

The board's ruling was that skirts, divided or otherwise, can be made from utility cloth. But shorts are a luxury and must be taxed. A clothing federation says that skirts are getting shorter and shorts are getting longer so that they serve the same purpose. Now it's applying to have shorts included in the utility range.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Chose Delicate Flavoring In Filling Stuffed Potatoes

Potatoes are served so frequently in most households that any homemaker will run short of ideas every now and then. To build up a whole store of new and different recipes you must see "250 Ways of Serving Potatoes," the thirteenth cookbook to be released by this newspaper in its series of twenty-four cookbooks available to readers.

This Potato Book is full of novel recipes for variations of mashed and stuffed potatoes, croquettes, salads, scalloped potatoes, and many ways of serving potatoes in casseroles—as well as the correct ways of just plain baking or frying potatoes. Besides, the beautiful illustrations add all sorts of suggestions for serving potatoes attractively.

Here is an especially good recipe taken from the Potato Book for stuffed potatoes:

Supreme Stuffed Potatoes

4 medium Potatoes
½ cup grated American Cheese
2 tablespoons Butter
1 teaspoon Minced Parsley
¼ cup Minced Celery
¼ cup blanched Almonds, chopped
1 cup thick White Sauce
Salt and Pepper
Paprika

Bake potatoes in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until tender. Cut into halves, scoop out the inside and mash. Add remaining ingredients, beat until fluffy and season to taste with salt, pepper and paprika. Pile mixture back into shells and reheat in oven until lightly browned. Serves 4 to 8.

You will certainly want to get your copy of the Potato Book right away. All you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present the coupon with 25 cents to The Examiner Office, your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or to obtain your copy by mail, send the coupon with 30 cents (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Since a coupon appears in every issue of this newspaper, it is easy to catch up on the earlier cookbook releases. The earlier books are Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, Pies, Soups, Salads, Meat, Fish, Eggs, Vegetables, and Desserts.

Buying Supplies For Three Years

TORONTO —(CP)— Shopping for a weekend is a handful for most housewives but it's dwarfed by the problem faced by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Vincent-Barwood. They had to stock up with supplies for a three-year visit to Ethiopia.

But they found what they needed on buying expeditions in Toronto, Montreal and Halifax. Recently, they left for Addis Ababa, where Mr. Vincent-Barwood, 28, will teach industrial arts.

Mrs. Vincent-Barwood said special difficulties arose when they set out to buy clothing and household articles to take with them.

"We've been trying to decorate a house which we have never seen. For all we know, it might have six rooms. Then, again it may have 16. I've been buying drapes and I'm still not sure I've bought the right number. And we don't know if we're going to have electricity."

Mrs. Vincent-Barwood was born here 25 years ago. She served as a wireless operator in the RCAF Women's Division from 1943 to 1945.

Her husband, born in Nelson, BC, taught school before serving in the army as a dental technician in western Canada. They were married in 1945 and together they attended Mount Allison University in Sackville, NB. He graduated last may in fine and applied arts, she in home economics.

Gift of Artist's Desk and Supplies

Evening Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church held a business and devotional meeting Tuesday in the parish hall. Correspondence included a lengthy letter from the honorary president, Mrs. W. E. Conway who now lives in Bracebridge. An invitation was extended by the Afternoon Branch for members to attend a meeting November 8 at which Miss Hooper of St. Faith's Mission, Swan River, will lecture. Conveners were chosen and suggestions offered for members' part in the church bazaar being held late in November. Arrangements were made to send a gift of artist's desk and supplies to a 14-year old Indian boy in an Edmonton sanitarium. President Mrs. Fred Marshall and Mrs. J. Coons were hostesses for refreshments.

Olive Rice Rarebit

1 package Minute Rice
1¾ cups water
¾ teaspoon salt
1½ cups (10-ounce can) condensed tomato soup
2 cups grated sharp cheese
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons butter

• Combine Minute Rice, water and salt in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. (Do not stir.) Cover; remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile heat soup. Add cheese and mustard. Stir over low heat until cheese is melted and mixture is smooth. Add olives and butter to rice. Reheat, if necessary. Serve with the tomato-cheese sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Such delightful main-course dishes with precooked Minute Rice make meal-planning a real joy. Let Minute Rice transform your left-over meat, fish and fowl into sumptuous-looking dishes. Minute Rice is a wonderful beginner for so many tempting rice desserts, too. Keep several packages always handy.

Summer Theatre Well Established

Peterborough's Summer Theatre is now established as the number one summer theatre in Canada, Michael Sadlier told the Board of Education Thursday night.

Mr. Sadlier, director of the Summer Theatre, thanked the Board for use of Queen Mary Auditorium and briefly summed up the year's activities.

"We tried to follow up the first season with a selection of popular plays, and we believe we were successful," he said.

He singled out three plays: "At My Heart's Core," a contribution to Peterborough's centennial celebrations; "Harvey," said by some United States' visitors to be comparable to the Broadway production; and "The Heiress," better than the Chicago production.

Some of the interest focused on Peterborough was because of the coverage given the Summer Theatre by the Toronto press and national magazines, he commented.

The plan to switch productions from Peterborough to Niagara Falls, and vice versa, using two casts, was "not too successful," he conceded. And the Summer Theatre is not considering repeating the venture.

Higher operating costs—including rent, longer rehearsals, better lighting and set—meant that the Summer Theatre had to play to capacity audiences almost every night to break even.

Because of this he intimated a future reduction in rent and an extra two weeks stay at Queen Mary auditorium would be appreciated by the cast and directors of the Summer Theatre.

Norwood Cars Crash Damage Totals $75

Two Norwood cars collided late Thursday afternoon at Armour Rd. and Highway 7 resulting in $75 damage. Nobody was injured.

The accident occurred when the southbound car of John Finley, 78, Norwood, turned left at the intersection and collided with the left fender of the eastbound car, driven by Kenneth Cuthbertson, 18. A. Cuthbertson, owner of the car and father of Kenneth, was a passenger.

Provincial Constable L. H. Stinson investigated the collision which occurred at 5.30 p.m.

Historical Society Committee Set Up

The importance of Peterborough and district's past and present may be brought to the limelight of community interest as the result of a public meeting held Thursday night This meeting took the form of a discussion on the advisability of re-establishing the Peterborough District Historical Society.

Acting chairman William Graff, librarian, guided the discussion by outlining four fields of activity that would provide a starting point for the society. "First and most important will be the collecting and labelling of historical material," he explained. "The next step is the proper use of this material. Another important field will be the preservation of historic sites and finally promotion and publicity to make the people of the community and district acquainted with the history of the area," he concluded.

The advisability of re-organizing this society was strongly supported by those present. Among these was F. D. Kerr, K.C., who pointed out that an important aspect of this society would be the passing on of knowledge of the past and present for the generations to come.

Action was taken in the re-organization of the society by the nomination of a temporary committee delegated to set a date and make plans for a charter meeting in the near future. Those nominated were John Londerville. James Fraser. William Graff. Miss G. Sullivan, T. J. Allen. F. Birdsall and Ald. J. A Dewart.

Can't Accept Order From Latin America

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(CP)—R. M. Fowler, president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, said Thursday that no mill in Canada now can accept a substantial new order for newsprint for shipment to a publisher in Latin America.

From a long-range view, however, he told delegates to the Inter-American Press Conference. Latin Americans "can regard Canada as a reliable source for a major supply of your newsprint requirements."

He said Latin America stopped buying newsprint from Canada because of dollar shortages or "where exchange or barter arrangements made prices temporarily more attractive."

As a result, Canada turned to other markets, chiefly the United States. He added that Canadian mills can be expanded to take care of other markets if a steady, reliable demand for newsprint is established.

Woodville Farmer Killed By Tractor

There will be no inquest into the death of 62-year-old Leo Burton of Woodville, killed on a farm there Wednesday when run over by a tractor.

Dr. W. R. Crowe, Lindsay, made this announcement today.

Burton was helping in a silo-filling bee on the farm of Jim Winterbottom, near Woodville, when the accident occurred. He was believed to have been standing on the tongue of a tractor-towed wagon, and when the tractor reversed suddenly he was thrown to the ground.

The tractor, driven by Kenneth Duklow, Woodville, passed over him killing him almost instantly.

Millbrook Council Approves Village Community Centre

MILLBROOK, Oct. 13 (ENS)—A bylaw establishing a community centre in Millbrook, was passed at this month's meeting of the village council and the clerk was instructed to prepare a draft of a bylaw for borrowing money to establish the centre.

The clerk stated that the work of assessing the municipality for the year 1950 was completed. Date of the Court of Revision was set for Oct. 24.

The council decided to sign a lease which would grant H. Bremmer permission to use a small piece of land situated on the north east corner of the children's playgrounds.

J. Thompson complained of unsatisfactory lighting on Bank St.

Fire Chief Douglas Sheppard reported 11 men responded to the call for fire practice last month and the equipment was in good condition.

P. Hamilton and A. Payne discussed with council progress being made in the erection of the new arena.

Industrials Climb Onto Higher Ground

TORONTO, Oct. 13—(CP) — Industrials sparked by paper stocks again climbed into new high price ground as the session proressed on the Toronto stock exchange today. It was the third straight session of advance.

A $10-a-ton newsprint increase by Powell River Paper started paper stocks rolling higher for gains ranging to $2. Prices of leaders settled slightly in mid-session from peak morning advances.

Steels, utilities, foods, liquors, agricultures and constructions were also in strong demand on gains ranging from fractions to more than a point. The exchange's index of key industrials was the highest since the index was compiled in 1934.

Gains and losses were about balanced in base metals but market leaders were among the gainers. Noranda touched a new high at 74¼.

Leading western oils showed gains ranging up to 10 cents.

Selected gold issues climbed slowly. Leading junior producers were ahead as much as 20 cents.

Milkman Recovering After Bitten By Dog

COBOURG, Oct. 13 ENS) — Stan Fisher, who was removed to a Toronto hospital Wednesday after a violent reaction which followed a dog bite, is making good progress and is expected home today.

The young man was on his milk route Wednesday when bitten by a young police dog. A serum was administered to counteract the infection but Fisher developed a violent muscular reaction and it was decided to send him to Toronto for observation. His condition son started to return to normal. The dog has been tied up but it is believed that it had not been infected by rabies.

Chief Thompson Asks For New Constable

A new constable will be added to the city police department following a request by Chief Constable John Thompson at a meeting of the Police Commission Thursday.

The Chief said Constable Ernie Beatty who is responsible for the operation and maintenance of the parking meters now has too big a job on his hands. Many more meters have been added since the first lot were installed and more are proposed.

Constable Beatty said he can no longer keep up with them.

Chief Thompson said Constable Beatty has been doing an excellent job and should have help when he felt he needed it.

It is proposed that Constable Eldon McDonald will be moved over to help Constable Beatty and a new constable hired at the first of 1951 to take his place.

Charge 5 Merchants Selling Horsemeat

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 (CP)—Five Ottawa district merchants are being charged with selling horsemeat as hamburger and other table foods, the federal health department announced today.

They are accused under the Food and Drugs Act with having included horsemeat in hamburger, sausages, minced beef and minute steaks.

The investigation followed the discovery by food and drug inspectors that horsemeat "hamburgers" were being sod at the burgers" were being sold at the last August.

While the act does not bar the sale of horsemeat, it provides that this product must be labelled as such when sold.

Get Quick Relief from CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

"Ever since birth, I was subject to attacks of Chronic Bronchitis," writes Mr. Roy Jarvis, 1026 Dovercourt Rd., Toronto. "I coughed violently and wheezed a great deal. Then, I learned about RAZ-MAH—and now I'm happy to say I've found relief."

Francis Leo Morrow

Pallbearers at the funeral Wednesday afternoon of two-year-old Francis Leo Morrow, who drowned Monday in a Brock St. neighbor's goldfish pool, were William, Edward and Paul Primeau, and Frederick Grbse.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrow, 209 Brock St.

The funeral was from the Duffus Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral where the blessing was given by the Rev. Raymond Garvey. Monsignor P. P. Butler was in the sanctuary.

Father Garvey said the graveside prayers in St. Peter's cemetery.

SUGGEST PARKING CHANGE

The Police Commission recommended that parking on Water St. between Brock and Murray Sts. be switched from the east side of the street to the west and that a one-hour time limit be imposed in the block. Members of the commission said parked cars on the east side shut off any view of the park.

HAPPY SEA-LIONS

The zoo at London, England, uses 52 tons of herring and whiting annually—mostly for sea-lions.

Swims 440 Yards In Record Time

Swimming the fastest time ever recorded at the YMCA for Junior Men (under 17 years) for the 440 yards free style event, Donald Wood, Ontario backstroke champion, went the distance Thursday in 5:49 minutes. He cut 11.8 seconds from his best time for the quarter-mile.

Since March 1937 only seven swimmers have been recorded with faster times than six minutes for the distance. Stan McBride when a senior swimmer set the tank record at 5:30 minutes while Al Marshall, former Canadian champion, also a senior, was timed at 5:45 minutes. Othe times were set by Ken Stacey (5:52), Alex Carlisle (5:54), Frank Wright (5:57) and Jack Forbes (5:58).

Swimmers who bettered their times for the 440 yards were: John Boorman (from 6:09 minutes to 6:04); Ralph Wood (6:45 to 6:42); John Mason (9:11 to 8:52); Terry Reid (8:14 to 8:01); Jack Prest (8:15 to 9:00); Michael Triggs (9:20 to 8:16); Wilton Tranter (8:40 to 8:15); Bob Malby (9:34 to 8:35); Terry Northrop (8:55 to 8:43).

Three new members attempted the 440-yard swim Thursday with David Fryde's time 9:45 minutes, Ross Kembar's 7:45 minutes, and Alan Mather's nine minutes.

Medley relay winners were: John Boorman (captain), Terry Northrop, Brian Bell, John Mason, Wilton Tranter and Scott Pearton.

Mrs. Samuel A. Oke

The funeral of Mrs. Samuel A. Oke, who died Monday in Imlay City, Michigan, at the age of 85, was held Thursday at George St. United Church, Peterborough, the Rev. A. A. Mathews officiating.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery and pall bearers were C. S. Browne, Fred DeNure, Charles Pilon, Stanley Kerneghan, Percival Jameson and Vernon Fisk.

RAWDON MAN DIES IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Thief Grabs $10,000 In Bank Bag

London Messenger Victim of Snatch, Robber Escapes

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 14 — (CP)—A bank messenger was robbed of $10,000 cash by a snatch-grab thief in downtown London today. The robber escaped on foot.

Police said the thief grabbed a canvas bag from a Huron and Erie bank messenger. Bank officials said it contained 10 bundles of $1,000 each in $10 bills.

The thief was described as 23 about five feet 10 inches tall, and wearing dark brown trousers and a light brown zipper coat.

Canada Surplus Hits 296 Million

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 (CP)— The federal government had a budgetary surplus of $296,100,00 at Sept. 30 after the first six months of the current fiscal year, Finance Minister Abbott announced Friday night.

Revenues were $1,281,400,000 compared with expenditures of $985,300,000, but the minister emphasized that the expanded defense program authorized at the emergency session of parliament had not yet been reflected to any great extent in government spending.

He also said customary year-end expenditures would tend to reduce the accumulated surplus substantially.

Doing Better.

In his Sept. 7 "baby budget" Mr. Abbott estimated for a surplus of $15,000,000 for the fiscal year ending next March 31.

The surplus as at Sept. 30 compares with $278,900,000 at Sept. 30, 1949.

During September itself, Mr. Abbott said, $3,500,000 was added to the accumulated surplus up to the end of August. Revenues for the month were $214,500,000 compared with expenditures of $214,000,000.

In 1949, September revenues were $174,000,000 and expenditurese $189,700,000.

For the first six months of 1949, the total revenues were $1,240,600,000, while expenditures were $961,700,000 for the $278,900,000 surplus up to Sept. 30.

British Stage Commando Raid

TOKYO, Oct. 14. (AP)—Two British Commando raids on North Korea's east coast only 65 air miles from the Siberian border were disclosed today.

Vice-Admiral C. T. Joy, commander of naval forces in the Far East, said Royal Marines destroyed two bridges and a tunnel in lightning hit-and-run raids Oct. 7 and 8.

The Marines went ashore in rubber boats from two US destroyers Their faces were weirdly painted. They were heavily armed.

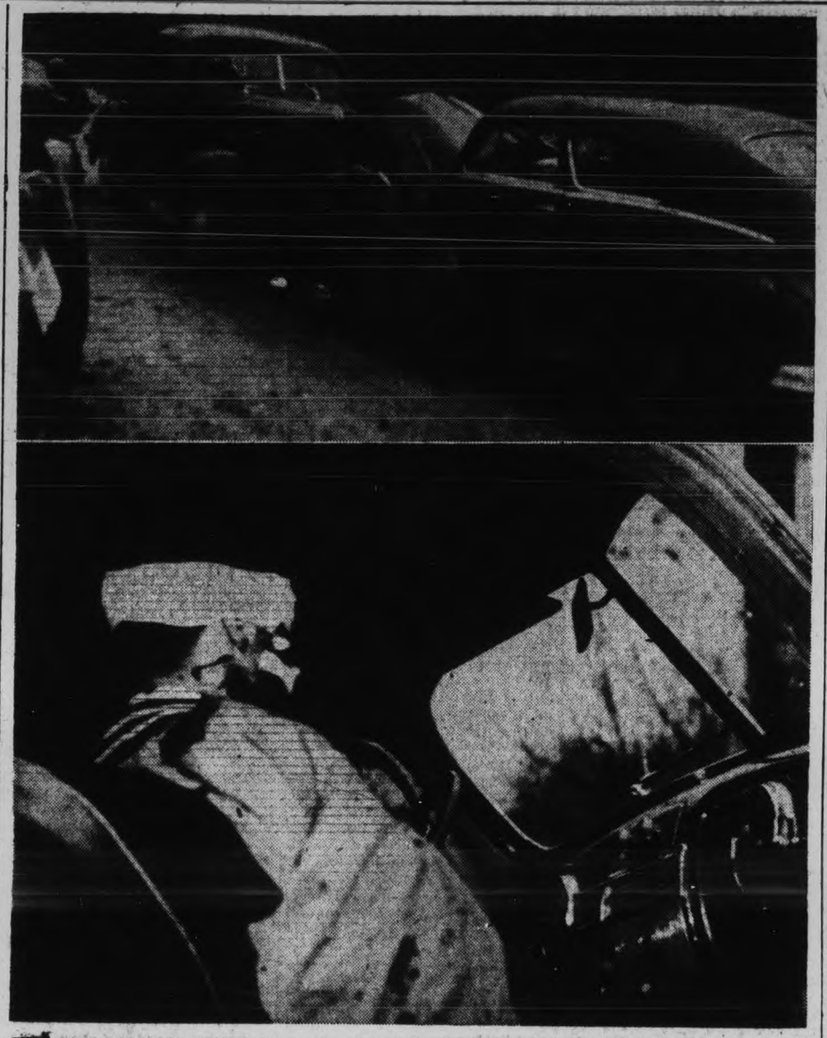
Kills 2 Grizzly Bears With Only One Bullet



CODY, Wyo., Oct. 14 (AP)—A Mississippi doctor really has something to talk about when he gets home—he killed two grizzly bears with one bullet.

Dr. L. H. Moore of Jackson, Miss., and a guide were bear hunting when they came upon a large grizzly feeding.

Moore fired one shot into the grizzly, but the bear ran into the timber.

Moving to where the bear entered the woods, the men were dumbfounded to find a smaller bear lying dead on the spot. The big grizzly was dead a short distance away.

The bodies showed a hole clean through the larger animal, and the bullet lodged in the smaller.

ONE VICTIM KILLED, three in critical condition and three others also hospital patients, was the result of a head-on collision midday Friday. The crash occurred on the 8th line of Seymour township about seven miles northeast of Campbellford. The fatally injured man was Garland Huff, 18, of Rawdon township, who was driver of one of the cars. Lionel Gray of Bonarlaw (lower picture) is seen after being placed in Dr. W. W. Baker's car for the journey to Belleville Hospital. His nose was severed. (Above) are the two cars after the smash. —(W. W. Reid Photos)

Newsprint Policy Under Attack

LONDON, Oct. 14— (CP) — Two leading British newspapers today criticized the Labor government for its cancellation of the Canadian newsprint contracts. The cancellation, which were announced earlier this year, combined with paper shortages to return wartime newsprint rationing to the British press, effective Oct. 22.

The Financial Times, a prominent business journal, said:

"The trouble with government intervention in markets is that when a miscalculation is made its effects are on the grand scale, and the ultimate consumer has no means of shielding himself from them.

"The miscalculations made by the British government in September, 1949, when it defaulted on the Canadian contracts for newsprint, now is clearly seen to be of a gross kind."

Gaitskell Warns Inflation Threatens Defence Plans

OTTAWA, Oct. 14—(CP)—Britain's Minister of Economic Affairs warns that inflation and a looming scarcity of strategic materials is threatening defence planning for Europe.

Hugh Gaitskell told a Canadian Club luncheon and a press conference Friday that the United Kingdom and other European countries are deeply worried about climbing prices for defence materials in Canada and elsewhere.

On his first visit to this capital, the 44-year-old minister held confidential talks with Finance Minister Abbott and Trade Minister Howe.

The talks wese described as "general", but Mr. Gaitskell disclosed that he discussed the significance of inflation with Mr. Abbott.

Further talks were held with other government officials at a country club dinner extended to Mr. Gaitskell by the Canadian Government.

Hurrying Back

Today, he calls on Viscount Alexander, Governor - General, and lunches with Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, United Kingdom High Commissioner. He leaves by train for Montreal and New York Sunday to "hurry back" to London in time for Parliament's opening Tuesday.

He told the Canadian Club that the question of increases in raw material prices "all over the world" was a "particularly serious matter" for Britain.

"The rise in price of 12 major imported raw materials in the last three months is already going to involve us in an addition to our import bill of £150,000,000 ($450,000,000) to £200,000,000 a year."

On the optimistic side, however, was the fact that the Commonwealth's sterling area now had reserves of $2,700,000,000 (US)—more than double the "very low" level of $7,350,000,000 previous to devaluation of the pound in September, 1949.

Mr. Gaitskell, who is carrying on the work of the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the absence of the ailing Sir Stafford Cripps, said the climb in reserves was encouraging, but there had to be more added to them.

Danger Still Lies Ahead Despite Korea—Churchill

BLACKPOOL, England, Oct. 14 (Reuters)—Conservative leader Winston Churchill said today that recent United Nations successes in Korea "must not lull us into a sense of false security."

"What has happened in Korea has set world peace on a stronger foundation," he said. "There may be time to build up a European army with strong aid from Britain, the United States and Canada."

Churchill, addressing the closing session of the Conservative party's annual conference, said "The Soviet onslaught upon South Korea has made many people realize the perils which menace us and all that is left of European civilization."

He said "We may all rejoice at the favorable turn the war has taken in Korea. We are glad that British forces have been represented with those of other Commonwealth countries. We admire the skilful conduct of the campaign by that great soldier, Gen. MacArthur.

"We must all hope that the forces of the free peoples of the world will not become too deeply involved in the Far East because the dangers there are on a very small scale compared to those which tower up against us on the continent of Europe."

In his first appearance at the three-day conference, the opposition leader declared:

"I do not believe that war is inevitable. On the contrary I believe that hopes of reaching a peaceful settlement with Russia have been improved by what has happened in Korea.

"I need scarcely say that we (the Conservatives) shall continue to give our help to the government in any wise measures, either of defence or diplomacy, to establish that peace and freedom arising from moral and material strength which is our hearts' desire."

Train Tosses Car 81 Feet

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 14—(CP)—A 24-year-old Londoner, his sister and his infant son were killed when their car was tossed 81 feet Friday night by a Canadian National Railways train at the Ashland Ave. crossing here.

Dead are: Frank Orr, Mrs. Lillian R. Sherville, and his infant son, Kenneth, 2.

Orr and his sister died almost instantly in the wreckage of their car and the child died in hospital later.

He and his son had been visiting with his sister and all were on their way to his home when the accident occurred.

UN Troops Close Trap On Capital

Believe Few Soldiers Can Escape, Will Lose Weapons

TOKYO, Oct. 14—(AP)—United Nations troops seized Kumchon today in a roaring battle on the southeastern approaches to Pyongyang, the Korean Communist capital. It rammed a steel lid over an estimated 20,000 trapped Reds.

On both the east and west coasts of central Korea's narrow waist, Allied carrier planes raked fast-disappearing Red targets.

But there was no further word on the big task group led by the U.S. battleship Missouri which smashed supply lines from Soviet Siberia on Korea's east coast Thursday and Friday. The bombardment fleet was made up of 37 Canadian, British, U.S. and Australian warships.

Except for the U.S. 1st Cavalry division's capture of Kumchon—the steel cork on Communists bottled up southwest of Pyongyang—there was a drought in reports of ground action.

But there seemed no question that the Korean war was in its final phases.

Maj.-Gen. Hobart G. Gay of the 1st Cavalry announced the capture of Kumchon, a communications centre 11 miles north of parallel 38. One of the cavalry spearheads smashed eight miles north of Kumchon to Hanpo, 65 miles from the Red capital.

Trap Closed

"The trap is closed," said Gay. "They will not get out any tanks, guns or vehicles."

At Hanpo, the Americans were astride the Reds' main escape route to the north. But Gay conceded that some enemy soldiers might slip out of the trap.

It didn't seem likely that too many would get out. The South Korean 1st Division was driving northward on the American right flank and was 4½ miles northeast of Kumchno at the time of the capture.

A captured Red lieutenant said the North Koreans were trying to fall back on Namchonjim, 13 air miles northwest of Kumchon. Heading that way was another 1st Cavalry Division spearhead, on the left flank of the troopers who captured Hanpo.

The cavalrymen were supported by British and Australian troops.

MacArthur's spokesman said that although Kumchon is in Allied hands, some fighting was raging today south and southeast of the city. Counter-attacks by Communists in regimental strength were rolled back.

The push toward Pyongyang from the Kumchon-Hanpo area north of liberated Seoul was at the west end of the spotty 130-miles front slanting northeastward across the peninsula.

At the east end, South Korean columns headed north from captured Wonsan toward the big chemical centre of Hamhung and west toward Pyongyang.

Make Safe Landing

GANDER, Nfld., Oct. 14—(CP)—Pan American Airlines Flagship Scotland landed here early today with two starboard engines dead and 44 passengers wearing life jackets. The pilot, Capt. Robert Lindsey, said there was no panic aboard when the engines quit four hours before reaching Gander.

Truman Holds Conference On Wake Island

HONOLULU, Oct. 14—(AP)—President Truman left today for tiny Wake Island, where he will confer with Gen. MacArthur on measures to combat the threat of Communism in the Far East.

MacArthur already had arrived at Wake from Tokyo. The United Nations commander's plane landed on the little mid-Pacific atoll Friday night.

Truman and the General will meet for a brief but historic conference.

The presidential party will arrive at Wake about 2.30 p.m. EST, Saturday after a hop of 2,300 miles.

Those In Party

In Truman's party are Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; Army Secretary Frank Pace; Ambassador-at-large Phillips C. Jessup; W. Averell Harriman, special presidential assistant for foreign affairs; Dean Rusk, assistant secretary of state for the Far East; and Charles S. Murphy, the president's principal speech writer.

With MacArthur are two advisers, the U.S. ambassador to Korea, John J. Muccio; and Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, head of MacArthur's government section for the Japanese occupation.

This will be the first face-to-face meeting of the President and the Supreme American Commander in the Far East. They will confer both before and after luncheon, and will depart after issuing a communique.

Pausing yesterday at Hickman Field here, Truman said:

"I am not one of those who thinks that another war is inevitable. I am just as sure as I stand here that the people behind the iron curtain are just as anxious for peace as I am."

British Sailor Jailed Pending A Hearing

LONDON, Oct. 14 — (AP) — Douglas Monro, 25-year-old British seaman, was jailed today pending a hearing Oct. 23 on a charge of breaking into Buckingham Palace.

A Scotland Yard inspector told a judge in famed old Bow Street court that Monro was identified by two persons as the man they saw early Friday with a dispatch box stolen from the royal residence.

Judge Bertram Reece asked Monro if he had anything to say.

"Not guilty," said Monro.

The judge explained that this was only a preliminary hearing and that the time to plead would come later.

Six Others Badly Injured In Smash-up On Hill Near Campbellford

Say One Car On Way To Attend Funeral Of Earlier Accident Victim; Ambulance, Florists' Truck Transport Injured

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 14—(ENS)—One man was killed, three are in critical condition and three others are also hospital patients following a head-on collision Friday on the 8th line of Seymour township, about seven miles north east of Campbellford. Garland Huff, 18, of Rawdon township, who was driving one of the cars, died in Belleville hospital of chest injuries Friday evening. Lionel Gray, 19, of Campbellford, a passenger in Huff's car, is reported in a critical condition in Belleville hospital, with a fractured skull and cuts.

Those in the other car were Samuel Harrington Gifford of Redan St., London, who suffered a broken collar bone and a broken right wrist; his wife Neva Gifford, who is reported in critical condition with a depressed fracture of the skull, fractured wrist and cuts;

Blake Gifford, a son, suffered lacerations to the neck and head and a fractured right ankle. Another son, Russell, 108 Kathleen St., Sarnia, who owned the car, and was driving at the time, suffered lacerations to the scalp, face and knees, and is believed to be the least injured of the seven victims. A fifth occupant of the Gifford car, James Hardy of London, is also in critical condition with severe multiple lacerations of the face and scalp and concussion. Mr. Hardy, 52, is a cousin of Chief Constable George H. Hardy of Campbellford, and was travelling with the Giffords to visit his mother, who lives in the Morganston area.

Sent To Reformatory For Dangerous Driving

OSHAWA, Oct. 14 — (CP) — Convicted of dangerous driving, John Cook, 18, Friday was sent to reformatory for 10 months and Albert King, 17, was given eight months. Both are from Toronto.

They went on trial for manslaughter in the traffic death last Jan. 21 of another Toronto youth, Michael Gerry, but an Ontario Supreme Court jury reduced the charge to one of dangerous driving. Still another youth, John Bell, died following the smashup.

Police said they chased the four youths, who were in a stolen automobile, at more than 70 miles an hour.

BULLETIN

TORONTO — (CP) — Police today sought Elsie Arnetta Teasdale, 33-year-old law firm bookkeeper, for questioning in connection with the disappearance of more than $38,000 of her employer's funds.

U.S. Promises France Substantial Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP) —France was assured today of substantial American aid in building up its military strength, but may have to settle for much less than it requested.

Moreover, American officials are reported to want a part of any help given France to go to to native troops fighting beside the French against Communist forces in Indo-China.

Defence Minister Jules Moch of France Friday laid before top American officials a plan for tripling France's armed force in Europe over the next three years, coupling it was a plea for $3,170,000,000 in military assistance by the end of 1951.

The reaction of State Secretary Dean Acheson, Defence Secretary George Marshall and Treasury Secretary John Snyder was reported to be that the French were asking too much.

Interim Aid

At the same time, officials familiar with the negotiations said that Moch and Finance Minister Maurice Petsche of France were promised interim assistance, pending development of an American aid plan covering all the Atlantic treaty powers.

This is substantially the same position which the united States government took in dealing with British requests for arms aid.

The French now have seven divisions in Western Europe. Moch outlined a program for adding three more in 1951, five in 1952 and five in 1953—a total force of 20 divisions by the end of 1953.

Soviet Germany Holds Election

BERLIN, Oct. 14 — (AP). — Soviet-ruled East Germany holds its first big election tomorrow, but there's no speculating on the results. The voters only have one set of candidates.

With no opposition to think about, East Germany's rulers have beaten the propaganda drums to ensure a massive turnout, mingling persuasion with stark threats.

Political observers, therefore, expect some 95 per cent of East Germany's 13,000,000 voters to troop dutifully to the polls and endorse the hand-picked Communist slate—virtually the same government which appointed itself on the founding of the East German "People's Republic" a year ago.

300 Canadian Troops Leave Soon For East

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Oct. 14 (CP)—An advance party of some 300 officers and men representing all units of Canada's special army brigade arrived at this big Washington state army base Friday, and plans call for its departure for an undisclosed Pacific base within a few days.

As the advance party of Canada's contribution to ground forces of the United Nations, this group will be responsible for the preparation of overseas camps—possibly Okinawa — pending arrival of the main body of the brigade of about 8,000 men.

Chinese Reds Keeping Secret

Winter Famine Worst Disaster In History

HONG KONG, Oct. 14 —(AP) —Last winter's famine in China proves that the Chinese Communists can keep a secret.

Nobody knows its toll.

But enough information has leaked through the bamboo curtain to show:

1. It was one of the worst if not the worst such disaster in modern Chinese history.

2. More than 50,000,000 people were affected, and, through malnutrition, will continue to be affected.

3. Crops of at least 20,000,000 acres were wiped out.

Not even a rough estimate of the death toll has come from inside Red China. All that has sifted out is an occasional admission that a few hundred had succumbed in this or that town or county, or that refugees had died by the road trying to reach greener fields.

The total death score, if anyone knows it, has been slipped into the pigeonhole of things the Reds want to forget.

Followed Army.

The famine followed the march of the Communist armies into China. It started in 1949 in the Northeast Provinces and parts of Manchuria after a drought which ruined thousands of acres of grain crops.

Then the Yangtze and Yellow rivers overflowed, destroying long, broad belts of crops one-fourth the width of China. Not in a hundred years had the two big rivers flooded simultaneously.

The highest figure ever mentioned by the Reds themselves was last November when they said 40,000,000 people were affected, a fourth of them severely.

After that, official admissions were cautious and contradictory. A few independent reports dribbled out later, indicating that more than 40,000,000 people were hit by the famine, that the famine was far-flung and scattered, that the Reds themselves had only a sketchy idea of its extent; that the scourge hit areas which normally produce an excess of food, and that China would pay in undernourishment for years.

Some areas of Red china are plagued by floods, but generally the crops have been good in 1950. Communist headquarters at Peiping estimates production of food at 120,000,000 tons, but that includes Manchuria.

China's pre-war production, including Manchuria, was about 157,000,000 tons, so it appears that China this year still is at least 20 per cent under its pre-war average, which was insufficient.

Name Winners At Alliston For Plowing Trip

ALLISTON, Oct. 14—(CP) — Herb Jarvis of Agincourt and Hugh Leslie of Georgetown are mentally packing their bags for expense-paid, six-week tours of the United Kingdom.

The 27-year-old Jarvis, and Leslie, 28, won the trips Friday when they topped the fields in open classes of horse and tractor plowing on the final day of the 37th International Plowing Match.

The two defeated Ontario county champions and plowmen from other provinces to earn the trips.

Eight plowboys, all under 20, are just as happy about free trips through the United States and to the 1950 Chicago Livestock Exposition. Winners and runners-up in two-man inter-county competition, both horses and tractors, they showed themselves the best in competition both yesterday and Wednesday.

Chicago Winners

The Chicago tours for tractor plowing went to winners H. Baird and D. Dunkeld of Ontario county, and runners-up H. Hare and Earl Bacher, representing Haldimand county.

Although the weather was wet until the final day of competition, the sponsors, the Ontario Plowmen's Association, were pleased. Rain dampened the sandy soil sufficiently to give top plowing conditions, and it never rained hard enough during the day to postpone competition.

The static exhibits of farm machinery and equipment, and demonstrations and competitions in fire-fighting, farm welding and horse-shoeing, also helped attract the estimated 100,000 spectators who attended the four-day matches.

Find Old Motor Built In 1891

The great-grandfather of present day electric motors manufactured by CGE was recently rescued from a junk heap in Cornwall, Ontario. The 230 volts DC motor, still in perfect mechanical condition had been discarded by Canada Cottons of that city, who had had it for 60 years. It was almost sold to a junk dealer for its copper content.

The motor has been purchased by the CGE.

It was manufactured by the Edison General Electric Company at its Canadian Works at Peterborough, Ontario . . . the immediate forerunner of the present CGE Peterborough Works. It was produced either in 1891 or '92 just a few months before the formation of the Canadian General Electric Co.

Collection May Be Made

The motor, which is the oldest small piece of equipment manufactured at Peterborough, still runs like a charm and is now temporarily stored in Toronto.

Intellectual Prodigy Charged With Murder

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 14. (AP) — An intellectual prodigy, who once tried to choke his mother for saying "ain't", was held today on a charge of murdering a cab driver.

Handsome Harry (Hal) Irwin, Jr., 22, who became a licensed attorney at 18, was turned over to police by his mother after she quoted him as coming home and announcing:

"I killed a man for you tonight."

That was Wednesday. Mrs. Lois I. Irwin, 48, said she was not sure whether to believe her son — he had told so many wild, imaginative tales. But the next day she learned that Cabbie Monty Jack Whitmire, 28, had been found dead in his cab in a park.

She then told police: "I'm afraid Hal's mixed up in this."

The officers arrested Hal and booked him Friday for murder.

On the night of Oct. 7, the Commandos landed at Kyongsong, just south of Chongjin, the big industrial centre bombarded this week by 37 warships.

The operations at Kyongsong was the nearest to the Siberian border. Twenty-three hours later they struck 100 miles to the south near the city of Songjin.

Working on a carefully-rehearsed schedule, one group quickly severed all communications and power lines. The commandos subdued a group of civilians without firing a shot.

Other commandos carried 40,000 pounds of high explosives to the tunnel. They planted it on the seaward wall. More charges were placed on telegraph poles.

At a signal, the fuses were set and pulled. As the commandos withdrew from the beach, the charge exploded. Flames rose more than 100 feet.

The next night the commandos went ashore four miles south of Songjin.

Wantasa Inn Owner Captures Fish Trophy

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 14 (ENS)—The trophy awarded to the resort owner whose guest catches the largest fish during the summer, was presented to C. C. Cherry of Wantasa Inn, at the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday. The fish was a 24½ pound muskie measuring 48 inches, caught by a visitor from Pennsylvania.

Mrs. W. O'Brian reported there had been 609 enquiries at the tourist booth during the summer for resorts and cottages. There were approximately 25 enquiries a day concerning places to eat and likely spots for fishing.

July was the peak month for tourists, business being not quite so heavy during August, Mrs. O'Brian said.

The practice of allowing drift fishing for pickerel after June 15 was discussed, following receipt of a letter from James Fraser of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

Roseneath had a comparatively long stretch run, and the fans had full view of a thrilling finish in spite of the raw wind that was blowing from the Alnwick countryside.

Victory Hy has earned this year warm quarters and the best of oats for the winter. It may be that Blewett will send him to Brighton Nov. 11, but the Dufferin winter meeting is reported to be cancelled, and there is nothing in sight around these parts for the blind pacer but months of unwinding and ease. He has paid this year for the best of keep.

Car, Truck Collide

A car and a light truck collided at George and Simcoe Sts. on Friday doing little damage to either vehicle.

The car driven by Emmett Maloney, RR 9, Peterborough travelling west on Simcoe St., was turning right into George St. around a bus and a truck parked beside it.

As he was making the turn, a light truck driven by E. H. W. Hay, 517 Rose Ave., pulled from the east curb of George St. and they collided. About $35 damage was done to the Maloney car and about $10 to the light truck.

Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Drivers' Competition

CAMP BORDEN, Oct. 14 — (CP)—Pte. Walter Huber of Camp Borden, 29-year-old veteran of the Second World War, won Central Army Command's skilled driving competition Friday. He scored 320 of a possible 350 points with his big army service corps truck. Fifteen of the Army's top drivers from Toronto, Ottawa, London, Kingston and Camp Borden competed.

NEWLY-ELECTED PRESIDENT of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce is Gerald Grady. He succeeds Bill Edworthy.

Nazi Diplomat To Be Released

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 14— (AP) — United States authorities announced today that Baron Ernest Von Weizsaecker, former German diplomat who was convicted as a war criminal, will be released immediately for "good behavior."

The announcement said that the five-year term imposed on Weizsaeckr was commuted by John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner.

The action was taken after a review of the case and after "numerous letters had been received from persons in many countries attesting to Von Weizsaecker's actions in protecting Jews and alleviating harshness of the German occupation in Norway," the U. S. announcement said.

The letters also stated that he hid jews in the embassy at the Vatican where he was wartime German ambassador and used his influence to prevent demolitions during the evacuations of Rome in 1943.

The war crimes case against Weizsaecker concerned the deportatioon of 6,000 jews from France to Poland in March 1942, for labor.

The two vehicles met head on, the bumper of the Huff vehicle becoming imbedded tightly into the grill of the other. Neighbors were attracted to the scene by the steady blowing of the horn on one of the cars, but it was several minutes before help arrived.

Lindsay Anderson was believed to be first on the scene, and when he saw the injured people, four of them unconscious, he believed some to be dead. He 'phoned Campbellford police, who had doctors and an ambulance on the scene within a few minutes.

The four most seriously injured were rushed directly to Belleville, two by ambulance, which suffered a blowout on the journey, and two in the car of Dr. W. W. Baker of Campbellford. Constable Donald Erskine of the O.P.P. removed three more of the injured to the Campbellford hospital, where they were X-rayed and stitched up before going on to Belleville. These were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gofford and their son Russell.

Have To Use Truck

No more ambulances were immediately available to remove the three injured from Campbellford to Belleville, and a light panel truck owned by George Pallasier, florist, of Campbellford, was pressed into service. Mr. Pallasier had just brought his sister and brother-in-law to the Campbellford hospital, where his sister, Mrs. Donald Holmes, was to have an X-ray to determine whether a cast should be removed from her leg, which was broken when the car in which she was riding this summer went out of control, killing the driver, her father, Mr. Charles Pallasier of Campbellford, and sending the others to hospital at St. Anne Des Monts. Mr. Pallasier had previously brought his sister from the St. Anne Des Monts hospital in the truck, and as it was equipped with mattresses in the back, it made an excellent ambulance for the injured.

A police cruiser from the Brighton detachment of the OPP met the truck on No. 30 highway between Campbellford and Brighton, and escorted it with siren clearing the way, to Belleville.

Drs. Baker, Hall and Anderson attended the injured persons before the trip to Belleville and Dr. Baker and Dr. Stobie of Belleville worked all afternoon setting bones and attending to other injuries.

After the death of Huff, it was announced from Brighton, that an inquest would be held there on Friday night.

truck went out of control on No. 7 highway about two miles east of Havelock.

Golfers' Trophies, Prizes Presented On Friday, 13th

Black cats skulked around the Peterborough Golf Club Friday evening, presumably expecting the 125 members and guests in the house to scream and run at sight of their green eyes. But, when a grand party is going on, Friday the 13th superstitions are abandoned they found.

It was the final wind-up of this year's golfing season with dancing taking the place of golf on this occasion. An intermission was taken up with the presentation of trophies and lovely prizes to the top golfers of the club.

House committee chairman L. G. Lawrence introduced president Mr. G. H. Cutmore, who in turn introduced Mrs. C. G. Graham, president of the ladies' section. Mrs. G. Maniece, ladies' captain, presented the ladies' trophies and prizes, and Mr. Maniece, assisted by Mr. W. J. Vanstone, presented the men's awards. Mr. Cutmore reviewed the year's activities with some comments on the scores chalked up.

Coloured balloons were a gay note in the club rooms with signs of "13" about, and an orchestra was supplying the music.

Those present included:

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Everett, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Montgomery, Mr. Gordon Gatsell, Miss Verna Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ivison Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smoothie, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Farquson, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Dit Clapper, Mr. and Mrs. L. This is on the east coastal road heavily hammered by the roving task force headed by the Missouri. Possibly two of Canada's three destroyers in Korean waters — Athabaskan, Cayuga and Sioux—were in the task fleet.

Tanchon, 80 miles northeast of Hamhung, was the southern end of a 130-mile sea front battered by the Allied warships. The northern end of that front was near Soviet Siberia and Red China's Manchurian border.

A United Nations naval summary said the warships struck "with typhoon-like fury in one of the navy's biggest field days of the war."

Will Free Archbishop If He Leaves Country

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Yugoslav government today confirmed reports that Roman Catholic Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac would be freed from prison when and if he agrees to leave the country.

(Vatican sources said Oct. 9 that the prelate was not interested in obtaining his release on such terms. They said he had long ago refused to accept banishment as a condition of his freedom).

Archbishop Stepinac was sentenced in 1947 to 18 years imprisonment on charges of aiding the Ustachi, an organization which Marshal Tito's Partisans claimed worked wth the enemy during Yugoslavia's wartime fight for liberation.

Konni Zillacus, a Leftist former member of the British Parliament, told reporters Oct. 9 that the Yugoslav government was willing to reprieve the archbishop at once if he would leave the country.

6 People Attacked By Strange Prowler

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (AP)—Wary police scoured Detroit's northwest section Friday night and early today for a suspected demented prowler after attacks on six persons.

All six—four women, a girl and a boy—were in hospitals today with head injuries, some possibly critical.

Three were members of a family group who were attacked at their home. The others were assaulted at their homes or on the streets.

Description of the assailant, police said, gave reason to believe the same "tall man in a grey coat" was involved in all the assaults. There was a question whether robbery was the motive in any instance.

Kingston Region Top Winner VLA Contest

KINGSTON region VLA smallholders won top awarded in the 1950 national property development competition sponsored by the VLA Administration, Regional Supervisor A. R. Macnab announced today. Their establishments took first, second and third prizes in the two adult classifications.

Youngsters of the Peterborough area settlers were also well represented as prize winners in the junior classifications, a new feature of the competitions this year.

Approximately 5,000 Ontario VLA small holders were automatic competitors in two classifications—those on acre and less establishments and settlers on properties exceeding one acre. Subdivision group contests were excluded this year in favour of the children's competition.

The youngsters also competed in two groups—those nine to 13 years old and kiddies eight and under. Their gardens were at least 100 and not more than 150 square feet and included at least three varieties of vegetables and flowers for qualification.

"Judges found the standard throughout considerably higher than last year", Mr. Macnab said. Last year's winners remained near the top this summer and marked additional development of all properties points to the smallholders as "living advertisements of a new way of life being enjoyed by thousands of Canadians", he added.

Scoring was based on agricultural and landscape development with parlicular stress on the arrangement of features making up the entire property. Economic returns from the small holdings also played an important judging role.

Prizes valued at $9,000 will be distributed across Canada to 666 award winners including 150 youngsters who placed in the junior competitions.

Prize winners according to placement in the Peterborough area are:

A. C. Newman, Campbellford, Ont. and J. L. Lorne, R.R. No. 3, Peterborough, on establishments an acre and under.

Those on properties exceeding one acre are: C. F. Bolderstone, 365 Cottesmore Ave. Cobourg; T. J. Chadwick, Campbellford, and K. O. Bardslokken, R.R. No. 2, Peterborough.

Bobby Young, Omemee, won second prize in the younger children's group.

Special Board To Probe Price

TORONTO, Oct. 14—(CP)—A special board of arbitration to consider the wholesale price of milk in Toronto will convene Oct. 25, it was announced Friday by Judge J. A. McGibbon, board chairman.

The Toronto price hearings follow special arbitration sittings on other provincial areas. That board, also headed by Judge McGibbon, ruled Thursday against granting additional increases except in Ontario markets where the present price went into effect prior to last Aug. 15.

The board did not list the exceptions. Because a price rise has occurred in Toronto since Aug. 15, it is considered probably that no increase will be allowed here. These are the Communities where the milk price increase was denied:

Acton, Aylmer, Bowmanville, Brampton, Brantford, Brockville, Cornwall, Georgetown, Kingston, Lindsay, Midland, Niagara district (including such communities as St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Port Colborne, Thorold, Merritton), Oakville, Oshawa, Owen Sound, Paris, Pembroke, Port Elgin, Preston, Renfrew, St. Marys, Simcoe-Waterford, Smiths Falls, Stratford, Tillsonburg Kitchener-Waterloo, Whitby, Zurich, Penetanguishene, Port McNicoll, Welland.

2 Newspapers Sparked Windsor Inquiry

TORONTO, Oct. 14—(CP)—The Globe and Mail says today that it and The Detroit Times co-operated to help bring about the investigation of the Windsor police department which led to the appointment of a new city police commission.

A Detroit dispatch by Ed Brand, Times staff writer, says the newspapers investigated gambling in Windsor and placed their findings before Attorney-General Dana Porter of Ontario and Commissioner W. J. Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Brand wrote that Mr. Porter sent two officers to Detroit, to interview witnesses brought secretly across the border by Brand and Ken McTaggart, Globe and Mail reporter.

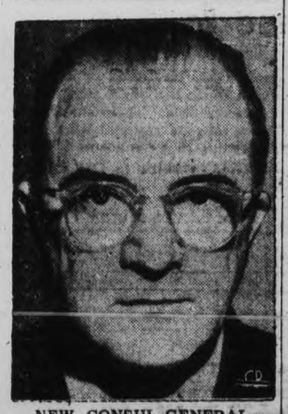
As the result of the officers' report, Inspectors W. H. Lougheed and Frank Kelly of the Provincial Police spent months investigating the Windsor police department. Their report said gambling, vice and bootlegging was rampant in the city.

Two members of the police commission resigned after the report and Crown Attorney E. C. Awrey of Windsor was dismissed.

(Mr. Porter told The Canadian Press that Brand's account of the role of the two newspapers was "substantially correct.")

Brand wrote that the two newspapers refrained from publishing any stories on their investigation until official action was taken "in the interest of a government investigation and a desire not to focus undue or unfair criticism on the city of Windsor in general."

WMS Plans For Bazaar Include Fish Pond



BETHANY, Oct. 14 (ENS). — Mrs. Rupert Wood entertained the members of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild for their October meeting. Mrs. Charles Reynolds presided, and the Rev. T. S. Gault conducted the devotional exercises. Plans were made to have a fish pond at the church bazaar which will be held November 18 in the Town Hall. The Guild will also have the usual table of candy, home cooking and other articles. Lunch was served by the hostess and her group. Mrs. Charles Reynolds invited the members to her home for the next meeting, which will be held November 15.

BEAUTY CONTESTANTS AND HARNESS RACING attracted most attention at Roseneath Fair on Friday afternoon but only the horses were able to keep warm. Roseneath Lost In Gamble With Weather

ROSENEATH, Oct. 14 — (By Staff Reporter) — Dr. Arthur Johnston of Peterborough judged the light horses and Fred Denyes of Brighton handed out the ribbons in the heavy classes, at the Roseneath Fair.

Hundreds of the visitors greeted Fred J. Slade, president of the Roseneath Agricultural Society for more than 30 years. He came through a serious operation some month ago, when news reached his host of friends that he had only a slight chance of recovery. With him Friday was vice-president, A. J. Campbell, and another veteran of the management, Clarence W. Varcoe, secretary 30 years.

Roseneath directors gamble on dubious mid-October weather when they accept the last date of the Central Ontario season. Two years ago, it was shirt-sleeve day; last year rain set the board back in its finances, and Friday was almost of early November temperature with patches of sunshine.

The crowd was down to about 8,000 as an approximation, and Thursday rain kept many an exhibitor at home. Entries were light in all the livestock classes.

Winners of the baby show were:

Seven months and under—1st Deborah Ellis, six months, daughter of Mrs. Ward Ellis, Campbellford; 2 Diane West, daughter of Mrs. Lloyd West, Grafton; 3 Nelson T. Coyle son of Mrs. Douglas Coyle, Roseneath; 4 Mary Ellen, daughter of Mrs. Clark Mouncey, Roseneath; 5 Susanna, daughter of Mrs. B. Roberts, Fenella; 6 Murray G. Macklin, son of Mrs. Gordon Macklin.

Seven to fifteen months: 1 Dianna Jean, 11 months, daughter of Mrs. G. Sherwin, Cobourg; 2 Janie Pauline, 11 months, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Rowden, Port Hope; 3 Larry George, son of Mrs. Geo. Hynes, Cobourg; 4 Danny, 13 months, son of Mrs. N. Harkley, Nick's Camp, Peterborough.

The oldest man on the grounds was John Duff, 90, Roseneath.

In the Holstein class T. J. Convey of Dartford was the only exhibitor. Elmer Wood had the Ayrshire class all to himself and Garnet Kerr's Jerseys were alone in the third dairy class.

In the beef section Malcolm Bailey of Uxbridge was the only exhibitor of Aberdeen-Angus cattle; M. H. Pimmett & Sons of Indian River had no opposition for his Shorthorns, and in the Hereford group John R. Walsh & Son of Otonabee took two first in heifer classes and most of the others went to A. R. Linton of Cobourg.

Sheep Classes

Boyd Ayre of Hampton won all the first in Southdowns, with J. R. Kelsey of Woodville taking two seconds and three thirds.

Kelsey took all the money for Shropshires, and Everett Mark & Sons of Little Britain were the only exhibitors of Oxfords and Dorsets.

Yorkshire Pigs

George Stephen, Baltimore, was awarded five first prizes and five seconds; C. L. McNeil, Fraserville, took a second and Geo. Mouncey two thirds.

E. Mark & Son were alone with Berkshire entries; and in the Tamworth section, J. R. Kelsey drew five firsts, three seconds and one third; Jack Garneau, Hastings, won one first, three seconds and three thirds.

Mr. Stephen also won the following specials: Dewart Milling Co., Peterborough, prize for the best Yorkshire boar and two sows; the H. M. Fowlds, Hastings, special for the best Yorkshire sow, any age; and the Peterborough Co-Op Services, special for the best pen of three bacon hogs.

Other Specials

Dewart Milling prizes for the best beef herd of one bull and three females went to Malcolm Bailey Uxbridge, Aberdeen-Angus; second M. H. Pimmett & Son, Shorthorns.

Peterborough Examiner, silver trophy for the best team in general purpose and agricultural horse classes went to W. F. Scott, Campbellford.

Sullivan Motor Sales, Hastings, for best exhibit of heavy horses, not more than three 1 W. F. Scott; 2 L. G. Sweet, Bonarlaw.

The Sawyer Stoll team of Belgians from Kaladar won two specials.

A special for the best single horse hitched to four wheel vehicle, once around the track, was taken by A. B. Mann, with Geo. Gummow second, and J. Sheridan third.

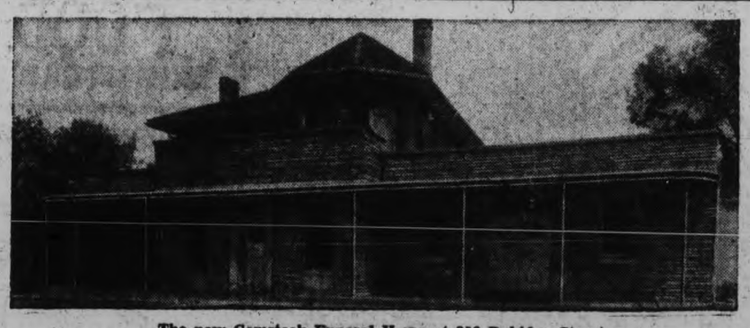
The stewardship secretary read a poem and correspondence was read by the temperance secretary. Mrs. Windrim gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Earle McCarroll had charge of the worship service. Mrs. Downes gave the synopsis of the first chapter of the new study book. Lunch was served.

Man Inherits Music Bells Of Pioneer Days

HAVELOCK, Oct. 14 (ENS) — Charles H. Roberts of Havelock has recently inherited a set of eight brass musical bells, known as the Roberts Bells which are more than a century old, and were left to him by his cousin, the late Sampson Roberts of Columbus, Ontario.

Mr. Robert's father, John Roberts, came to Canada from Wales in 1839, settling at Columbus and sometime later sent to the Old Country for the bells. In 1851 they arrived in Canada having come from Whitechapel, in London, England.



For more than 20 years they were played by the Roberts family. There was Mr. Robert's father, his uncle Sampson Roberts and two aunts, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Jackson. They played at entertainments at Muddy York (Toronto) and other places, the trip from Columbus to these events being sometimes made in a lumber wagon and other times in a democrat, going one day and returning the next.

The bells have not been in use for many years but they are in good condition and Mr. Roberts hopes to be able to use them at some future date.

Your Hydro is growing fast - but

In 10 years your Hydro has increased the power supply to Southern Ontario by 952,940 horsepower, over twice the combined power requirements of the cities of Windsor, London, Hamilton, Peterborough, Kingston and Ottawa . . . and there will be more power within the next few months.

Ontario's growth has been amazing. Since 1947 the population has increased by 323,000, over 70,000 new homes have been constructed, approximately 700 new industries have been established and the value of production has risen an estimated 1½ billion dollars, 88,541 new rural consumers have been supplied with Hydro and the value of agricultural production has increased by some 400 million dollars . . . all of which called for power in greater quantities than at any previous time.

BUT—in addition to this tremendous growth, the recent step-up in industrial activity due to defence rearmament contracts has brought about a sharp increase in the use of electricity. In the past few weeks the maximum primary demand in Southern Ontario has been as much as 400,000 horsepower (298,000 kilowatts) higher than a year ago . . . an increase 5 times greater than the long term average rate of growth. For this reason your Hydro urges everyone to co-operate in the conservation of electricity.

The Council In Its Blindness

"The heathen in his blindness", says the well-known hymn "bows down to wood and stone." Our City Council, in its blindness, runs away from wood and stone. For three years, apparently, it has been messing incompetently with the problem of whether or not Peterborough should accept a gift of sculpture from the Peterborough sculptress, Miss Katherine Wallis, who is now living in Santa Cruz, California. The people of Santa Cruz, who are not stupid, would like the collection for themselves, and if Peterborough refuses the gift, that is where the sculptured pieces will stay.

* * *

The Council has now reached the ignoble point where it is trying to pass the buck to the Library Board and the Women's Art Association. We feel that the Council should wake up and meet the problem itself, for it is essentially a simple one.

* * *

Miss Wallis has an affection for Peterborough. She is a sculptress of considerable reputation. She is offering Peterborough some examples of her work which could be used to beautify the city.

* * *

If the work were accepted, where could it be shown? We suggest that one piece of it be placed in the entrance hall of the new City Hall, another piece in the Public Library, and a third piece in the new Civic Hospital. The P.C.V.S. could undoubtedly find a place for a piece, and the foyer of the auditorium at Queen Mary School would be a good place to exhibit another. If any of the pieces are cast in bronze they would look well in our city parks, at the Hydro's beautiful park, and in the gardens which we believe are to surround the new City Hall.

* * *

If it is asked where the money would come from to transport the sculpture to Peterborough and mount it on appropriate pedestals, we suggest that a city which can find $30,000 to light its ballpark could find the necessary money without difficulty for work which would materially beautify this city.

* * *

It is sometimes said that people get the government they deserve. This is not always true. Peterborough certainly deserves a civic government with more common sense on matters of city beautification than it generally receives. We can understand that the Council would never dream of buying sculpture to beautify Peterborough; but when it is offered a collection of work by a known artist—an artist moreover, who has connections with this city—what reason is there for hesitation? Does the Council want to snub Miss Wallis for remembering Peterborough?

* * *

Why pass the buck to two other city bodies? The Council has dithered and stalled on this matter for three years; surely it can make a simple decision? One point, however, should be made clear: Peterborough has no sculpture gallery and would be silly to establish one devoted to the work of a single artist. Sculpture is not seen at its best in galleries, but in large buildings and in parks. We have the large buildings and the parks, we have a Peterborough artist who is ready to give us a collection of her work. We have everything, in fact, except a Council capable of making up its mind.

Do The Conservatives Control The Ontario Press?

It is encouraging to see that the Young Progressive Conservatives of Peterborough are well-organized and strong, and have shown their strength at a vigorous annual meeting. It is not long since we wrote in these columns that the democratic parties of Canada should be as active in proselytizing and instructing among the young as the Communists. The Conservatives of Peterborough are plainly doing a good job among their young people. We wish it could be said that the Liberals had a young people's organization of similar strength.

There is one point, however, upon which we take issue with the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Young Progressive Conservatives. Mr. Leon Balcer, the M.P. from Three Rivers, is quoted as saying that in Quebec the press was controlled by the great Liberal machine. What, precisely, does Mr. Balcer mean by that?

It is true that a great many Quebec papers support the Liberal cause in politics, for their readers are predominantly Liberals, and so are their publishers. We would be interested, however, in any evidence of direct or indirect "control" exercised over the Quebec press by any agency of the Liberal party.

In Ontario the contrary condition prevails. Although most Ontario papers are independent in the sense that they will not attach themselves unconditionally to any political party, they all have political opinions. As many Ontario publishers are Conservatives, and as their papers are read by predominatingly Conservative subscribers, they are friendly toward the Conservative cause. We could count on the fingers of one hand the Ontario papers which could be called Liberal. But does that mean that the Ontario press is controlled by the great Conservative machine?

It does not. We know the Ontario press, and such a suggestion is laughable. Just as laughable as Mr. Balcer's bugaboo about the controlled Liberal press of Quebec. When will politicians wake up to the fact that audiences at political meetings do not leave their brains at home?

Canada's Broad Camel's Back

Our Minister for External Affairs confessed in the House of Commons during his speech on Korea at the end of August, that he often has the feeling after returning from conferences and meetings abroad, that Canada's problems as a nation rise chiefly because "we are a happy country in an unhappy world." As a result there is a tendency to be complacent and unconcerned about events outside Canada which are complex and intractable. We hope that "we can enjoy immunity from both obligations and misfortunes."

It is a natural hope. The Americans had it from 1815 to 1915. It accounts largely for the isolationist sentiment in the U.S.A. prior to the last World War, when at last the American public realized that they could not have the fruits of power without the responsibilities of power.

In Canada isolationism has never had the depth or extent of isolationism in the USA, because Canada as a small country is in need of Allied help; because we are not a Republic cutting ourselves off from our family roots as did the U.S.A. in 1776; because Canada has always been a member of a family of nations, since she ceased to be merely a colony, and because external affairs have always been important to Canada, whose prosperity depends so much on export.

Now that Canada has achieved full nationhood and is ripe for the richest harvest which ingenuity, industry and nature have ever provided for a country, Canadians would like to concentrate on the domestic dish and let the rest of the world go hang. But we cannot. If the rest of the world is noosed so is Canada. Historically, economically, geographically, Canada cannot isolate herself. As Mr. Pearson said, to attempt to do so in the face of the present menace to our security and to our very existence would be fatal.

So Canada must make a defence effort far greater than she has ever before attempted in peacetime, Mr. Pearson warned: "This will interfere with our comfortable peacetime existence. It is not going to be something which will break the camel's back, because the Canadian camel's back is pretty wide; but it will be something that may require a readjustment of the load already on that back, and will also add to that load." It is the price Canada has to pay in the chaotic, even tragic circumstances of these times.

It is unfortunate for Canada that she is not to have the considerable period of world peace (a peace imposed, kept and paid for by Britain in the nineteenth century) which allowed the U.S.A. to develop so remarkably. In this century the U.S.A. has the great task which was Britain's in the last. But now the U.S.A. will not and cannot manage it alone and pay for it all by herself. She has no colonial revenue or cheap labour. Unfortunately Canada has matured in a half-century which included two World Wars. She is now attempting to reap her harvest in a half-century which may see a third World War. But even the most loyal and peace-loving Canadian must admit that it was these wars which did most to bring about Canada's industrial development and her nationhood; it is the threat of a third world war which is now keeping our factories busy and our production at the highest levels. Canada's international responsibilities have not increased more than her capacity to bear them.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Various large potatoes have been brought into this office recently, the biggest weighing 2 pounds 10 ounces. But so far we have seen nothing to rival the South African sweet potato, which frequently goes as high as 19 pounds.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

Oh, I am in such a state! Laid low by the Influenza, and kept in my bed with sedatives four times a day, a light diet and a perpetual vapour from an electrical device which creates a medicated steam! I have no voice at all, and have to write down everything I want to say on a pad; as my opinions on this whole wretched business demand the fullest expression, I write to you. Nobody pays much attention to my pad anyway; like all invalids I am treated as though I had suddenly been whisked back into a fretful and feeble childhood.

It astonishes me to find that many people consider the Influenza a fairly new disease; they imagine that it turned up after the First Great War. I remember that epidemic; it was called Spanish Influenza, and it was a widely held opinion that the Spaniards developed it as a result of remorse because they had been neutral during the great conflict. But it is far older than that. During the nineteenth century it enjoyed quite a fashionable popularity under the name "la grippe"; like everything else, it passed in time from fashionable people to less fashionable ones (along with spats, vest edgings and derby hats) and was called "the grippe", or in some cases "the la grippe". Even saloon keepers enjoyed it under that name.

But the earliest mention of Influenza known to my medical dictionary is in 1679, when Sir Thomas Browne's family suffered from it, and it is fair to guess that it was known even earlier under that name. It was also called, less impressively, The Catarrh.

The name Influenza comes from the belief of early medical practitioners that the disease had its origin in an evil influence emanating either from the stars or from some ill-disposed person, such as a witch. This seems to me to be an excellent theory, for the ailment has all the characteristics of something a witch would think up. I have suggested to my physician that he find this witch (I gave him the telephone numbers of two or three whom I suspect) and tell her to lay off me, but he prefers to go on with conventional methods.

Oh, I am a cursed thing!
SAM.

To Richard Dandiprat,
Reprehensible Dandiprat:

It is a good thing for you that you have closed your windows and moderated the bellowings of your radio. Your explanation to my emissary that you knew that I was ill in bed, and wanted to entertain me with the broadcast of the World's Series is of a piece with your previous mendacities. If you hope to soften my heart, and persuade me to withdraw my lawsuit against you, you must try some other means.

I am not to be wooed by information about the World's Series. I take no interest whatever in sport, and in this I resemble seventy-five per cent. of the population of the civilized portion of the globe. Sport is the enthusiasm of a small but noisy minority, of whom you are one. If broadcast descriptions of games which you cannot see, played by people whom you do not know, in surroundings unfamiliar to you, for stakes in which you will not share, are of powerful interest to you, you must be even more of a numbskull than I took you for. But you must enjoy these phantom delights in private; keep your radio and your windows down.

With scorn,
MARCHBANKS.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.
Esteemed Fribble:

I am greatly impressed by the success of Alcoholics Anonymous. It is made up, as you know, of drunkards who wish to escape from the inconveniences of being drunkards. I am gradually becoming convinced of the necessity for a complementary organization, to be called, perhaps, Alcoholics Ambiguous, to be made up of people who are not drunkards, but who wish to enjoy some of the privileges accorded to those who are habitually drunk.

Consider your own case, Fribble. You are a busy man; you have plenty of work to keep you going for anything up to ten hours a day, and what is left of your time you like to dispose of as you please. But people continually write to you, wanting you to make speeches, or write pieces for them, or to do something else, like sitting on a committee or organizing a club. Wouldn't it be worth a good deal to you if your secretary were able to say, "Sorry, but we simply can't depend on Mr. Fribble", or "This is a poor time of the month for Mr. Fribble". Everybody would quickly get the idea that you were in a perpetual alcoholic stupor, and would leave you alone. Except, of course, that everyone would say "It's a miracle how he gets his work done". The miracle, of course, would be that you had found a way of ensuring yourself the time to do it.

Shall we organize Alcoholics Ambiguous now? Here is a little club song which I suggest should be sung at every meeting (a single member, happily and soberly occupied at his desk, constitutes a meeting):

Oh, Monday is my rum-day,
And Tuesday is my booze-day;
Don't depend on me
On a Wednesdee
And Thursday's
My Hangover-snooze day;
Friday of course is rye-day
And Saturday I swim in gin,
Sunday is a mixed-drink fun-day
Then I start all over agin!
YOW!

Many people pretend to a virtue which they lack, in search of worldly advancement. Let us pretend to a vice which we do not enjoy, in order to get a little peace in an over-organized, over-eager, over-strenuous world.

Yours with a psuedo-alcoholic wink,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

When Mr. Potter came down to breakfast he found his wife seated at the table, but she wasn't eating.

"What are you doing, dear?" he asked.

"Reading a letter that just came from mother," she replied.

"Anything important?" Mr. P. inquired politely.

"I really don't know," the little woman replied. "I haven't read the postscript yet."

THE GEOPOLITICS OF KOREA

Neatly placed at the intersection point of Japan, China and Russia, Korea plays a part in twentieth-century Asia not unlike that of Belgium in eighteenth and nineteenth century Europe, when it was the meeting-place and battle-ground of Britain, France and Germany. In Japanese hands in 1931 Korea was the jumping-board for the conquest of Manchuria; in Russian hands it might have been the same again, while an independent Korea, controlling the sea connections between Vladivostok and Port Arthur, makes Russia's hold on this Manchurian port precarious. For this reason, China has a strong and real interest in keeping Korea out of Russian hands. Japan has an even stronger interest: Korea in the hands of a continental Great Power would be a pistol pointed at Japan's heart. Moreover, Korea has always been Japan's rice-bowl, and one of her chief customers for industrial goods. A united and independent Korea is in the long run an indispensable condition of peace and stability in this highly explosive area.

Mr. McCloy's Warning

(MONTREAL STAR)

MR. JOHN J. McCLOY'S warning to the Russians will not stop Sunday's elections in the Soviet zone of Germany, but it does serve notice on the Kremlin that the United States and the other occupying powers are not retreating one inch from the principle of German unification laid down at Potsdam. The Soviet acts as if the permanent division of Germany were an accomplished fact and it is well to remind them from time to time of a solemn obligation undertaken both to unify Germany and establish a democratic German government.

The single-list elections planned for Sunday are a negation of both these obligations. They repeat a technique successfully used by Russia elsewhere to defeat democratic processes. Only one list of candidates goes to the voters. They can vote against, but there is no alternative choice. The result is inevitably a paper victory for the candidates carefully chosen and listed by the Soviet authorities. The opposition, if it exists, gets no chance to elect its people. It is to all intents and purposes a "fixed" election like Hitler's "Ja" votes and shows again that Naziism and Communism are blood brothers.

The protest forwarded by the United States High Commissioner repeated western demands for "free, all-German elections on a democratic basis." He reminded Russia of the Potsdam obligation and in the correct language of diplomatic usage indicated that these elections would add one more to the long list of broken pledges the Kremlin has accumulated. There is added the direct warning that neither the United States nor the West German government can recognize the elections as capable of conferring on the East German regime either legitimacy or any claim to represent the German people now living in East Germany. This may be a futile warning, but it is one that must be made not only to keep our own record straight but to indicate to the Russians that we reserve the right to enforce the Potsdam arrangements when the proper time comes.

Dutch Teaching

(Fort William Times-Journal)

Two men from The Netherlands, visiting Fort William and Port Arthur, spoke English fluently. One of them delivered a ten-minute speech without benefit of preparation or of notes, and held the deep interest of his listeners.

The men, Leen Van Dijk and Jan de Vaal, are engaged in film work in their home country and are spending a few weeks in Canada under a fellowship from UNESCO to study film work in this country. Neither had been in an English language country before.

Their accent, their large vocabulary, their knowledge of grammar is a very great compliment to the efficiency of the teaching in The Netherlands.

How many graduates of high schools in Canada could do as well with French or German on the strength of their study of these languages in Canadian class rooms?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

John to the seven churches which are in Asia: Grace be unto you, and peace, from him which is, and which was, and which is to come; and from the seven Spirits which are before his throne; and from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen....

I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet, saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and, What thou seest, write in a book, and send it unto the seven churches which are in Asia... and I turned to see the voice that spake with me. And being turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks; and in the midst of the seven candlesticks one like unto the Son of man, clothed with a garment down to the foot, and girt about the paps with a golden girdle....

And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not; I am the first and the last: I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen. (Rev. 1: 4-6, 10-13, 17, 18.)

Unconsidered Trifles

She staggered into her neighbour's house.

"A drop of brandy," she gasped.

As she gulped it down her neighbour sympathized with her.

"You look as if you've had a shock. You're as white as a sheet."

"I have," came the reply. "My husband came home sober, and brought all his pay."

✧ ✧ ✧

The old lady had lost her purse and she rushed into the New York stationhouse and tearfully told her story. The desk sergeant was very kind and calmed her fears as best he could. Laying his hand on her arm, he said:

"We leave no stone unturned to find your purse, madam."

Leaving the building she noticed a group of city workers busy tearing up the street for drainage repair, and she remarked to herself,

"Well, they don't lose much time. I'll say that for them."

Biting Dogs

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

There has been far too much balderdash about a dog and its bite. It springs, no doubt, from a decision once handed down by a judge in the United States, to the effect that every dog is entitled to one bite. That is arrant nonsense. There may be cases in which an unduly provoked dog may be excused once, but a dog's first bite should be its death warrant, unless deliberate and undue provocation can be clearly proved.

"One fancy cake—mounted with marzipan Colorado beetle—entered by someone signed 'Uncle Joe.'"

It was good to see so many resort operators at their second annual Chamber of Commerce get together this week. Manager Jim Fraser is to be congratulated on getting such a high calibre speaker panel to address them on a wide range of subjects. There were hydro ratings to be discussed, the four-County drift fishing clause, the need for additional conservation officers, the changing of the length of the pickerel season. Col. Doug Crowe and Tom Johnston of the Department of Travel and Publicity told them that this year would likely be the fifth consecutive record tourist year for Ontario, that they must mix their Heaven-sent fishing attraction with other forms of entertainment, that the department had found that only one tourist in 100 wet a fishing line in the province. DLF's Dr. W. H. K. Harkness gave a lot of information about the current muskie boom in Kawarthas.

It was altogether a splendid effort. Plenty of opportunity was given for audience discussion and small headway made on some subjects. The most heated debaters seemed to blame governments for situations which they did not like. What a pity people still cannot seem to realize that laws are made by themselves and carried out by government people. If situations are not to their liking, why not band together and have laws changed? Individual rantings get nowhere.

• • • •

Publicityman Bud Lloyd of the Peterborough Beagle Club, who fears that Kawartha beaglemen will shy at showing their dogs at the coming meet at Harbruce Farm on Oct. 21-22nd, handed me a screed of notes from which I am supposed to quote and bolster their spirits. Glad to do this, in a condensed form, because it is important to the district. Ample road signs in red letters will show the way to George Hill's Farm, three miles east of the city on No. 7. There will be kennelling accommodation and feed for beasts and showmen and parking facilities for cars and buses. The thirteen-inch class shows on Saturday, dogs in the morning, bitches in the afternoon, and Sunday for both in the 15-inch section. Judges will be John Shewchuck, Oshawa, John Tide and Ed Dawsette, both of London and Harold Armstrong of Peterborough. An entry fee of three bucks, 50 cents of which is a recording fee, will be charged. All dogs must be registered. It's shaping up into the largest trail run ever held in the district. Breeders and spectators, let's go.

More Than Windfalls for Melville

Mail carrier Melville Sheehey, Lindsay way, was passing George Parrington's ranch recently on the 4th Concession of Verulam Township. He knew of an apple tree loaded with luscious fruit and stopped his car to pick some. Among the windfalls was a large black bear, satiated and fast asleep, until Melville approached. The bear woke up with a snort and sprinted for the orchard fence alongside Mel who was making a quick getaway in the same direction. They tumbled over the top rail together a few feet apart. Mel dove into his car and the bear sauntered up the road. Forbidden fruits sweeter? mused Mel; he didn't have time to find out.

There was a report this summer of a monster 15-pound pickerel being caught at Chandos Lake. Coombs, the barber in Apsley did a taxidermist job on it and displayed the head in his shop for some time. I was too late to get pictures and measurements and therefore treated the whole tale as hearsay. Last Sunday, however, while on a family Fall drive to Chandos, dropped into Birchcliff Lodge on the southwest arm. Proprietor Miller is displaying the big brute's noggin in his tuck shop. What a fish!

Not by a Dam Site

Imagine the surprise of lady camper at Lake Mazinaw who opened the front door of her cottage the other morning to find a colony of beaver busy felling poplar trees across her doorstep. The rambunctious woodcutters dropped the closest timber ten feet from the building, probably would have stove in the verandah, had the owner not made a timely appearance. A Tweed district conservation officer investigated and came to the conclusion that they were bank beaver cutting winter fodder; he could find no lodges in the vicinity.

Newsman Mike Pengelly of Port Hope ran into a world beater fish story this week while interviewing an extrovert salesman who told him he had broken three world's records and taken all this year's fishing contest prizes offered by a Toronto newspaper. The whole thing sounded authentic until this Bunyan of the blue waters boasted weights of a 71-pound, 9-ounce muskie up in Nipissing this summer; a 9-pound, 6-ounce black bass and a 21¾-pound pickerel. All this was pure fabrication and if anyone told me such yarns I would ask him for a puff on his pipe before he put it down; such dreams come from smoking opium, it is said. And such tales in the press are dangerous.

It is disappointing to learn that the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce after issuing their splendid district folder for three years in a row, have decided to drop the idea like a hot potato. Advertisers say they cannot see beneficial returns from it. Of course they can't. Promotional work of this nature is of an intangible sort and 18,000 booklets mailed to American outlets are not gathering dust, you may be sure. If Lakefield wants to keep its name up in front, what better, or cheaper, method can they think of? The Chamber's new directors elected Thursday evening are: W. Hudson, W. Shepherd, Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Cpt. K. Sloan, Don Hendren, Harold Hamblin, Frank Coyle, Wesley Graham and E. H. Northey.

Reports From The Blinds

Veteran duck hunters who know where to go and how to shoot are quite satisfied with their luck from opening day, Saturday last, to date. Even the Big Blast last Saturday left some modest bags for experts after the smoke had cleared away. Without mentioning names and places, under threat of getting a load of buckshot in the back of my lap, a Lakefield crowd did well in small lakes at north end of the County; 17 birds, a lot of them Fall bluebills, was the count. Peterborough lads who went into the same general area have taken 40 to date. As far as partridge shooting went over Thanksgiving, there was too much forest cover on the trees for good sport. But birds are to be had, perhaps this week-end, now that wind and rain have given us that November look.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Only A Little More

Only a little more
I have to write,
Then I'll give o'er,
And bid the world
good-night.

'Tis but a flying minute
That I must stay,
Or linger in it,
And then I must away.

O Time that cut'st down
all
And scarce leav'st here
Memorial
Of any men that were;

How many lie forgot
In vaults beneath;
And piece-meal rot
Without a fame in death.

Behold this living stone
I rear for me,
Ne'er to be thrown Down, envious Time,
by thee.

Pillars let some set up
If so they please,
Here is my hope,
And my Pyramides.

Villages of District In 50's Some Flashes In The Pan

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

District villages grew from crossroads hamlets to prosperous communities in this decade:

Hastings: Henry Fowlds bought Crooks' property in 1851 and renamed it "Hastings," built a new dam, a raceway on the south riverbank, and a store in which a postoffice was begun. In 1853 Fowlds expanded the sawmill, David's tailor shop opened, and a school was begun under Miss E. M. Werden. Next year Fowlds built a larger gristmill, and the year following he improved the raceway on the north bank. A new brick school was built in 1855 also. In 1856 Fowlds moved his home to Hastings, Thomas Pomeroy began blacksmithing, and H. Lye started a cricket club. In 1858 Fowlds built the steamer "Forest City", James Fife opened his general store, and the Trent Bridge was rebuilt by Peterborough and Northumberland counties. In that year Hastings had 430 people, five stores, four blacksmith shops, three hotels, two wagon and carriage makers, one tavern, one sawmill cutting 2½ million feet yearly, one gristmill, grinding 25,000 bushels of wheat yearly. Tim Coughlan was lockmaster.

Gore's Landing: had several gentry families, including the Traills. Strickland wrote in 1853: "It has two excellent taverns, a large steam sawmill, two stores and several other buildings . . a stirring little place." But it declined when the Cobourg railway reached Harwood in 1854; Harwood in turn had a brief flash of prosperity lasting a few years. Bewdley also flourished until 1858 when the PH and P Railway reached Peterborough.

Keene: As the C and P Railway passed nearby, Keene prospered until 1860. In 1858 the town had 400 people, three stores, three hotels, three blacksmiths, three shoemakers, two wagon and carriage makers, one flourmill, one sawmill, one tannery. Thomas Short was promoting his Allandale townsite 2½ miles from Keene, with a steam gristmill, a sawmill, a foundry, a shingle mill, and a carding and fulling mill. Both, however, declined after 1860.

Westwood: in 1858 had 100 people, four taverns, three stores, one sawmill, one grist and oatmeal mill, one wagon-maker, one blacksmith. When lumbering in Asphodel was finished in the early 1860s, Westwood declined, and Ewing sold the sawmill in 1867.

Norwood: In 1853 Keeler had the townsite surveyed and named "Norwood". His daughter, Mrs. Gilchrist, got half his Norwood property in 1854. Thomas Buck bought the Grover sawmill in 1857, only to have it burn down shortly after. In 1858 Norwood had 500 people, a grammar school and common school, four churches, two sawmills, one gristmill, six stores, six blacksmith shops, two cabinet shops, one wagon and carriage maker, two saddlers, two tanneries, etc. Dr. T. W. Poole, Supt. of Schools for Asphodel and Belmont, who in 1867 published the first "History of Peterborough," practised there.

Warsaw: Choate's gristmill and sawmill, destroyed by fire, were rebuilt by 1858, in which year there were 150 people, four stores, three blacksmiths, two taverns, one wagon maker, etc. South Douro (St. Joseph): in 1858 had 50 people, a postoffice, Dan Sullivan's general store, and a Roman Catholic church under Rev. Michael Mackey.

Lakefield: Hon. Z. Burnham had a townsite surveyed and named "Selby," though the postoffice was called "North Douro"; by 1853, however, it was renamed "Lakefield". Strickland wrote in 1853: "The town is only in its infancy, consisting of a sawmill and a few scattered houses. . ." He had moved away in 1851 but returned before his death in 1867; Mrs. Traill returned in 1879. About 1850 Thomas Gordon started a boatworks which later became the Lakefield Canoe Company. In 1853 a school was opened, and next year a tavern, also a bridge across the river with county aid. In 1858, when the population was 80, Shaw and Waite completed a sawmill with capacity 7½ million feet yearly, and D'Arcy's gristmill started. John Shaw and J. Sherin had general stores.

Bridgenorth: in 1858 had 75 people and was "a favorite resort for fishing and picnic parties". The steamer "Peterborough" took excursion parties as far as Bobcaygeon. There were three hotels, two steam sawmills, one blacksmith, a general store and postoffice.

Springville: in 1858 had 100 people, one hotel, one general store and postoffice, a brick Presbyterian church, three blacksmiths, one weaver, one milliner, etc. It prospered on the traffic along the toll-road to Peterborough.

Omemee: on the PH and L Railway; in 1858 it had 550 people, 15 stores, two bakeries, two taverns and a temperance hotel, three saloons, two churches, a grammar and common school, a newspaper, one sawmill, one gristmill, one carding and fulling mill.

Downeyville: in 1858 had 100 people, three stores, one hotel, one saloon, one milliner, two blacksmiths, two shoemakers, and a Roman Catholic church with Rev. Coile.

Lindsay: had 300 people in 1851 and grew rapidly. Two or three steamers plied through regularly until the locks was converted to a timber-slide in 1855. The railway came in 1857, when Lindsay became an incorporated town with 1,100 people. In 1858 there were 15-20 stores, several schools, mills and churches, five hotels, two foundries, two tanneries. "To the tourist, Lindsay . . is now the bourne to be fixed upon whether for the gratification of his artistic tastes or sporting propensities. . . Fish and game are plentiful in their season," said the Directory. By 1861, when the town had a big fire, there were 1,907 people, as it was the entrance to the northern lumbering and settlement regions. The town had a newspaper and, from 1862, the Montreal Telegraph system.

Bobcaygeon: In 1853, when Mossom Boyd became postmaster, mail came weekly from Downeyville. Five years later, the population was 150, with Boyd's sawmill and gristmill, two other sawmills on Sturgeon Lake, Dunford's shingle mill, Ritchie's tavern, three stores owned by Wm. Beatty, John Hunter and John McConnell, and a blacksmith shop. As the entrance to the Bobcaygeon Colonization Road, it was a busy transfer point.

Fenelon Falls: In 1850 millowner James Wallis opened a store, and Wm. Powles had the postoffice; Comstock began a tavern and J. Twomey a blacksmith shop. Next year, Wallis built new grist and sawmills, and paved the main street with slabs covered with gravel. In 1852 Wallis built the steamer "Ogemah". Two years later the village was surveyed, Wm. Martin started the Clifton House (later the Kawartha Hotel) and J. Fitzgerald began a general store. Wallis' sawmill was burnt down and in 1858 was being rebuilt, at which time there were 100 people, four stores, a lath mill, two blacksmiths, and daily steamer service to Lindsay and Peterborough.

In the United Counties by 1858 there were about 7,500 people who could be classed as "urban", and it can be estimated that the population was 18 per cent urban, 82 per cent rural.

The grants in the 20s and 30s to speculators and officers, from Admiral Vansittart in Bexley and Hon. D. Cameron in Fenelon east to A. Nelles in Harvey and C. Hayes in Belmont, have already been noted. These, and other gentry who bought "estates" at 5s. an acre, had nearly all left by 1850. Now the forest on these back townships, two-thirds virgin white pine, the rest mostly oak, maple and beech except for swamps, became much more valuable than the land; those who owned or could lease timber limits soon became wealthy. By 1860 the best timber was cut in the southern townships up to Belmont, Dummer, Douro, Smith, Verulam and Fenelon, and lumbermen were working north of the lakes from Balsam to Stony. They encouraged settlers to follow into the north country in order to provide winter labor, and to raise crops, cattle and horses near their depot-shanties for winter supplies, cheaper than supplies brought in from the "front." By insisting that settlers stay near roads and depots, to reduce the chance of forest fires, they stimulated the growth of villages.

Belmont was surveyed 1853-57, but earlier settlers were R. Stewart, J. and W. Burgess, A. Mathison, J. Johnson, P. Garrison, E. Nixon, R. Preston, W.

Best Bulbs Not The Cheapest

By HENRY PREE

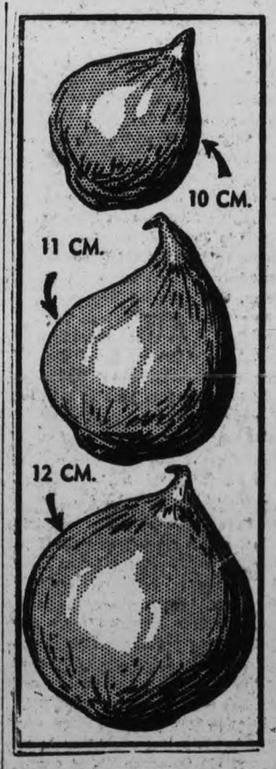
Tulips were first introduced to European gardeners by the Austrian ambassador to Turkey. Since then, 1554, their popularity has increased to such an extent that the Holland bulb industry has become the second largest industry in that country. The immense crop is shipped to garden lovers all over the world.

However, the gardener of today, thanks to the clever Dutch and English hybridizers, has far better tulips than those which thrilled the ambassador when he first saw them in a garden near Constantinople.

When one sees pictures of the first tulips, most of which were striped, it is difficult to believe that from these the present thousands of varieties, in endless colors and shades, have originated.

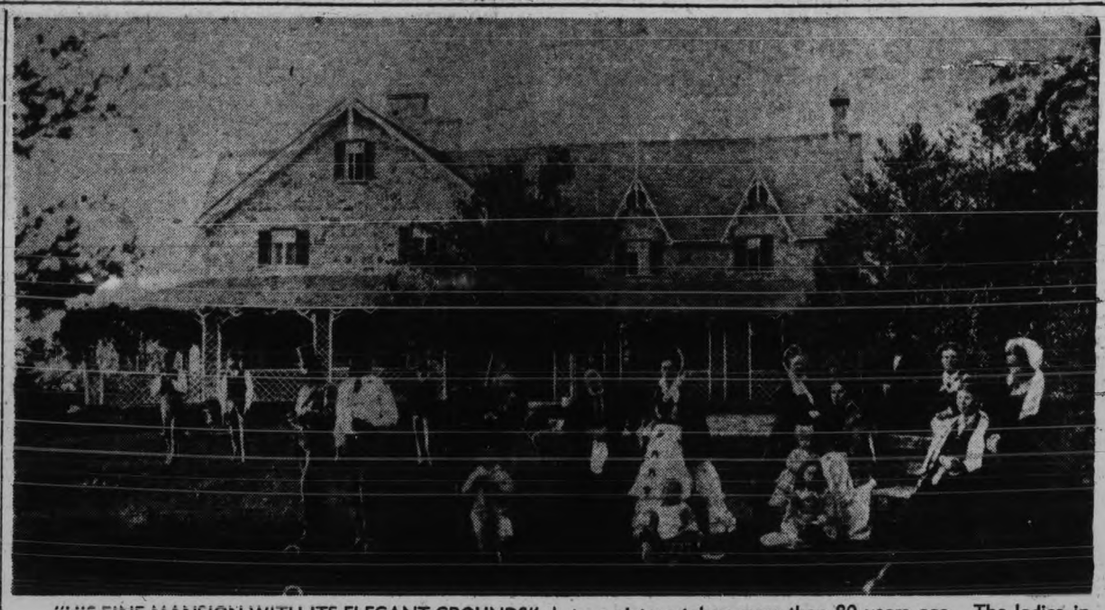
Incidentally, the botanical name Tulipa comes from the Turkish, meaning "turban," and was adopted because of the resemblance of the inverted tulip flower to that oriental headdress.

What is the difference, I am frequently asked, between the two-dollar-a-dozen tulip bulbs listed by dealer X, those offered for a dollar a dozen by dealer Y, and the bargain bulbs advertised as "100 bulbs for $2.75."



The answer is as always—the buyer gets exactly what he pays for. All bulbs are graded and priced according to size and quality. The larger and more perfect bulbs naturally sell at higher prices.

Naturally, too, the larger bulbs will produce the finest blooms. When you see low prices quoted you may be sure that these bulbs are a smaller and poorer grade than the bulbs offered by reliable dealers.



The National Tulip Society has taken action to get the aid of the government in curtailing the distribution of "bargain bulbs" which are often diseased or below size.

The vast majority of dealers throughout the United States and Canada are absolutely ethical in their practices but are affected by the dishonest practices of just a very small handful of commercial factors who attempt to take advantage of the ignorance of the buying public.

The two or three companies, because of their tremendous mail order operations, have distributed very large quantities of these inferior small bulbs which will not flower as specified. In many cases this has the effect of discouraging a prospective tulip enthusiast for all time.

THESE ARE STANDARD size tulip bulbs, sketched to approximate actual size. The best sizes to buy are usually those 12 to 13 centimetres in circumference.

"HIS FINE MANSION WITH ITS ELEGANT GROUNDS" wrote Peterborough historian Dr. Poole in 1867 of the Lakefield home of Colonel Samuel Strickland, first settler in the village. The home, long since razed by fire, is shown here in a picture taken more than 80 years ago. The ladies in the family group are elegant, too. The shirt-sleeved gentlemen are pitching horseshoes. The child in the foreground is blurred: one really had to hold a pose for the camera in those days.

Founder's Grandson Revisits Lakefield

By HAZEL PAULL

Roland Hugh Strickland, grandson of Lt. Col. Samuel Strickland, the first pioneer to settle in Lakefield (1831), spent a recent week looking over the home of his childhood after an absence of 50 years. After his childhood in Lakefield, his work as a mining engineer took him across the length and breadth of the Yukon Territory in the 90's—the days when canoes, dog teams and backpacks were the only means of travel. He has been engaged in some of the great engineering undertakings in the west which form a major part in the history of the development of the United States and is now, at the age of 78, living in retirement in Santa Monica, Los Angeles. When he retired in 1923, he took up peach and cherry ranching at Beaumont, California, 85 miles east of Los Angeles.

During his visit to Lakefield a fortnight ago, Mr. Strickland discovered the barn which his grandfather built on the west side of Queen St. The building is now on the Glynwood Farms property but when Lt. Col. Samuel Strickland built it, a large area of land surrounding it was farmed by him.

Homestead Foundations

Mr. Strickland also stood over the well, on the opposite side of the highway, which was in the grounds of the old colonel's homestead. The house was burnt shortly before the colonel's death. The foundations of the homestead are still there, covered mostly with grass—on the land immediately north of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Doubt's home.

Colonel Strickland came to Canada in 1825 (it was later that he became a colonel—in the Canadian militia) and purchased cleared land in Otonabee, where he lived until 1831. In September, 1831, several years before his sisters, Mrs. Susanna Moodie and Mrs. Catharine Parr Traill came out, he secured a tract of land along Lake Katchewanooka (at Lakefield) and began settler's duties. He built a log cabin on the narrows opposite Haig's Point and he made the first canoe to be put on the waters of Katchewanooka by an immigrant, his grandson claims.

The colonel came here as a bachelor, from Reydon Hall, Suffolk, England. He married three times and raised seven boys and four girls. "They raised children in those days when they had nothing else to do" says the gay 78-year-old grandson.

Mr. Strickland has vivid memories of Lakefield in the late 70s and 80s, when his father and uncle, Roland and George, operated mills providing employment in the growing community.

It was in the year 1879, when Mr. Strickland was seven years of age, that Mr. Sheldrake opened the Grove School at Lakefield, at the request of Roland Strickland Sr. And young Roland was the first boy to register as a pupil.

Hewing Square Timber

"As young fellows, father and Uncle George started hewing square timber which they sold before it went on the Otonabee to Trenton," Mr. Strickland recalls. The timber was made into rafts at Trenton and floated to Quebec where it was loaded on ships for Britain. The timber was used for ship building.

Then the two brothers started contracting on their own behalf and went into partnership. A Mr. Ross, to whom they sold the timber, soon told them that steel was beginning to replace wood in the British shipyards and they foresaw that the square timber business was not going to last.

Mr Ross advised them to take up timber concessions and even went so far as to back them financially, when they set up the Strickland Brothers Timber Company of Lakefield.

They built sawmills and business grew rapidly. Then a need for more up to date flour mills arose. There was only the John Hull flour mill in the vicinity at that time and the Strickland brothers built a more up to date flour mill to meet the current demand.

Then the demand for lumber turned to finished lumber, so they built a planing mill.

Next came the need for electric lighting, so the enterprising brothers started to make electricity, first using carbon lights and later, incandescent lighting.

Large Business

The lumber business had grown to a point where there were six miles of trackage—lumber piled on both sides of the track—and export markets had spread to the United States.

The next project was a skating rink and shortly after this, the brothers built the first steamer to ply the water of Stony and Clear lakes.

In 1892, the lumber yard caught fire and the two men suffered a great loss. They had continued to build up the business in spite of the depression, and were thus continuing to provide local employment. The lumber was being stored for sale until prices rose.

Lt.-Col. Strickland was still living in the homestead and his son Roland had his home on the next lot. George had built a house on what is today Strickland St. Every day the brothers would meet at the Queen-Strickland Sts. junction and make their way down to the water's edge.

Lakefield has grown considerably since Mr. Strickland was last there in 1900. He spent November of that year there, after three-and-a-half years in the Yukon. And yet today he can relive the days of his childhood and early manhood. He can pick out the landmarks, even though modernity has changed the appearance.

When he left the Grove School, Mr. Strickland went to Upper Canada College—not the present day building, but the old school on King St. Then he went to Royal Military College, Kingston, from where he graduated in 1893.

The next two years were spent surveying on the Trent Valley canal. It was during this time that Mr. Strickland laid out the portion from Lakefield to Peterborough, working under Mr. Greenwood and Mr. Rogers. Mr. Strickland also surveyed the spot where the liftlock was erected.

To The U.S.A.

It did not seem to Mr. Strickland that prospects were especially bright for him at this point in his career. So he entered Michigan College of Mines, which was a department of the University of Michigan. Graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree and a degree in mining engineering, he went to the Yukon Territory.

He left for that remote northwest country in 1897 and by canoe and dog team, with a pack on his back, he travelled across the Territory from the Rockies on the east of the Yukon to the Bering Sea to the west of Alaska and from the northern line of British Columbia to the Brooks Range which is at the end of the Rockies in the Arctic.

After his brief stay in Lakefield in 1900, he went to southern Utah for the Newhouse Mine and Smelters Corporation and later was working with the Utah Copper and Boston Consolidated Corporations in Bingham, Utah, and the Smelting and Refining Company near Salt Lake City.

Mr. Strickland was engaged in many vast projects at a time when the foundations for modern industrialized America were being laid.

While in Salt Lake City his two sons and two daughters were born.

In 1923 Mr. Strickland settled in Santa Monica, transferring his engineering consulting office there from Salt Lake. Ten years later he retired and took up peach and cherry farming.

After a week touring Lakefield, he left for Brighton, to spend some time with his sister, Mrs. E. E. Cassan whom he had not seen for 53 years.

Bilts Topple Waterloo In 5-4 Triumph

By The Canadian Press

The curtain went up on the 1950-51 Ontario Junior A hockey season Friday night, providing fans in four cities with some fairly free-scoring affairs.

Guelph Biltmores got away on the right foot in defence of their title, although they found it anything but easy going against the league's new entry, Waterloo Hurricanes.

The Bilts won 5-4 before a home-town crowd.

At St. Catharines, the Teepees blew a 3-0 lead on Toronto Marlboros but eventually triumphed 4-3 in overtime; Barrie Flyers pleased their home-town supporters by toppling Galt Black Hawks 6-3, and Stratford Kroehlers edged Toronto St. Michael's 7-5 in Stratford.

Even Play

In Guelph Friday night, the battling Hurricanes matched the champions goal-for-goal through the first two periods but were blanked in the finale while Herby Dickenson potted the winning marker for the Bilts with less than two minutes of play remaining.

Willy Marshall for Guelph and Benny Cardas for Waterloo shared sniping honors. Each had two goals. Other marksmen for the Bilts were Ed Kulik and Chester Koneczny. Charlie McDonald and Gordon Boniface got singletons for hurricanes.

Don McCoomb was the white-haired boy of Teepees victory, potting the winning marker at 1:58 of the extra session.

St. Catharines moved into a two-goal lead on markers by Wayne Brown and Gord Lomer in the first period only to drop behind 3-2 in the second as Marlboros took over the offensive. Bill McFarlane, Tom Fyles and Neil McDonald bagged the Toronto tallies in the middle session.

Ted Powers sent the contest into overtime by clicking for the lone counter in the third session, setting the stage for McCoomb.

E. Pearcy Rolls High In YM Lasses' Loop

In the YMCA senior girls' bowling circuit this week, Bombers, Aces and Commandos took three points respectively from Corvettes, Tigers and Hurricanes, while Glengarrys took two from Lucky Strikes. The Commandos rolled high single game of 1,050.

Among individual trundlers, E. Pearcy was high in all departments with a 779 threesome and a 298 single. Betty Castle rolled 675, Betty Pogue 667, D. Martin 627, D. McArthur 614 and Joyce Towns 601. Other good singles were Winnie McCarrell 260, J. Towns 255, B. Pogue 252, D. McArthur 251, D. Martin 244, Shirley Heckman 242 and I. Mann with a 237.

Radio Sets Make Good Comeback Despite TV Sale

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK —(AP)— Radio sets, far from being obsolete, are outselling television sets two to one in a strong comeback.

There has been no letup in the television set boom, but the renewed customer demands for radio sets has caught some manufacturers short—unable to fill all their orders.

In the first eight months of this year, the set makers turned out 8,250,000 radios compared with about 5,500,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

Production for the full year is expected to run around 12,500,000 radios, or 2,500,000 more then last year. Production probably would run considerably higher if it were not for the competing demand of television sets for parts and small tubes.

One leading set manufacturer said he planned to make all the television sets he could, and then put what small tubes he had left in radio sets.

Television production, incidentally, is expected to total over 6,000,000 sets for the year.

Several Factors

The upsurge of radio set buying is attributed to several factors, one of which is a realization that television never will replace radio entirely. Much of the buying is by families that have television sets, but still want a good radio for the living room or an extra set for another part of the house.

Some of the buying is due to normal replacement, and part is by persons who had been holding off waiting for television to come to their community but have become tired of waiting. The Federal Communications Commission has kept permits for new video stations frozen since Oct. 1, 1948. Stations that have come on the air since that time already had permits when the freeze was invoked. But the FCC order caught many communities with no television stations authorized.

Incompatibility can spoil a romance, but in science it can be a blessing, according to Dr. Peter Goldmark of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

No Apologies

He has no apologies to offer for the fact that his color television system, given tentative approval by the Federal Communications Commission, is incompatible with the present black and white system.

The 43-year-old electronics engineer, made a vice-president of CBS following his color television victory, declares science is at its best when it can cut loose completely from old standards and old ideas.

Dr. Goldmark declares the choice of an incompatible system was deliberate. There are only four possible systems for broadcasting color in television, "simultaneous, dot sequential, line sequential and field sequential."

He selected the field sequential system because "it's the most flexible, capable of using the greatest variety of equipment, the least expensive, and the most reliable."

The Radio Corp. of America picked the dot sequential system and Color Television, Inc., chose line sequential. Both are compatible—that is, they fit into existing black and white standards and would cause a minimum of obsolesence to present sets. But the FFC agreed with Dr. Goldmark on his claims the CBS system had other advantages, more than offsetting its lack of compatibility.

RICHARD AND DUSSAULT, of Canadians are lost to view along with Lumley of Hawks as they tried to shove the puck past the buxom blocker. Elmer Lach (16), at the end of the line is lurking in the hope of tapping the puck home if it ever gets away from the tangle of arms and legs. Chadwick is on the alert for illegalities. The first game of the season played in Montreal ended in a 3-3 tie.

Italian Company Produces Mussolini Film

MILAN — (AP). — An Italian film company is attempting to walk a political tight-rope with the production of a movie based on the life of Benito Mussolini.

he picture, undertaken by the National Film Company of Milan, was started nearly 10 months ago but spokesmen for the company still refuse to disclose the name of the actor portraying the ex-dictator.

Two versions will be distributed —one censored for Italian audiences, another uncensored, for distribution abroad.

The film will be 60 per cent documentary, showing many unused newsreel sequences which were banned by the Fascists.

Former Italian partisans who played real life roles in the execution of Mussolini will appear in the non-documentary scenes.

The movie's title is "Tragic Dawn at Dongo." It was in the little town of Dongo, on Lake Como, close by the Swiss frontier, that Mussolini and his mistress, Claretta Petacci, were shot down on April 25, 1945.

Slayer Not Named

Walter Audisio, then a partisan fighter and now a Communist deputy in the Italian government, since has claimed it was he who shot them down. In his partison days, Audisio was known as "Colonel Valerio."

The film-makers, with possible political consequences in mind, say "Colonel Valerio" never appears in the movie and never is mentioned by name. Asked why, Producer Zanolla said "this would be an unpleasant scene for many Italians."

Another signal usually seen at least once or twice in every game is that for illegal interference, a pushing of the hands forward from the shoulders with the hands vertical.

The official definition of illegal interference is when a player obstructs or blocks or charges against an opponent, even without direct contact, preventing in any degree the approach of the opponent to the ball carrier.

No player shall interfere with an opponent except with the body, the arms being close to the body.

The use of hands and arms is permitted only when the players is carrying the ball for the purpose of warding off opponents, when players of the attacking side try to break through to follow down a kick and when the players of the defending team try to break through to get at the ball or ball carrier.

Any players who are within one yard of the line of scrimmage when the ball is put in play may interfere anywhere up to 10 yards in advance of the line. Players of the attacking side who are not within one yard of the line may interfere up to but not beyond one yard in advance of the line of scrimmage.

Violation of the rule will mean the loss of one down and 10 yards from the point of the last scrimmage. Should the violation be on the last down, there is the loss of ball penalty.

If illegal interference is committed by the attacking side after gaining possession of the ball without a scrimmage, the penalty shall be a scrimmage by the offending side 10 yards back from the point where the ball became dead when the foul occurred. The down there shall be the second and the yardsticks will be placed from where the foul occurred.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Leering Lee Henning is pitted against Frank Sexton, a former world's heavy grapple champ, in the main mat bout at the Brock next Tuesday night. And the fans who tried to tear Henning apart in the near-riot here a week ago should enjoy seeing a smoothie like Sexton working on villainous Lee. Wrestling followers are still talking of that mad melee in which Toar Morgan was injured. Pat Flanagan floored, and Davis and Henning nearly mobbed before police cooled things down. Never a dull moment when the mad and moneyed matadors mix it. Seelie Samara faces big Dan O'Connor in the semi-final, while Ray Gunkel and Abe Zvonkin are in the prelim. A rousing card.

* * * * * *

In the Bruins' hockey game here the other night, we noticed the ref and linesmen were using hand signals. Somewhat similar to those used by grid officials. And that's a good idea. It lets coaches, players and fans know what the various whistles are for. Some calls are obvious to all, but others get folks balled up. It should be simple enough to devise hand signals to show holding, interference, slashing, icing, delayed penalties, etc. Some puck circuits now go in for having a referee show a red handkerchief to indicate a delayed penalty—that means that play continues but there'll be a penalty later.

* * * * * *

Get Tough At The Start

Prexy Ron Cook of the USHL states that his officials are going to lay down the law right from the first whistle this season. He thinks later trouble is avoided if a loop starts the season off properly with strict officiating, as the pattern of refereeing is usually set up early. His refs have orders to call penalties by the book, with particular emphasis given to high sticking, boarding and charging. Where most injuries occur. Also, only the captain or acting captain—if the former is not on the ice at the time—will be permitted to question a referee on a rule interpretation. No ganging up by other players.

* * * * * *

Present hockey is a speedy slambang scrambly sport, and it takes plenty of watching by the paid officials to keep order. We get good refereeing sometimes in our OHA contests up this way, but we have received some poor officiating, also. One squawk we have is that OHA referees aren't consistent—some call minor trips religiously while others always ignore them. There should be but one set of rules and strictly enforced as in other sports. Or, at least, in most other sports. Not only referees and linesmen, but coaches and players should study that rule book from cover to cover at the start of each puck season.

Return Kick Does Trick

Scarboro Collegiate yanked out a late exhibition football win o'er Bev Goulding's senior PCI-ers in Morrow Park last e'en. A quick return kick by the visiting hoofer caught the homesters by surprise, resulting in a fumble and a fourth-quarter touchdown for a 10-8 victory. Up till the fourth chukker, it was cautious grid play but things opened wide in the last frame of a good game. St. Peter's senior "B" team is off to Toronto tomorrow aft for a scheduled fixture, while our Orfuns play the Bombers in Orillia today in ORFU competition. Oshawa Red Raiders meet the Bamforth band here next Wednesday night under the lights.

New Westminster Adanacs won 13-9 o'er Owen Sound Crescents in Toronto last night, so the four-in-seven Mann Cup finals stand now at two games to one in favor of Crescents. Fourth is Sunday afternoon in Maple Leaf Gardens. And Owen Sound fan writes us: "As an ardent supporter of the world's greatest lacrosse team, Owen Sound Crescents, I'd like to tell Peterborough fans of a very sporting gesture by your lacrosse club. During the first game at the Gardens, the Crescents received a 'best wishes' telegram from the Petes. This was appreciated by the players, and I heard them say so. When Owen Sound lacrosse fans hear of this, it's going to go over big—why, next season we might even get around to cheering your Petes when they visit Owen Sound!" Okay, pal, thanks.

From The Old Grab-Bag

Golf for ladies and men at the Peterborough Club officially wound up for the season at a "do" last evening....City Cage Loop re-organizes at an open "Y" meeting Tuesday at eight p.m.....E. Pearcy rolled high this week in the YM lasses' bowling circuit.... Yanks received $5,737.96 each for their world series share, the losing Phils getting $4,081.34 apiece....Second-place Detroit Tigers each pocketed $1,042.22, which isn't bad for doing nothing....Local peewee ballsters are away to Ottawa this week-end in their OBA semi-finals, our bantams probably seeing final action next week....Lorne Cook of Kingston will convene the OHA schedule meeting in Belleville on the morrow....Puck schedules here will likely open early in November....PMHA entries were to close last night, and refs should apply in writing to Earl Druery, 151 Cameron St., at once... The Petes are figuring on Ray Harding again for the goaltending chore....Up Lakefield way, they're talking of an early re-organization for OHA play....That pretty well wraps up the week.

Actor Unabashed By Wife's Analysis

LONDON —(CP)— The wife of Canadian actor Robert Beatty says he is lazy, untidy and obstinate. The actor himself, born 39 years ago in Hamilton, agrees that his wife is right about nearly everything.

Dorothy Beatty gave her appraisal, tempered by the admission that her husband is "very generous,' during new British television program "As Others See Us." Phrenologists, psychologists and graphologists also took a hand in analyzing the subject's character.

Scarboro Gets Grid Win Over PCVS 10-8

Caught colder than a turkey in a deep, deep freeze, the PCVS senior Garnet and Greys kissed victory goodbye in the fourth quarter Friday night at Morrow Park and were smothered in defeat by Scarboro Collegiate of Toronto.

A cool, quick-thinking youth named Orvil Scott was the young man who closed the lid on the freezer. Snagging the ball from the kick-off after PCVS went up 8-5 Scott waited until surrounded by Garnet and Grey sweaters then he hoofed. The ball rolled back to the PCVS 35-yard line, the locals fumbled and Tom McPherson grabbed the ball. He romped 24 yards easily for the winning touchdown, the final score 10-8.

This quick play ended a wide open 10 minutes of football which saw both teams passing, attempting long end runs and booting the ball for safety. This short period in the fourth quarter was in contrast to the rest of the game which was slow and cautious. The teams were evenly matched in passing, running and kicking. The only thing PCVS lacked was a cool thinker like Orvil Scott.

Scoreless First.

After a scoreless first which say PCI'ers hemmed in by the kicking of Scott and quarterback Bill Horton, the Garnets and Greys went up 1-0 on a kick to deadline in the second. A rouge point was added in the third. Three long, runs and a pass set Scarboro for their first touch which was matched by PCVS minutes later. Then the big freeze struck and the game was lost for the PCVS'ers.

Both teams cashed in when the chips were high. Only once did either team have another scoring chance than the ones they majored on. Then time ran out in the first half. Bryan Young tossed a 25-yard pass to Al Northcott who reeled to the three-yard line before thrown out. That play was the last of the first half.

Set Up a Point.

A poor kick by Scott in the second helped provide PCVS's first point. He booted a low kick from the Scarboro 15-yard line and PCVS took possession at the 35. Warren Brown ground out 11 yards and then Bus Jensen rolled off tackle for another first down. Young finally had to boot to deadline for the point.

After a PCVS placement attempt failed, Scott kicked in the third quarter to the Scarboro 47. Roy Armstrong carried to the 30-yard line and Young again had to kick. This time McPherson was smothered for a point to make the score 2-0.

On the first play in the fourth Neil Moll, Scarboro's flashy broken field runner, zipped for 25 yards. A play later he again made yards for a first down. Quarter Bill Horton then threw his first completed pass to Moll at the PCVS 31. After an incomplete pass Horton connected again this time with Barry Mercer to the PCVS 6. On a quarter sneak Horton lost five yards and then Neil Moll jogged around the right end for a touchdown.

Bryan Young's pass on the first down following the kick-off to Al Northcott put PCVS in scoring position at the 20-yard line. Armstrong and Northcott plunged to place the ball at the 10-yard line before Armstrong went over standing up. Northcott's kick was good for the extra point. Young then kicked to Scott at the Scarboro 35 who returned the kick to the PCVS 35 where it was fumbled. McPherson took the loose ball for a major score.

Friday 13 was lucky for the Scarboro team as their 13th pass earned they the first touchdown The two passes were the only ones completed in 13 by the Toronto team. PCVS was a way off in the forward passing shelf with four complete, two intercepted and 13 incomplete.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Chris Spencer from the Bostwick Farm, Shelburne, Vt., closed with a rush in the final yards Friday night to beat out Pronto Don by a head in the $25,000 Gotham trot at Yonkers raceway. Proximity, the all-time top money winner, finished fourth.

The favored Proximity finished behind Martha Doyle in the 1½-miles event after going into a break in stride a quarter of a mile from home. It was one of the few times that Proximity, driven by her regular pilot, Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont., had broke during a race.

Chris Spencer, driven by Willie Haughton, had beaten both Pronto Don and Proximity this summer as Goshen, N.Y., through a disqualification. But that was the closest the 14-1 shot had ever come to the big names of the trotting business.

Pronto Don, owned by the Hayes Fair Acres Stable of Du Quoin, Ill., had defeated Proximity in the $50,000 Roosevelt trot last month, but the crowd of 19,101 still made Proximity the odds on choice at 3 to 5. Pronto Don was 9-5 in the mutuels.

Chris Spencer was clocked in 3:10 1-5.

Baseball Commissioner A. B Chandler split up the players' share of the receipts from the world series Friday.

The world champion New York Yankees gave full shares of $5,737.95 to 32 players, coaches and others. Thirteen others received partial shares.

Philadelphia Phils, National League champs and losers to the Yanks in four straight games of the world series, allotted full shares of $4,081.34 to 32 members of their roster. Nine others came in for partial shares.

In a wild free-swinging brawl, Dick Barone of Syracuse, N.Y., used a 14-pound advantage to carve out a unanimous 10-round decision over dead-game Jimmy Beau of Norwalk, Conn., Friday night at the St. Nicholas arena. Barone, a 5-8 favorite, weighed 173¼; Beau 159¼.

Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas League have broken off a baseball working agreement with the American League Cleveland Indians.

President E. J. Humphries of the Oklahoma City Club said Friday night that Cleveland's failure to put a winning team here and its policy of calling up talent in mid-season were reasons for the break.

Marmora Victors

MARMORA, Oct. 14 (ENS). — Marmora High School rugby squad squeezed out a win against their Stirling rivals on the latter's grounds on Friday evening, the final score being 6-5. After 10 minutes of play Drummond obtained a touchdown for Marmora. The second quarter having been scoreless, Stirling drove in the third to equalize the score with a touchdown. Before the quarter ended, Marmora came within an ace of scoring, but good defensive work by Stirling held them back when they were within a yard of achieving their aim. The winning point came to Marmora from a kick by P. Nicholson. The game was cleanly fought. This was Marmora's second win away from home.

Stirling plays the return game with Marmora on the Deloro grounds next Friday.

Report Louis To Try Again To Take Title

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—(AP)—It seems that Joe Louis is going to keep on fighting until he gets one more shot at his old heavyweight title.

From reliable sources it was learned today that the Brown Bomber is planning a series of big bouts which he hopes will earn him another crack at champion Ezzard Charles.

If all goets well, the 36-year-old Louis may take on Argentina's Cesar Brion in Chicago in late November or early December, followed swiftly by appearances in Detroit and New York.

In Detroit, his probable opponent will be Lee Oma, the veteran contender from Buffalo. In New York's Madison Square Garden he might face Rocky Marciano, the undefeated Brockton, Mass., slugger.

Then, if victorious in all three, Louis would be primed to face Charles again in an outdoor fight in Yankee Stadium. The prospects of a huge television-radio fee, far surpassing the $146,000 shelled out for last month's Charles-Louis scrap, is one of the tempting lures for a Louis return. Other possible foes include Lee Savold, British-recognized heavyweight champion, and Tommy Farr, the comebacking Welsh oldtimer.

No Comment

Louis was not available early today for his say on these reports, which came from those usually in the know.

But welterweight champion Ray Robinson, a close friend of Joe's, told the press at a Boston luncheon Friday that Louis has been signed to meet Brion in Chicago Stadium Nov. 29. Sugar Ray said an official of the International Boxing Club had shown him a signed contract for the fight. Louis, incidentally, is a partner and director in the I.B.C.

Robinson's statement that a contract had been signed brought vigorous denials from Harry Markson, managing director of the I.B.C.

Adanacs Whip Crescents 13-9 In Big Comeback

TORONTO, Oct. 14—(CP)—A substitute forward, who had begged for a chance to play, sparked New Westminster Adanacs to a 13-9 upset decision over Owen Sound Crescents here Friday night in the third game of the Canadian senior lacrosse finals.

Stan Tyson, a 20-year-old lightweight who didn't get on to the floor as the western champions lost the first two games, fired two clutch goals and assisted in another as Adanacs roared back to a fighting-chance spot in the Mann Cup series.

"I told the coach that if he gave me a chance, I would give him a good game," young Tyson said after the game.

And the kid kept his promise, with a job that ignited Adanacs and sent them to victory.

Hit Their Stride

New Westminster was three goals behind in the second quarter when Tyson, who had been driving steadily, got his first counter. Then just before the stanza ended, the sophomore forward made the play that lifted Adanacs into an 8-8 tie.

By the time Tyson got his second goal midway through the third, New Westminster was on fire and the western champions didn't stop. They outscored Owen Sound 4-1 in that quarter and 5-1 in the fourth quarter.

Despite the loss, Crescents still lead the best-of-seven series 2-1 and coach Doug Gillespie predicts the eastern champions will bounce back to take the fourth game Sunday afternoon. The fifth game will be played next Wednesday.

Owen Sound snipers were Arnold (Onions) Smith with three, Russ Slater and Grant Gillespie with two each and Doug Gillespie and Jack Foote.

STYMIE GOES TO FARM

Stymie is going back to the farm in Kentucky, his plans for a comeback to racing abandoned by trainer Hirsch Jacobs.

The nine-year-old chestnut stallion, retired last year as the world's greatest money-winning horse, had been brought back to Jamaica this summer to train for a comeback. The action was taken after Citation passed Stymie this year in money earnings.

Jacobs, who trains the horse for his wife, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs, said Stymie injured himself slightly in stall a few days ago.

Stymie has $918,000 in winnings, about $20,000 less than Citation.

Iron Chief Waits Spot In Toronto

TORONTO — (CP). — The Iron Teka stands patiently in the lobby of Toronto's original sky-scraper while his followers build a new shrine of his greatness.

The Iron Teka, so named by the hundreds of office workers who daily throng past his feet, is a bronze statue of Oronhyateka, the great Indian chief and once Supreme Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters. It stands in the lobby of the Temple Building at Richmond and Bay Streets in the heart of the city's business district.

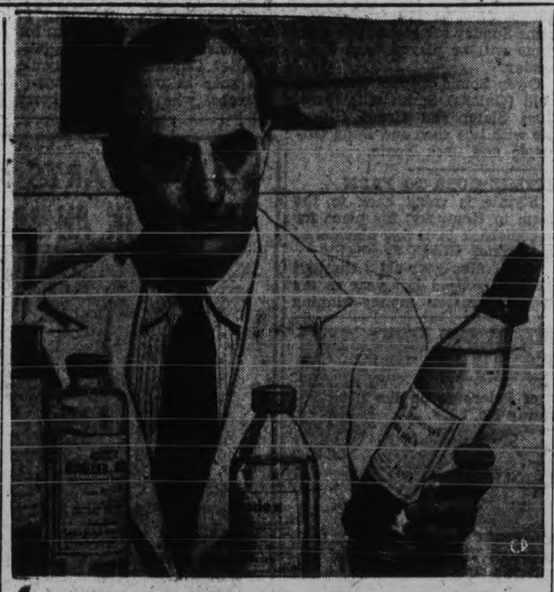
The building itself is a tribute to Oronhyateka, a full-blooded Iroquois born on the Brantford Reserve in 1841. It was Oronhyateka, as Supreme Chief Ranger, who in 1881 conceived the idea that the fraternal order should have the finest headquarters of any benevolent organization in the world.

Solid Copper

The 14-storey building with its hand-cut stone was built in the years that followed. The wainscotting was of solid copper. The main lodge hall was decorated with gold leaf and the corridors lined with copper inlays.

The building was sold recently for $1,000,000 to Benjamin Chesler, S. Saltsman, and Philip Bookspan. The order is moving from the Temple Building to new six-storey offices at Jarvis and Charles Streets in East-Central Toronto.

The new building will not be ready for two years, but the owners say the Iron Teka may stay at his post in the lobby of the old building until the new one is complete.



Order's Growth

The Foresters, who this year mark their 75th anniversary, have spread to the United States and Great Britain and their membership has climbed from 369 in Oronhyateka's day to 145,000.

The order has since lost most of its fraternal character and exists now mainly as an insurance company, a far cry from the days of the old Indian leadership.

At the base of the Iron Teka is an inscription which says that Oronhyateka's death "Left the order powerful in membership and prosperous in material assets. This temple he built is his lesser shrine. The quenchless impulse to fraternity which he kindled in the hearts of men is the best monument to Oronhyateka."

His most distinguished admirer was Edward VII who visited the Brantford reserve as Prince of Wales in 1869 and received an address from Oronhyateka, then a medical student at the University of Toronto. The Prince was so impressed with the Indian's personality that he invited him to continue his medical studies at Oxford as a Royal protege. After graduation Oronhyateka practised medicine at Frankford, Ont., until his responsibilities to the order demanded his full time. He died in 1907.

BLOOD SUBSTITUTE — The odd-looking bottle held by Dr. C. Harris, Manitoba director of the Red Cross, may contain a new type of life-saver. Experiments are being conducted in Winnipeg with a new transfusion solution to supplement whole blood and plasma. If these are successful, the solution will be manufactured and stored in Canada to augment supplies of whole and dried blood in event of disasters. One advantage is that it lasts indefinitely.

Minister Says Many Have Erroneous Ideas On Prayer

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Some years ago I read a book about the Vigilantes in early Montana. One story, in an extreme way, suggested the erroneous ideas that many have regarding prayer, and its nature and place in the Christian life.

In the story, a Vigilante named Hill Beachey was chasing a criminal who had made good his escape. Beachey told how he prayed to God that he might overtake the criminal, adding, "If You grant me this request, I'll never ask another thing of You as long as I live."

He caught his man and in later years he piously recorded his promise. He said he would never make another request of God, and as he related, "I never have."

This seemingly ridiculous, but true, story illustrates the attitude toward prayer, which, in a milder way, is held by many people. They make many requests of God, and have nothing of the bargaining spirit of the Montana trontiersman.

What I mean is that they think of prayer mainly in terms of getting things. It may be material things; it may be something else that one greatly wants; but back of it is the notion that God can be somehow persuaded into granting what He would not have given.

The asking implies our conscious of need and our willingness to receive, rather than any change on the part of God. This is brought out quite clearly in Matthew 6:8, where Jesus, condemning "vain repetitions" in prayer, reminded His hearers that "your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask Him."

Should we not, then, pray for things or especially for relief and help in times of great crisis? My reply would be that we pray instinctively, just as men who do not profess belief in God will cry out to Him in great peril or distress. The prayer of the Christian, however, who does believe in God, is something more than that.

It is my conviction that the great function of prayer is to bring us nearer to God, and into the knowledge of His will and purposes. Prayer is the ultimate act of unselfishness and personal commitment to God.

Study the Lord's Prayer, the answer of Jesus to those who asked Him to teach them how to pray, and you will see how this is in every petition. Even the prayer for daily bread, the only material request, is an acknowledgement of dependence upon God for the very maintenance of physical existence.

Back of every true prayer is the reservation, "Nevertheless, not my will, but Thine be done." And God's will concerning us is the best that life, time, and eternity can hold for us. That is the meaning of prayer.

Advise Kinsmen Face Realities, Times Dangerous

Unless Canadians want a government of "red shirts" rather than "white collars and ties" ruling them from Ottawa they must assume active leadership in the present world crisis .

That was the gist of a sombre address delivered Friday night to the District 8, Kinsmen, by Major David Robbins of Hamilton. Major Robbins served with Field Marshall Montgomery's "Desert Rats" during World War II, and he is now secretary mgr. of the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce.

"There are only two countries left that are able to provide the leadership needed to get the world back on the right road," said Major Robbins. "Both of them are on this continent. We are the junior partner and must help supply the wheel power."

The audience was composed of more than 60 Kinsmen from clubs in District 8 which extends from Colborne to Oakville in southern Ontario, Sault Ste. Marie to Kapuskasing in northern Ontario, and Val D'Or in northern Quebec.

Some 75 delegates from other clubs will be welcomed by the Peterborough club for the two-day council meeting. The main business will be transacted today. It is their first meeting in Peterborough in two years.

Dangerous Times.

Major Robbins assured the festive Kinsmen who were enjoying a stag evening that he was not "trying to scare hell out of them." But, he added, we live in dangerous times and realities must be faced.

Choosing as his theme "Today's Values," Major Robbins said two things must be remembered: the value of truth, and the value of opportunity.

In a world of half truths and downright lies Canadians were finding that this lack of values was creeping into our national life " and even into everyday business."

The three most powerful nations in the world today are the United States, Soviet Russia and Great Britain, he said. After illustrating "a lack of truth" in certain policies of all three, he turn to Canada's record.

Claims Effort Slight.

"The press of this country for two months has been beating the drum, headlining the part Canada is playing for democracy in Korea. What are the facts?"

Between 300-400 sailors have actually seen fighting. Then there are nine transport planes, not nearer to the fighting than 600 miles; and the 10,000 soldiers are slated for Fort Lewis.

"Is that Canada's great effort for democracy?" he asked. "Who are we kidding."

"We have to get down to the thinl.ing of the men who made this country what it is," said Major Robbins. "We must get down to the single truth that life is only made possible through our own efforts."

FIFTY YEARS AGO Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lynch, 8 Victoria Ave., were married in Manchester, England. The anniversary is being celebrated today at a family party. Since they came to Canada in 1912, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch have lived in Peterborough. Mrs. Lynch is 74 and her husband is 76. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

City Fire Chief Holds Drills And Inspection

Throughout the past week — Fire Prevention Week—the local fire department held fire drills in the city's schools and inspected the hospitals, schools and the majority of factories.

The drills teach the students what to do should the buildings catch fire. Fire Chief George Smith explained that by signals, the children are sent out of the building and by other signals, back to the classrooms in an orderly fashion. The students are warned not to run, but to walk carefully and quickly.

Wednesday morning saw 1,285 students file out of their classrooms at PCVS in two minutes and three seconds. There are nearly 50 rooms in the school.

Other times for schools in the city were. (The first figure is the number of pupils in the school and the second, the time in minutes for the children to leave the school, King George, (581), 1:14; Immaculate Conception, (220), 1:03; Normal school, (130), 1:23; Prince of Wales, (710), 1:10; St. Peter's, (400), 1:15; Queen Alexandra, 375), 1:00; St. Mary's (286), 1:00; Queen Mary, (734), 1:02, Central, (460), 1:12; St. Alphonsus, (180), 1:02; Grove, (191), :56; ay's, (162), 1:05; Confederation, (492), 1:16; St. John's, (200), :57; King Edward, (404), 1:26; Sacred Heart, (235), :52; Queen Elizabeth, (109), :52; St. Anne's, (200), :58; Parkhill, (106), :43.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

ATHLETIC GRANT $25.

The Peterborough Board of Education have given their annual grant of $25 toward sports equipment for each public school.

ALLOW LEGION CANVASS

Peterborough Board of Education has given Branch 52, Canadian Legion, the right to canvass local schools on Friday, November 3 to raise funds for the Poppy Day memorial wreath. All children will be given a poppy whether or not they make a contribution.

REMANDED TO KINGSTON

Harvey David Silvester, 31, charged with starting the $200,000 Kresge Store fire in August, 1948, was today in police court remanded to the Ontario Hospital in Kingston for observation for 50 days. He has been charged with being mentally ill and was remanded to the hospital after findings of two doctors. The charge of starting the fire was adjourned to Dec. 11.

HYDRO WIRES BURN

Rocked by Friday afternoon's high wind two hydro wires with the insulation worn from them touched in front of 7 Cricket Place, shortly after 1 p.m. A short circuit resulted and the wires began to burn. Firemen were called to make sure the public stood clear and the wires were finally repaired by Utilities workmen.

PLAN ANNUAL MEETING

A separate committee to take charge of the rapidly expanding junior section of the Horticultural Society, will be one of the proposals before the annual meeting to be held Wednesday in the Agricultural Office. President Dr. J. Leslie plans to make the suggestion. Clifford Brien and Bud Lloyd, members of the Film Council, have selected films to show at the meeting.

C. LEVINE'S WEATHER

Peterborough hasn't had a weather prophet for a long time, and hasn't a gifted one yet although Charlie Levine made an essay in that direction a week or two ago with glowing promise of an open fall. That expression has a rather vague sound, affording latitude for an inexpert prognosticator like Mr. C. Levine. Anyway, he is now lashed to the mast on that prediction which turned sour right in first week. Look at the sample we've had.

Woman Suffers Head Injuries Car Hits Truck

A Havelock woman received minor head injuries early Friday afternoon when the car in which she was riding slammed into the back of a stake body truck. The accident occurred on Highway 7, slightly more than a mile east of Norwood.

Mrs. Beatrice McGowan was treated by Dr. A. R. Atkinson of Norwood for facial cuts, a cut on her head and another on her leg. Several stitches were required.

She was a passenger in a car being driven west by her husband, Walter McGowan, when it ran into the back of the stake body truck driven by David Silver, Norwood. The truck had stopped because of repair work on the shoulder of the highway.

The front of the car was demolished but the truck received only minor damage.

Provincial Constable T. H. Fitzpatrick investigated.

Otonabee Youth Injures Back

Lawrence Powers, 20, RR 8, Peterborough, Otonabee township, is in St. Joseph's Hospital today with an injured back received when he jumped from his truck and slipped and fell on a slippery sidewalk in Oshawa Wednesday.

The young man was brought to hospital here Friday and his condition is reported as unchanged. Two small bones in the hip region are believed broken, but the injury is not too serious.

He is a truck driver for a Toronto company and was driving through Oshawa when the accident happened. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Powers, Otonabee.

Wed 50 Years, City Couple Celebrate Today

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lynch are today celebrating the 50th anniversary of their wedding day. Married in Manchester, England, on Oct. 13, 1900. They are celebrating the anniversary a day later, in order to take advantage of the week-end when their children and grandchildren will visit their parents for a family party.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lynch came to Canada in 1912 they came to the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Deyell's farm in Otonabee. After a short time, they set up their home at 29 Victoria Ave. and lived there until three years ago, when they moved to their present house on the same street.

Although both Mr. and Mrs. Lynch were born in Manchester, they were Irish and Mrs. Lynch spent many happy times in Ireland in her youth.

Like Ireland.

"I liked Peterborough as soon as I came here," said Mrs. Lynch Friday. The country was so much like Ireland and there were a great many Irish people here."

Today there are many more people of Scottish and English descent, she observed, and the city has grown. She still feels as warmly toward Peterborough as in the early days, when this part of the country won her heart.

There was a wooden sidewalk in front of her home in the early days and there were trees on both sides of George St. Brick stores have since replaced the wooden buildings which formed the downtown section.

Joined Up.

Four years after emigrating to Canada, Mr. Lynch went back to Europe in khaki, and saw service in France, Belgium and Germany. He was among the first of the Allied soldiers to enter Germany at the time of the German defeat.

Mrs. Lynch paid a return visit to Britain in 1924 and still has happy memories of the famous exhibtion in Wembley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch have four children and seven grandchildren, all living in Peterborough .Their eldest son is Renwick Joseph Lynch, employed in the flour packing department of the Quaker Oats Company. Their other son, John Mathew, is employed in Peterborough by the CPR.

Mrs. Edith McIlhagga and Mrs. Madeline DeCarlo also of Peterborough, are their two daughters.

Mrs. Lynch was for many years a member of Catholic Women's League. Mr. Lynch was a member of the Canadian Legion and Mrs. Lynch a member of the women's division.

Put 4,000 Bulbs In City Parks

More than 4,000 bulbs arrived in Peterborough from Holland Thursday. Next week, the Parks Department will start planting these bulbs in Confederatnon Square, Victoria Park and the hospital grounds.

These bulbs include tulips. daffodils, hyacinths add tulipa—a botannical tulip used in rock gardens.

Work started last week to clear the flower beds in the city parks for the winter.

Blind Horse Chalks Up 74th Win At Roseneath

ROSENEATH, Oct. 14—The Peterborough blind pacer, Victory Hy, owned by Stanley Blewett, ran his string of 1950 victories to the almost incredible total of 74 at the Roseneath Fair Friday afternoon.

The stout hearted and well-bred son of Haldale took the three heats of the free-for-all in a field of four, clicking off the two last miles in 2.04 on a fast track. When Orville Fallis drove him back to the judges' stand after each heat, the chilled crowd who were thoroughly briefed on the amazing performance of Victory Hy this season gave him a big hand.

After the last mile of the race Fallis picked up the special prize of a horse blanket for the fastest mile of the meet. By that time, around 5.30 o'clock, less than half an hour before the new hunters' moon was emerging in a bright crescent far down in the southwest sky, only a hardy 200 followers of the standard breds had waited for what turned out to be the most exciting of the nine heats on the fair day card.

A brief summary of the race was:

Victory Hy (Blewett)	1	1	1
Peter Aubrey (H. Ingles, Brighton)	2	2	2
Redstone (Hugh Davis)	3	3	3
Parsons (Hugh Davis)	4	4	4

Roy Mitchell's mobile starting gate sent the field away in the last heat almost in line. The Blewett pacer had the inside lane, and Fallis picked out a slight advantage as the field passed the stand for the getaway. It was enough to leave him in position to improve the early neck lead to half a length at the first turn, and from there on it was a battle to keep in front. Parsons appeared to be moving up on the outside down the back stretch. but at the half it was Victory Hy with a short lead over Peter Aubrey, driven by Harry Ingles, his owner.

Sizzling Duel

With 74 wins this year behind him, it was apparently only a question whether Fallis could make his position secure, whether Victory had enough stuff left for the last half mile. The four were bunched as they turned into the home stretch, a sizzling duel to the wire. Parsons finished fourth only a length or two back, and Peter Aubrey was hardly more than half a length back of the nose of Victory Hy at the finish.

Sent To Jail For Forging Note

Found guilty of a charge of forgery and false pretences in swindling the Bank of Montreal of $100 on a promissory note, Orville Melonson, 33, was sentenced in police court today to four months definite and one month indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory on the first charge and two months on the second charge.

He pleaded guilty to the charges this week. He said he was the father of three children, had been out of work three weeks and there wasn't any food in the house for his family.

"I don't think I would be entitled to give you suspended sentence on a forgery charge," commented Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC. "A person doesn't forge a note on the spur of the moment."

After getting $100 on one promissory note, August 28, Melonson had appeared at the bank with another note about a week later to try to get money on it. Norris Williamson, garage operator, whose name appeared on both notes, said he had signed neither one.

Memorial Centre Question Again To Front

Brockville will open in November a memorial civic centre that cost them $215,000, housing a heated arena with artificial ice surface of 195 ft. by 90 ft. It embraces, too, an auditorium seating nearly 600, and several meeting rooms for community groups.

Ald. E. C. Braund did not mention this accomplishment the other night when he asked the council just what could be done about Peterborough's ancient project. Somebody has been reminding him that the council is still obligated to provide the site.

"And what about more money?" asked Ald. J. E. Gillespie, who has been carrying in his wallet since last April a copy of the news item reporting then the work in progress on the Brockville centre.

"My own feeling", said Ald. Braund "is that the Centre should be at the Exhibition grounds, but I think we all realize that there is not much hope in that direction. So, that leaves us with a lot on Burnham St. opposite the Bowl."

$125,000 Required

Ald. Doug. Miller said it was all very well to talk about sites, but there still remained the financial problem. "We have $275,000, but the Centre will cost $400,000. If the Centre committtee had a site, they would have to come back to us for more money."

"It's one thing I wish we could clear up this year," said Mayor Swanston.

What some members of the council would like to do, is to scrap the original project, now that it has grown out of financial hands, forget the first plans, and start out all over again as from 1950, instead of 1944.

As suggested by Ald. Gillespie, the finance committee is going back to scan again the private bill incorporating the Centre. Ald. Braund seconded that motion. They are going back for a fresh impression of where they stand.

Catherine Parr Traill At 95 Historical Society Officer

"On Monday, December 7, 1896, at 4 p.m a meeting was held in the Council Chamber, Peterborough, called for the purpose of forming a historical society for the Town and County of Peterborough."

This quotation was taken from the minutes book of the Town and County of Peterborough Historical Society which now forms a part of the Centennial Display at the Public Library.

This charter meeting was honoured by the presence of Catherine Parr Traill renowned local author and naturalist who at this time was in her 95th year. She was elected honourary president of the Society. The remaining members of the elected executive were H. C. Rogers, president; Mrs. Dunlop, 1st vice-president; Hampden Burnham, 2nd vice-president; Wm. Cluxton, 3rd vice-president; T. A. Hay, secretary; Miss Halliday, treasurer; executive committee, J. M. Irwin, Dr. Bell, Miss Lundy, Mrs. Aylmer, C. Fessenden, E. B. Edwards and Mrs. Greenwood.

Honour Roll.

According to the minutes it was the intention of the society to complete the honor roll by appointing honourary vice-presidents and members from among those who had been most prominent in the history of the county such as Rev. Vincent Clementi and H. T. Strickland.

This book is not only complete with graphic reports of meetings, but also with clippings of meetings and activities from the two local daily newspapers. It contains a wealth of informative material on this district's first attempt to form such a society.

Reference to these minutes and report reveal the society was extremely ambitious and active from the time of the inaugural meeting. Papers were prepared and read by members. A newspaper report states that the drawing room and library of the Judge Dennistoun residence, Inverlea House, was donated by Richard Hall, trustee of the Nicholl's estate.

These two rooms were to be used as a museum. Dedication of the "Victoria Museum" took place on the day commemorating Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

Appealed To Public.

The society made a public appeal for the donation of furnishings of as an historical nature as possible. One of the first items given to the museum was a large mineral collection donated by J. M. Irwin and J. B. McWilliams. A donation of documents relating to early settlers was made by R. E. Birdsall. The collection was augmented by a presentation by Mrs. Traill of a collection of curios.

The financial situation of the society was brightened by the donation of $200 by the Town Council, $100 by the County Council and $100 by citizens and members of the society.

New members were added to the society as the community interest grew. Those who attended the charter meeting in addition to the executive were Mayor Yelland, W. D. Parker, John Carlon, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, Miss Archer, Miss Clementi, Miss Hall, Miss Spilsbury, Miss Dunlap, Miss Weller and the Misses Barlee.

Healthy Quads Celebrate First Birthday

SAULT STE. MARIE, Oct. 14 —(CP)—The Hargreaves quadruplets celebrated their first birthday Friday. At a party in a new home into which they moved 10 days ago, each had a tiny cake topped with a single candle.

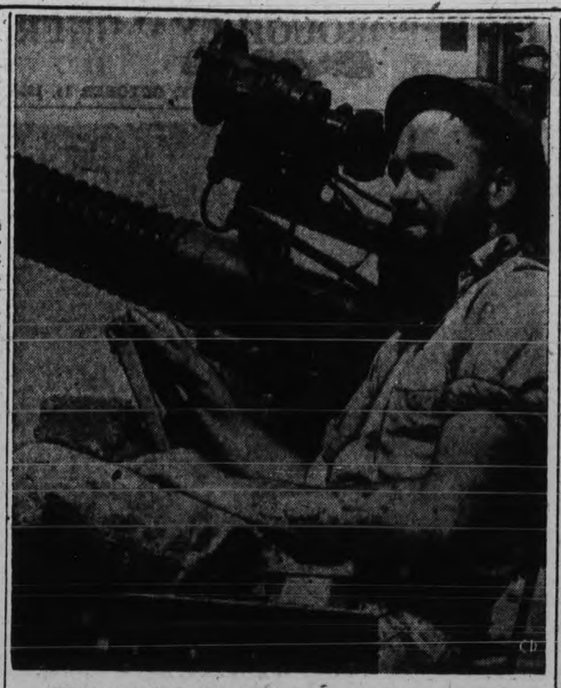
Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ossie Hargreaves, said the children, born prematurely and underweight, are happy and healthy and have from four to seven teeth each.

At birth, their weighs ranged from three pounds three ounces to three pounds seven ounces. Now Joyce Carol weighs 18 pounds 10 ounces, Janice Barbara 17 pounds six ounces, Joan Diane 17 pounds three ounces and Jennifer Ann an even 17 pounds.

An average child weighs about 20 pounds on its first birthday.

Jennifer Ann and Joan Diane have light brown hair, the hair of the other two is reddish.

Joyce is one inch taller than the rest and measures 28 inches, while the others are around 27 inches tall.



Joan Diane was the weakest of the four at birth. But now, her mother says, she is "the liveliest and the most fun."

Get New House

Attractive, blue-eyed Mrs. Hargreaves, 28, and her 35-year-old husband, a $250-a-month worker at a paper mill, were living in a small wartime house when the quadruplets arrived. They saw at once that their dwelling could not accommodate their large family and Mrs. Hargreaves' two children by a previous marriage, Sandra, 8, and Kimmy 6. They moved to a larger rented house but still hadn't enough room.

The city gave them a lot on Lake St. near the eastern end of this Northern Ontario steel-manufacturing city. Citizens helped with money and labor and now the family has a brand-new seven-room brick house with a cheery nursery and a spacious, sunny playroom.

"I am the happiest mother in the world," Mrs. Hargreaves said today. "It has been a hard job keeping up with my four babies the first year, but all the work, worry and strain has been worth it. All four girls are fine and very healthy and we are all so happy that everything has turned out so well for us."

SCANS THE SKIES—Possible air attacks keep the crews of the three Canadian destroyers operating in Korean waters at action stations for long hours at a time. This RCN photo shows Leading Seaman Donald Morton of Victoria at his twin 40-mm. anti-aircraft gun. Few enemy planes have been reported in the air over the Korean area.

Planning To End Coalition Government

WINNIPEG, Oct. 14 — (CP)—The Progressive Conservative Party will probably withdraw from Manitoba's Coalition Government at the end of this month, it was learned Friday. Presumably it will take over from the CCF as official Opposition.

Premier Douglas Campbell's administration is not endangered. Two of his Cabinet ministers and several other members elected as Progressive Conservatives have said they will stick with him. But even without them he would have a working majority. The Progressive Conservative decision will be made at a convention in Brandon October 27-28. Already 11 of the province's party associations have indicated they favor withdrawal from the Coalition.

Mr. Campbell's Liberal-Progressives now hold 28 seats in the 57-seat House. They would have an over-all majority with the support of several Independents.

Radio Operators Plan To Hold Disaster Drill

WINDSOR, Oct. 14 — (CP). — "Disaster drill," part of an international test of emergency radio communications, will be carried out this weekend by a group of amateur short-wave radio operators in Windsor. In co-operation with other amater radio men in Canada and the United States they will practice methods of overcoming a communications breakdown in the event of an emergency. A number of short-wave stations will be dotted on the outskirts of Windsor and several high-powered stations wil contact distant points.

Expert Gang Thieves Operating In Windsor

WINDSOR, Oct. 14 — (CP).— A gang of expert thieves, operating in Windsor suburbs and the county communities, is blamed for a rash of thefts from cars which have totalled more than $5,000 in the last week.

Seven police departments in the county report cars are still being entered. Articles have been taken from at least 30 of them. Car radios appear to be the main objective of the thieves, while clothing, money, a rifle and shotgun have also been taken.

Sets Precedent

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 — (CP) — Canada's only woman member of the Commons Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, next week will become the first Canadian woman to attend the United Nations General Assembly. Mrs. Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Hamilton West, will attend as one of the parliamentery advisers to the Canadian delegation.

Drinks Pure Nicotine

BRAMPTON, Oct. 14—(CP)—Three-year-old Brian Pollard died Friday night five minutes after drinking an ounce of pure nicotine kept by his father for spraying plants. Police said the boy swallowed the nicotine from a bottle in his father's greenhouse.

Have Heat Wave

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14—(AP) —An all-time October high of 103 degrees scorched Los Angeles Friday. The record broke a mark of 102 set Oct. 3, 1885.

To Open Arena

GODERICH, Oct. 14 — (CP).— J. A. Carroll, of the Department of Agriculture, will officially open the new Goderich Arena on Monday night. The Rev. B. H. Farr, of St. George's Church, accompanied by a Canadian Legion color party, will dedicate the Arena. Attending also will be members of Parliament L. E. Cardiff, John W. Hanna, Thomas Pryde, and K. S. McLean.

Car Sales Increase

OTTAWA, Oct. 14. (CP)—Sales of motor vehicle dealers jumped 52 per cent in August, a month in which Canada's retail sales showed their largest increase since April, 1949, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday. August sales were 13 per cent higher than in the corresponding month of last year, with all provinces and practically all trades sharing in the increase.

Tighten Controls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (CP)— Curbs on consumer credit were tightened by the US Federal Reserve Board Friday night. It reduced the time limit on payment for cars fom 21 to 15 months and increased the downpayment and payoff time for such things as television sets, radios, major household appliances and furniture.

Movie Column

Reporters Want National Oblivion Week

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 (AP)— A bunch of reporters were formulating plans for national oblivion week.

"This would be a week to get rid of all those things that have seen too much use in Hollywood," proposed one of them. "For instance, I nominate for oblivion all short subjects and newsreel clips on water skiing."

"Excellent," said another, "and how about pictures that open up with a New York skyline? Then a pompous voice says, 'this is New York!'

"I think we should set aside a special little oblivion for certain movie characters," suggested another. "The slick young lawyer who juggles the water rights in westerns. The callow young cavalry officer who was thought to be yellow, but who gallops into the fort with news that the Apaches are coming. He has an arrow in his back, of course."

More Beefs

The suggestions began streaming in.

"Can't something be done about press agents who want you to interview dogs, horses and infant actors?"

"I'd like to put a stop to all pictures that end with the hero or heroine playing a piano or violin concerto for 15 minutes. Meanwhile we see close-ups of members of the cast under emotional strain."

"And how about the 'cute' ending for comedies and musicals? The one with the couple going into a clinch and then a fadeout of their dog looking quizzically and cocking one ear."

"I think we should have a newsreel division. Why does every other newsreel have to show bronco-busting at the rodeo? What about springboard diving shots that are run backwards so the diver jumps out of the water? Not to mention the ski-jumping at Lake Placid.'"

"I'd like to nominate the scene in which somebody parks in front of a house or apartment and says, 'this is the place.'"

Are there any further nominations from our fellow-sufferers?

Two Ontario Youths Jailed In Pennsylvania

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 14 —(CP). — Two Ontario wouths pleaded guilty Friday to charges of larceny and robbery and were sentenced to seven to 14 years each in Pennsylvania's Eastern State Penitentiary.

The two—Gordon M. Melosh, 20, of Kingston, and Guy F. Simmons, 19, of North Bay — were charged with overpowering and robbing a Williamsport resident who had given them a ride in his car.

Sgt. Elbert W. Lance of the State Police said at the time of their arrest the two wrecked a car owned by Frederick N. Remick of Lockport, NY. He said they got a ride from Milton E. Briggs, then dumped him out along the highway after robbing him.

Get Good Prices In Herd Sale

CALROSSIE, Scotland, Oct. 14.—(CP)—Pedigreed Shorthorn females were freely purchased for export Friday at a notable draft sale from the Calrossie herd, belonging to D. P. MacGillivray, and William MacGillivray's Glastullich herd.

The sale, held at Calrossie farm, Rossshire, saw 83 females hit an average of £562 (about $1,680) Fifty-seven Calrossie cows, heifers and heifer calves averaged £704.

The sale's top price of 1,800 guineas was paid by R. M. Adam Newhome of Glamis for two-year-old Calrossie Augusta Ellie. Ellie was sired by Calrossie Cupbearer out of Calrossie Augusta Jewel, supreme champion at this year's Royal English Show.

Grant Campbell of Moffat, Ont., most-extensive buyer at the sale, took five females.

The highest price paid for an export lot was 1,500 guineas, given by Hugh Nickson for Lewis Cadesby of Ontario. The purchase was a yearling dark-roan heifer Calrossie Augusta Aileen, sired by Millhills Champion.

At 1,1500 guineas a Mr. Bennett of Georgetown, Ont., obtained the yearling heifer Calrossie Augusta Grania by Calrossie Cupbearer, while at 650 guineas Col. Beardmore of Mono Mills, Ont., took a Calrossie yearling by the same sire.

Judge Criticizes Police Methods

WINDSOR, Oct. 14—(CP)—The Windsor police department's methods of investigation were sharply criticized Friday by Justice A. M. LeBel during the trial of 20-year-old Leo Washington, charged with attempted rape.

Police Constables Clifford Groh and Bruce Jamieson were criticized for a one-hour delay in starting investigation after they arrived at the home of a 16-year-old girl, criminally attacked on the night of May 23.

Detective Alvin Broderick said he visited the home Sept. 5 to check lighting conditions. Mr. Justice LeBel criticized the delay of more than three months.

"Don't you think there's too much red tape?" he asked Broderick. "Isn't there a man on the beat competent enough to go out and see what lighting there was?"

"I'm not criticizing you personally, you understand," he added. "I'm criticizing the system."

The trial of Washington, before a Supreme Court jury, is continuing.

Lawyer Denies He's Communist

WINDSOR, Oct. 14—(CP)—Roscoe S. Rodd, whose resignation as county solicitor was asked this week by the Essex county council on grounds of his left-wing political sympathies, said Friday his political affiliation "has never been hidden."

In a public letter to the council, Mr. Rodd said his political affiliation "must have been well known" when he was appointed in 1945.

He denied as "wholly without foundation" any suggestion that he was ever a Communist.

"Nor do I make any apology for my association with the Canadian Peace Congress," Mr. Rodd said. The Congress was a non-political organization working for mutual disarmament, outlawing of the atomic bomb and international friendship, he said.

"Your action seems to have been based upon the cowardly and false charge of an anonymous letter writer," his letter to the council said.

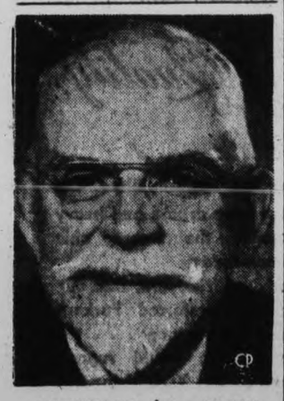
He had not received official notice of his dismissal, but he said he would accept it.

Hydro Plans To Use Crippled Workers

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 14. (AP)—Robert H. Saunders said Friday the Ontario Hydro Commission will institute a policy of hiring as many crippled workers as possible.

"We have always had a few crippled workers on our staffs, but shortly we hope to start a campaign to take care of our full quota," the Hydro chairman told a convention of Ontario and Quebec Industrial Medical Associations.

He urged other employers to take similar steps. He recalled the fine work done by crippled workers during the Second World War.



He said that he still hopes there will be no need for power restrictions in the province this winter. However, he said, the present supply is short. "Industrially, we are at war whether we like it or not."

Fined $4,000

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 14. (CP)—John Cruise, 37, of Fort Erie, was fined $4,000 and costs or nine months in jail Friday for two violations of Foreign Exchange regulations. The penalty was added to a one-year sentence and a $1,000 fine imposed on Cruise last week for having American goods on which he had not paid duty. He was charged Friday with failing to declare American currency and unlawfully dealing in $15,785.75 United States currency.

Errol Flynn's Princess Shed Few Tears as Romance Ends

PARIS (AP)—The pretty blue-green eyes of Princess Irene Ghika are spilling no tears over the bust-up of her romance with actor Errol Flynn.

She still carries her head high with regal bearing, and she hasn't soured on movies or movie actors. But she hasn't yet sorted out her ambitions after the collapse of her romance with the swashbuckling screen lover.

Meantime, she's spending her time about like any 20-year-old member of the post-deb or country club set. There have been trips to Deauville and Biarritz. Last month she went to London for a week.

All the while she's waiting for what she calls the "right" movie offer. The princess says she has turned down several movie offers, including one from Flynn.

Flynn wanted her to play a small part in the movie "Bloodline" which has been shooting on the Riviera. Costumes were made and the role held open for several weeks. But Princess Irene said "it seemed best not to take the part".

Conflicting Versions

As to the reasons for the break-up of the announced engagement, there were conflicting versions.

Flynn gallantly said, "we parted on a most friendly basis. When a lady breaks an engagement she knows what she is doing." At almost the same time he announced his engagement to 21-year-old American actress Patrice Wymore.

Princess Irene's mother, Mrs. Paul Zanesco, said "I thank the stars he has made this announcement...I opposed the idea but Mr. Flynn's insistence led me reluctantly to give my consent."

Lives Were Different

The princess says "we just agreed that we were used to different kinds of life and that it would be better to call it off."

Princess Irene, who is retiring almost to the point of shyness with strangers, said she met Flynn through mutual friends in May 1949. Flynn was on vacation in Paris.

Their engagement was announced unofficially in London last November. Flynn was there to appear at the Royal film show featuring the "Forsythe Saga" in which he starred. The princess was there, too.

Flynn soon returned to the United States. When the princess tried to go there to visit him she was rebuffed at the Paris Embassy on her request for a visa.

"It was just a question that I was born in Romania," she said. "If I had been born in Paris I could have had the visa without any trouble. After all, I came to Paris when I was 13 and I don't see what difference it makes where I was born."

Goes To Jamaica

Finally she went to Jamaica and was able to get the visa there. She was in the United States from May 15 to July 7, spending most of the time in Hollywood. She visited Gallup, N. Mex., for two weeks but had only four or five hours in New York.

Princess Irene lives with her mother in a modest apartment. Her father, Prince Jean Ghika, died when she was one year old. Her mother married a Romanian diplomat who was assigned to Paris in 1944. Her stepfather later was killed in an accident.

The princess was educated in Romanian and French schools and attended the Sorbonne for a year and a half—"just general education". She has no plans for returning either to school or modeling.

Princess Irene wears her title lightly. She says quite frankly that it means little in present circumstances. Most of her friends usually refer to her as Miss Ghika and she says that she uses the same form for workaday purposes.

Mrs. Chenhall Gives Paper

Mrs. W. A. Cochrane presided Friday afternoon for the regular meeting of St. Paul's Auxiliary of the WMS held in the Guild Room.

Mrs. Walter Perks was in charge of the devotions with the general theme being "The gift of prayer", and Mrs. Fred Hills was at the piano.

Missionary portion of the program was taken by Mrs. M. B. Chenhall who gave outlines of the life and work of Dr. Kagawa, distinguished Japanese social leader and author. Kagawa was born at Kobe in 1888, his early life an as orphan was made difficult through neglect, poverty and many hardships. He was fond of learning and read widely. At the age of 12 years he came in contact with Christian missionaries. A few years later he entered theological college at Tokyo and in course of time came to be considered one of the most successful evangelists in Japan, his converts numbering more than 100,000.

Dr. Kagawa has written many books, for years he was much engaged in social services and welfare work but during more recent times he has devoted himself to the work of the church, going throughout the land of Japan preaching.

Mrs. T. J. Carley expressed thanks for a very good paper.

Equal Rights Demanded In Women's Jobs

EDMONTON — (CP) — "Little Suffragette" was the affectionate name given Miss Ethel Thornton of Winnipeg by members of the National Employment Committee which conferred here this month.

A staunch advocate of the woman worker, Miss Thornton represented the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, of which he is honorary president. She has been secretary-treasurer of Winnipeg's Norwood School Board since its inception 26 years ago.

"Suffragette I'm called," she said half indignantly. "Mention of equal pay and opportunities for women never fails to stir up memories of old-time suffrage in minds of many men.

"What we need is more women in political life, and I should like to see at least one representative woman from each province in parliament.

"Women have a right to executive jobs, to be at the policy-forming level of committees and commissions, and not just as secretaries and clerks."

Concerning the married woman's working rights, Miss Thornton declared "every woman, regardless of age or marital status, should be allowed to work if she so desires. There can and must be jobs for all who want them.

"Qualifications, not youth, should count with employers. There should be no discrimination. Older workers are generally steadier and more responsible, and age adds to experience."

Murray St. CGIT Entertain Mothers

Canadian Girls in Training of the Murray Street Baptist Church entertained their mothers at a Thanksgiving dinner this week.

Vegetables and fruits were used as decorations, marrows made attractive vases for small bronze 'mums, and gold candles were highlighted by green pepper squash holders. Place cards were fitted in the yellow rind of pumpkin, and multi-colored maple leaves accented the dark green backs of the programs.

Miss Joan Naish, president of the Senior CGIT Group, was chairman. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan responded to the toast to the church, proposed by Miss Alice Pilling, and Mrs. J Arnott replied to the toast to the girls' mothers, proposed by Miss Audrey Silvester. Miss Marion Eason expressed the appreciation of the girls for kindness shown them, especially by Mrs. A. Smedmor and BYPU members.

Mrs. Roy Dunford, guest speaker, was introduced by Miss Elaine Osborne who told how Mrs. Dunford, formerly Miss Elise Klaasen, of Wwolle, Holland, came to Canada four years ago to study and became so interested in girls' work that she accepted a position as program co-ordinator with Hamilton YWCA. This summer she directed the first European tour sponsored by the Canadian YWCA and in August married Mr. Roy Dunford, formerly of Lakefield, now of Hamilton.

Mrs. Dunford, following the theme of the banquet, "Let us with a gladsome mind, praise the Lord for He is kind" assured the girls they had much for which to be thankful. She recalled how difficult it was during the Second World War for Dutch people to find occasions for thankfulness. Then she remembered how, on returing home in 1948, she found her people sharing what little they had with the less fortunate children of other countries of Europe. "Canadian people," she said, "are not aware of the blessings which have been theirs, nor do they fully appreciate the great opportunities and the beauty of their own country."

Miss Patricia Weston thanked Mrs. Dunford.

Teen Agers' Meet For Sociability

Roman Catholic Teen Agers of St. John's parish, who were organized in a club at a meeting last Monday evening, held their first social evening Friday in the school auditorium. There was a grand turn-out and lots of fun.

The executive with President Marie Woodhouse, vice-president Walker Woodhouse, secretary Anne Lapointe, and treasurer Alma Livings, did a very good job of making about 35 young people feel at home and overcome their shyness.

Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Angus Goselin and Mr. and Mrs. B. Monaghan. Mrs Monaghan has been instrumental in organizing this group.

Another such evening is planned for next Friday and a masquerade party preceding Hallowe'en.

Fabric Shoes Mark Trend In Fall Footwear Styles

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK (NEA)—The shoes which any styleconscious woman will definitely want this fall are three: gray flannel, plaid and velvet.

Gray flannel shoes, of course, ride the crest of the gray flannel wave which has swept suits, dresses, handbags and hats, making this fabric a leading fashion.

The gray flannel shoe may be very tailored, or slightly tailored, and may be combined with black or red calf.

One gray flannel shoe, a simple pump, is dressed up with tiny jet nailheads used in a spectator-style pattern. It's a pump with an air, an air borrowed both from its material and from its clever styling. It's entirely suitable for both suits and softly-tailored dresses.

The plaid shoe contradicts itself for autumn. Plaid wool is usually accepted as a tailored fabric but this year it's an after-dark fabric, too.

It sometimes is combined with black velvet (in a pump, for example) and turned out for wear with a short plaid evening sheath and a full black velvet coat. It's also seen on both city streets and country lanes. One country shoe is a plaid slip-on with fluted tongue and thin calf wedge.

Velvet is seen everywhere. For after-five, it makes a lovely golden opera pump, simple but very effective with a short black velvet sheath. The right companion for this shoe is a small golden velvet clutch bag.

Or you may take your velvet in a closed-toe, open-heel, ankle-strapped sandal with a very bare look, meant for dancing. But another version of velvet is the simple pump for daytime, worn just as you wore a suede pump in other years.

The polished calf suit shoe, always with us and always extremely right with tailored clothes, is handsome this season in a closed pump with medium heel and stitched design on the vamp. It's the kind of shoe which mellows with age, looking better and better as the months pass.

English Girls Sent Books About Canada

TORONTO —(CP)— A shipment of 100 books that will give English teen-age girls a lot of information about Canada has been sent by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

The books, mainly fiction appropriate for young girls and some historical and pictorial series, are calculated to give the youngsters interesting insights on Canadian customs and on the dominion generally. They were requested by Miss Vera Grenfell, chairman of the National Association of Girls' Clubs and mixed clubs in England.

The IODE's national educational secretary, Mrs. J. D. Detwiler, said the English associaton included about 2,400 small girls clubs and mixed clubs, a movement that started in the 1850s when the Industrial Revolution caused concentration of young factory workers in industrial areas.

The English club movement is still concerned with providing facilities for the best use of leisure time and has opened three national holiday and conference houses, providing places where club representatives and club leaders can meet each other. The holiday and conference houses also accept members of associate clubs in other parts of the world, helping promote international understanding.

Dazzling Display Of Ball Gowns In Wool Textiles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON — (CP) — Undaunted by a sudden sharp rise in wool prices, London's international wool secretariat plans woollen fashions for every occasion in 1951.

Kenneth Parkinson of Bradford, Yorkshire, heart of Britain's textile-producing country, told the Bradford Chamber of Commerce that extremely high wool prices do not necessarily mean high prices for goods in the shops.

The secretariat presented a dazzling display of ball gowns, dinner and cocktail dresses, town, country and sportswear, all in the latest weaves of the best wool textiles.

Spanish Influence

One of the most glamorous evening outfits is a chiffon-weight, white serge dress and coat by Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker. Showing a definite Spanish influence, the full-skirted coat is lined with black velvet, having a deep cape collar embroidered at back with multi-colored beading. A beading motiff sweeps from shoulder to waist of the wide bishop sleeves and is repeated on the black velvet pockets. A matching cummerbund is the only decoration of the clinging, plunge-neckline evening gown.

An unusual shooting outfit is the Lovat tweed suit with long trousers drawn tightly like puttees. The long, waisted jacket with back vent has a severely plain "shooting" cut.

Styles covered everything from gossamer-light wool georgette afternoon dresses and crisply-tailored town suits, to heavy, wool-lined travel coats.

Veterans' Ball Attracts 600

CGE Veterans' Association 3rd Annual Ball was a glorious informal event to 600 attendants in the Brock Ballroom Friday evening.

A very entertaining stage show, featuring Doug Romaine, interspersed their dancing enjoyment.

President William Bennett introduced the patrons and patronesses, Mayor M. J. Swanston and Mrs. Swanston, Mr. Gordon Fraser MP, and Mrs. Fraser, the Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, and Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Ian McRae and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Girven.

The special draw prize, a gift to the Association, was a handsome cocktail set and this was won by Mr. and Mrs. J. Boyd.

SCOOP OUT POTATO BALLS, cut cubes, or strips, or use a lattice cutter for crisscross slices or serrated strips—whatever you prefer—and they will all make delicious French Fries.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

French Fries Are A Treat For Both Young And Old

Even the most experienced cook can benefit from carefully written recipes. This is just what you find in the Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks, which are being released a book a week to readers of this newspaper. These cookbooks are full of new and novel recipes but they also make a point of giving just the right way of preparing long-time favorites.

French Fried Potatoes are probably a perfect example of a dish that everyone has either tried or wanted to try. But the right way to make them, there are any number of variations on how to make them more attractive, can be found in "250 Ways of Serving Potatoes," the current cookbook release.

French Fried Potatoes
6 medium potatoes
Salt
Deep fat for frying

Wash potatoes, pare and cut into long strips ¼ to ½ inch thick. Soak in cold water for one hour. Drain, wipe very dry between towels. Place just enough potatoes in frying basket to cover bottom Immerse in hot deep fat (380 degrees F.) and cook until lightly browned, about three to five minutes. Keep shaking potatoes while cooking. Drain and place on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with salt and serve hot. Allow one potato for each serving.

BALLS—Cut into balls, using a French vegetable cutter.

CHAINS—Cut into ¼-inch slices and place in ice water. Cut a ring from each slice with a small cookie cutter. Cut a slit in one ring and slip in two rings, making a chain of links.

CHIPS—Cut into very thin slices.

CUBES—Cut into ¾-inch cubes.

JULIENNE OR SHOESTRING—Cut into matchlike shapes.

LATTICE—Cut with a lattice vegetable cutter.

PUFFED—Slice ⅛-inch thick. Dry each slice. Place in a heated deep brown fat (275 degrees F.), cook until browned, about 10 minutes. Drain and cool. Heat fat to 390 degrees F. and immerse potatoes in it. Potatoes should puff up immediately. Drain and sprinkle with salt.

To get your copy of the Potato Book or to catch up with the earlier titles (Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, Pies, Soups, Salads, Fish, Meat, Eggs, Vegetables and Desserts), all you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present the coupons, one for each book, with 25c for each book at the Examiner office or from your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or if you prefer to order your copies by mail, send the coupons and 30c for each book (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Reading the paper I notice you have Chinese recipes. I find the Chinese dinners very good in a restaurant, but as yet I have not tried to make a dish myself.

I was wondering if you would have the recipe for "Sweet and Sour Chicken" and "Chicken Almond" which are my favorites.

Also, if you could tell me if a store like——would carry the special sauces etc., that are usually contained in these Chinese foods. Mrs. Fred H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Yes, the store you mentioned stocks all of the ingredients I would be likely to include in the recipes for Chinese dishes in this column.

✧ ✧ ✧

Sweet and Sour Chicken

One-half cup soy sauce, 3 tablespoons white or brown sugar, 3 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup pineapple juice, 1 3-lb. chicken cut up in small serving pieces, 1 mashed clove garlic (this is optional), 1 tablespoon tomato catsup, flour, ½ cup water.

Combine the soy sauce, sugar, vinegar, pineapple juice, garlic and catsup and blend well. Measure out ¼ cup of this liquid and add 2 tablespoons flour to it to make a thick paste. Rub this paste over the pieces of chicken. Preheat the oven to 500 deg. Fahr. (very hot) and place chicken on buttered pan and sear in hot oven for 15 minutes. Meanwhile heat the remaining sauce with the water. This you use for basting. Reduce oven heat to 325 deg. Fahr. Bake chicken until tender, basting it often until all of the liquid is used up. If chicken is young this requires about 30 to 40 minutes.

Chicken Almond

Cut the breast of chicken into strips about ½-inch wide and 1½ inches long and fry until golden in 2 tablespoons olive or peanut oil. Mix together 1 cup blanched almonds (cut in halves if desired), and one-half pound cut up small mushrooms, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 2 teaspoons soy sauce and 1 stalk celery cut finely at an angle. Turn these into the chicken and over very low heat let them simmer for 30 minutes. While cooking a small amount of liquid will form in pan. When cooking is done thicken this with 1 tablespoon cornstarch stirred to a paste in 2 tablespoons cold water. Taste to see if this needs salt.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Why did my four-day pickles shrivel? I made them re the same recipe last year. They were delicious. The only explanation I can think of is I paid more for cucumbers. Is there anything I can do with them? B. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have had more letters this fall about shrivelled pickles than I have ever received before.

I talked to a pickle manufacturer about this and he told me there were three common causes of shrivelling: (1) Cucumbers were more than 24 hours old when they were first brined, (2) brine was too strong, (3) vinegar was too strong.

I am sorry to have to tell you that they cannot be recovered. You will just have to eat them shrivelled—for they are perfectly good, and taste alright, but are a poor looking product.

I hope that next time you write I am able to give you pleasanter advice.

Household Hints

Turn and turn about clothes delight the college girl. All-reversible is a costume consisting of plaid cotton and black corduroy. The plaid weskit has black corduroy revers, and the two-faced skirt wraps and buttons in back.

Songs Which Create Misery Usually Win Great Popularity

Irving Berlin, who should know what he is talking about, once said that the short cut to popularity and success is to write songs that give people a chance to pity themselves. The heart bowed down is always a sure-fire hit. The public just eats up the chance to tell all about its secret sorrows and how lonely and blue it is.

The idea of thus capitalizing grief is rather startling at first, but there is no doubt that the plan will work, and that he who can start the tears flowing will find it as profitable as if he had struck an oil gusher. For it is undeniable that the favorite indoor and outdoor sport of untold thousands of our fellow creatures is sympathizing with themselves, and they will gladly pay for the privilege of reveling in woe in song.

Dorothy Dix

Just why a certain type of man and woman get such a kick out of being sorry for themselves, nobody knows, but they do. They find a sort of sadistic pleasure in torturing themselves and in making mountains out of molehills of their troubles. They dwell on every little unpleasantness until they turn a pinprick into a mortal wound, and they are never so happy as when they are utterly miserable.

Women Worst Offenders

Women are far more addicted to self-pity than men are and their indulgence in this lachrymose diversion goes far to explain many strange quirks in the feminine temperament. It explains, for one thing, why women take even their pleasures sadly, why it is almost impossible to get one to let herself go and enter into the hilarious fun of any festive occasion.

Everything at the moment may be auspicious. She may not have a care in the world or a cloud in the sky. But she is sad because she is thinking how terrible it would be if all this pleasant existence was taken away from her and everybody she loved would die; that she would lose her money and she would be poor and lonely in her old age. Men can never understand why women burst into tears when something particularly nice happens to them. It is because they are happiest when they weep.

All of us know ghoulish women who have feasted on the funeral baked meats of a sorrow for half a lifetime. They "never got over" some grief that befell them in their youth. We know old maids who retired from the world when they were jilted by a faithless sweetheart. Wives who have worn mourning for forty years for their dead husbands. Mothers who have spent their lives grieving over the babe they lost.

These women have made a fetish of grief and, strange as it seems, they have found a morbid consolation and comfort in pitying themselves and dwelling upon their broken hearts and thinking how forlorn and desolate they were.

Pity The Listeners

Most of us have rheumatism in our shoulder from having had it wept upon by unhappy wives who had husbands who were philanderers or drunkards or grouches or tightwads or what not. Many and many is the hour we have spent listening to the tales of woe of women who told of the cruelty of husbands who beat them or of lazy husbands who wouldn't support them and the children or of husbands who spent the money that should have bought milk for the baby on a blonde. It is a sad story, sisters, and we have mingled our tears without stint with those of the afflicted ladies.

But did you ever try to get one of these unhappy wives to do something about it and leave the husband who so misused her? And when you did, did you ever find one of them who was willing to part with her cross? Never. And then it slowly dawned on you that your sympathy was wasted and that the unhappy wife was having the time of her life in pitying herself, and talking about her troubles and being an object of sympathy. She had a real grievance and she was going to make the most of it. And keep it.

The mania women have for self-pity, however, finds its worst expression in the mothers who sacrifice their children to it. They pose as martyrs and talk about what they have suffered for their children, how hard they have worked for them, how ungrateful children are, and how they have left their poor, lonely, old mother to go off and get married or to go into business until you would think that there wasn't a happy mother in the world. Nor one that enjoyed her children nor a decent son and daughter extant.

Perhaps in a world that is filled with trouble it is lucky for us that we can get happiness out of our unhappiness. Anyway, we surely do have a grand time pitying ourselves.

London Hat Show Presents Global Theme

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON —(CP)— Travel and the glamor of distant lands provide the theme of a hat show given by Aage Thaarup, the Royal milliner.

China, Burma, Tibet and Siam all lend their inspiration to Thaarup's autumn show, entitled "Round the world in 35 minutes."

The global trend starts with a flower-girl bonnet in hand-knitted black astrakha, intended to suggest the flower girls of London's Piccadilly Circus.

Scotland is represented by Glengarry bonnet fur felts or gay tartan greens with magnificent cockades. One has a flaming brush of tangerine osprey, the other elaborate natural feather mount.

Denmark, a natural stopping-place for Danish-born Thaarup, leads the way to the eastern countries. One example is a Burmese pagoda bonnet in black velvet with pointed crown encircled by thin bands of gilt beading. Decorating sprays of tiny temple bells suggest the tinkling measure of a temple dance.

Glamorous Models

China comes next with an enormous black velvet coolie hat, edged with tiny gold tassels, and Iran inspired a black jersey turban - swathe with cheeky double swirl of soft topaz paradise plumes, set high above the temples on a stiffened jersey mount.

The show then soars into the planetary regions with a mercury cap in hand-knitted, black-and-white candy stripes. Above a peak-brim, folds of material suggest a visor, topped by two mercurian wings in black patent leather.

Most glamorous hats in the collection are those designed for ritzy New York backgrounds.

Princess Margaret, who sometimes attends the hat shows, was absent on a Scottish visit. "We shall probably make a little Scottish cap to remember her," said Thaarup.

6—In Memoriams

ANDRUS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Annie M. Andrus, who passed away Oct. 15, 1948.
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps her memory ever dear;
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
—Ever remembered by the family.

MILLER—In loving memory of our dear mother, Florence Miller, who passed away, October 14th, 1935.
Fifteen years have passed, but loving memories
Never from our hearts will fade
Of the dearest, kindest mother
Ever God to children gave.
—Ever remembered by Evelyn, Kenneth and R.J.

ROSE—In loving memory of our dear father, Henry Rose, who departed this life Oct. 14th, 1949.
One year has gone, no one can tell
The loss of one we loved so well.
Short and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all,
The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought his death so near.
And only those who have loved can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
—Ever remembered by daughter Iva, Bill and family.

ROSE—In loving memory of Henry Rose, who passed away suddenly October 14, 1949.
He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew;
He was so kind, so generous and true;
On earth he nobly did his best,
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.
—Ever remembered by son Carroll, Bertha and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the doctors, nurses and staff of Civic Hospital for their kindness, also those who sent flowers, cards and fruit, during my recent illness.—Albert Bulmer.

Mr. Bruce C. Clark and family, 2 Lift Locks, wish to thank the attending doctors, the sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, the Rev. B. S. Morwood, Rev. E. W. Rowland and Rev. H. G. Douglas, for their expressions of kindness during Mrs. Clark's illness. We would also thank those who sent flowers and cards and who paid respect in expressions of sympathy during the recent loss of our beloved wife and mother.

The family of the late W. R. Parker wish to take this opportunity to express their sincere thanks to attending doctors, neighbours and friends, for their kindness during their sad bereavement.

Advise Kinsmen

As a matter of fact the present Canadian generation has a bigger task than its forefathers, he said. For present-day Canadians must build a new wa yof life, not just a new country.

"Today we in Canada are beginning to slip into the position where we rely on the United States to give us the leadership and protection that Great Britain has done in the past. It is time we pulled up our socks and realized our responsibilities."

The Russian army is the great threat to peace, he contended. At present there are 77 divisions in the Soviet zone of Germany, and altogether they have nearly 100 divisions.

At the peak of their power in World War II the western Allies could only muster about 70 divisions. And where are they now?

To meet this threat the United States is going ahead with a plan to put 3,000,000 men under arms, continued Major Robbins. They feel this must be done if the world is to survive.

"What comparable effort are we making?" he asked. "Do we think it is enough?

"Everybody knows it isn't."

Our best guarantee against another war, he said, was preparedness against sudden attack. If we have enough strength to hit back in the initial stage of the war chances are a would-be aggressor will think twice before attacking and war will never come.

Major Robbins was introduced by George Bouck of Peterborough and thanked by Phil Holloway of Toronto. President Harley Weir was in the chair.

Personnel Man Dies

TORONTO, Oct. 14 — (CP) Frederick R. Wilkes, 60, personnel manager for Gutta Percha and Rubber Ltd., died Thursday. Before joining the firm 20 years ago, he was associated with Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company and its successor, the Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd., at Espanola and Sault Ste. Marie. Survivors include Mrs. Stuart Martin of Belleville.

Cancellation Insurance Protects Mortgaged Home

Living in your own home gives you and your family a sense of pride and a feeling of security. The fact that there is a mortgage on it does not lessen pride of possession, but does add to responsibilities.

It is more than likely that your home will mean much more than cold figures can denote. Good neighbors, good schools, a pleasing environment, family affection, happy friendships are factors that can never be reckoned in money. But death calls the mortgage, and if the family cannot meet the immediate and pressing obligations, a sale is inevitable.

It must also be considered that the total savings invested in a home often represent the combined savings of the entire family. But the equity in your property can only be realized if the home is sold for what it cost. Consequently, foreclosure often means loss of both home and property; for a forced sale is a bargain sale for the buyer, and a sacrifice for the owner.

Insurance Protection

Fortunately, it is a simple matter to protect an investment through insurance and so leave loved ones the free deeds of the home instead of a debt in the event of untimely death. An annual payment representing only a trifling fraction of the amount involved will make sure that money already invested will not be jeopardized.

Mortgage cancellation insurance is flexible and can be readily adapted to fit in with life insurance already possessed. It can be issued on a minimum basis simply to retire the mortgage in the event of death; it can also be arranged to give the additional benefits of savings and protection. It is also possible to provide for the cancellation of a mortgage within a definite period whether the owner lives or dies.

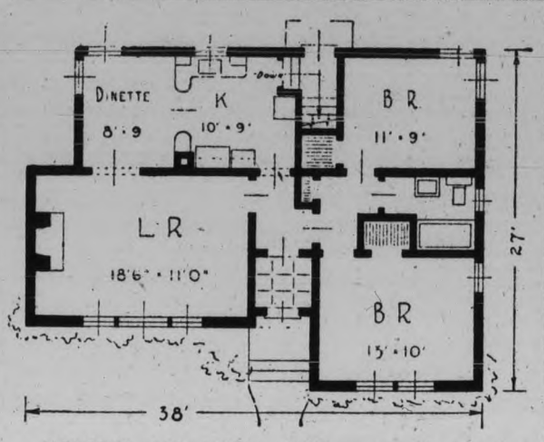
Wm. J. Hamilton Dies In Regina

Wm. J. Hamilton, third son of the late Joseph Hamilton and wife Lucinda Hetherington, died suddenly at his residence in Regina, Sask. Mr. Hamilton was born and reared by his pioneering parents on the banks of Stony Lake. During his early years he spent much of his time with his aunts in the US visiting with them, their home land Enniskillen, Fermanagh, Ireland where he learned to know many of the relatives of his parents whom had earlier left their home land to pioneer and help build this Stony Lake section and Peterborough county.



Like his parents in pioneering, from Ireland to Stony Lake, Peterborough county, Wm. James went west to pioneer among the wheat belts. There he met and married Edith McNeilly. To this union were born five children. Neil, the eldest, became very prominent, as a youth, in the great Western Grain Transacting business but like so many other youths gave up this promising future life's work to serve his country in the Air Force in World War II. Wm. James Jr. is on the father's farm, Kenneth teaches school, Barbara and Stewart are at home.

HOUSE No. 610 — With a full basement this cosy clapboard cottage contains about 16,500 cubic feet. The plan reveals a room layout of unusual merit, with convenience one of the chief features. Notice too, that the bedroms and "living" area of the house are well separated. Closets are adequate, and the size and number of windows make it a cheerful place to live in. The exterior appearance is enhanced by the deep red of the roof and shutters. Awnings are maroon and white. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

History Changed By Small Events

MONTREAL — (CP)—E. C. Woodley, author and historian, told a meeting of the Canadian Authors' Association here of the results in history of seemingly trivial incidents. As far back as Cleopatra, it has been suggested the whole course of history would have been changed if Cleopatra's nose had been a different shape.

Mr. Woodley, who has written many books about the province of Quebec, said historical research proved that unknown people and apparently insignificant incidents in the lives of great men were responsible for producing results of great importance.

Joan Morgan, author of "Castles of Old Quebec," said much of her material had been accumulated from newspapers of the time and that in many respects papers of the 18th century were much more interesting than those of today.

"When they came to report a murder or an accident," said Miss Morgan, "they put in all the details; they reported the precise appearance of the victims."

Western Writer Ernest Haycox Dies

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 14 (AP) Ernest Haycox, 51, writer of western stories, died Friday of cancer.

His novels of frontier days in the west were widely read and many, including Union Pacific, Stage Coach and Canyon Passage, were made into motion pictures.

He was a police reporter on the Portland Oregonian when he started writing fiction for pulp magazines. After settling on western stories as his field, he produced 25 novels.

Villages Of District

E. Young, T. Sexsmith, and J. Anderson. J. Brekenridge built a sawmill which soon burnt down; in 1856 Peter Pearce built a sawmill on the same site, and by 1860 there were four other sawmills and one gristmill. Pearce was appointed postmaster at the new village of Havelock. From Belmont mine on Crow Lake iron ore was taken by wagon nine miles to the Trent, then on barges to Harwood, by railway to Cobourg, by steamer to Pittsburgh. The Marmora Foundry Company, begun in 1849, was reorganized in 1859 and used local iron ore.

Methuen surveyed 1823, remained unsettled although A. Gilmour got patents for 1,358 acres in 1845. John Vansickler came in 1857 and others followed. In 1851 the two townships had 248, and in 1861 the population was 689 in Belmont and Methuen.

Harvey was mostly held by lumbermen; one of the first real settlers was Matthew Warem in the 40s. About 1858 Wm. Henry built a sawmill on Mississagua River near Bald Lake, later taken over by W. A. Scott. Soon after John Hall built a sawmill at Buckhorn Falls (Hall's Bridge) and put a bridge across the narrows. By 1861 there were 360 people, only 27 of them females.

Cleaning House Pays Off For Iranian Gov't

By LEOPOLD HERMAN

TEHERAN, Oct. 14 (Reuters)—The Iran government, having struck successfully at the currency black market and corruption in the civil service, is working now to reduce the cost of living.

The price of bread, which forms 60 per cent of the population's basic diet, has already been lowered through administration action. The cost of meat and sugar also has been reduced, despite price rises on world markets.

When the government of Gen. Ali Razmara came to power, the country was economically unhealthy. Production costs were high; output level was low. The balance of trade had greatly worsened during the previous four years.

One course for the adverse trade balance was the unwieldy bureaucratic machine which had built up a top-heavy edifice of export regulations. High customs duties were exacted on exports and taxes sometimes amounted to 15 per cent of the value of the goods.

Exempt From Duties

Exports now have been exempted from customs duties, and the customs have also been overhauled with an eye to raising production with lower costs.

Progress and modernization of trade practices is encouraged under a plan of the ministry of national economy. Through the plan, technical and financial help is given to private companies working to improve preparation and packing of goods for export.

The Iranian credit system is also being reorganized. Private enterprises are finding it easier to obtain favorable terms of long-term credits for improvement and development.

YPU Banquet Starts Season

MILLBROOK, Oct. 14 (ENS)—About 60 young people sat down to a banquet in the Waiting-Room on Tuesday. It was the first fall function of the interdenominational Young People's group.

The Rev. T. G. Husser, the honorary president, said the blessing and gave the address of welcome. Keith McGregor led a sing-song with J. O. Medd at the piano.

The toast to the King was given by Keith McGregor.

Helen Fallis proposed the toast to the worldwide church and the Rev. A. A. Chote made the reply.

A girls' quartette comprising Yvonne Richards, Anne Dawson, Marie-Claire and Marlyn Husser sang.

The guest speaker, the Rev. Walter H. Tonge of Lakefield, United Church was introduced by the Y.P. president, Don Spicer. Mr. Tonge returned to Canada a year ago after spending three years in missionary work in China. His subject was "Christianity and Communism in China". He contrasted youth in Communist China and the youth Canada. He also showed pictures of life in China and gave a commentary.

Irene Trick thanked the speaker on behalf of the society and the Rev. A. A. Chote pronounced the benediction. Keith MacGregor supervised a game period.

Those who assisted the Young People in preparing the banquet were Miss Anna Fair, Mrs. Wilfred Fallis and Mrs. G. MacKay, and the girls who acted as waitresses were Jean Smith, Anne Dawson, Leona Ball, Yvonne Richards, and Marilyn Palmer.

The election of officers will be held at the next meeting, October 16.

Traffic Convention Sets Up Organization

KITCHENER, Oct. 14. (CP) — Delegates to Ontario's first traffic control convention Friday formed a permanent association with the title of the Ontario Traffic Conference and Alderman E. Bruce Weber of Kitchener was elected its first president.

Other officers: Vice-presidents, T. C. Wardhope, Port Arthur, Inspector Jack Coughtrey, London, secretary-treasurer, Jack Halliwell, Kitchener.

Directors: N. C. Millman, Oshawa, Arthur Lomax, Hamilton, Chief Constable Bruce Robertson, Weston, Inspector James Callaghan, Ottawa, Inspector Emerson Mitchell, Windsor, John R. Walker, Toronto, and Alderman A. K. Skippen, Sault Ste. Marie.

The delegates turned down a suggestion that the group join the Ontario Safety League as a separate section instead of setting itself up as a separate body.

Madoc Section Of WMS Hold 18th Annual Rally

MARMORA, Oct. 14—(ENS) — The 18th annual rally of Madoc section, Belleville presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society was held Thursday in St. Andrews United Church.

Mrs. Albert Empey of Eldorado, past president of the W.M.S. of Belleville presbyterial, presided in the absence through illness of Mrs. R. N. Broad of Hazzards Corners, vice president. During the midday recess, a devotional book was secured to be sent from the rally to Mrs. Broad.

Mrs. H. C. Barlow, president of St. Andrews WMS, extended greetings to the visitors, to which Miss Annie Richards of Queensboro responded. A service of worship was conducted by Ivanhoe auxiliary. Mrs. George Wood, Ivanhoe, read the minutes of the previous rally.

Miss Annie Bishop of the supply department of the Dominion WMS was guest speaker. She and presbyterial officers were introduced by Mrs. G. D. Young.

The roll call was answered by members of the auxiliaries of Cooper and Remington, Eldorado and Union, Hazzards Corners, Ivanhoe, Marmora, Tweed, Queensboro Woman's Association, which is an affiliated society, was also represented.

Shows Literature

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott of Tweed spoke and an organ solo by Mrs. A. F. Fraser, organist of St. Andrews Church followed. Mrs. Fred Bell of Moscow, in charge of the literature table, spoke about literature. Mrs. Delbert Carman of Madoc, assisted by Mrs. T. Bennett and Miss A. Holmes, presented a playlet. The theme was the extending of community friendship to a newcomer. Mrs. A. L. Sisco of Tweed evening auxiliary, spoke of the advantages of the Study Book. She also read extracts from a letter from Miss Millicent Howse, of Angola, Africa who was guest speaker at last year's rally.

The offering was dedicated by Mrs. Frank Parks, of Cooper. Mrs. G. S. Jarvis, of Marmora, gave a report on associate members in the Madoc section. Mrs. Manley Fox, of Madoc, to give a report of her auxiliary's work in that connection.

The Madoc auxiliary conducted a memorial service for eight members who died during the year. They were Mrs. Fred Irwin and Mrs. Hark Rollins, of Cooper. Mrs. Nathan Montgomery, Mrs. Annie Carpenter, Mrs. William Elliott, Mrs. Mary Way and Mrs. P. K. Newton, of Marmora. The address at this service was delivered by Mrs. G. F. Lane and was most telling. Concluding the session was a communion service conducted by the Rev. G. D. Young, pastor of St. Andrew's.

Dinner was served in St. Andrew's

Mrs. E. C. Prentice, of Marmora, led the opening of the afternoon session. Mrs. James Sproul, of Marmora, reported on periodicals. Mrs Lincoln Elliott reported on the school for leaders.

Supply Department's Aims

After a song by Marmora Mission Band, Miss Annie Bishop spoke of the aims of the supply department. Miss Bishop said there were long lists of requests from the western provinces but the demand in Ontario was much lighter.

She told of clothing being sent abroad for boys and girls in orphanages and mentioned that a thousand layettes had gone to babies in Europe. Babies' clothing is sent in one hundred pound bales separately from other clothing, she pointed out. Whereas the Canadian Church relief effort abroad has been a united effort up till now, that comes to an end this October, with the United Church handling her share alone.

In continuing the project of overseas relief the WMS does not do so as her project alone for it is one for the whole church. Miss Bishop explained where financial help also is needed in the dispatch of clothing for it costs ten cents to handle and send each pound of clothing overseas.

Need WMS Relief

Touching upon relief work undertaken in Japan and Korea, she said that the Christian church in Korea is looking to the WMS to provide relief.

The offering was dedicated by Mrs. P. Nayler, of Madoc. Mrs. Wesley Hamilton, of Tweed, sang and reports of junior groups followed. A talk on the value of mission bands was given by the Presbyterian Mission Band secretary, Mrs. W. May. Christian stewardship was taken by Mrs. Ely Bailey.

Mrs. Clifford Chambers, for Eldorado and Hazzards, gave the report of the courtesy committee. Mrs. Empey thanked all for contributing to the rally.

Ivanhoe auxiliary, through Mrs. George Wood, invited the auxiliaries to hold the next rally at Ivanhoe.

Mrs. S. Tweedie and Mrs. Stan Moorcroft, were chosen as the nominating committee for next year's officers.

Everyone Has Good Story Newspaper Man Discovers

By JACK SCOTT

My father was a very good newspaperman and I think a lot of his ability had to do with his curiosity.

He was most curious about how people lived. If we were out on a trip together, or driving down the back roads in the country, he might spot some small home tucked in the woods and start to speculate. How had the people come to live in this place? What were they like? What kind of lives did they lead?

He had a theory, too, that everyone has a story. One time, when I was on an assignment in Winnipeg, where my father had worked with The Free Press, I heard a story about this theory of his. My old man and another reporter were sitting in the lobby of one of the hotels, waiting for a celebrity they were to interview. They got to talking about my dad's idea.

The other reporter thought it was nonsense. He claimed that most people live dull, drab lives. He said he'd bet five dollars that he could pick out a man in the lobby who would simply have nothing to say that would make "copy."

My father took the bet and the other reporter selected a mousy-looking little fellow sitting across the lobby. My dad went over and introduced himself to the little man and soon they were deep in conversation.

Finally he came back to the other reporter and held out his hand for the five bucks. The man without a story had, in fact, a pretty good one. He was Canada's official hangman.

I mention this today because I've been trying out my dad's ideas and with a certain amount of success.

Visit Strange Home

As soon as we'd crossed over the border into the States I'd felt an urge to meet some American family who might be called representative and so, remembering my dad's ideas, I decided to simply pick a home and see what happened.

This is how we met the Longmores of West Pembroke in the state of Maine, and why the next two or three columns will be about the life and times of a New England family.

In the late afternoon, about 20 miles south of the border, we pulled up the caravan beside US Highway No. 1 and looked up at the home we'd selected.

Stretching away from the road was a long rise of meadow with a patch of dead corn mid-way up the slope. Farther on were three giant maples with their foliage a light mustard color. The small square house stood in their long shade.

It was freshly painted white with a blue roof and shutters and yellow window trim. Two old wagon wheels had been painted white and arranged as a railing at the front door.

In a clearing behind the house we noticed a child's slide. Back of it was a weathered, ramshackle barn and beyond this was the slope of trees, ablaze with autumn color. A long, straight driveway went up to the house and at the highway end were three cabins, painted a bright yellow. A sign said, "Canary Cabins—Vacancy."

We paused a moment and wondered how the people had come to live here, what they were like, and what kind of lives they lead. Then we turned the car in the driveway.

Two Day Stay

This began for us a two-day visit. The family invited us to park our trailer out under the biggest of the maples, ran a hose from their water outlet in the root cellar to our tanks, and for two nights we sat in their kitchen, with the dry leaves coming down outside the window, sipped Pabst Blue Ribbon beer and listened to their story.

John Longmore is 38 and a rather gaunt-looking man. He is very tall and very thin, with huge, strong wrists and hands which he flaps about loosely when he talks. He might have been a handsome man in the Jimmy Stewart mold except for a perpetually pop-eyed expression, and when he becomes animated his eyes bug out and a large Adam's apple shuttles alarmingly in his long neck.

His wife, Dorothy, is a year younger — a short, sweet-faced woman with small, bright, penetrating blue eyes who likes to discourse on child psychology, Americanism and Life, with a capital "L." Most of all she enjoys meeting new people and testing out her ideas on them. She is extremely near-sighted, and her heavy-lensed spectacles give her a prim appearance that is rather misleading.

The Longmores have three children, Gail, who is nine; Hugh, seven, and Mary, 16 months.

Like her mother, Gail is near-sighted and delights in meeting newcomers. She has very precocious ideas about her future and plans on being either an artist or a nurse and in either case, in the city.

Hugh is a quiet, almost laconic boy, but, like his sister, has a brash manner with adults and this is tolerated by John and Dorothy who believe in encouraging children to be "natural."

Hugh has saved seven dollars from a 35-cent-a-week allowance and is very close with his money, which is said to be a New England trait. Still, when we took him into the nearby town of Eastport while we shopped, Hugh slipped away from us and put a nickle in the parking meter we'd overlooked. His father was pleased to hear of this and, waving his big hands, said, "Hugh has a good feeling for responsibility."

Because of the freedom they give the children the Longmore's house is a noisy and often downright boisterous place and yet the atmosphere is a happy and purposeful one. This is because John Longmore found the courage to give up the safety of a good, dull job in the city and to live as he wanted to live.

Everyone has a story, as my father claimed, and John Longmore's story is shared by millions of men who dream of escape to the country. I'll write about that Monday.

John Beatty School Caretaker

HAVELOCK, Oct. 14 (ENS)—John Beatty was appointed caretaker of Havelock Schools at the October meeting of the Board of Education. The appointment, at a salary of $150 a month, followed the resignation of S. Southward in September.

The board received three tenders for the position, one of which was withdrawn by the applicant.

The secretary was instructed to ask the local Hydro Commission why the demand meter was installed in the school, and a copy of the letter is to be sent to Superintendent Hess.

The Hydro Electric Power Commission and the hydro inspector recommended that the north half of the school be re-wired with heavy wiring. To instal the demand meter, the heavy wiring was cut down to fit the terminals in meters, thus reducing the advantages of the heavy firing, it was claimed. The Board wants to know why this was done and also why a service charge is imposed with a demand meter.

Principal R. D. Buchanan reported that two inspectors from the Department of Education and Public School Inspector K. O. Birkin of Peterborough, inspected the new room, recently equipped for home economics classes. Their report was to be submitted to the Board at a later date.

Mr. Buchanan said the proceeds from the Navy League Tag Day amount to approximately $65. Also that two pupils had been transferred to Kirkland Lake.

WI To Sell Tags For Children's Aid

MARMORA, Oct. 14 (ENS)—Marmora Women's Institute decided Wednesday to hold a tag day on Oct. 28 for the Children's Aid Society. It will be held in response to an appeal from Mrs. French, of Belleville.

Whether the institute could accept an invitation to attend the Wellman's Corners WI celebration of its 45th anniversary on Nov. 15 was not decided. It will be considered at next month's meeting.

A health conference in Springbrook Nov. 18, when Miss Grace E. Hamilton of the home economic department, Toronto, will be guest speaker, was discussed, and the Marmora Institute hopes to be well represented.

Application for the annual legislative grant was made.

Mrs. Charles Sopha spoke about farming in Canada. A pumpkin pie contest was won by Mrs. W. D. Lavender.

The Institute elected Mrs. Lavender secretary, to serve until the return from hospital of Mrs. Eugene Brady.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Percy Eamer. Mrs. Percy Gray, president, was in the chair. The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Kerr.

Havelock News

Allies Only 50 Miles From Red Capital N. Koreans Crumble

Disorganization Said Spreading Rapidly In Communist Ranks, Military Experts Predict War Over Soon

TOKYO, Oct. 16—(AP)—Allied troops plunged today toward the flatland approaches to the Communist Korean capital of Pyongyang and possibly the last major battle of the war. The drive for Pyongyang was turning into a race between South Korean 1st Division troops and the American 1st Cavalry Division. The Americans battled through stubborn resistance Monday in a 16-mile thrust into Sohung, 42 air miles and 60 highway miles southeast of Pyongyang. They kicked off at dawn from Namchinjom.

Almost due north, South Korean division elements were in Suan, only 40 air miles from the capital.

AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth, with the South Koreans, said they "broke into a run" for Pyongyang. American tanks led their thrusting column.

There were signs the Red Korean army was crumbling rapidly. But large units still under the firm control of commissar-type officers resisted fiercely at some points.

Military circles in Tokyo freely predicted the war would be over in a few weeks. They expected major fighting to end with the fall of Pyongyang. However, a campaign to mop up Red army fragments could drag throughout the winter.

Explosive Possibilities

The high mark of the allied drive northward is expected to be the chase of fleeing Red troops toward the explosive Manchurian and Siberian borders.

While the four allied columns drove toward Pyongyang, Gen. MacArthur had ample additional troops to throw at the faltering Reds wherever he chose to hit them.

Speculation was rife that MacArthur, back from his Wake Island conference Sunday with President Truman, had the signal to throw everything at the remaining Reds.

Prisoners in large numbers were gathered by the advancing troops. The total held by United Nations forces mounted to 65,000. Some, taken from the North Korean 19th division, estimated that 20 per cent of their original number had deserted before going into battle.

Confusion Spreads

From a military point of view, confusion and disorganization appeared to be spreading rapidly in the Communist ranks.

Britain To Place Orders In Canada For 25 Million

TORONTO, Oct. 16 (CP). — Britain is placing or will be placing shortly orders for $25,000,000 worth of Canadian products, including lumber, pulpwood, newsprint, iron ore, canned salmon and British Columbia apples.

James S. Duncan of Toronto, chairman of the Dollar-Sterling Trade Board, announced this today following his return from a visit to Britain in which he talked with Prime Minister Attlee and Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade.

Mr. Duncan said that from his talks overseas he believes Britain will attempt to buy more from Canada and feels that she now is in a better position to do so. He also brought back a statement from Mr. Attlee hat Britain's dollar export drive will be continued side-by-side with her defence program.

Primary Consideration

Mr. Attlee added:

"Adequate and speedy preparation for defence must be a primary consideration for all the signatories of the North Atlantic pact. It is, however, our firm intention to maintain our exports to Canada and I feel sure that our Canadian friends have good grounds for confidence that our trade with them will be maintained and pushed with undiminished energy."

Mr. Duncan, at a press conference, said that Mr. Attlee hopes for a quick industrial effort to maintain the twin programs of re-armament and dollar export drive. He also proposes reduction of exports to certain iron curtain countries; and, if necessary, there may be further restrictions on home consumption.

12 Planes Seek Missing Hunters

EDMONTON, Oct. 16 —(CP)— The fate of five goose hunters who disappeared Saturday on an airplane flight over northern Alberta's wild timber and muskeg country remained a mystery today as the RCAF sent up a squadron of 12 search planes.

The missing plane, piloted by Harry Pennington, 33, of Vancouver, left Grand Prairie, Alta., on a 250-mile non-stop flight to Edmonton which was to have taken two hours. After it failed to arrive, an immediate communications check of points along its intended route revealed no one had seen it.

A daylight search Sunday by five planes and a night sweep by another two looking for flares or camp fires gave negative results.

Also aboard the missing twin-engined civilian aircraft were Harry Morton, about 40, of Vancouver; and Joseph Dory, 42, James Mulcahy, 31, and Stewart Reid, 30, all of Edmonton. The hunters were well equipped with sleeping bags, clothing and rifles. They were returned from a hunting expedition.

Canadian Dollar Opens At $2.95 In London

LONDON, Oct. 16—(Reuters)— In the first free foreign exchange dealing in London since the outbreak of war, the Canadian dollar opened today at $2.95¼ to $2.95¾ in relation to the pound sterling.

This compared with the range of $2.95 to $2.97 the Bank of England had previously been fixing.

It was announced Friday that from today the Bank of England will cease to fix rates for the Canadian dollar.

French Have Given Up Another Major Post

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 16. (AP)—The French today announced abandonment of still another post on the China-Indo-China frontier—the small outpost of Nacham. This leaves 300 miles of the Chinese frontier open.

A military spokesman said the Nacham garrison had withdrawn nine miles southtast of Dong Dang, last major French position before the frontier headquarter fortress of Langson, six miles further to the suotheast.

The spokesman said evacuation of Nacham had been accomplished without important fighting. Other French sources said Communist-led Vietminh troops had occupied Nacham following the French withdrawal.

Israeli Prime Minister Trying To Solve Crisis

JERUSALEM, Oct. 16 (CP). — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion proposed today that elections be held to solve Israel's first cabinet crisis.

Ben-Gurion said in an address before the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that a caretaker cabinet should hold office pending an election.

Ben-Gurion resigned Sunday night after three religious-bloc members in his outgoing cabinet told him they were withdrawing from the government because they did not like a recent cabinet change proposed in the face of Israel's financial plight.

Later President Chaim Weizmann—after consulting all party leaders — asked Ben-Gurion to form a new cabinet for presentation to the Knesset, Israel's parliament. The Knesset reconvenes here today after a two-month recess.

The task facing the premier is not an easy one. His Mapai party controls only one-third of the votes in parliament and he needs the support of other groups to retain power.

The religious-bloc members who quit Sunday represent a coalition of the devout, orthodox and conservative members of the parliament.

The trio held the posts of ministers of religion, social welfare and interior. They opposed Ben-Gurion's recent proposal to appoint Jack Gering, a non-party member and financial expert, as commerce minister to help out with the industrial crisis. The bloc contended the post should be filled by a Conservative, one of its number.

Dairy People Planning New Defence

Ruling From London May Have Further Repercussions

OTTAWA, Oct. 16—(CP)— The dairy industry went into defensive action today on the heels of a Privy Council decision upholding that the sale of margarine in Canada is a matter of provincial jurisdiction.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture, with a membership of 400,000 farmers, called on all dairy farmers and all governments to develop protective policies for the dairy industry, which, it declared in a statement, was being "undermined" by the appearance of margarine on the Canadian market.

Another dairy industry authority said the decision of the Privy Council might have some repercussions on the remainder of Federal dairy legislation. Particularly as to whether parliament should have jurisdiction over grading and inspection of dairy products.

So far only two provinces — Quebec and Prince Edward Island —have banned the manufacture and sale of margarine within their boundaries. Some other provinces, however, have taken action to restrict the coloring of the butter substitute so that it could not be confused with butter.

Rinfret Judgment

The dairy authority referred particularly to the judgment of Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret when the case was heard before the Supreme Court of Canada two years ago.

Disagreeing with the majority of his colleagues, the chief justice held that the section of the Dairy Act dealing with margarine was rightly within the power of parliament.

A significant point in that judgment was that the chief justice felt if parliament could not regulate the manufacture of margarine and oleomargarine, it might be a question whether it had power to regulate such other products as butter, cheese, ice cream or imitations of these products.

"The fact that oleomargarine and margarine do not come directly from the cows (of course they do not) and the mere contention that they are not natural products but rather manufactured articles, is not sufficient to remove them from the domain of the Federal government in respect of agriculture," the chief justice said in his judgement.

In Same Category?

"If this argument were sound, the same thing could be said with as much force about butter, cheese, ice cream, or, in the words of the definition of 'dairy product' in the act, 'any other article manufactured from milk and all imitations thereof.'

Federal authorities would make no comment on this aspect of the legislation, other than to say that

Higher Taxation Prospect For Canadians, Abbott Hints

WHITEFIELD, N. H., Oct. 16 (CP).—Prospects of higher taxation for Canadians next year were indicated today by Finance Minister Abbott.

Federal expenditures in the next fiscal year will be "considerably greater" than this year, Mr. Abbott said in an address prepared for delivery before the Savings Bank Association of Connecticut.

The minister referred only briefly to the budget prospects, declaring he hopes the tax increases in his baby budget of Sept. 7 will put the government in position to "take whatever further steps might be necessary" to meet the expected higher expenditures next year.

Dealing with Canada's remaining import restrictions, he said Trade Minister Howe now is previewing them to determine the extent and timing of further relaxations in the entry of capital goods.

"I do not think it will be long before the whole structure of restrictions has been dismantled," Mr. Abbott said.

Of Canadian exports, he declared goods produced for sale to the United States will continue to have a high priority in the dominion. He hoped the U.S. would increase the volume of its Canadian purchases.

Mr. Abbott, describing government exchange measures including the recent freeing of the dollar, said Canada is maintaining exchange control as a defence against possible future adverse conditions.

But actual restrictions would be few and would consist largely of maintaining control over export of capital by Canadian residents, and over security transactions between residents and non-residents.

Gasoline Price Reduced Due To Dollar

TORONTO, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Imperial Oil Limited today announced reductions in the wholesale prices of gasoline, kerosene and light fuel oils due to the increased foreign exchange value of the Canadian dollar.

Other companies indicated they would make similar adjustments.

Gasoline and kerosene wholesale prices were cut seven-tenths of a cent in Ontario and the Prairie provinces, and four-tenths of a cent in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

Furnace, stove and other light fuel oils were reduced half a cent a gallon in Ontario and the Prairies and two tenths of a cent in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

Peterborough Drop

(All Peterborough service stations of Imperial Oil reduced the retail price of gasoline 7-10 of a cent per gallon today.

(Peterborough Fuel and Transfer reported furnace oil at 18 cents today, down half a cent; stove oil is also reduced .5 cent.)

The company said appreciation of the Canadian dollar in terms of other currencies resulted in lower costs for crude oil and imports. Higher ocean freight rates necessitated the smaller reductions in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

W. H. Rea, president of Canadian Oil Companies, Ltd., said his company would make similar changes. He assumed that retail prices would be lowered but noted that individual operators set the retail price.

Douglas J. Fletcher, Ontario secretary of the Retail Gasoline and Automotive Service Association, announced that the retail price of top-grade gasoline in Ontario will drop to 42.4 cents a gallon from 43.2. Second grade will sell at 40 cents instead of 40.8 almost everywhere in the province.

Train Crushes Lindsay Man

LINDSAY, Oct. 16. — Vance Daynes, 49, died in Ross Memorial Hospital shortly after he had been run over by the Toronto-Belleville night train in the CNR yards here Saturday. An inquest has been ordered.

B. Heels, flagman on the Lindsay St. crossing, was flagging down automobiles when he saw the man lying on the tracks, a short distance away. He called to W. Piercy, yard foreman, who rushed to the spot and tried to drag the man off the track before the train approached.

Daynes' body was caught in the brake rigging and carried some 30 feet. He lost one foot and was badly crushed. Daynes was a painter by trade.

Report British Cars Best Dollar Earners

LONDON, Oct. 16 (Reuters).— British automobiles have earned more dollars this year than Scotch whisky and cotton yarn combined.

The auto industry's representative to the dollar markets, Sir William Welsh, told a press conference today that British autos had earned more than $84,000,000 since January.

20 Tons of Dynamite Explode

MALARTIC, Que., Oct. 16—(CP)—Fire exploded 20 tons of dynamite in this northwestern Quebec mining town Sunday night, severely injuring one woman and smashing hundreds of windows. The blaze started on the surface at Barnat Gold Mines—formerly called Sladen Malartic—and spread to the powder room, where the dynamite was stored. Most of the town's 7,000 residents were awakened by the blast. Flames leaped high in the air and were visible for 25 miles. About 40 persons were treated for cuts caused by flying glass. Mrs. Joseph Belland was taken to hospital and doctors said they feared she may lose her sight.

Miracle None Killed

Arthur Robilard, fire and police chief, said it was a "miracle" no one was killed. The firemen were on their way to the blaze when 600 cases of dynamite exploded.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined. Chief Robillard said there was no watchman on duty.

Work at the mine, two miles out of town, was suspended until repairs are made at Nos. 1 and 2 shafts, near the scene of the blast.

Magazine Fire

The Ottawa head office of the company said the dynamite in a surface magazine caught fire.

The magazine was a quarter mile away from the nearest building and no one was hurt, an official said, though considerable damage was caused in the area.

Herded By Russ Troops Germans Re-Elect Reds

BERLIN, Oct. 16—(AP)—Pledged to unswerving loyalty to Moscow, Red leaders were swept back into office by more than 98 per cent. of the voters at Sunday's election, it was officially announced today. The Communist government said it had been confirmed in power by 12,088,745 votes against 51,187 invalid and opposition votes. Authorities said 98.44 per cent of all enfranchised East Germans had cast their ballots.

The unopposed triumph of the Communist-led "national front" made secure politically a Russian bastion in the centre of Europe that only war or internal Russian revolt might conceivably destroy.

It was engineered by the most fantastic German voting since Hitler claimed 100 per cent endorsement for his Nazi Reichstag in 1936.

Russia's 20 occupation divisions were on the alert and 195,000 Communist-offered German police stood guard to assure unmolested victory.

But nowhere in the Soviet zone as about 13,000,000 citizens virtually goose-stepped to the polls, was there a single verified case of resistance.

Fear Police Terror

Even the Western powers dropped their anti-vote campaign, fearful of police terror against East Germans who attempted to dissent.

"Deceive Your Deceivers: Vote for the National Front" was the despairing counsel beamed to the Soviet zone populace by the official American radio station.

The capitulation was complete. Like automatons, the East German masses paraded past the election boxes, dropping in unfolded scraps of paper which sealed their political fate.

American - sponsored German broadcasters asserted today that in actuality "90 per cent of the East Germans are enemies of the Red police state."

But it was ballots, not words, that were counted in the Berlin headquarters of the Soviet zone regime.

Crash Victims Out Of Danger

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 16 — (ENS).—The six victims of Friday's head-on collision near Campbellford are all reported out of danger by authorities at the Belleville hospital this morning.

Three of the most seriously injured, Mrs. Samuel Gifford of London, Mr. James Hardy of London, and 15-year-old Lionel Gray of Bonarlaw, were all reported to be much improved, although their stay in hospital will be a lengthy one.

Doctors said an operation to remove the pressure on the brain of Mrs. Gifford who suffered a severe depressed fracture of the skull, would not be necessary now. Mr. Hardy is still in an oxygen tent, but is also reported much better. Lionel Gray, the youngest of the victims, has not yet been told of the death of his companion, Garland Huff, who was driving the car in which Gray was a passenger. Doctors said they were not yet able to determine the condition of the youth's eyes. Gray, his head swathed in bandages, said on Sunday night, he "felt fine, and would soon be out of here.

T. Huff, the seventh victim, died in Belleville following the crash.

Well over 200 stitches were required to close the wounds on one of the victims.

Back In London

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret arrived in London today from a holiday at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. Princess Elizabeth's two babies, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, travelled with her.

India Will Oppose UN Special Force

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 16 — ((AP). — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru voiced Indian opposition today to a United States proposal for the raising of special armed forces to serve at United Nations' direction.

Such forces, Nehru told a press conference, are more likely to lead to a world war than to discourage one.

The US proposal, part of a seven-country resolution now being debated by the UN General Assembly in New York, calls for UN members to earmark part of their armed forces for use either by the Security Council or the Assembly to meet threats of aggression.

Such armed forces, Nehru said, are "likely to produce an atmosphere and psychology of fear."

The Indian leader also criticized the crossing by UN forces in Korea of the 38th Parallel an action which the General Assembly authorized in a resolution adopted October 7.

Rules Matter Handled By Provinces

Five Justices Hold Parliament Controls Import

LONDON, Oct. 16—(CP)— The Privy Council today sustained a judgment by the Supreme Court of Canada which declared the sale of margarine in Canada is a matter of provincial jurisdiction.

The decision by the judicial committee of the Privy Council came as a climax to a long hard-fought battle over whether the manufacture, sale and distribution of margarine should be made legal in Canada.

The decision apparently leaves the margarine question where it was when the Canadian court delivered its opinion in 1948. The effect of the Ottawa decision was to hand jurisdiction over margarine to the provinces, leaving them to enact legislation on the manufacture and sale of the butter substitute within their own boundaries.

The law Lords dismissed an appeal from a Supreme Court judgment brought by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Uphold Judgment

Lord Morton of Henryton, delivering the judgment, said their lordships were of the opinion that the Canadian Supreme Court judgment of December, 1948, "rightly answered" a reference concerning the constitutional validity of section 5A of Canada's Dairy Industry Act.

The section stipulates that "no person shall manufacture, import into Canada or offer, sell or have in his possession for sale, any

One-Day Strike At Arms Plant

TORONTO, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Some 280 members of the United Mine Workers (CCL) today staged a one-day strike at the suburban Long Branch plant of Canadian Arsenals' Small Arms Division in protest against federal government refusal to recognize the union. The Long Branch workers also seek a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour.

Pickets from the union's Local 13524 marched in front of the gates when the 8 a.m. EDT shift was due to report for duty. Col. O. W. Leavens, manager of the government-owned plant, said later that some workers, especially toolmakers and office clerks, crossed the picket lines.

An additional 50 workers assembled near the gates but did not try to cross the lines.

Eight Toronto township police watched proceedings.

Harry Hill, president of the union local, said the union negotiated for four months without obtaining recognition at the plant, which now produces shotguns. The union was told in a letter from Trade Minister Howe last week that workers with grievances could take them up individually with the plant management.

Russ Army Packs More Firepower Than US

American Military Men Admit Soviets Have Best Tank and Gun

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 16 (AP)—Russia's army packs more fire power than the American army—man for man. Russia has the best tank and the best self-propelled big gun in the world.

These are the admissions of the U.S. army itself—what American troops in Germany are taught. The estimates are based on detailed reports.

In its analysis of these reports, the U.S. army pulls no punches but offer this consolation:

The Soviet army pays a high price for its heavy fire power. It loses staying power, balance and mobility. A U.S. division can maintain itself in combat longer, move faster, and keep better communications.

Still Outgunned

The U.S. army recently announced a big increase in the fire power of its infantry division. But apparently the new Soviet rifle division still outguns it, on a man-for-man basis.

Although it contains only 60 per cent as many men as the U.S. infantry division—11,000 Russians to 18,800 Americans—the Russian rifle division is credited with having 75 per cent of the shock power of its larger American counterpart.

The Soviet mechanized division has about 13,000 men, yet it is called roughly comparable in fire power to the U.S. armored division of 16,000 men. So is the Soviet tank division of 10,300 men.

The Russians gain this impressive punch partly by sacrificing service units and other personnel not essential to actual combat.

Other Points

Other points in the army appraisal:

The U.S. has no match for the 51-ton Russian tank, the Joseph Stalin III, with its 122-millimetre gun and its heavy armor. The biggest American tank, the 46-ton Pershing, carries only a 90-MM gun.

The Russians' medium tank, the T-34 of 35 tons, weighs about the same as the U.S. Sherman tank. But it mounts an 85-M.M. gun to the Sherman's 76-M.M.

The Red army proved the superiority of its mortars in the Second World War. These simple, rugged weapons took terrific toll of the Germans in the Soviet counter-offensive.

Artillery is the traditional strong point of the Russian army. It has been since Peter the Great.

The biggest Russian weakness appears to be in the generally-poor quality of ammunition—especially for light arms and automatic weapons. Here the Americans are vastly superior.

16 Airmen Killed In UK Air Games

LONDON, Oct. 16—(AP)—Airmen of six western countries Sunday concluded Britain's biggest postwar air games—a test of the island's defence against atom attack and the efficiency of new bombing methods. Fourteen RAF fliers were killed in plane collisions during the games. In addition, two Belgian pilots are missing and believed dead.

United States B-50 bomber squadrons and F-84 jet fighters participated in the games, as did jet fighter squadrons from the Netherlands, Belgium, Norway and Denmark.

Harry Harker Badly Hurt In Collision

But Strikes Car Of Millbrook Man In Brooklin Area

MILLBROOK, Oct. 16 (ENS) —Harry Harker, 63, of Millbrook is in critical condition in hospital at Oshawa following a collision between his car and a Colonial Coach Lines bus Saturday night. His car was flattened when the two vehicles collided near Brooklin.

Taken unconscious to hospital, he was placed in an oxygen tent.

Provincial police say Mr. Harker was crossing No. 12 Highway eastward near Brooklin when the southbound bus struck the middle of the car. Mr. Harker and the front and back seats were all thrown out by the impact.

Dr. J. H. McKinney of Brooklin, who was called to the scene of the accident, said Mr. Harker suffered no apparent external injuries but was believed to have a fractured skull.

Only method of identifying the unconscious man was from a registration card found in the car.

Mr. Harker farms on the Millbrook Rd. out to Highway 28 and is also an insurance agent. He has lived here many years and is well known in the community. He is an elder of St. Andrew's United Church.

Mrs. Harker is staying in Oshawa to be near her husband. The son and daughter, Ernest and Wilda, visited Oshawa Sunday but returned in the evening.

Base Metals Feature Trading On Exchange

TORONTO, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Base metals featured trading as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Activity was brisk and gains easily exceeded losses to let base metals follow Saturday's advance and again climb into new high price ground.

East Sullivan, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, Labrador, Quemont and Sherritt Gordon were among those ahead. Several leading stocks like Consolidate Smelters, International Nickel, Noranda and United Keno Hill showed fractional losses.

Industrials started lower but by mid-session evidenced signs of recovery.

Papers, foods, constructions, steels, liquor, and textile showed a majority of gains in the groupings. Agricultures, banks, retail stores and refining oils were mixed. Utilites and manufacturing companies were lower.

Western Oils started ahead but weakened to drift slightly lower. Calgary and Edmonton gained 15 cents at $8.35 while Central-Ledue lost six cents at $2.99.

Senior gold producers gained with Lake Shore ahead 20 cents at $10. Junior golds were mixed with a handful of more speculative issues gaining up to 10 cents.

Labor Majority Cut

ABERTILLERY, Wales, Oct. 16 (CP)—The Labor Government's working majority in the House of Commons was cut to seven Saturday night with the death of George Daggar, member of Parliament for Abertillery. A former miner, Daggar was 71. He was vice-chairman of the Labor caucus.

One force, dispersed after a brief engagement with the U.S. 24th Division near Yonan, 50 miles northwest of Seoul, fled toward the south and certain encirclement.

Escape routes for the Communists were open to the north of Pyongyang in the west and Hungnam on the east coast.

One east coast force, accused of executing 800 South Korean prisoners near Wonsan and Yonghung, raced northward with 100 American prisoners.

A South Korean survivor of the mass execution said he heard the North Koreans plotting to take the American prisoners to Manchuria.

The pattern of fighting over the whole war front was one of spotty resistance. At some points both the Americans and South Koreans were impeded only by mined roads and broken bridges. At others the North Koreans fought bitterly, then fled into hills.

Task Easier

Both the South Korean 1st Division at Suan and the American 1st Cavalry Division at Namchonjom were approaching the southern ends of mountain passes that lead to open country beyond.

Once they have reached the flats, MacArthur's spokesman said, the advance is expected to proceed more rapidly. There will be fewer places of concealment for the Reds.

Air observers today sighted two convoys moving southward. The first was heading for Pyongyang and appeared to be composed of about 100 vehicles. The second was heading south from the capital toward Sariwon. There were about 50 trucks in this one. Sariwon is ketween Kumchon and Pyonyang on the main highway.

American intelligence officers confirmed the North Koreans have put another division in the field. Prisoners taken from it said the division was only at half strength about a month ago when it was organized.

Apple Day Nets $1,250 For Boy Scout Kitty

Boy Scout activities in the Peterborough district will thrive on the $1,250 raised Saturday through the annual Scout Apple Day.

Peter Moore, president of the local Boy Scout Association, described the annual day as "very successful." The money, he explained will be used for scouting in this district.

On Friday night a house-to-house canvass was made throughout the city. On Saturday morning the Cubs and Scouts canvassed the downtown area with their rosy MacIntosh apples.

Mr. Moore estimated that each boy sold between 30 and 50 apples a grand total of approximately 15,000 apples or 125 bushels. The centre of operations this year was at the Salvation Army Temple. In previous years the Fire Hall has been used but this year due to alterations there, the new space had to be obtained. As in other years, the returns were counted in the Fire Hall.

Suspended Sentence For Taking Old Drum

Pleading guilty to stealing an oil drum from Canada Packers Ltd. where he worked, Ernest Hedges, RR 4, Peterborough, was placed on two years' suspended sentence in police court today.

Constable Harold Andrew testified that about eight a.m. Sunday morning while checking the Canada Packers' plant, he saw an oil drum in a car parked there. He learned the car bleonged to Hedges.

He said Hedges told him he had no permission to take the drum.

Hedges said he didn't think at the time he was stealing the drum. It had been sitting there 10 years. He could have taken one of the new ones, he said.

Windsor Board Continues Police Inquiry

WINDSOR, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Douglas S. Whyte, city purchasing agent, today assured the Windsor Police Commission that he had not known of the financial interest held by Deputy Police Chief W. H. Neale in a company selling supplies to the City Police Department.

Mr. Whyte appeared before the commission, which met today after a 10-day adjournment, to discuss matters of policy in the purchase of police supplies.

Mr. Whyte told the commission which is investigating law enforcement in Windsor, that fingerprinting equipment was available from only one firm in Windsor—the Police Equipment of Canada, Ltd.—and asked whether tenders on such equipment should be taken from outside firms.

(Deputy Chief Neale told the commission at an earlier meeting that he was formerly president of the company, a family concern, and owned one-third of its stock.)

Confirm Policy

At Mr. Whyte's request, the commission confirmed the present policy of making routine purchases under $500 without asking for tenders. The commission also approved of Mr. Whyte opening tenders and preparing tabulations of figures before submitting them to the commission.

Frank Phillips, a Windsor auto worker, also appeared before the commission to complain of police handling of a charge of assault which he laid in August last year against Alex Borshuk, former Windsor prizefighter.

Phillips said the case was delayed until January of this year and the charge finally dismissed for insufficient evidence.

"When I ask for police protection, I want to get it," Phillips said.

Judge Archibald Cochrane, the commission chairman, asked him to return later when records of his case against Borshuk could be obtained.

Rules Matter

oleomargarine, margarine, butterine or other substitute for butter manufactured wholly or in part from any fat other than that of milk or cream."

The Supreme Court ruled that this section was ultra vires of the Canadian parliament since it concerned civil rights, which, by the British North America Act, come within the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces.

The Law Lords' judgment climaxed six days of legal argument in London which ended last June 29.

The argument in support of the appeal was presented at the London hearings by F. P. Varcoe; Deputy Minister of Justice, on behalf of the Attorney-General of Canada, and by R. H. Milliken, K.C., for the appellant. They contended that the Supreme Court judgment declaring section 5A ultra vires of the federal parliament should be reversed.

Main Arguments

Here are the main arguments of the appellants and the judicial committee's conclusions in rejecting them:

1. Argument: That the section prohibiting the sale of margarine in Canada is legislation in relation to the regulation of trade and commerce, and therefore comes within section 91 of the British North America Act.

Conclusion: Some limit should be set on the wide words in section 91 relating to the degree of autonomy the provinces were intended to possess. "The necessity for putting such a limit leads to the rejection of the counsel's first argument."

2. Argument: That the legislation relates to the criminal law and therefore falls under a different head of the same section.

Conclusion: Such an argument would have more weight "if it had been possible to contend that the object of the prohibition was to exclude from Canada substances injurious to health."

3. Argument: It is a law for the peace, order and good government of Canada in relation to a matter not coming within any of the heads of section 92 of the Act, and is within the "residuary power" conferred by the opening words of section 91.

Conclusion: Their lordships "think it is sufficient to say" that the prohibition relates to civil rights within each of the provinces and find nothing to indicate that the normal distribution of provincial-dominion powers should be overridden.

4. Argument: It is a law in relation to agriculture in all or any of the provinces within section 95 of the B.N.A. Act.

Conclusion: Precedents tend to show that a distinction should be made between legislation "in relation to" agriculture and legislation which may produce a favorable effect on the strength and stability of that industry.

Too Indirect

"To sum up, the connection between the prohibition and the operations carried on by farmers is too indirect and remote to bring the prohibition within the terms of section 95, and for this reason counsel's fourth and last argument fails."

Elsewhere in their judgment, the law lords said it was obvious that the prohibition section of the dairy industry act was designed to protect and encourage the dairy industry.

The five law lords were Lord Morton, Lord Porter, Lord Simonds, Lord MacDermott and Lord Radcliffe.

Banned since Confederation, margarine production was allowed only for a brief period in the First World War, when butter was hard to get. Butter producers long claimed that lifting the ban would spell disaster for the butter industry.

However, soon after the second world war, Senator W. D. Euler, of Kitchener, an insurance company director, waged a successful fight in the Senate to have the legislation banning the butter substitute tested before the Supreme Court of Canada.

He held that any Canadian should have the right to buy or sell any legitimate article "whether it's butter or axle grease or anything else." The prohibition, he declared, was "monopolistic law."

The court took the case under consideration in July, 1948. It was asked by the government to declare its opinion as to whether Section 5 (A) of the Dairy Industry Act, 1927, was within or outside the jurisdiction of parliament.

This section, contested by Senator Euler and consumers organizations, stated specifically that no person "shall manufacture, import into Canada, or offer, sell or have in his possession for sale, any oleomargarine, margarine, butterine, or other substitute for butter, manufactured wholly or in part from any fat other than that of milk or cream."

Seven justices of the court heard argument and by a majority of five to two held that parliament had the power to control the import of margarine but not the manufacture, sale or distribution in Canada. That was a matter for each of the provinces to decide under jurisdiction over property and civil rights under the Canadian constitution.

The decision of the court, handed down Dec. 14, 1948, saw the almost-immediate development of a rapidly-growing margarine industry in Canada. Within a year, the industry had grown strong enough to pull down butter prices at a time when prices of other products were steadily climbing.

Concerned over the impact of the dairy industry, the 400,000-member Canadian Federation of Agriculture, supported by the Federal government, appealed the court decision to the Imperial Privy Council.

In the London hearings, supporters of the ban were opposed by legal counsel for the margarine producers, Senator Euler and the Canadian Association of Consumers.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggists.

Truman Gives Little News On Conference

HONOLULU, Oct. 16 (AP). — President Truman is flying back to the mainland today to report on his meeting with Gen. MacArthur, World capitals still are puzzled over the significance of the rendezvous on Wake Island.

Aides said the president is devoting extraordinary time and care to the major foreign-policy address he will make in San Francisco Tuesday night.

(Truman's speech will be carried starting at 11:30 p.m. EST on the Trans-Canada network of the CBC).

While he will preface his talk with a reference to his conference with MacArthur on the barren far Pacific island as a move to help the Far East find peace. There has been no indication that he will elaborate greatly on the Wake Island statement.

The statement, signed by the president and initialled by the United Nations supreme commander, followed their talk of less than three hours.

Actually, the most important phase of it was the hour Truman and MacArthur spent alone in a quonset hut before they went into conference with military and diplomatic advisers.

The statement gave no hint of any far-reaching new decisions such as many had speculated might grow out of the 14,000-mile round-trip flight.

But some unprecedented and complex situations are involved in the "steps necessary to bring peace and security" to Korea which Truman says he and MacArthur discussed.

For the first time, a segment of the Communist empire is being removed from Russia's grasp. The procedure followed in North Korea may become a pattern should the fringes of the Russian empire start crumbling elsewhere.

Knox Church, Havelock Marks 62nd Anniversary

HAVELOCK, Oct. 16 (ENS)—Knox Presbyterian Church celebrated its 62nd anniversary on Sunday with Professor D. W. Hay of Knox College, Toronto, as guest speaker at both morning and evening services.

The Rev. R. D. Duncanson was assisted in conducting the evening service by the Rev. J. Ritchie, M.A., of Warkworth, while Mrs. Ritchie was guest soloist at the morning service, singing two solos "He Smiled on Me" and "There were Ninety and Nine". In the evening two numbers were sung by a male quartet from Hastings comprising L. Humphries F. Crate, R. Burnham and C. Scriver. The choir under the leadership of the organist Donald Pollock rendered special anthems at both services.

Prof. Hay took "The Church" as his subject in the morning dealing with it under the following headings: The church is made of saints: it was made by the Holy Spirit; it was made in heaven.

For his evening subject Prof. Hay spoke on "Where the Christian faith comes from", basing his discourse on the text, Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God. It is easier to believe in God sometimes than others and some people he said had the idea that really religious people are those who have no doubts. This is not true, he said, and was partly due to our changeability—a different mood today and another tomorrow and also that it seems harder to believe in God when calamities strike.

Therefore it is necessary to know where faith comes from and leading up to the answer he gave three sources from which faith does not come. It does not come by birth, nor experience, nor yet by reason.

Faith comes by hearing the Gospel story of the sacrifice of His son on Calvary, a story which cannot be told without a preacher. Without the church and the preaching of the story which must come from the Bible the source of our faith, there is no faith, he said.

In closing Professor Hay said that if we wait and expect God to give us security we shall collapse at the first calamity.

Knox Church was built in 1888 four years before Havelock was incorporated as a village, but even before that time the doctrines of Presbyterianism were preached to the pioneers of this district in a church situated where the Roman Catholic cemetery is now located.

In this old church the first minister was the Rev. James Carmichael whose charge also included Norwood. Often the visits to parishioners was done on foot in districts where he could not travel with horse and buggy. This old church was sold and the services then held over a store operated by A. V. Fuller. With the completion of the railway through here in 1884, the village began to spring up around the station and round house, and the size of this new section quickly outgrew the few residences now known as Old Havelock.

The need was felt for a church in the midst of this new community and the present church was built. When the basement was completed services were held there by James Madill, a student (studying) under the Rev. Dr. D. A. Thompson of Hastings.

After the church was completed the Rev. J. McMillen became its first minister with the following Board of Trustees: Alex Mathison Sr., John Cochrane, and John Wright.

Prior to Rev. D. Pirie receiving a call, the Havelock Church was united with the Presbyterian churches of Norwood and Hastings in a three point circuit. Following Mr. Pirie, came Rev. John Davey of Dale Presbyterian Church, Toronto. In 1947 Mr. Davey was forced to retire because of ill health. At this time it was decided that the circuit was too large and it was reduced to two appointments, Norwood and Havelock. The present minister, the Rev. R. D. Duncanson, followed Mr. Davey.

Mrs. Beatrice Dewey has the honor of being the oldest member of Knox Church having joined the church 54 years ago. The present session has only four members, A. C. Buchanan, William Hitchins, Fred McKenzie and Angus Graham. Mr. Buchanan has served in this department for 35 years.

Cobourg Unable To Pay Director

COBOURG, Oct. 16. — Cobourg's recreational director, Robert Cooper, who signed on at a salary of $2,800 for the first year and $3,000 for the second year, is to work on a half time basis at a salary of $1,800 a year.

This is due to the fact that there are not sufficient funds to finance the position as a full-time job. There are no more funds until the council puts them into the estimates next year and Cooper will receive no more salary until the 1951 funds are available early next year.

The recreational director was appointed in the summer of 1949 at which time the town voted $1,500. It was assumed that this would be $3,000 for the full year. However it was found necessary to economize and the town grant accordingly remains at $1,500 a year.

The Rotary Club donates $400, because of the beach patrol. The Kinettes donate $100 and the rugby clubs gives $200. The government gives a rebate on salaries of one-third plus 20 per cent on equipment costs.

The outlay for the recreational director is smaller in Cobourg than any other community in Ontario. The minimum elsewhere is $3,200.

Fenders Tangle

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 16 — (ENS).—About $50 damage resulted to two cars on Saturday when they were involved in a side-swipe accident on Front St. south. A car driven by Louie Craighead of Campbellford, in attempting to pull out from the curb, tangled with one driven by Mrs. Don Peake, also of Campbellford. Fenders of the two cars received most of the damage. Provincial Constable Donald Erskine and Chief George H. Hardy investigated.

Falls Eight Feet To Cement Floor Fractures Wrist

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 16 — (ENS)—Darrel Greenly, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Greenly, 293 Caddy St., Peterborough, suffered a compound facture of his left wrist Sunday evening when he fell about eigth feet to the cement floor of a barn on the property of Merle Nelson at Norham.

The Greenlys had been visiting at the Nelson home and Darrel was playing in the barn. He lost his grip on a door while playing in the hay mow and dropped to the floor of the building. He was taken to the Campbellford hospital for X-rays and later allowed to return to Peterborough, to have the broken bones set at the Civic Hospital. Dr. John Hall of Campbellford, attended the injured boy, who suffered cuts to his head and face also.

Nickel's working on the railroad? Sure!

In the new diesel electric locomotives Nickel Steel gives greater strength with less weight. Steam locomotive boilers are made of Nickel Steel—tough, strong and durable at high temperatures.

Frames of modern locomotives and railway cars are made of Nickel Steel—stronger, lighter in weight. Springs and roller bearings are of tough, long-lasting Nickel Steel. Many modern trains are largely built of Stainless Steel, containing a high percentage of Nickel.

Back in the dining car kitchen those gleaming surfaces where food is handled are "Monel"—a sanitary, rust-proof, Nickel-Copper alloy.

"The Romance of Nickel" a 60-page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Forty-three years of research have uncovered hundreds of uses for Nickel in the United States and other countries. Now Nickel exports bring in millions of U.S. dollars yearly. These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees in Canada and also help pay Canadian railwaymen, lumbermen, iron and steel workers and other men and women making supplies for the Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.

Milk Is High Enough

The Board established to arbitrate the price of milk has decided that Peterborough and other centres are paying enough when they pay nineteen cents a quart. The distributors will not be allowed further increases. The price was raised in the city in mid-September from 18 to 19 cents.

* * *

The trouble with cattle these days is that their flesh is as valuable as their milk, and the high price of one tends to make the other high too. The cow is unfortunately not equipped to give beef at the same time as it gives milk. A dead cow cannot be milked.

* * *

Milk is a commodity needed by human beings; this the dairy people have been preaching for years. If it is so essential it must not be priced beyond people's ability to buy it. If farmers and distributors cannot make sufficient profit out of milk at its present price, the way to change the situation is not by increasing the price, but by more efficient methods of production and distribution. The gap between the price paid the farmer and the price charged the householder should not be widened. It may even be shortened if dealers, dairymen and all concerned put their heads together and cut down overhead, as, for instance, on overlapping pick-up and delivery routes.

* * *

Milk has gone up eighty per cent. in Peterborough since the war, and the war ended only five years ago. We have not forgotten that there was a subsidy on milk then. Nevertheless, a basic staple of the table has almost jumped off it.

The U.S. November Election

With less than a month remaining before the off-year election to be held in the United States, political observers there are generally agreed that the prospect is a shaking-up of membership, but no change in control of either the Senate or the House of Representatives. There is some uncertainty, chiefly because the campaign was late in starting, and the prophets are inclined to hedge a bit—probably remembering what happened in 1946—but with all their qualifications, the consensus appears to be that the Republican Party will gain seats in both Houses, falling short of the number needed for a change in control.

The election of 1946 demonstrated how sharply and swiftly a political tide may reverse itself in the United States. When the campaign opened, the Democratic Administration appeared certain to retain control. Then everything went wrong. There was a meat shortage, Henry Wallace contributed his embarrassing foreign policy speech, and a number of strikes were suddenly called. These, with a few minor contributory factors, influenced public sentiment to the extent that the Democratic Party lost control of both Houses.

So far, there appears to be no issue or group of issues to give the Republicans any more than the usual gains they almost invariably make in off-year elections. The international situation favours the Democratic Administration; the success to date in Korea and certain Presidential appointments have increased public confidence in Mr. Truman's regime. This feeling, it is predicted, will more than offset any critical sentiment which may exist as a result of the running quarrel between the State and Defence departments prior to the resignation of Louis Johnson. It is to be hoped these predictions are accurate, for the West would be gravely weakened if the governmental authority in the U.S. were again divided.

Should Peterborough Have A Subway?

Subways are in the air, so to speak. Toronto is having one dug now. Montreal has been considering one for years, and is now on the point of desperate action; the trouble with Montreal is that it is founded on solid rock though its finances are wobbly, and a subway would have to be blasted—a very costly business. Increasing traffic congestion in Peterborough might lead some farsighted citizens to advocate a subway for this city. We approach such a tunnel from a different angle.

This is the atomic era. Canada is in the firing line and her important industrial cities are vulnerable. Peterborough is an important industrial city and makes military equipment. If other cities need protection, so does Peterborough. Subways are good air raid shelters. The last war demonstrated that, and military men say that they are as good protection against atomic bombs as can be had. So a subway in Peterborough would not be a bad thing at all—if the Department of National Defence, or some other department in Ottawa or Queen's Park can be persuaded to foot the bill, on the grounds that a subway is primarily a civil defence matter, rather than a traffic artery.

The notion that a subway is essential to save the life of a city should atomic bombs be dropped on it is being touted in Montreal. Some Montrealers have ingeniously twisted their need for a subway to ease traffic into a national obligation to provide Montreal with an air raid shelter; they hope of course that the Government will pay for a good part of the proposed, and very expensive, subway system. Well, if Montreal needs a subway as an air-raid shelter, so does Peterborough, St. Catharines, Brantford, Kitchener and every other city which could be an industrial target for Russian bombs. If Ottawa is seriously going to consider handing Montreal millions for a subway, it will have to reckon seriously with Peterborough's plea for a subway. We can get our Mayor Swanston down to the hand-out door at Ottawa as quickly as Montreal can get its Mayor Houde there. And let it be realized that our mayor is able to squeeze through a half-open door more easily than Mayor Houde.

Tears And Prayers In Seoul

On of the weekly chores we set ourself is to read Time magazine. Here is part of what we read about General Douglas MacArthur's triumphal entry into captured Seoul, capital of Korea.

'It's just like old times', said Douglas MacArthur to the assembled big wheels at Kimpo airfield. The Supreme Commander's new Constellation SCAP had just flown him in from Tokyo for another historic ceremony of liberation.

In a five-starred Chevrolet sedan, trailed by four other staff cars, 40 jeep-loads of newsmen and lesser brass, MacArthur rolled over the dusty road to Seoul . . .

Promptly at noon the two leaders (MacArthur and Syngman Rhee, South Korea's puppet President) walked down the marble steps of the high-vaulted National Assembly Chamber . . . Through gaping windows blew the strong, sickly sweet smell of corpses lying in shattered buildings outside . . . The audience was almost wholly military . . .

At times as he spoke, MacArthur seemed on the verge of tears. He said:

'By the grace of merciful Providence, our forces fighting under the standard of that greatest hope and inspiration of mankind, the United Nations, have liberated this ancient capital city of Korea. It has been freed from the despotism of Communist rule and its citizens once more have the opportunity for that immutable concept of life which holds invincibly to the primacy of individual liberty and personal dignity . . . .'

The Supreme Commander called on all to recite with him the Lord's Prayer. After the 'Amen,' he turned to Syngman Rhee: 'Mr. President, my officers and I will now resume our military duties and leave you and your government to the discharge of civil responsibility.'

Rhee clasped MacArthur's hand, 'I admire you,' he exclaimed.

Well, when you wallow, you might as well wallow plenty. Time does a wonderful job of it. So does General MacArthur. For instance, those MacArthritic phrases: 'immutable concept of life which holds invincibly to the primacy'. Why, it's just like Churchill except that his bourdon has too many fancy overtones. Not even Churchill at his dramatic best would have come out with the Lord's Prayer for such an occasion.

The theatrical display of sentiment outdoes anything Churchill has ever devised. Field Marshal Montgomery had his exalted moments, too, which shook the troops. Perhaps they all go back to Cromwell, the Puritan dictator who bowed his Ironsides before battle. It is all very, very touching. Let nobody question the appropriateness of the Christian Lord's Prayer on the steps of the parliament buildings of a Confucian people.

The fever of 'liberation' and the exultation of victory curiously affect the brain and liver. And General MacArthur's seen audience (his unseen was the great American people) was, as Time reports, almost wholly military. Perhaps not a person in the 40 jeep-loads of newsmen and lesser brass felt sick. Probably General MacArthur's silvery new Constellation does not even have what is standard equipment on Trans-Canada's North Star planes, a vomitoire. General MacArthur and his American public must have stronger stomachs than ours. If it is ever our good fortune to be present at a MacArthur liberation ceremony which is "just like old times", we should want to have that useful piece of T.C.A. equipment handy.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

I AM not too happy about the teaching of harmony and counterpoint as they are at present, and I dare say that a good number of music teachers agree with me. Of course, most students of these subjects are taking them in order to pass examinations, and there is little that can be done to change the present state of affairs until the curricula are changed too. Harmony and counterpoint are really two different aspects of the same thing, and yet every attempt is made to separate them. Counterpoint based on a modernized interpretation of sixteenth century practice, and harmony of a Brahmsian type are being taught in watertight compartments, as though the harmony of Palestrina or the counterpoint of Brahms were of no account. Developments since Brahms, who was conservative even in his own day, are scarcely taken into account. A further objection is the divorce from practical music-making. Even in the very earliest stages all exercises should be written to be played or sung by specified instruments or voices. It would be a great help to have a choir "on tap" to demonstrate the actual oral effect of, say, consecutive fifths, or the tritone, or the different ways, "right" and "wrong", of spacing individual chords. Here is an opportunity for somebody to make recordings of examples in a text-book such as Kitson. I am afraid that too many students are apt to write music that may sound tolerable on the piano, but which would sound very peculiar if sung by a choir or played by a string quartet!

✧ ✧ ✧

LAST week I drew attention to the singing contest between the Sirens and Orpheus and the unfortunate fate of the runners-up (they were changed into rocks). This puts me in mind of another "music festival" of antiquity in which the loser was even worse treated. This is the story: once upon a time, when gods and goddesses walked the earth, the goddess Athene took up the flute. One day, while she was practicing down by the waters she saw the reflection of her face, and disgusted with the distortion of her features while puffing away she threw down her instrument. It was picked up by Marsyas, a Satyr, one of those impish creatures with snub noses and little horns, half human, half animal. He started to blow through it and the flute emitted a series of most bewitching sounds. Marsyas did not realize that it was because a goddess had been the last to play it, and he jumped to the conclusion he was a musical genius. Flushed with success, he was rash enough to challenge Apollo himself, the god of music and of all the arts, to a contest. One of the rules of the competition was that the winner could do what he liked with the loser. Apollo played on the lyre, and Marsyas on the flute. Up till then the contest was even, but when Apollo began to sing to the accompaniment of his lyre the adjudicators awarded him the prize. As a punishment for daring to challenge a god, Apollo bound Marsyas to a tree and flayed him alive. Some rueful competitors in modern competition festivals may be forgiven for wondering whether the ancient method of physical excoriation was not after all more humane than the verbal excoriation handed out occasionally by present-day adjudicators.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE singing of diphthongs (mixed vowel sounds) is often unsatisfactory because the singer has not taken the trouble to go down to fundamentals. First of all it is necessary to distinguish spoken diphthongs and written diphthongs: the latter are more correctly called digrams, and I shall maintain this distinction. The digram is a sound expressed by more than one letter. For example the two "e"s in the word "bee" represent one sound, and are a digram. The diphthong proper, on the other hand, is a succession of two vowel sounds pronounced so near together that they appear to merge almost into one sound. The "ow" in the word "now" can be represented approximately by two sounds, ah and oo, the former well stressed, the latter pronounced lightly. English is particularly rich in these diphthongs. The rule for pronouncing them is really quite simple: the stronger vowel sound of the two should be vocalized (i.e. the tone should be produced on it), and the weaker should be pronounced lightly. For instance, the word "wine" (pronounced roughly as wah-in) when sung should sound as "wah" for nearly the whole of the note value and "in" sung fairly quickly at the end. On no account swap horses in midstream!

✧ ✧ ✧

SHOULD a child be made to practise? If this means being set down in front of a piano at a set time every day and told to produce some sort of sound on it for the space of half an hour then that is all wrong. For the child music, like drawing, is a form of self-expression. Children cannot be expected to have acquired enough self-discipline to be able to switch on self-expression to order — they play when the mood is on them. This may conflict with the adult world of time-tables and schedules which impinges on the young at the outset, but it has to be recognized. Nothing is more calculated to kill the love of music in a child than to impose a rigid set of rules for practice. On the other hand children are creatures of habit, and there is everything to be said for a certain time to be set apart for practice, and if this is understood the child will probably go of his own accord. Sometimes he may not go, and it can do no harm to remind him, telling him how you enjoy listening to him. If he still does not go the matter should not be pressed. On no account should bribes such as candy be offered: this immediately associates practising with things like visits to the dentist and unpalatable medicine. If he plays particularly well that is another thing altogether, and a reward is a stimulus to further effort.

Cooking The Kipper

(A Letter in The Times, London)

Sir,—I hope someone will tell our American friends that all they need to do with the kippers we are sending them is to pour a lot of boiling water over them in a dish and let them stand for a minute or two, thus avoiding any trouble about the smell, and securing the result that they are not too oily and the flesh comes most easily off the bones.

Impartial Arbiters

(SATURDAY NIGHT)

THE general public appears to think that the main problem in arbitrations between labour and employers, and especially in cases when such arbitrations have a more or less compulsory effect (as in the railway case if arbitration became necessary there), is to determine how much the workers are to be authorized to squeeze out of the employers or of the national economy, according to whether it is the employers or the consumers who will have to foot the bill.

But that question is unimportant — it is merely a matter of more or less money — compared with the question how to overcome the attitude which organized labour is more and more adopting, and has never expressed with such vehemence as in the last few weeks, on the futility of arbitration and the impossibility of making it impartial. The language used by Mr. Charles Millard, Mr. Ford Brand, Mr. Murray Cotterill, Mr. Don Dunlop (Toronto Firefighters' Association), Mr. Arthur Williams and others about the inevitable hostility of a Government-appointed arbitrator to the workers is the kind of language that leads straight to authoritarian government, if not indeed to the dictatorship of the proletariat.

The assumption that a Government elected by the franchises of the whole people of Canada cannot possibly be fair to a group of wage-earners is a flat denial of democracy. It is the basic doctrine of Josef Stalin.

It is of the first importance that this idea should be dispelled, and the falsity of the utterances of these men and others like them should be demonstrated at the earliest possible opportunity.

They are not all unreasonable or unintelligent men, and some of them were no doubt prompted to such utterances by a temporary fit of anger at the discovery that organized labour could not extort whatever it desired by the mere use of its power to paralyze the nation's economic life.

It is unfortunate that governments have made so persistent a practice of employing judges for the position of third member of arbitration and conciliation boards. We do not at all share the opinion that has been expressed by many labour leaders, that judges are prevented by their "class" status from understanding and sympathizing with the claims of labour, but it is absurd to suppose that judges on the bench are the only kind of people who can be relied upon to give sound decisions in labour disputes, and there are quite a number of good reasons why judges should be employed very sparingly in that capacity if they are employed at all. Governments would, we think, be well advised to draw these arbiters from a much wider list of occupations.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME use has already been made of university professors, and this might be extended. It is very difficult for even the angriest labour man to make the public believe that a university professor, bringing up a family on a salary of which any good plumber would be ashamed, is a member of the exploiting capitalist class. There are also a good many quite intelligent farmers who would not mind serving at such times of the year as are quiet in agriculture. We could even suggest a few journalists, and if they were members of the American Newspaper Guild we do not see how labour could be very bitter against them. But anyhow, the main thing is to make it as difficult as possible for preachers of the class war doctrine —and that is what most of these labour protestations amount to—to make their charges stick.

The Private Papers of 'L.G.'

(Ottawa Journal)

The University of New Brunswick, which once had on its staff Douglas Hyde, who returned to Ireland to become famous in literature and as the first President of the Irish Free State, has just added notably to its many distinctions. From London comes word that it has secured for its library the letters and private papers of David Lloyd George. Added to the papers of other famous figures, including those of Bonar Law and Viscount Bennett, they should make "U.N.B." something of a Mecca for future historians of Britain and of the British Commonwealth.

Certainly it would be difficult to write the story of Britain during the past half century without an examination of the papers of Lloyd George, who, although dimmed in recent years by the immense illumination of Churchill, still deserves to be remembered as one of the towering figures of his times.

The University of New Brunswick's good fortune in securing "L.G.'s" papers is due to the efforts of Lord Beaverbrook, that extraordinary figure who amid all his wanderings and triumphs has never forgotten that while he was born in Ontario he spent his early years in the Eastern province.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins. Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fail. (II Pet. 1: 2-10.)

Letter To The Editor

ARE WE SLIPPING BACK?

Sir: Due to so many comments from friends, business men etc., in regard to the lack of interest shown in further developing Peterborough's industrial opportunities, I would appreciate knowing the following:

1. Other than the normal expansion of the regular industries—what new industries have settled here since 1945?

2. Why do Lindsay, Belleville, our close neighbours, obtain new industries almost yearly and we don't?

3. What exactly is the Industrial Commission doing, if anything, to entice industry here?

Why isn't something constructive done, along these lines, a city cannot stand still, it must go forward or slip back—are we slipping back?

Many citizens seem to lack confidence in the set-up, and progress that is being made along this line.

Thank you,

NOT AN AGITATOR.

Blaming Parents

(Christian Science Monitor)

Most enlightened thinkers tackling the problem of juvenile delinquency agree that, broadly, the solution is in doing two things; strengthening the character of children, and weakening the evil forces in the community.

There is no shortcut. It is a hard and demanding task and calls on every citizen, whether a parent or no, to take a share in it.

We can't shift all of it to the already burdened shoulders of parents and think the answer has been found.

It is easy to accept the glib statement: "There are no delinquent children; there are only delinquent parents," pass a law punishing the parents in cases of delinquency, and dust off our hands, in the shallow confidence that the juvenile delinquency problem has been disposed of.

A nationwide study of juvenile delinquency, recently made, failed to disclose a single instance where juvenile misbehaviour was reduced by punishing parents. And a juvenile court judge in Toledo found out from experience that imprisonment of parents does nothing more than break up the family and deprive it of just so much sustenance. He found that when you punish the parents, you penalize the child.

Negligent Homicide

(Prince Albert Herald)

California lawmakers tightened up the state's traffic code this summer, and in the course of their deliberations invented a new crime —negligent homicide.

This classification was set up to apply to motor accidents in which loss of life was caused, but in which the culpability of the offending driver was not quite grievous enough to justify a charge so heavy as manslaughter.

By creating this new and lighter charge the California authorities believe that protection will be made easier in certain types of cases.

The idea might be worth copying. There are many cases in which a driver's negligence cost a life, but in which a jury is reluctant to convict of manslaughter.

Accent In Maine Similar To Southern Talk

By JACK SCOTT

John Longmore calls himself a "down-east Yankee," but he has the soft voice and inflection of the southerner. When he talks of going for a vacation to Bar Harbor he calls it "Baw Hawbaw." The accent is peculiar to this country in northeast Maine.

He is a fourth generation American. His great-great-grandfather came to the United States from England to work in an iron foundry in Maine. The family has remained in this farthest-east corner of the States. John's father lives just up the road from his son and operates a camp for deer-hunters.

John began to teach at the high school in the small town of West Pembroke, but something happened in 1936 that changed his life.

"A pawty of huntuh's was stayin' at my father's place," he recalls. "They were all executives of the Massachussets Mutual Life Association. As of an evenin' I'd go into theah cabin and chew the fat. Apparently they liked mah appearance because they offerd me a job. Looked like a big thing foah a little country boy. I accepted an' went off to the head office in Springfield.

He was there for nine long years and went up the ladder.

"In 1945," he says, "Ah was supervisor of the annuity group an' practically assistant manager of the instalment group. Dorothy and I were married in 1939 an' we had everythin' we could want. Theah was just one thing against it all. I wasn't happy. I was mis'able."

The memory of this period agitates Longmore. When he was telling us about it he strode up and down the kitchen with his long arms flapping like a heron and his Adam's apple working furiously.

"The Massachusetts Mutual head office is in a great brick building with baws on the windows," he said. "Bells would ring foah when we were to stawt work and when we were to quit. Then we'd all file out of the buildin' an' I'd look back over my shoulder to see those baws again, waitin' foah me in the mawnin'. It was like Sing Sing. I was like a caged buhd.

"But what really decided me was an old fellow worked a couple of desks away from me. He'd been with the firm 50 yeahs. Oh, Massachussets Mutual was proud of 'im. I'd sit theah, lookin' at him across the filin' cabinet, an' I'd think of a little pine grove I know where I liked to go an' listen to the wind and watch the partridge struttin' around. An' I'd look at this old man all bent over and with pains in 'is stomach an' I'd wonder if that's how I was gonna look. So one day I jus' decided I'd leave."

The Painter

It wasn't only restlessness, but a creative urge, that decided John Longmore to make a gamble. Here Dorothy, his wife, takes up the story.

"Johnny had spoken of how he liked to draw when he was a boy," she said, "and so, for our first wedding anniversary I bought him some oil paints. He was like a kid at Christmas..."

"I high-tailed it foah the cellaw and stawted painting," John interrupted.

"He didn't come up for eight hours," Dorothy laughed. "And he was defeated. He could still draw, but he was sure he'd never learn to paint because he knew nothing of mixing color or technique. So we got him into an art school and Harriet Lumis, one of New England's best-known artists saw his work. She decided he had talent and began to instruct him personally."

Within three years John's work, which is rigidly traditional and leans heavily to rural scenes of Maine, began to be accepted in the Springfield art galleries and he started to sell a few at $35 each one large canvas, birches against an autumn background, brought an astonishing $100.

"Johnny knew then what he wanted to do," Dorothy went on. "He wanted to paint and to be back in this beautiful country. I knew that he'd be happy no other way. We heard of this little place for sale near his father's, just one room then, but with 145 acres of lovely ground, and we took all our savings and bought it in 1945. Johnny walked out of the Massachusetts Mutual and the bars on the window for the last time. It took all the courage he had, but now we know we did right.

"Each summer we go back to Springfield for a visit, and all the people in the office come around and they envy us. They say, 'Oh, wouldn't I love to do that.'"

"They all do, fo' a fact," John said. "Even that po' old geezer that's been wukkin' theah for 50 yeahs, 50 weeks every yeah."

The Longmores are still a long way from having the time or the money to live the idealized life they dreamed about. John rarely finds the time to get before his easel.

Their income, which is about half of what John made in the insurance company, comes from a number of sources. He teaches grades five to eight in the town's grammar school at an annual salary of $1,675. He might be making more if he would accept a job at the high school, but that he says, would be like going back to Massachussets Mutual.

"They want me to teach six subjects and coach the baseball and basketball teams as well," he said. "I don't want to get in deep again."

Some money comes in from the three tourist cabins, which John built himself. Dorothy takes care of these, partly because of the chance it gives her to meet people. "I love to walk down the road to meet them," she says. "You never know what's going to be waiting for you."

John also plays the violin in a four-man orchestra called The Down-Easters, which he organized and which specializes in barn dances. There's some revenue, too, from pulpwood cut on his property and from blueberries, which the whole family pick and sell to canners in the district.

"We run jus' slightly in the red," John says, "but we're on our way. One o' these days I'll have the time to get to mah paintin' and maybe a minute or two when I can sit down an' put mah arms around mah wife."

It's her story I'd like to write tomorrow.

Will they ever strike oil in your back yard?

An exciting thought, isn't it?

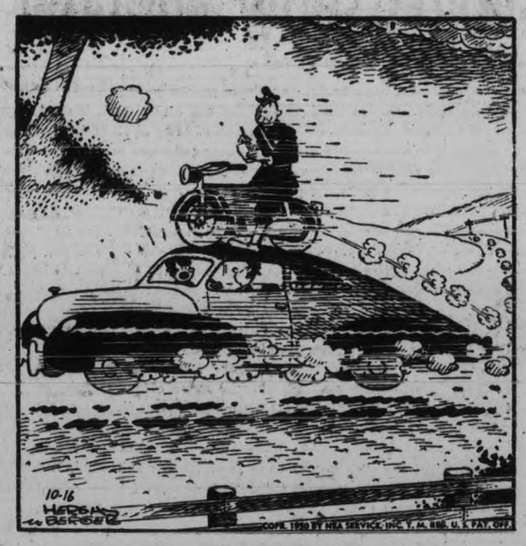
But of course you know the odds are hopelessly against your being that lucky. In fact, you don't expect life to hand you even a very small fortune on a platter. Or do you?

Take old-age benefits, for instance. Undoubtedly many older people really need help. But no over all security plan is going to provide all the income you and your family will ever need in the future. Things just aren't going to be that rosy.

Five million Canadians, among whom you are probably one, want and expect security and independence in their later years. And they are planning for it now, in a way that suits their own individual and family needs.

These far-sighted men and women are enjoying more of the good things of life than ever before, and at the same time protecting their loved ones now and building security for their old-age with life insurance.

Surely you want to help build this kind of future security for yourself and your family. Nearly 5 million Canadian life insurance policyholders are doing it now!



Each year over 200 million life insurance dollars are invested for policyholders in government and industrial securities. Result: new schools, roads, power plants and many other vital projects that promote progress and create jobs throughout the nation.

Thus while life insurance helps build security for you and yours, it also helps to raise your living standards!

Industrialist Raskob Dies In Maryland

CENTREVILLE, Md., Oct. 16—(AP)—John J. Raskob, who helped teach Americans how to buy automobiles on the instalment plan and onetime Democratic National chairman, died early Sunday. He was 71.

The former chairman of the finance committee of General Motors and one of the country's leading industrialists, suffered a heart attack at his Eastern Shore estate near here.

Raskob, who began his career as a financial wizard as secretary to Pierre S. Du Pont in 1900, had been in retirement since 1940. He and Du Pont, close associates for half a century, moved into General Motors together and gained control in 1915.

Raskob stepped out of his industrialist role in 1928 to help Al Smith in his unsuccessful campaign for president. Raskob remained a power in the Democratic Party—and to a great extent its financial angel—until 1932.

Although his country - wide fame came because of his connection with the Democratic high command, Raskob was a giant in industry long before then.

He was credited with being the author of the plan whereby automobile manufacturers would finance car purchases on the instalment plan. For a time he served as vice-president of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, which financed automobile sales.

Orfuns Gain Second Place By Blasting Bombers 27-6

Orfuns rocketed into second place in their ORFU senior "B" grid group standing over Oshawa on Saturday when they grounded the Bombers 27-6 in Orillia, while Cobourg was trimming Oshawa. The Ghosts are assured of first place and will go into Ontario intermediate "A" playdowns, while Orfuns have a good chance now of finishing second to go into intermediate "B" playdowns — the provincial body having no senior "B" playdown series. Oshawa play here Wednesday and Cobourg comes on Friday to end the schedule.

GREAT WORK—Bill Huntley in the backfield for Orfuns at Orillia turned in a great chore, scoring 22 points in the locals' 27-6 ORFU grid win. His plunging and kicking were outstanding throughout as Orfuns took a firm grip on second place.

Showing power in all departments Saturday, the Bamforth band racked up a 9-1 lead in the first quarter, led 12-1 at the half and finished strong after going into the fourth frame with an 18-6 lead. Minus several classy players, they still had too much for the Bombers, who missed Bond and Smith. Wilf Smith had a double fracture to the jaw after tackling Spike Matthews late in the third quarter. Near the finish, a players' fight threatened but prompt work by the officials kept it under control.

Bill Huntley was the big gun for the winners, scoring 22 points in a great plunging and kicking exhibition as he went over for two touchdowns, kicked two converts and booted three field goals, as well as hoofing a single on an attempted placement. Speedy Jerry McGillis also starred with some great running throughout, and he majored with a try in the fourth quarter. The whole team looked good in this game. White counted a try for Orillia and Milligan kicked a single.

Much Stronger

The victors had nine first downs to seven for Orillia, this team making its big drive in the third. The losers fumbled four to three but completed four passes to one. However, the kicking of Mathews and Huntley made a big difference in territorial play, and Huntley ripped the home line to shreds with his plunging. Some razzle-dazzle formation plays by Orfuns frequently had the Bombers off balance, though White, Wilde, Ross and Milligan did yeoman service for the losers.

After Milligan's single in the first, Huntley tied it with his attempted field goal. Later Huntley bored over and followed shortly with a placement to make it 9-1. His placement was the only score in the second. White drove across as Orillia pressed in the third on Milligan's handoff, but Jerry McGillis' long run and later a blocked kick by McKim set up Huntley for another touchdown, which he converted to end the third. Matthews ripped in to open the fourth and put Jerry McGillis in position, the latter knifing through for a try, Huntley kicking the convert. Frank Fitzgerald got a fumble and Huntley reeled off 12, later going to the Orillia 25 and then kicking a field goal to end it.

Calumet Farm's great colt Citation won the international Gold Cup race at Belmont Park two years ago today. Citation covered the one mile, five furlongs in 2:42.8 and earned $75,600, with Phalanx second and Carolyn A. third in a nine-horse field.

Waterloo Champions

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 16 (CP).—Waterloo Tigers are the 1950 Ontario Senior baseball champions. They won the title Saturday night by smashing Niagara Falls Fords 11-4 in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series. Fords had edged Tigers 1-0 in the afternoon to force the fifth game.

St. Peter's Win By 17 to 0 To Tie For Top

St. Peter's High School handed De La Salle College a 17-0 defeat yesterday at Milien Stadium, Toronto, in a regular senior "B" Catholic Conference football fixture, the first of a double bill, played under sunny skies.

Upwards of 3,000 enthusiastic fans, several from Peterborough, witnessed a colorful show as the Toronto boys also engaged St. Jerome's of Kitchener in a senior "A" game to round out a thrilling display of ball. The latter spilled the home team 12-7 in the hard-fought nightcap.

Went Good

Fred Allore's team as a whole went very well in an all-round game that saw many stars. Carl Brioux again proved a tower of strength on the backfield and scored a touchdown as well as handling the punting duties. But possibly the feature was the performance of the three Jones brothers, sons of Bernard. One year separates each, Paul, John and Laverne 16. The latter proved a tackling thorn in the side of his rivals all afternoon. John't toe converted two majors with dropkicks during the first half, in a manner reminiscent of Johnny Green, erstwhile PCVS star and now of U. of T. He also plunged for a try to open the scoring at the nine minute mark in the first quarter after he and his mates had plowed deep into rival terrain by dint of some hefty ground work. Paul also turned in a fine game.

A major score in each of the first two quarters and one in the fourth, the last unconverted, gives a fair indication of the marginal superiority of the Allore squad over the route, though Brother Raymond's boys fought a game battle all the way and never did quit. On aerial attack, the latter also had a high percentage, clicking on three of five pass attempts while De La Salle attempted nine forwards, five in the dying minutes, in a vain attempt to score but there were no completions.

Got The Third

Harry O'Neill scored Saints' third major on a great plunge from the rival five in the fourth and turned in a fine game. Frank Farley played well with sure receiving hands while John Armstrong, Gerald Simmons, Steve Morrissey, the Crowley boys, Jerry O'Reilly and the entire squad all dug in for a good day's work. For De La Salle, the work of Smyth, McLean, Sabol, Suddess, Murphy, Malcolm, Burt, Kelly and Bookalam was worthy of note. St. Peter's are now tied with St. Michael's with four points apiece but the latter have a game in hand. Standing to date is:

	W	L
St. Michael's	2	0
St. Peter's	2	1
De La Salle	0	3

St. Peter's: Flying wing, O'Neill; halves, L. Jones, J. Jones, Brioux; quarter, Armstrong; snap, Morrissey; insides, Simmons, LaPlante, middles, G. Crowley, O'Reilly; outsides, Farley, Cavanagh; alt., C. Crowley, P. Jones, O'Leary, Hickey, McMurray, O'Brien, Herington, Heffernan, Hickson.

De LaSalle: Flying wing, Smyth; halves, Bookalam, Suddess, Iwashaki; quarter, McLean; snap, Murphy; insides, Kelly, Willan; middles, Malcolm, Fitzpatrick; outsides, Quinn, Sabol; alt., Orlando, Burt, Chapman, Cobham, Clamens, Fidani, Findlay, Vigneux.

Referee—Jack Gurney.
Umpire—Leo Deadey.
Linesman—J. Ferrier.

Summary:

First Quarter
Touchdown—J. Jones.
Convert—J. Jones (drop kick).

Second Quarter
Touchdown—Brioux.
Convert—J. Jones (drop kick).

Third Quarter
No score.

Fourth Quarter
Touchdown—H. O'Neill.
No convert.

Last Play Kick Gives Lindsay Tie

LINDSAY, Oct. 16—A last-play kick to the deadline by Joe Richardson gave Lindsay CI a 6-6 tie with Oshawa CVS in a closely-contested SOCCA junior rugby game here Saturday.

The locals, coached by ex-varsity intermediate Art Bell, threatened to score before the visitors drove back on sweeping end plays by Martin Walsh and John Graham. Oshawa opened the scoring minutes later when centre Clyde Beaton dribbled a Lindsay fumble over the goalline. Bud Martin broke through to smother the convert. A Garf. Teel to Wally Moore pass and large gains by plunging aces Maurice Pennock and Bob McLean set-up the equalizer for Lindsay in the second quarter when Richardson drove through the line for an unconverted touchdown.

With four minutes to go, Walsh kicked 40 yards against the wind to give the Motor City Collegians a 6-5 edge. Two OCVS offside penalties aided Lindsay in the dying minutes before Richardson booted the equalizer.

Tie O.B.A. Series

FORT ERIE, Oct. 16 (CP). — Fort Erie tied up its Ontario Baseball Association intermediate title series at one game apiece Saturday, as they edged Cobourg 2-1. Third and deciding game will be played in Oakville Wednesday night. Cobourg won the opener in Cobourg 6-5.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Orfuns' gridders are girding for the big game here Wednesday eve at 8.30 under the Morrow Park lights. It's against the strong Red Raiders of Oshawa—whilst the Cobourg Ghosts come here Friday to end the ORFU schedule. Now, Orfuns trounced Orillia 27-6 on Saturday while Cobourg downed Oshawa, so that leaves the Ghosts out in front with but one loss this season. Coach Harv Bamforth's local bunch are in second place with a game lead over the Raiders, while Orillia are out of the race. A win for Orfuns here Wednesday would clinch second spot for the Petes and oust Oshawa. A local loss would tie up second position.

* * * * * *

While the group was known during its schedule as an ORFU senior "B" one, the provincial body has no senior "B" playdowns. This means that Cobourg Ghosts are going into Ontario intermediate "A" playdowns while either Orfuns or Oshawa will hit the intermediate "B" playdown path against other group runners-up. But Orfuns today are every bit as strong as the Ghosts and have shown it recently. They started a bit too slowly and time gave Ghosts the edge. But wait till you see the present fighting Orfuns roll here 'gainst Oshawa on Wednesday and again on Friday against Cobourg. The local huskies should take both jousts.

Bill And Jerry Shone

Bill Huntley and Jerry McGillis starred Saturday in Orillia. Driving Bill with the powerful legs accounted for no less than 22 points with some great plunging and accurate hoofing. He's a sweet gridder. Jerry broke loose a number of times to flash some of his fancy speed to aid the cause, including a touchdown chore. Burns tackled well, Scriver threw some fine passes, Matthews' drive nearly ruined one tackler, Levantis went okay, Sullivan softened up a few with hard blocks, Lynch caught the eye at times—but, then, the whole team was rolling up to its recent and true form. Even minus players like Peachy, Paul, Plunkett, Davidson, Barkley and Thompson, out with injuries or absent from town. A good show by a strong squad.

* * * * * * *

Only other local football fray over the week-end was the St. Peter's senior "B" fixture in Toronto yesterday. Account is in elsewhere. Fred Allore's outfit is going well, lately. By the way, in one of his backfield formations, an odd pattern appears. It has three Jones back there, Leverne at right half, John at left and Paul as fullback; on top of that, it shows two Crowleys at quarter, Clare at right and Greg at left. Big John Lynch of Orfuns lately has been coaching the junior "B" SPS squad. More on their schedule, and that of PCVS for this week, shortly.

* * * * * *

Senior "B" Group Set

Frank Buckland and Lorne Cook convened the OHA group senior "B" meeting in Belleville yesterday and worked out a pretty fair setup. It has both local teams in with Queen's, Kingston Nylons and the Quinte Diesels in a quadruple schedule, working a single interlocking schedule with the intermediate "A" Gananoque crew. In other words, the Gans show here once each against the Petes and Eagles, while all other teams meet the locals four times each here in the schedule, which opens Oct. 30. First frays have Nylons at Eagles, and Petes at Queen's. On Nov. 1, Belleville plays the Petes in Civic Arena, and Nov. 3 sees Queen's at Belleville and Eagles at Nylons. Schedule will be drawn up shortly.

* * * * * *

The OHA junior "B" grouping wasn't arranged, and it'll mean another Belleville meeting next Sunday. Neither Oshawa nor Lindsay showed up, yet both were expected to enter. There's a proposal to operate the group in two sections, with Kingston, Queen's and Belleville in one, and Oshawa, Lindsay and Peterborough in the other. An interlocking schedule, inter-section list being like half a schedule. Red Mitchell of Lindsay was interested last week in putting his team into "B" competition in this grouping, but he did not attend the meeting. The Lindsay lads drill here two hours tomorrow night. Our teams used to have to drill early in Lindsay.

Alouettes Lash Argos 24-16 Bass Injured, Out For Season

(By The Canadian Press)

The Big Four Football Union race is wide open today.

Toronto Argonauts, who appeared a few weeks ago to have the league all sewed up, fell apart Saturday before the mighty wing line of Montreal Alouettes.

Alouettes' 24-16 win over Argos in Montreal and Hamilton's 32-0 drubbing of Ottawa Rough Riders in Hamilton put the Tiger-Cats and Argos in a first-place tie, a scant two points ahead of Ottawa and Montreal.

In the West, Winnipeg Blue Bombers are sure of first place in the Western Conference after a two-year absence. But they still have to win the playoffs before coming east for the Grey Cup finals.

Toronto Balmy Beach won its second victory over Sarnia Imperials in the Ontario Senior Union 24-11, and then lost 12-11 to Windsor Rockets in Windsor Sunday, the Rockets' first win in six games.

Blast Varsity

McGill Redmen blasted Varsity Blues 25-0 in Toronto before 25,153 fans—largest crowd to see a game in Canada. That established McGill all alone in first place of the league. Varsity went into a second-place tie with Queens which defeated Western 13-7.

Montreal's victory meant, for other coaches, grim memories of the Alouettes' performance last year when they got off to a feeble start and wound up with the Canadian championship.

Lose Bass

For Argos, it meant the loss for the season of halfback Billy Bass who went off with an injured back. Coach Frank Clair said: "This injury, coming on top of the way we played, makes us definite underdogs in the league from here in."

Frank Filchock tossed two touchdown passes to Ralph Toohy and one to Virgil Wagner during the game. Wagner went through the line for another and Nick Scollard converted all four of them.

Argos roared back in the last quarter when Al Dekdebrun twice tossed touchdown passes to Ulysses Curtis, both converted by Nick Volpe who has kicked 32 concerts this year in 36 tries. Joe Krol booted two singles for Argos.

Ghosts Romp To Win Against Oshawa, 16-1

COBOURG, Oct. 16 (ENS). — Cobourg Galloping Ghosts defeated Oshawa Red Raiders by the score of 16-1 in an intermediate ORFU game here on Saturday. This clinches at the very least a tie for first place for the Ghosts. Cobourg has won six out of seven and by virtue of their four-point margin over Peterborough Orfuns, the Petes must now win both of their remaining games while Cobourg loses both of their last two games, to make it a tie for first place. As Cobourg meets Orillia next, it is not believed that a Peterborough tie can result. The game with Orillia is Wednesday and the schedule winds up when Cobourg meets Peterborough in that city on Friday night of this week.

Saturday's game drew only a fair crowd in spite of it being ideal weather. The Ghosts started off with a touchdown in the opening quarter, scored by Douglas who received a pass across the line thrown by Cooper from 10 yards out.

In the second quarter Cooper booted a single behind the Oshawa line which Skidmore took but was downed by Douglas for the rouge. Score at half time was 6-0.

Another One

In the early part of the second half, Edmiston intercepted an Oshawa forward pass on Oshawa's 18 yard line. Following a plunge through centre Cooper threw to Bevan on the next play and Bevan carried it across for a touchdown. Oshawa's only score came in this quarter when Skidmore downed a Ghost for a rouge. Just before three-quarter time, Cooper threw a long pass to Darragh who eluded the Red Raider tacklers and had a clear run for the touchline, only to slip and fall a short distance from five points.

In the final quarter Medhurst carried the ball across for a touchdown, dragging an Oshawa tackler after him. The Ghosts were strong in every department except place kicking. Every effort at a placement fizzled out. The Ghosts anticipated most of the Oshawa plays while at the same time the Ghosts' offensive was so diversified that it had the Red Raiders guessing as to the ball carrier. Cooper's kicking was superior to Oshawa.

ASK WAIVERS

Boston Braves have asked waivers on outfielder Pete Reiser, a 10-year major leaguer, to pave the way for his unconditional release.

Reiser, who broke in with the Brooklyn Dodgers back in 1940, was traded by that club to the Braves two years ago.

Peewees Lose Out In Deciding Fray

Ottawa qualified Saturday to meet Leaside in the OBA peewee baseball finals by defeating Peterborough 7-5 at the Capitol in the third and deciding game of a best-of-three semi-final set.

Prior to Saturday, the teams had split a doubleheader here on October 7, Petes winning 15-9 and losing to Lefty Ross 5-1. This twirler proved the Petes' nemesis Saturday as he held Bill Post's boys to six hits, fanning nine and walking two.

Despite this, however, the game was close and the issue in doubt till the finish. It was a tough one to lose. Garvey and Brown hurled for Petes and each did a creditable job, good enough to win as a rule in peewee company but fate ruled otherwise Saturday. A long layoff since August may have taken the fine edge off Petes' play, too, but the boys gave their best and all played good ball in this final game. Lefty Ross is undefeated in 13 games to date and has three no-hitters.

Wildest Rhubarb Features Habs 2-1 Win In Boston

By The Canadian Press.

Tempers are flaring early in the young National Hockey League season, judging from the action Sunday night in Boston —whose teams down through the years have been noted for their ruggedness.

A crowd of 10,894 fans saw the wildest rhubarb in Boston Gardens hockey history as Montreal Canadiens edged the Bruins 2-1 and vaulted into undisputed possession of first place.

Action also was rugged in Detroit, where the champion Red Wings blew a 4-1 lead over Toronto Maple Leafs, who staged a third-period blitz which netted them three goals within four minutes to end in a 4-4 tie.

In other weekend games, New York Rangers spoiled Chicago Black Hawks' home opener by recording their first triumph, 3-2, Sunday; Canadiens and Boston tied 1-1 in Montreal and the Hawks won 2-1 from the Leafs in Toronto Saturday.

Starts Things

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard scored both Montreal goals in Boston. It was just after he'd rapped in the clincher that Habitants' Cal Mackay started the donnybrook by boarding little Kenny Smith of Boston.

Johnny Peirson, who scored the lone Bruin counter in the third period, went to Smith's rescue, and soon the three pairs of rival players were clawing and punching at one another.

Penalties were imposed wholesale once officials restored order. Six players—three from each team—drew majors. Boston defenceman Eddie Reigel, a 10-minute misconduct, and captain Butch Bouchard of Canadiens a match misconduct plus an automatic $50 fine.

Defence Crumbles

At Detroit, the Wings appeared headed for their second straight victory when 11,726 stunned spectators saw their defence crumble before the Leafs' withering late drive.

Rookie goalie Terry Sawchuk had a nightmarish four minutes in the Detroit net when Joe Klukay started the Leafs' big rally by potting their second goal at 6.24 of the third period.

Fleming Mackell added another nine seconds later and Max Bentley tied the score at 9:31. Defenceman Gus Mortson had counted for the Leafs in the opening period. Gordie Howe, Leo Reise, Sid Abel and Marty Pavelich scored for Detroit.

Ashort fist fight by the Wings' Ted Lindsay and Toronto's Bill Barilko highlighted the action.

Goalie Turk Broda of the Leafs suffered a cut over his right eye early in the game and three stitches were needed to close it.

Disputed Goal

A disputed goal by Don Raleigh late in the third period in Chicago gave the Rangers their first victory of the season, spoiling the Hawks' homecoming after they had picked up a win and a tie on the road.

Rangy Vic Stasiuk shot the Hawks into the lead early in the first period rapping in his second major-league score on assists from Pat Lundy and Hugh Coflin. Jack McLeod got the equalizer for Rangers in the second, and Pete Babando regained the advantage for Hawks in the third. Ed Slowinski tied it again, setting the stage for Raleigh's effort.

The goal was allowed over protest by the Hawks, who insisted that Raleigh's shot hit a corner post and veered off. A crowd of 13,776 saw the game.

Take Opener

The Hawks, who seldom have dropped an opener to the Leafs on Toronto ice, won Saturday night on veteran right-winger Adam Brown's two goals.

They came from behind after spotting the Leafs a first-period goal by Tod Sloan before 13,686 fans.

In Montreal, meanwhile the Bruins and Habitants put on a rugged, close-checking game before 14,253 which probably left tempers frayed for their return meeting Sunday.

Kenny Smith got Bruins' lone marker in the first period, and goalie Jack Gelineau kept the Montrealers at bay until rookie Vern Kaiser found the range more than half way through the final period.

Weekend Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Adam Brown, veteran Chicago Black Hawks right-winger, who scored two goals Saturday to give his team a 2-1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal, who scored twice Sunday night as Canadiens defeated Boston Bruins 2-1.

Montreal rookie Vern Kaiser, who scored a game-tying goal in the third period against Boston Saturday night.

New York's Don Raleigh, whose third-period goal broke a 2-2 deadlock to give Rangers a 3-2 win over Chicago.

Spitfires Whip Hurricanes In 6-3 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

Ed Johnson personally saw to it Saturday that Windsor Spitfires got away winging in their first start of the new season in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit.

The flashy left winger fired home four goals as the Spits sent Waterloo Hurricanes down to their second defeat.

All 10 teams saw action Saturday. Guelph downed Galt 4-2; Barrie edged Oshawa Generals 4-3; Toronto Marlboros trimmed Stratford 4-1, St. Michael's College and St. Catharines tied 1-1 and Windsor trimmed the Hurricanes 6-3.

At Waterloo, the Spitfires fashioned their victory on a three-goal rally in the third period. Al Arbour and John Offidani potted singletons. Centre Bud Evans tallied all three goals for Hurricanes.

Win Second Straight

Guelph Biltmores, defending champions, and Barrie each won their second straight to share the league lead. The Tee Pees are right behind with three points fashioned from a victory and a tie.

At Galt, the Bilts marksmen were Herb Dickerson, Andy Bathgate, Ken Laufman and Wilf Marshall, while Pete Conacher and Bill Wharram connected for the losers.

Ron Hurst paced Marlboros attack with two goals while Charley Lumsden and Dan Poland potted the others. Gordie Myles tallied for Kroehlers.

In the other game at Toronto, St. Catharines and St. Mikes battled through a scoreless first period. Ted Powers scored for the visitors in the middle session and Fred Sandford equalized for the college in the third.

The Flyers, perennial nemesis for the Generals, spoiled the home opener for Oshawa. Doug Towers, Jerry Toppazzini, George Stanutz and Paul Emms dented the twine for the victors. Alec Devecchio potted two for Oshawa and Bobby Attersley got the other.

Adanacs Tie Up Lacrosse Series

TORONTO, Oct. 16—(CP)—With the Mann Cup lacrosse series all tied up, New Westminster Adanacs are starting to live up to those nice things Coach Bob Lee said about them after they dropped the first two games.

The western champions, clicking smoothly as a unit all the way, Sunday squared the best-of-seven Canadian final at two games each by overpowering Owen Sound Crescents 7-5.

Thus the British Columbians lived up to Lee's predictions early in the series that his charges were bound to cut loose some time and that they were capable of playing a better game.

The Adanacs started to click last Friday when they won their first game—the third of the series—13-9.

In Sunday's match, played before a Maple Leafs Gardens crowd of 4,775, the Adanacs continued their dashing play by racing into a 3-1 first-quarter lead, and the champions of the Ontario Lacrosse Association never could catch up.

Owen Sound, winners of the first two games on cagy defensive play, were met by a new Gordon Pogue in the Adanac nets. The big goalie's work was only so-so in the early games, but Sunday he turned in his best display of the series.

F. B. Smitheran Speaker At Rotary Club

HAVELOCK, Oct. 16 (ENS).—F. B. Smitheram, of the Peterborough Normal School staff, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Havelock Rotary Club Thursday evening. He spoke on erosion, and the reclaiming of wornout lands, emphasizing the need of the preservation of the natural resources of our country. He said more people died last year in China from starvation than there are in the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Smitheram was introduced by R. B. Sayers, and a vote of thanks was extended to him on behalf of the club by R. D. Buchanan. There were four Rotarian visitors from Peterborough namely, Mr. Smitheram, W. Hamilton. S. Black, and A. W. Smith. Other guests from Peterborough were Les Rowson and Len Basciano, who entertained with several piano-accordion selections.

Hamilton struck for three touchdowns against Ottawa in the first six minutes on forward passes. Stan Heath threw two of them—to Vince Mazza and Edgar Jones. Then Jones passed to Heath for a touchdown. Jones converted all three of them, kicked a field goal in the next quarter, went for an unconverted touchdown in the third quarter and booted a single in the final.

Also cheering news for Hamilton was the announcement that the United States draft has deferred half back Bill Gregus until next Spring. Gregus went for an unconverted touchdown in the last quarter.

James Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, confirms that Joe Louis plans to keep on fighting with the hope of getting another shot at the heavyweight title held by Ezzard Charles.

Norris said in New York on Saturday that Louis telephoned him from Norfolk, Va., where he is making a public appearance.

The IBC chief said Louis told him he was disappointed with his showing in the title bout he lost to Charles recently, and wants another bout with him.

Wednesday, Norris said, Louis plans to apply in Chicago to the Illinois Athletic Commission for a renewal of his boxing licence.

He plans to resume training next week at West Baden, Ind.

Libertine from the Medway stables and Little Secret, a 50-to-1 shot, won the two divisions of the 14th running of Canada's richest horse race—the Cup and Saucer Handicap — at Long Branch race track Saturday.

The race was split into two divisions, the total pot of $26,490 being divided equally between the two races. An unprecedented entry of 23 horses forced the division.

O. B. (Pop) Keller, dean of American golf writers and the equal of any character he ever wrote of, died early Sunday in Atlanta, Ga. He was 68.

Keller spent more than 41 years in harness as a reporter, most of it in sports and a good portion of that covering the career of grand-slam golfer Bobby Jones. Every time Jones appeared in a major tournament, Keeler was there.

Since last summer, Keeler's health declined rapidly. A liver ailment kept him in the hospital most of the time. He died at 2.40 a.m. Sunday after being taken to the hospital again Saturday following a severe attack.

Three Canadian records were set at the Ontario Junior Cross Country championships in Toronto Saturday.

Rich Ferguson, 18, did the 2½-mile grind in 12:22-43 seconds under the Canadian record. Paul Vamplew sliced 57 seconds from the Canadian juvenile record of 14.03 and Dona Aitken, 15, bettered the midget record of 14:18 by 15 seconds. All are members of the Toronto Track and Field Club.

John Bell, 24-year-old quarterback for Sarnia Imperials, suffered a broken neck in the senior ORFU game with Toronto Balmy Beach Saturday.

In St. Joseph's Hospital at Sarnia Sunday night, Bell was reported to be in "very serious condition," partially paralyzed.

Bell, who was injured after being tackled by Balmy Beach's Carl Galbreath, is attended by Dr. E. H. Botterell, a specialist in spine surgery, flown to Sarnia from Toronto.

St. Louis Cardinals announced Saturday the unconditional release of shortstop Eddie Miller.

Miller came to the Redbirds from the Philadelphia Phils last spring.

SMITH MOVED FAST IN LIFE'S SUCCESS . . .

but he STOOD STILL in Security for his family!

When he first married he took out $4,000 Life Insurance —but then Smith put the Policy safely in the vault and forgot it. He became very busy getting on in life.

—Then he bought a house with a heavy mortgage on it;

—Then the children came along, entirely dependent upon him;

—Then he got several promotions and his salary increased (and his standards of living, too! He was a good spender.)

NOTE—He still had $4,000 of life Insurance!

AND THEN HE DIED . . .

leaving $4,000 Cash Insurance to cover funeral expenses — mortgage — children's upbringing — widow's standard of living—and—and—

HOW FAR DID THE $4000 GO?

Together with a Dominion Life Representative, Smith could have planned a progressive "PROGRAM" of Life Insurance which would have provided immediate cash for the expense of his dying . . . lifted the mortgage . . . provided a guaranteed monthly income for his widow, in the critical period of bringing up the children to an age of self-support . . . perhaps then an educational fund . . . and after that an Annuity to support his widow for life.

A DOMINION LIFE REPRESENTATIVE IS A GOOD MAN TO TALK TO

He is experienced in more than merely "selling" you a Life Insurance Policy. He is trained to break down problems in Financial Security. He can show you how progressive insurance can be worked out by a scientific, mathematically accurate method, with the Dominion Life's Plan for Security. You'll get the utmost from your life insurance, working with a Dominion Life man.

A Dominion Life Representative will show you how the same policies that now protect your family if you die, will provide a Retirement Income for YOU, if you live!

No New Leads As Police Hunt For Girl, $38,000

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—Police Sunday reported no new leads in their search for Elsie Arnetta Teasdale, 33-year-old law firm bookkeeper, who is charged with the theft of $38,000 from the Danforth Ave. firm which employed her.

Search for the woman began shortly after she disappeared on Aug. 5, leaving a letter in which she indicated she might commit suicide. Police arrested a Toronto private detective one week ago as a material witness in the case, but released him last weekend on bail of $2,500.

The story had been kept quiet while police pursued their investigation.

Miss Teasdale, known as a quiet woman with few friends, held power of attorney for two bank accounts held by the law firm, and could issue cheques on them. The money disappeared in August and September, and police are checking the accounts and the firm's discrepancies.

New Apartment

Investigation revealed the missing woman had only recently obtained a new apartment on Belmont St. and had refurnished it shortly before her disappearance. In a letter received by her brother she said she was without any money and would "soon be feeding the fishes" in Toronto Bay.

Belief that the woman may have gone to the United States has prompted Toronto authorities to circularize border points with her description and photograph. The Toronto private detective is believed to have been one of the last persons to have seen her.

Mayor Reuter said recently, that 375,712 adults residents of Soviet-occupied East Berlin had voted against Communism and for democratic unification of the city by mailing old ration cards as an indication of their feelings to the western city hall. Old September ration cards were mailed despite stern Russian warnings. Sign says: "375,712 September ration cards for month of September."

Break Up Party

TIMMINS, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Police rushed to a party Saturday night after receiving a telephone complaint that a man was trying to commit suicide by eating razor blades. They dragged the host off to jail despite his protests that he'd been eating blades since he was seven. The man was released several hours later with no apparent ill effects.

Describes Bingos Betting Kindergarten

TIMMINS, Oct. 16—(CP)—A clergyman today described bingos as the kindergarten of gambling, "the great social vice we see undermining morals in such places as Windsor."

The Rev. E. Gilmour Smith, of the United Church of Canada, said the Cochrane Presbytery has forwarded a resolution to the Attorney-General of Ontario directing his attention to widespread gambling in Northern Ontario.

Rockingham Plane Forced Down Toronto Fliers Give Him Lift

An RCAF transport, carrying the chief of Canada's special United Nations force, turned back toward Toronto Sunday when one of its two engines failed.

The big, silver-colored Dakota made a safe landing at Downsview. Undisturbed by the emergency, out stepped Brig. Gen. John M. Rockingham and two members of his staff.

Brig. Rockingham had come here Saturday to drop a puck at Maple Leaf Gardens to signal the opening of the National League hockey season in Toronto.

He was due at Montreal at 4 p.m., to take part in a military review. The engine failure completely fouled his timing. Nearest replacement transport was at Rockcliffe Airport, outside Ottawa.

By sheer coincidence, members of No. 400 City of Toronto Squadron were at Downsview to witness the forced landing. They were getting ready to take off for the weekend mohoeuvres.

Change Plans

Wing Cmdr. C. A. James stepped into the breach. He made a fast change of plan, ordered extra fuel for six Harvard trainers, loaded the three unscheduled passengers and took the whole squadron to Montreal.

Brig. Rockingham jammed his lengthy frame into the rear cockpit of Wing Cmdr. James' aircraft. Space was cleared in two other trainers for Lieuts. Graham and Corey.

Once the six Harvards were in formation over the airport, three Vampire fighters went up to form an escort. Like motorcycle outriders, they raced around the procession until, their fuel depleted, they returned to base.

Reports from Montreal said the brigadier arrived just in time to take up his post at the saluting base.

Say 300 Lives Lost In Punjab Floods

KARACHI, Pakistan, Oct. 16 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan said Saturday estimates showed 300 lives had been lost in the recent Punjab floods. This was less than had been feared.

He told the national assembly damage would undoubtedly run into millions.

Ten thousand cattle were reported drowned, the prime minister added. Cotton, rice, sugar and feed crops covering about 600 square miles had been affected.

Won't Request Talks

WINSDOR, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Officials of the big Ford of Canada local of United Automobile Workers (CIO) decided Sunday to ask no further meetings with the company to discuss wage demands. A union statement said that negotiators are willing to meet with the company at any time, but that they will not ask for further talks.

Make 3,000-Mile Mercy Trip To Frobisher Bay

MONTREAL, Oct. 16 (CP)—An RCAF plane landed here Sunday night after a 3,000-mile mercy flight to Frobisher Bay, Baffin Island, from Greenwood, N.S. It picked up three seriously sick Eskimos but one was dead on arrival at Montreal.

Two Eskimos, both women, were reported in "advanced stages of tuberculosis" and the other passenger a youth accidentally shot in a hunting accident.

Three hours after take-off from Frobisher Bay, one of the two women Eskimos died, FO. L. B. Pearson, of Woodstock, pilot of the Canso aircraft, reported.

Sqdn.-Ldr. E. Purchase, medical officer who accompanied the 11-man crew, said the other woman and the youth were both in "serious" condition. The young man was injured when an ejected rifle cartridge struck him in the eye.

Thirteen Deaths Reported Over Weekend In E. Canada

By The Canadian Press.

Thirteen persons met violent deaths in Eastern Canada during the weekend.

Five of them were killed in traffic accidents in Ontario where seven of the 13 mishaps took place.

A Canadian Press compilation showed two killed in traffic accidents in New Brunswick, two killed in traffic accidents in Quebec, and two deaths in Quebec from gunshot wounds. In Ontario, one man was killed by a train and another by a falling tree.

Gerard Tousin, 17, was accidentally shot by a companion while hunting near Chambly, 25 miles south-east of Montreal. In Quebec City, Roland Faucher, 35-year-old taxi driver, who was shot and robbed Thursday, died in hospital. His assailant is still at large.

Philippe Roland, 21, and Michel Martineau, 22, were killed when their light motorcycle hit a truck Saturday night near Piedmont, 40 miles north of Montreal.

In Saint John, NB, Arthur Harper was killed when a car driven by his brother overturned and Helen Foster Coles, 45, school teacher, was struck down by a car as she left a bus.

Run Over by Train

At Lindsay, 49-year-old Vance Daynes was run over by a passenger train and killed, and John Martin, 27, died while being rushed to Hamilton after his head was trapped in the crotch of a tree by a falling limb.

Isaac Brighton, 70, was hit by a car at an intersection in Kitchener, and killed; Garry Faiers, 6, was struck down by a car on the highway near his home at Peterborough; Gordon Murphy, 22, lost control of his motorcycle and crashed into a telephone pole near Galt; Ronald Moore, 5, was hit by a car at Newtonbrook, a northern suburb of Toronto, and killed; and Duncan Horne, 86, died of injuries he received in the collision of two cars near Stratford.

NATIONAL IMMUNIZATION WEEK—OCTOBER 15th-21st

Each year communicable diseases cause needless sickness and suffering. Too often, they have claimed the death of some youngster. To-day medical science with its effective preventative measures has conquered many of the so-called "childhood diseases". But modern science is worthless without the co-operation and support of every parent. By having your children immunized now, you safeguard their future—ensure their continued good health. That's a practical way to show your "Good Citizenship".

Australians Try To Boost Newsprint Production For Use At Home

MELBOURNE, Oct. 16 —(Reuters)— While the hungry presses of the world are starving for newsprint, Australia is making a bid to increase home production for home consumption.

Australian Newsprint Mills Limited, only organization producing newsprint here and which holds the only pocket of suitable timber under concession from the Tasmanian government, has a $6,720,000 plan for extending its plant and trebling present production.

The present output of the mill in Tasmania is 30,000 tons of newsprint a pear—compared with present needs of 180,000 tons a year, expected to increase to 250,000 tons.

The new plant will, it is hoped, raise home production to 90,000 tons a year. But there, unless means can be found to use other timber, the development must stop. Scientists and chemists employed by big Australian newsprint interests are at work trying to discover how to make greater use of other timbers. Thus far they have met with little success.

Can Never Meet Needs

The promoters state frankly that while prudent forest management will ensure the permanence of the industry as planned now, hopes of being able to expand to the full future needs of Australia are never likely to be realized.

Data compiled by state experts for the Empire Forestry Conference show only about four per cent of the country is forest. The percentage of commercial forests is much lower.

It has been estimated that only one per cent of the area grows merchantable timber, of which only a small fraction is softwoods, used in the manufacture of newsprint overseas.

Pioneering settlement and bush fires have ravaged the great forests of suitable timber that once existed.

Meanwhile, Australia can produce newsprint for $119 a ton, compared with current prices for imported paper ranging from $134 to $268 a ton.

To Ask Prosecution On Newsprint Increase

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16 (AP)— Representative Emanuel Celler (Dem., N.Y.), chairman of a House of Representatives committee that has been investigating the newsprint situation, said Sunday that if American companies follow the lead of a Canadian company in raising newsprint prices he will ask for prosecution under the Anti-Trust Laws.

"The Powell River Paper Company of Vancouver . . . has informed its customers . . . that the cost of newsprint will be boosted as of Monday 10 per cent, from $100 to $110 a ton," Celler said in a statement.

"As is always the case," he said, "this advance undoubtedly will be followed by all newsprint companies both in the United States and Canada. This is nothing but a price squeeze and if the American companies follow suit, I am going to ask President Truman to exercise his power under the Defence Production Act to provide for cutbacks.

"Also, I am going to ask Attorney-General (J. Howard) McGrath to prosecute, criminally and civilly, these newsprint manufacturers because there is palpably a violation of our Anti-Trust Laws."

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoxid". Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoxid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

Actress Anxious To Make Marriage Stick

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 16 (AP)— Elizabeth Taylor says she is determined to make her marriage stick despite the Hollywood gossips.

The local gabbers have declared open season on luscious Liz' marriage to hotel heir Nick Hilton. She wrinkled her lovely brow when I told her the latest rumor: That the union wouldn't last another six months.

"That's very nice of them to give us that long," she replied.

Then she teed off on the gossipers: "Don't they realize what reports like that do to the people involved? Or don't they care?

"When two people read that they are separating—even though they are happy—it places a strain on the marriage. It might come true, only because of the doubts that were raised by the false rumors."

Liz added that she and Nick are trying to avoid that by disregarding the gossipers.

Capsule Reviews

"Jackpot" pokes delightful fun at the radio giveaway shows with generally hilarious results. James Stewart plays a small-towner who wins $24,000 in prizes—and a king-sized headache. His troubles provide a lot of laughs and he is aided by Barbara Hale, Alan Mowbray, Fred Clark and a swift script.

"The Miniver Story" strives vainly to recapture the drama of the wartime hit, "Mrs. Miniver." It just can't be done and the result makes you wonder why they try. There are some good scenes and a few touching moments, but the original film set too high a standard. Greer Garson and Saint John's Walter Pidgeon are again the sentimental couple.

Open New Bridge At Waltham, Quebec

WALTHAM, Que., Oct. 16 (CP) —Works Minister Lorrain, of Quebec, Sunday cut a ribbon to open officially a new bridge between this town on the Quebec mainland and nearby Allumette Island.

The bridge was dedicated as the Charles Ivers Lynch Bridge. It is named after an Ottawa newspaperman who was described by Mr. Lorrain as a pioneer of the community.

Built at a cost of about $206,000, the steel - and - concrete span crosses 400 feet of water.

"They've come a long way, Doctor Ferguson!"

In 1890, when The Excelsior Life Insurance Company opened its doors, the first President was E. F. Clarke, Esquire . . . publisher, member of the provincial parliament, and mayor of Toronto. The Medical Referee and moving spirit in the new undertaking was Dr. John Ferguson.

If these two worthy gentlemen, who helped launch a great Canadian enterprise, could visit the company today, we think they would congratulate today's President, Major-General A. Bruce Matthews, on what their successors have added to their own accomplishments.

For Excelsior Life has, indeed, come a long way from its modest beginnings in the gas-lit era of hoop skirts and mutton-chop whiskers. Today the company has over a quarter of a billion dollars of insurance in force, protecting..... Canadians. More than five hundred expertly trained and carefully selected agents represent the company from Sydney, N.S. to Victoria, B.C.

And today, as always throughout the Company's 60-year history, the name "Excelsior Life" stands for strength, stability, and service to policyholders.

THE COMMON BOND

They were a happy couple when they walked down the street in Mapleville, people smiled and said "Don't they look happy!" He wasn't making much money but he was ambitious, and a hard worker. They spent modestly, saved a little for the time when a young 'un would arrive. Then one day he got a raise. That was the day when he had to make a decision.

There were so many things they wanted, a house, a car, and the little luxuries that made life worth living. But Junior—they had to think of his future, too. That was what got them interested in Canada Savings Bonds. They were the ideal way to make that extra savings and they could be bought at the Branch of the Dominion Bank for cash, or . . . under a Monthly Savings plan . . . such a small amount each month, too . . . meant that they could start on a bond and still have some left over for themselves. So they kept adding to their savings . . . and bought themselves a Canada Savings Bond and some day . . . they'll be glad.

UE Attempting To Organize Outboard Marine

After a two-year lapse the United Electrical Workers are again trying to organize the production workers of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. plant. The announcement was made today by John Rowley, UE area representative.

This UE move climaxes nearly two weeks of controversy at the plant after an October 3 membership meeting that voted almost unanimously to affiliate with the CCL.

Since then a dissenting group, led by a former member of the independent union's negotiating committee, James Higgins, has been pressing for a vote to see if the membership would accept the company's 1950 contract offer to the independent union.

Called For One Reason

Mr. Higgins claims the October 3 special meeting was called for one reason, and one reason only, and that was to vote on the contract. The motion was never put on the floor. Instead Joseph L. McGuire, independent union president, proposed that the union dissolve and join the CCL.

(Main provisions in the tentative agreement between the company and the independent union were: reduction of the work week from 45 to 43 hours with maintenance of take-home pay, and a seven-cents-an-hour straight increase. This 12-cent package would bring the lowest male starting rate up to $1.03 an hour with progressions up to $1.10 after a year.)

"The UE was the union that did the spadework and organized the plant in 1948," said Mr. Rowley, "but it was denied certification."

"The U.E. has constantly worked in support of Outboard workers since then and its effectiveness is shown in the wage increases made by the company in an attempt to keep us out."

He said the U.E. has remained on the sidelines this year during negotiations between the independent union and the company. And they expected to see the membership vote on whether or not to accept the contract.

"However, since the CCL forces —for Steel or the I.U.E. — have chosen to take the Outboard workers out of the independent union and postpone eventual settlement, the U.E. is opening its campaign today."

Joseph L. McGuire told the Examiner today that there was an almost unanimous vote of the membership to join the CCL, and that should be sufficient indication of the workers' feelings on the subject.

"Because of the controversy in the plant over Steel and the IUE, we intend to join neither of these," said Mr. McGuire. "We intend to affiliate with the CCL directly."

"We will retain our autonomy in the CCL as the Outboard Marine Workers' Union," he said. "It will be possible to have the backing and support of the Congress without being a local of any of its international unions."

Wednesday night the CCL has called a meeting at the Legion Hall for Outboard workers. Ernest R. Evans, senior CCL organizer will speak on affiliation and the makeup of the Congress.

BODY OF MAN FOUND

The body of an unidentified man was recovered this morning just east of Port Hope near Gages' Creek, a stream which flows into Lake Ontario. The remains, believed to be a transient, have not been identified as yet.

MOST REV. GERALD C. MURRAY, CSSR, DD, coadjutor arch-bishop of Winnipeg (left) and Most Rev. Gerald Berry, DD, Bishop of Peterborough, aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland, which sailed from Quebec City Friday for Greenock and Liverpool. The two are enroute to Rome where they will attend the definition of the dogma of the assumption of the Virgin, Nov. 1 and the Beatification ceremonies for Marguarite Bourgeevs Nov. 12.

New Parish Established South of Lansdowne St.

Appointment of Rev. Dr. Francis M. Grant as priest in charge of the new parish of St. John the Baptist was included in a list of diocesan changes announced Sunday by Bishop Gerald Berry.

The new parish comprises all that part of the present parish of the Sacred Heart south of Lansdowne St. Establishment of the parish of St. John the Baptist presumably signifies later plans for a new church in that section of the city.

Other changes, all of them effective Nov. 6, were published as follows:

Rev. Herbert J. Fitzgerald of Otonabee, pastor of Kearney parish, to be pastor of St. Jerome's parish, Warkworth.

That parish became vacant by the recent death of Very Rev. J. B. Ferguson.

Rev. Gilmore Kay, of Peterborough, curate at Bracebridge, to be pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Kearney.

Rev. Vernon Perdue, of Peterborough, curate at Port Hope, to be curate at St. Joseph's Church, Bracebridge.

Rev. Leo Leahy, Douro, curate in the parish of the Immaculate Conception, to be curate in the parish of Our Lady of Mercy, Port Hope.

Rev. Roy McEachern, on loan from Saskatoon, assistant at Bracebridge, to be chaplain at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough. This appointment is immediately effective.

It was also announced that Bishop Berry had left for Rome to be present on the occasion of the definition of the dogma of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary on Nov. 1. Another event at St. Peter's, Rome, next month is the beatification of Blessed Marguerite Bourgeoys, Canadian foundress of the Congregation of Notre Dame.

Trenton Officer To Address Wing

Sqdn. Leader Donald Forbes, Trenton, will be the guest speaker tonight at the first regular meeting of No. 428 (Peterborough) Wing of the RCAF Association. It will be in the Gunners' Mess of the Peterborough Armouries, 8 p.m.

The Wing was organized so ex-RCAF personnel could renew their comradeship of the Second World War and maintain an interest in flying. Now that the international situation is critical the formation of such a body of experienced civilians is even more important.

Included on tonight's program will be a film, draw prizes and refreshments.

Ex-MP To Speak To Sales Club

Speaker at the Peterborough Sales and Ad Club's centennial night on Tuesday, will be John A. Marsh, MBE, former Federal MP and member of several wartime government bureaux, whose subject will be "This Canada of Ours."

Educated at PCVS and University of Toronto, Mr. Marsh was an MP from 1936 to 1940, and is at present general manager of the Canadian Exporters' Association.

Guests at the banquet will be Mayor M. J. Swanston and all former living mayors of the city.

Those expected to attend, with years of service in brackets, are: His Honor R. F. McWilliams, KC, LLD., Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba (1907), Senator J. J. Duffus (1916-17), Archibald A. McIntyre (1920-21), William H. Taylor (1922-23), George A. Macdonald (1936-37), James Hamilton (1938-45), William G. Ovens (1946-48).

Present and former chief magistrates will be introduced by city clerk E. A. Outram.

Another feature of the centennial banquet will be "Peeps of Peterborough" written by Thomas J. Allen, of the Examiner, and directed by CHEX manager Russell Baer. The banquet will be held in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel.

Examiner Carriers Visit Niagara Falls

Thirty-one Examiner newspaper carriers took a free trip to Niagara Falls over the weekend as guests of The Examiner.

They saw the falls, went through the tunnel beneath the falls; rode on the Maid of the Mist, and cable cars over the falls, saw the Laura Secord Monument, and inspected the hydro plant at Queenston.

After their inspection of the hydro plant, they were guests of HEPC chairman Robert Saunders, himself a former newspaper boy in Toronto.

The group—25 boys and six girls—was accompanied by another group of 55 carriers from Kingston. In charge of the Peterborough group was H. B. Cowan, Jr., circulation manager of the Examiner. Mrs. Ethel Hunter, of Kingston, with the group from her city, was in charge of the girls in both parties.

Cobourg Man Elected To Head Teachers' Group

Gordon King of Cobourg was elected president of District 9 of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation Saturday at its 31st annual meeting at PCVS. He succeeds Miss Marie Hicks of PCVS. Other officers for 1950-51 are first vice-president, Percy Moss of Oshawa, second vice-president H. J. Mumby of Port Hope and secretary-treasurer Gordon Elliott of Bowmanville.

More than 120 secondary school teachers from high schools within the area—Ottawa river on the north, Lake Ontario on the south, Whitby on the west and Colborne on the east—attended. Twenty-eight teachers from PCVS were present.

The Hon. Harold Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, was the guest speaker at the noon dinner held in the basement of George St. United Church. Mr. Scott was introduced by Principal C. S. Browne of PCVS and thanked by Principal O'Neil of Oshawa Collegiate and Vocational School. Mr. Scott told of the efforts being made by his department in the conservation of wild life, fish and forests.

G. Wilson Craw, a member of the Board of Education, brought greetings from the Peterborough board.

V. R. Henry, physics teacher at PCVS, was nominated by the district for election to the board of directors of the Ontario Teachers' Federation. Delegates to the annual convention of the OSSTF in Toronto during the Christmas holidays will be R. A. Paterson of Lindsay and Miss Sheppard of Fenelon Falls.

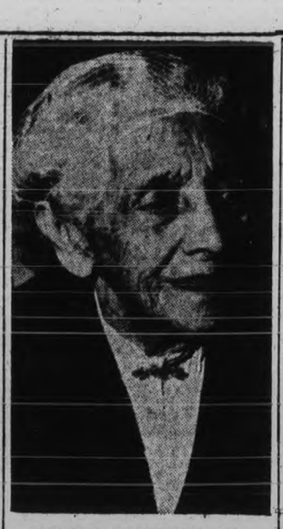
During the afternoon session G. L. Roberts of Oshawa spoke on the teachers' part in the new curriculum committees set up by the Department of Education. He was followd by the field secretary of the OSSTF, Irvine M. Robb, who spoke briefly on the present salary situation.

Kinsmen Hold Two-Day Meet

Saturday night District 8, Kinsmen, wound up a two-day session of their fall council meeting. The business session dealt with club matters only.

The Peterborough Kinsmen club under President Harley Weir was guest to 75 delegates from 39 district clubs. The district extends from Colborne to Oakville —including Toronto—in southern Ontario; Sault Ste. Marie to Kapuskasing in northern Ontario; and northern Quebec.

Purpose of the business sessions was to pass along to the clubs the national policies as adopted at the National Convention last August in Winnipeg; and the District policies arrived at during the District Convention last June in Sudbury.



Alderman Patrick Anglesey welcomed the visitors to Peterborough at a Saturday noon luncheon in the Kawartha Club. Guest speaker at the Governor's Dinner was William Wren, merchandising manager of Canadian Breweries. His address was "The Service Club's Place In A Community."

NAMED SECRETARY

Harold Crow of Port Hope is been appointed secretary of the Ganaraska River Conservation Authority to succeed H. R. Ryan.

ELECTED DIRECTOR

Ross Wright, manager of the Playfair Bowling alleys in Peterborough has been elected a director of the Southern Ontario Bowling Proprietors' Association which met in Hamilton on the weekend.

MRS. I. N. ACKERMAN

Norwood Lady Celebrates 94th Birthday

NORWOOD, Oct. 16 (ENS). — Mrs. I. Newton Ackerman, who has spent 93 of her 94 years in Norwood, is celebrating her 94th birthday today. She is the oldest Norwood resident, and having lived an active life in the community, is today receiving the congratulations of a wide circle of friends.

Still active in her home, Mrs. Ackerman has an alert mind despite the handicaps of weak hearing and eyesight.

She was born in Peterborough in 1856, eldest daughter of the late John and Mary Ann Finlay, and at one year of age, she moved to Norwood with her parents. Her father operated a wheel factory which came to be known as John Finlay and Sons. Her father was member of Parliament for East Peterborough for many years.

Shortly before her 19th birthday, Mrs. Ackerman was married to Isaac Newton Ackerman, who owned a harness and hardware business. He was later a house-building contractor and many homes in Norwood and Havelock and fine summer cottages at Stony Lake are to be seen to this day.

There were no children. Mrs. Ackerman has always been a staunch member of Norwood Presbyterian Church, and before her marriage played the organ in the original small church that was replaced many years ago by a larger structure.

The Ackermans knew a great deal about their country and travelled to the west coast several times. They were ardent cottagers and lived at Stony Lake from break-up to freeze-up.

Training Staff Hold Reunion

The Administration and Training staff at the Training Centre in Peterborough during the Second World War met at the Armouries Saturday. More than 150 from Ontario attended the third annual reunion.

At the dinner in the Legion Hall in the evening, Lt.-Col. Maxwell Clark, 50th Heavy A.A. Regiment, RCA, was guest speaker. James Turnbull Sr. spoke briefly.

At a meeting held in the gunners' mess in the Armouries the officers for the coming year were elected: Robert Hayes of Peterborough, president; W. E. Donaldson of Trenton, vice-president; Edwin Curtain of Peterborough, secretary-treasurer. An executive committee will be chosen by the president from each of the localities represented at the reunion.

The re-union concluded with a dance.

38 Tourists Won Order Of KawarthaMuskie

M. Burke of Lexington, Kentucky with a 32-pound catch in Rice Lake topped the list of the 38 tourist fishermen who were awarded the Order of Kawartha Muskie this year by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, according to figures released to-day by Jim Fraser, manager.

A close second was L. Hoffman of Berea, Ohio, with 31¾ pounds caught in Stony Lake.

The 1950 fishing season is the second year that this order has been awarded. A comparison with last year's figures reveals that there has been a slight decrease both in the number of fish caught and the total poundage. Last year, 40 awards were made with a total poundage of 848¾. This year's lucky fishermen caught 769½ pounds of fish. The average weight of the fish caught this year was 20 pounds as compared with 21 pounds last year.

In order to receive this award, a fisherman must catch a muskie weighing over 15 pounds and be a non-resident of Peterborough County.

Rice Lake Leads

July appeared to be the best month for catching muskies with 18 big ones caught. Five were caught in August and 15 in September. The greatest number of these big fish, 13, were caught in Rice Lake. The score for the rest of the Lakes is Buckhorn 5, Chemong 2, Clear 1, Dear Bay 2, Pigeon 3; Pigeon River 5, and Stony 7.

Ten fishermen were given the Order of Kawartha Anglers this year. This order is awarded to non-resident fishermen who catch a four-pound small mouth bass, six pound large mouth bass or a seven pound pickerel.

The order was won by R. Lacey of Orrville, Ohio; Albert Blewett, Mentor, Ohio; A. Hofrichter, Bridgeville, Pennsylvania; C. T. Dowds, Englewood, New Jersey; H. B. Rich, Rittman, Ohio; W. Courogen, Dannville, Pennsylvania; S. Chinchi, Elwood City, Pennsylvania; J. Derrerrari, Aliquippa, Pennsylvania; H. Cartwright, Aliquippa, Pennsylvania; H. C. Seitter, Steubenville, Ohio; C. Olinger, Washington, Pennsylvania; E. E. Deering, Columbus, Ohio; H. Durgy, St. Catharines; B. Chinchi, Elwood City, Ohio; Betty Kneiser, Lockport, New York; L. Hoffman, Berea, Ohio; H. E. Hamilton, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; E. Burns, Elwood City, Pennsylvania; V. Joll, Homestead, Pennsylvania; H. T. Williams, Youngstown, Ohio; G. Oakes, Titusville, Pennsylvania; J. H. GARRY BERTRAM-FAIERS

Child Aged 5 Killed Crossing Street

Struck and carried 215 feet by a car Saturday afternoon, Garry Bertram Faiers, aged 5, died four hours later in St. Joseph's Hospital of multiple injuries.

The youngster, an only child, was hit immediately in front of his own home at 829 Lansdowne St., near Western Ave. He was on his way across the street to a store with a pop bottle, he intended to exchange for some bubble gum.

Driver of the car was Mrs. Amelia Edwards, RR 2, Warsaw. With her daughter Norma as passenger, Mrs. Edwards was driving east on Lonsdowne St.

'I don't understand how it could have happened," said the boy's grandfather, William J. Faiers, who lives at the same address. Up until the last few days the youngster could cross the street only with the permission of his parents, his grandfather said.

Young Garry was very car conscious. Whenever he was riding with his father as they backed out into Lansdowne St. from their home, the youngster would watch for cars west on the street and tell his dad when it was clear of traffic.

Mrs. Edwards told police as soon as she saw the boy, she swerved the car to the north side, but couldn't avoid hitting him. Marks on the road indicated she had swung her car to the north shoulder, went along it some distance, then back to the south side of the road and stopped 215 feet away at the CPR railway tracks wig-wag signal.

A pool of blood on the road showed where the boy lay until he was picked up and taken with his mother to St. Joseph's Hospital by Dr. Herbert Young.

Norma Edwards said she thought her mother blew the horn of the car and the boy seemed to hesitate to see where the sound was coming from. No charges have been laid. Constable Edward Niziol investigated the accident.

Garry turned five Sept. 12 and had started to school at May's School about a week before. He attended Park St. Baptist Church.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at two p.m., at the Nisbitt Funeral Home, Rev. E. J. Whan, Park St. Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Phones Police For Help; Finds Himself Jailed, Charged With Drunkenness, Fined

Mired in a mudhole on Rogers St. Friday night, Gerald Dagnall phoned city police for help, soon found himself in jail on a charge of being drunk and in court today, was found guilty of the charge and fined $10 and costs.

Constable Stewart Fife told the court he and Constable Louis Rodreque answered Dagnall's call for help and when they arrived on Rogers St., a few minutes after midnight, found him staggering up and down the road "in a very drunken condition."

Dagnall had driven into a section of Rogers St., near Robinson St. that had been torn up for paving and was blocked off, said Constable Fife. He said Dagnall had driven around a barricade which was illuminated by three lanterns.

But Dagnall swore there was no barricade on the road. The officers said Dagnall smelled of liquor, his clothes were badly rumpled, his eyes were red and his language was objectionable.

"He became very hostile and called us a few names," said Constable Rodreque.

In his defence, Dagnall said he had been driving up Rogers St. and the right hand side was open for traffic. Some distance up the street his front wheels dropped into a hole.

"I thought it only right I should not have to pay for hauling the car out," he said, so he phoned the police.

The only thing he could get from the officers, he said, was that he would have to have the car removed so that construction men could work in the morning.

"That seemed to rile me a little more," said Dagnall. "I flatly refused to pay for the car being removed or order it to be moved."

"I no sooner arrived at the police station than they stripped me of my belongings and slapped me forcibly in jail," he added. "I asked to use the telephone and was flatly refused."

He said he had a few beers but I was not intoxicated to the extent that I was not carrying myself as I feel was within my rights."

Farm Producers Petition City Council

District farmers are sending to the city council tonight a petition asking for reconsideration of plans affecting accommodation for the marketing of their produce in Peterborough.

The text is: "We the producers attending this market strongly protest against the city council's action to move the outside market from its present location until satisfactory arrangements have been made to accommodate both markets together."

G. Norman Moncrief informed the Examiner that there were more than 100 names subscribed to this request.

"We circulated this petition Saturday," Mr. Moncrief said. "We didn't try to get the names of all the producers, but we did want to have it representative of the district of which Peterborough has always been the natural marketing centre.

Mr. Hilliard Strong, one of those who took copies of the petition around said he had a hard time keeping consumers off the list. In spite of that, there were at least five or six who did get their names on. We just mention that because they are only a very small exception to the list of producers. Some of the buyers said they wondered why they did not have a chance to present a similar petition to the council.

Some of the names of those appealing to the council were: G. Norman Moncrief, North Monaghan; Ben Isaac, Warkworth; Edgar F. Fallis, Cavan; W. L. Snowden, Bowmanville RR 3; Fred McMahon, Millbrook.

Gerald Lowes, Otonabee; Walter Widdis, Millbrook; John Moore, Indian River; Mrs. H. Beebe, Bailieboro; J. H. Lewis, Smith; Mrs. R. Bradfield, Douro; Mrs. R. Renwick, Keene; Mrs. L. Burgess, Omemee, RR 1.

George Chapman, Bethany; Cecil Bellamy, Brighton; Arthur F. Stenson, North Monaghan; Harold A. Dawson, Otonabee; William Shearer, Birdsall RR 1; Joe Chimenti, Peterborough; Lawrence Winslow, Millbrook, RR 2.

Refresher Course Opened For Canadian Ex-Pilots

OTTAWA, Oct. 16 (CP).—The RCAF Sunday launched a new training program designed to produce 600 trained pilots a year, providing a pool of qualified fliers in the event of war.

The plan will give Canada's veteran pilots of the Second World War a chance to fly again. They will be given free 40-hour refresher courses through the facilities of Royal Canadian Flying Clubs across the country.

This system may be later expanded to produce an even greater number of "refreshed" fliers who would be used as flying instructors and staff pilots in an emergency. Should war come they would quick go on to a jet training course.

The scheme was launched today at the Ottawa Flying Club at Uplands Airport with a class of Second World War pilots who live in the Ottawa district. Later other clubs across Canada will take up the plan with 37 new Canadian-designed and built de Haviland Chipmunk trainers purchased by the RCAF and loaned to them for this training.

At the inaugural ceremony Air Vice Marshal F. R. Miller, air member for operations and training of the RCAF, told the first assembled class pilots that "nothing invites war more in this day and age than unpreparedness."

The RCAF is accepting Second World War pilots up to the age of 32 for the refresher course.

Training will be carried out at flying clubs at Ottawa, Windsor, Montreal, Winnipeg, Regina, Hamilton, Edmonton, Calgary London, Ont., Toronto, Vancouver, Fort William, Moncton, N. B., Brantford and Victoria.

THE SHAH OF IRAN—Mohammed Reza Pahevi, poses in Teheran, Iran, with his bride-to-be, Soraya Isfandiari, 19. The Shah placed a diamond ring on her finger in a traditional betrothal ceremony before the Royal Family. He was divorced two years ago from Princess Fawzia, sister of Egypt's King Marouk.

Hold Social Evening

BETHANY, Oct. 16 (ENS) — The Good Luck Ladies' Lodge No. 1207 of Bethany held a social evening in the Lodge rooms on Friday night. Progressive euchre was played during the evening; prizes for high scores being received by William Jordan and Mrs. Milton Wright. Consolation prizes to William Phillips and Offa Staples. Lunch was served by the ladies, followed by a dance with Creighton Carr and Morley McGill furnishing the music.

3 Executives Expelled By Consumers Gas Union

TORONTO, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Three top executives of the Consumers Gas Local of the International Chemical Workers' Union (AFL-TLC) were expelled from the union Sunday on the grounds of Communist affiliation.

International President H. A. Bradley, of Akron, O., said he expelled the president, Reg Wright; an executive board member, William Johnstone, and Charles Manser, former secretary.

The expulsion came after Mr. Bradley's investigation Saturday into charges against 12 members of the union, accused of violating a section of the constitution which refuses membership to Communists.

He reserved judgment in the cases of the other nine.

Mr. Wright said he refused to recognize the expulsion. He said he will act as chairman of the regular meeting of the local Tuesday night.

May Lose Jobs

He indicated, too, there might be a move to pull the 800-member local out of the union and affiliate with the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, suspended from the Canadian Congress of Labor on the grounds of Communist affiliation, or with the United Mine Workers (CCL).

There appeared to be a possibility the three men might lose their jobs with the gas company under an open shop agreement which makes membership in the union a condition of employment.

Mr. Wright, local president for six years, has been with the company for 25 years. Mr. Manser has been an employee for 15 years and William Johnstone for nearly 30.

Leaves Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Oct. 16 (ENS)—Keith MacGregor, telephone lineman stationed in Millbrook for the last two years, left Friday for his home in Sunderland. While in Millbrook he has been very active in inter-church work. A group of young people were at the train to see him off. At the YP banquet held Tuesday night he was presented with a pen and pencil set. The presentation on behalf of the society was made by Miss Jean Smith.

Funeral At Bethany For H. C. W. Lowery

BETHANY, Oct. 16—(ENS)—The funeral of Henry Caldwell Windle Lowery, 57, of 500 Kingston Rd., Toronto, and formerly of Bethany, was held Friday at the home of his brother, Gibson Lowery, R.R. 2, Bethany. The Rev. T. S. Gault conducted the service, which was attended by relatives and friends from Bethany, Toronto, and other distant points. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mr. Lowery died in Civic Hospital, Peterborough, on Tuesday, after a heart attack while at his work. He was a barber, for the past 20 years in the Bank of Commerce building in downtown Toronto. Before that he had a barber shop in Bethany. He was a veteran of the first world war, having served overseas with the Canadian Infantry.

He leaves three brothers, Gibson Lowery, Hugh Lowery, both of Bethany, and Thomas Lowery, of Chesley; four sisters, Mrs. O. H. McGill, Mrs. Cephas Staples, of Bethany, Mrs. Wilfred Mulligan, Lindsay, and Mrs. L. McQuade, of Omemee.

His wife, the former Jenny Keith, died seven years ago.

Two Cars Sideswipe Millbrook-Cavan Rd.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 16 (ENS) — Cars driven by Kingsley White of Millbrook and Talbert Brown of Kinmount, sideswiped Sunday evening on the Millbrook-Cavan Rd., between the village and the railway track. Mr. Brown was driving his father-in-law, W. W. Boldt's car.

The left rear fender of the Boldt car was torn off, the front left fender was crumpled and the radiator was also broken. The front left wheel of the White car was wrenched loose. Damage to both cars is estimated at approximately $200.

Lloyd Peel of Millbrook was a passenger in Mr. White's car.

Passengers in Mr. Boldt's car were Mr. Boldt, Mrs. Talbert Brown who was thrown from the left to the right of the back seat and who complained of a sore hip and stomach; Bobby aged four and Brenda, aged two.

CGIT Meets

MILLBROOK, Oct. 16 (ENS)—St. Andrew's CGIT met at the home of Mrs. William Buckham with 19 girls present. Mrs. Buckham conducted the devotional period, and Marlyn Husser, vice-president, was in the chair for the business meeting.

The girls will take a physical culture course under the supervision of Miss Elaine Dogue, the health nurse.

3 Evangelists Held

VAL D'OR, Que., Oct. 16 (CP)—Two women and a man were arrested here Saturday on a familiar charge in this northwestern Quebec town—violating a traffic bylaw while holding an Evangelical meeting. Arrested Saturday—all regular Baptists—were: Miss Helen Hall, 19, Hamilton; Miss Eileen Veals, 33, Noranda, Que., and Maurice Boiliat, 25, also of Noranda. Trial of the three probably will be today.

Mark Children's Day

MARMORA, Oct. 16 (ENS)—Children's Day was observed at St. Paul's Church Sunday with a special service at 11 a.m. in which the children joined the regular congregation. Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie officiated and gave an appropriate address. He also sang a solo "The Ships Glide In At The Harbour's Mouth."

Unveil Portraits

KINGSTON, Oct. 16 (CP)—Oil portraits of Col. R. S. McLaughlin, of Oshawa, industrialist, and principal R. C. Wallace, of Queen's University, were unveiled at a university banquet in their honor here Saturday. The portrait of Col. McLaughlin, described as the university's greatest benefactor, was presented by the Hon. C. A. Dunning, Queen's chancellor. It was painted by Cleeve Horne, of Toronto.

SO NERVOUS, RESTLESS SEVERAL DAYS BEFORE

Your MONTHLY Period?

Do female functional monthly ailments make you feel so nervous, strangely restless, so tense and weak a few days just before your period? Then start taking Lydia E. MARY MOORE SAYS:

Cookies, Pies and Bread All Made With Raisins

The manager of a local chain store told me the price of raisins was low this week and that he had word that dried fruits would be low in price this fall and for Christmas baking because of the competition between California, South African and Australian imports.

Raisins being an excellent source of minerals that are indispensable to good health, and besides they taste ever so good—I bought two pounds for twenty-nine cents and proceeded to go on a baking spree.

You can be sure of one thing—I'm not going to keep quiet about the results.

Emem's Raisin Hermits

(These have quite a few health features for I made them for Pete and Marianne's lunches, which he packs.)

One-quarter cup each peanut butter and margarine or butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons cream or milk, 1¾ cups unsifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon each ginger, allspice and nutmeg, ½ cup wheat germ, 1 cup raisins. Cream the peanut butter and shortening together until soft and light, then add sugar and egg and beat for 5 minutes. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and spices and sift them into the shortening and sugar mixture. Add all remaining ingredients and beat until well mixed. Drop from teaspoon onto buttered cookie sheets. These do not spread so you do not need to leave a big space between cookies. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 10 minutes, having them on shelf in centre of oven. Molasses may be used instead of 2 tablespoons of the sugar and all of the milk or cream.

Nut and Raisin Bread

(This slices better on second day, and is good to have on hand for those unexpected drop-ins for tea in the afternoon or coffee in the evening.)

One cup bread flour, 1 teaspoon each salt and soda, 8 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ cup broken walnuts, ¾ cup raisins, 1¼ cups whole wheat flour, ¼ cup grapenuts, ¼ cup molasses, 1 cup sour or buttermilk, 1 tablespoon salad oil or melted butter, 1 egg. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and soda. Put through food chopper together the nuts, raisins and whole wheat flour. Add the sifted flour mixture to them with all of the remaining ingredients, and beat very well. (For you will notice the egg is not beaten first.) Bake in greased baking powder tins or in small loaf pan at 275 deg. Fahr.—a very slow oven—for about 1 or 2 hours—depending on size of pans used.

Sour Cream Raisin Pie

Filling: 1 cup thick sour cream, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup raisins (chopped if Lexias are used), 1½ tablespoons flour, 2 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, shake of nutmeg, shake of salt and if desired, a few gratings of lemon rind. Mix together all but the egg whites. Beat whites stiff and fold in. Pour into pastry lined pie shell and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes in lower part of oven, then raise to centre oven and reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr. until custard is set.

In above pie, whites may be kept out, and beaten with 4 tablespoons sugar and used as a maringue to put on pie when baked. Return to oven to brown meringue for about 20 minutes at low heat.

Special and urgent from M.I.5,. . .One for every ship."

Fashion Flashes

Perfectly grand are the evening separates for fall. Adding up to a lovely costume and each piece good on its own, is a taffeta lampshade skirt banded and hemedged with velveteen to match the velveteen top that is sleeveless and has a deep, clefted neckline and a wide, tailored, self belt.

✧ ✧ ✧

Frankly fake but fabulous pieces of costume jewelry bring glitter to the new sartorial season. Double strands of large graduated pearls drawn inward and looped through an elaborate lyre design of large rhinestones bring glitter.

✧ ✧ ✧

And now we have casual glamor as the keynote of late afternoon informal evening clothes. Well, it's as good a description as any and aptly described an outfit made up of a halter-top sheath dress in Oxford gray tissue wool jersey topped by a cardigan windbreaker of bright red moleskin.

✧ ✧ ✧

Gradually the ostrich-feather trimmed hat is making a comeback, appearing in some of the top-notch collections. A creamy white felt cloche has white ostrich plumes at one side and is trimmed with a narrow band of gold kidskin.

✧ ✧ ✧

A big dash of Scotch marks the new separates. Sure to be a favorite on the campus is the waistcoat and pleated skirt two-some in worsted, the plaids bright and colorful. Tailored jacket of plaid with a gray flannel skirt is sure to be a popular combination.

✧ ✧ ✧

There's color enough and to spare in many new hats. Red velvet with orange undertones makes a handsome high fezlike pillbox with a rounded eye-veil of stiff black mesh that buttons on at the crown to the large jet buttons that serve as hat trimming.

✧ ✧ ✧

The favorite partnership of black and white appears in several of the leading hat collections. White velours for a deep cloche helmet that has wide, black velvet ribbon draped through the crown ending in a wide, flat bow in back where the brim is split in a triangle.

✧ ✧ ✧

A marked departure from the usual fur silhouette is that of the coat that poses fullness at the front and sides. It appears in a three-quarters length of black Persian lamb with black Alaska sealskin used like velvet for the inlaid collar and for the four big buttons down either side.

Joyce Ann Wilson Weds In Double Ring Ceremony

Rings and vows were exchanged in the marriage ceremony which on Saturday afternoon at All Saints' Anglican Church united Joyce Ann, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Wilson, to Mr. Kenneth John Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H Saunders, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite officiated and the lovely setting at the altar was of bronze 'mums and gladioli banked with fern. Miss Margaret Flowers played the wedding music and Miss Barbara Outram sang "O Perfect Love" while the register was being signed.

Mr. Wilson gave his daughter in marriage and she was wearing a beautiful princess-lined gown of white satin with graceful train. A deep bertha collar and cascading peplum were of Chantilly lace and the sleeves were tipped with points of the lace. Embroidered illusion veiling fell to fingertip length from her Queen Anne headdress which was enhanced with orange blossoms from her mother's wedding ensemble. Her bouquet was of red roses and 'mums in a cascade.

Mrs. John Burley was matron of honor for her sister and wore a dress with short sleeved bodice of plum shade velvet with bouffant skirt of American beauty taffeta, trimmed with a bustle of the velvet. Her hat was of the same velvet with a matching plume at the side and she carried a cascade of yellow roses.

Groomsman for his brother was Mr. Gordon Saunders and ushers were Jack Burley and Edward Collins.

The bride's mother assisted in receiving the 75 guests afterward in the parish hall. She was gowned in grey faille and lace and wore a black velvet hat and corsage of white and mauve 'mums. Also assisting was the groom's mother, wearing cinnamon crepe with a hat of matching felt and her corsage was yellow roses. After the refreshments the bride and groom served their wedding cake to their friends.

When leaving by motor to spend a honeymoon in Toronto, Buffalo and Rochester, the bride was wearing a pink gabardine suit with grey suede accessories and a grey topcoat and she had a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders will live at 210 King George St. on return.

Pupils Perform for 250 At ORMTA Musicale, Tea

A musicale and tea, arranged by the Peterborough members of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association, was a very delightful event of Saturday.

The musicale was a new venture for this group and its great success may lead to anticipated repetitions. More than 250 guests attended in the YWCA Green Room during the afternoon. There were three fifteen-minute periods of music featuring junior pupils of the association teachers and following each there was a half-hour of sociability and tea was served.

Mrs. E. Johnston arranged the varied and pleasing program and those taking part were Diane Welch, Phyllis and Shirley Bebee, Carolyn Wilson, Carol Lawler, Beverley Tully, Noreen Middleton, Nancy Hancock, Margaret Steinkraus, Fred McGregor, Lorne Hale, Jack Freeman, Stanley Foskett, Elinor Heard, Burga Jung, Irene Williams, Sharon Hutchinson, Betty Evans, Sharon Reynolds, Gail McGuire, Mabel McLarnon, Bobby Ritchie, Bramwell Everitt, Carol Hobson, Margaret and David Munro, Cathryn McGee, Carol Yelland, Wendy Collins, Norma Branson, Leslie Payne, Bobby Cuffe, Barbara and Beverley Jude, Bernie Hope, Peter Gould, Patsy Morrow, Ronny King, Margaret Woodward, Carolyn Whitfield and Velma Hendren.

President Mrs. Donald Flett by giving leadership and co-operation to all conveners is largely responsible for the gratifying result of the affair. She was at the door to receive the guests, assisted by past president Mrs. Ross Williamson, and later by vice president Miss Eleanor Glover.

Beautiful 'mums and decorative fall flowers were on the tea table, over the fireplace, and about the room, highlighted with coloured leaves at the base of the candalabrae with green tapers to light the table. Arrangement was by Miss Musa Cox and Mrs. F. G. McNeely who added an interesting note in painted cat-tails.

Tea pourers were Mrs. Ford Turner, past president, Miss Mary Harstone, Mrs. H. Keith Braund, social convener, assisted by Miss Cox and Mrs. Williamson.

Mrs. C. W. Holman had charge of serving which was done by senior students, Misses Iris Whalon, Oryce McIlraith, Darlene Crowley, Mary McBride, Marybeth Darling, Mary Hunter, Shirley Pritchard, Joyce Huggins, Joan Hillis, Margaret Munro, Margaret Martyn, Lois Holman, Anne Zsammers, Margaret Laing, Mary Wood, June Hutchinson.

A sale of home cooking was convened by Mrs. J. L. Smith and she was assisted at the table by Mrs. Ross Moore and Mrs. W. L. McNeil.

Winnipeg Woman 101 Years Old

WINNIPEG, Oct. 16 (CP). — Mrs. Robert Grand Sunday celebrated her 101st birthday with two candles—one a large one representing 100 years and a smaller one for one year.

Her eyes shone brightly when she handled the many bouquets of flowers sent to her. "My eyesight and hearing aren't very good but who could miss the smell of beautiful flowers," she said.

Mrs. Grant was born in 1849 at St. Thomas. She moved to Melita, Man., in 1881 with her husband. Thirty-one years of daily chores passed before the couple decided to try fruit farming at Leamington, Ont.

Mr. Grant retired in 1925 and they came to live here. He died in 1942, three years after celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary.

Gayle Pollock, J. M. Donald Married at Trent River

The altar of Trent River United Church was banked with a profusion of autumn flowers and foliages as setting for the wedding Saturday of Gayle Eleanor Pollock, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Pollock, Trent River, to John Maclean Donald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey M. Donald, Campbellford. The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiated.

Mrs. R. Campney of Havelock, grandmother of the bride, played the wedding music, and the soloist, Mrs John Beatty of Havelock, sang before the ceremony, "O Perfect Love" and during signing of the register "Because."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a fitted ankle length gown of copper tan imported lace over satin. The tight-fitting, strapless bodice was fashioned with a bolero, fingertip sleeves and a small stand-up collar. Her small crownless bonnet was made of the same material as her dress and was adorned with rosettes of satin. She carried a cascade of green orchids and green carnations.

Miss Barbara Clarke, Toronto, was maid of honor and wore a fitted ankle length gown of copper tan chiffon velvet. Her headdress was a bandeau of matching velvet adorned at one side with a matching ostrich plum. She carried a cascade of bronze and yellow 'mums.

Mr. Robert Pollock, brother of the bride, was groomsman and the ushers were Henry Campney, Toronto, uncle of the bride, and Eric Little, cousin of the groom.

A reception and dinner was held at the Sedgwick House, with 65 guests present. Mrs. Pollock received, wearing a cocoa brown gabardine suit with a rust brown fur felt hat, and corsage of bronze baby 'mums. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a dress of mulberry crepe, trimmed with silk velvet, her hat was black with ostrich plume, and she wore a corsage of yellow baby mums. Those serving the dinner were Mrs. Boyd Kyle, Havelock; Miss Shirley Hutchison, Toronto; Mrs. Harry Mann and Mrs. Irene Christie of Trent River.

For the trip to New York city, the bride chose a grey pic and pic dressmaker suit, black suede accessories and a grey kid cape. She wore a corsage of orchids and lily of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald will live at Trent River.

SPEAKING OF FOOD —

Today, fruits and vegetables play a more important part in well-balanced Canadian diets than ever before. Today's prices in these items reflect the bounty of this year's crop and as welcome news for homemakers.

A visit to your Dominion Master Market will quickly show you how you can pamper your family and give them extra nourishing meals with unusual variety The richness of Dominion's displays featuring these economical foods will give you ideas galore.

Right now Dominion has ample supplies of grapes, apples, bananas, tomatoes, celery, potatoes, lettuce, cabbage, cauliflower and many others. Dominion's policy of buying produce locally whenever possible guarantees their freshness.

The period of longer evenings is the signal for many indoor gatherings, parties and entertaining. To the hostess planning food, here's a tip. A large mould such as the ring type used for making angel cake or one in the form of a star or diamond can be used to make attractive tomato aspic.

Garnished with tuna fish and salad greens, it makes a dish any hostess would be proud to serve. You can easily vary this to suit your needs by making clear gelatine, to which has been added cooked meats, fruit or vegetable.

Fish is a food that tastes best when fresh. Your Dominion Store takes pride in carrying a wide selection of fish that you can depend on for quality and freshness. Next time you're looking for something to vary your family fare, visit the fish counter at Dominion and you'll find many inspirations.

P.S. Just in case you're doubtful your Dominion Master Market in Peterborough is located at George and Sherbrooke Streets.

DOROTHY DIX

Cattiness and Fickleness Frighten Young Batchelor

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 27 and a discouraged and disgusted young man in so far as the opposite sex is concerned. I wish to marry, but the cattiness, the ficklen ss, the jealousy, freeze up my romantic longings. While there is a yearning in my heart for the company of the opposite sex, always I ask myself these questions: How and where can I find a girl who is pretty, though not necessarily a beauty? Intelligent, but not a walking encyclopedia. Charming and good mannered. Faithful, a good dresser, but not a dress maniac. Economical, but not miserly. Enjoys a good joke, but not a teller of off-colored stories. Willing to share some of my recreational interests, such as sports, dances, music, concerts, etc. Has a desire to become a good wife and companion. Can you tell me where I can find such a girl?

HESITANT BACHELOR.

ANSWER: Certainly I can. She is right under your nose. Across the street. O maybe she works next to you in office. Likely as not you went to school with her and have known her ever since you wore rompers.

Looking In Wrong Place

And the only reason you haven't found her is because you are either blind, or you are one of those men who never know a good thing when they see it, or because you have looked for the right sort of girl in the wrong sort of place.

You list of requirements in a wife is reasonable, and if you have not found a girl who measures up to your standard it must be because you have got so panicky and pessimistic that you don't trust your own judgment and eyesight. Most girls are pretty these days, either by the grace of God or through having enough gumption to learn how to dress and comb their hair and make up their complexions.

Also, most girls are far more intelligent than men suspect. Surely you don't have to get out a lantern to search for a girl who is charming and has good manners. That is part of every girl's stock in trade.

Virtually every girl is faithful to a man who will let her be. Half of the girls who look like a daily hint from Paris have made their own clothes. If there is any girl living who doesn't enjoy sports and wouldn't like to be married to a man who would take her out to the theatre and to dances and concerts, etcetera, I have yet to hear of her.

So my advice to you is to get up your courage, stick your hand in the grabbag and draw out a prize, since you are too scared to look about for the kind of a wife you want.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My married life has been very unhappy. Our marriage has been such a mistake that I should have left my wife years ago, except that there were children and I felt I should stand by them. They are now grown up and on their own. I have tried to be a good father and have provided well for them and for my wife. Now I think that I have done my part and I want to be quit of a marriage that is a hell on earth to me. My wife and I fight continually and never speak to each other civilly. The children understand this and feel that divorce is best for all and an honest way to straighten things out, but my wife hates divorce and says she will fight it. I shall always provide for her, but I am so tired of lying to myself and my neighbors.

S.

ANSWER: Inasmuch as you have done your duty by your children and they would not be injured by the breaking up of your home, I can see no reason why you should not leave a woman with whom you are so bitterly unhappy. As she seems to be as antagonistic to you as you are to her, and she must be as wretched as you are in your unfortunate marriage, I should think she would be glad to give you a divorce and end the tragic farce.

She must have a dog-in-the-manger spirit. She doesn't want you herself, but she is determined that no one else shall have you. Or perhaps she feels that divorce would be a sort of confession of her failure as a wife, or maybe she takes a cruel revenge by watching your sufferings. But, at any rate whatever her motives, you do not have to stand the prolonged misery of such a situation. Even if she refuses you a divorce, you can leave.

There is neither sense nor morality in a couple living together in enmity and who bring out all the worst characteristics in each other if there are no children to be considered.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a very puzzled young man in my second year of college. My sweetheart says: "I want to settle down and plan for the future." She would make a very nice wife, but I feel we are too young to get married. Can you advise me in my distressed position?

ANSWER: You are too young to marry. You are in no position to marry. If you let a girl badger you into marrying, you will spend the remainder of our life in repenting your weakness. Don't do it. If the girl had any real affection for you, she wouldn't want to jeopardize your future by forcing marriage upon you before you are ready for it.

TOASTED CHEESE POINTS, a tomato topped by potato salad, and curly endive make a tempting luncheon plate.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Cheese Souffle Sandwiches Sure Hit for Light Luncheon

A good toasted cheese sandwich is so nourishing and yet so delicious that it is always welcome as a luncheon or late evening main dish. For any number of variations on the basic theme of toasted cheese, and for several simple and delicious ways to make it, "500 Tasty Sandwich Recipes" has all the answers. This cookbook is the fourteenth in the series of twenty-four Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks being made available by this newspaper to readers.

Each cookbook covers only a single phase of cookery but it covers it throughly, simply, and with enough variation to make you want to try and keep trying all the tempting recipes. Here, for instance, is a particularly good way of making a toasted cheese sandwich which, if toasted on diagonally cut triangles of bread, can have a very party-like touch:

Cheese Souffle Sandwiches

8 slices bread
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Dash paprika
4 eggs, separated
1 cup grated sharp cheese

Remove crusts and toast bread on one side. Combine salt, pepper, paprika and egg yolks and beat until light. Fold yolks and cheese into stiffly beaten egg whites. Heap onto untoasted side of bread and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 15 minutes or until puffy and brown. Serves eight.

To obtain this Sandwich Book all you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at the Examiner office or your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or if you wish to send for your copy by mail, enclose the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) and mail to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

October Meeting Held By St. Andrew's WA

NORWOOD, Oct. 16—(ENS)—The October meeting of St. Andrew's Young Women's Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Rod Webb.

Program was in charge of Mrs. Wilson Small, and after the opening hymn Mrs. Small led in prayer. Miss Isabel MacMillan read the scripture lesson. Mrs. Duncannon gave a reading which was followed by a Thanksgiving hymn.

The topic "Thanksgiving" was given by Mrs. Stanley McMillan, which was very interesting and appropriate. She told of the origin of the "First Thanksgiving" in 1621, held in a little log church in the village of Plymouth on the east coast of America by the Pilgrim Fathers. Mrs. McMillen also pointed out the many things we in this country should be thankful for.

TO RING AGAIN — Korea's historic, five-century-old Liberty Bell, traditionally rung on occasions of national jubilation, lies amid the rubble of the Seoul building that housed it. Legend says the bell's peal includes the moan of a child—the child of a beggar woman thrown into the cauldron, along with the treasures of all Koreans present, when the bell was cast in 1468. The bell last tolled on Aug. 15, 1945, when the Japanese surrendered.

Obituary

MRS. WILLIAM TREVOR

Mrs. William Trevor, 88, of 267 Westcott St. died in hospital Sunday, following a lingering illness. The former Mary Nowry, she was born in Brantford, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nowry.

She has resided in Peterborough for 30 years coming here from Lindsay. She was a member of St. Luke's Anglican Church. Her husband, William Trevor predeceased her 29 years ago, and a daughter Mrs. John Hartley. Two sons, Ralph and Foster, were killed in the First World War.

She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Alfred Froggett of Toronto and Mrs. Albert Graham and Mrs. Armar Butcher, both of Peterborough; 15 grandchildren and 22 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 3 p.m. at the Comstock Funeral Home. The Rev. W. J. Gilling will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Woman Legless For 57 Years Gets New Pair, Gift Of Fliers

By WALTER SHAVE

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 16 — (CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkina Mukko, legless for 57 years and without artificial limbs for the last 27 of them, is returning to her nursing duties at Rigolet, Labrador, with new limbs — thanks to R.C.A.F. and United States flyers at Goose Bay.

The 59-year-old mother sailed from here for her Labrador home during the weekend aboard the coastal vessel Kyle. She's returning north "to answer any call I get to act as mid-wife and nurse."

She was two years old when her trapper father, worried about his sick wife, left the family cabin at Winter's Cove, near Rigolet, to get a doctor. Caught in a blizzard, it took him four days to make the trip, and when he returned it was to find a new baby dead and Elizabeth on the floor with both legs frozen. Gangrene had set it.

Cut Off Both Legs

He cut off her legs below the knees with an axe, then stood her in a flour barrel. The flour stemmed the bleeding.

Three years later the famous Dr. Wilfred G½renfell took her to his hospital at St. Anthony, Nfld. He had tiny artificial limbs made for her. Later the doctor took her to New York, where Dr. John McTavish, a Scottish surgeon, performed 18 operations on her legs and named her Kirkina.

Later she married a trapper. By then Dr. Grenfell was dead and, having no money for legs, she hobbled about on stumps protected by pads.

She raised a family of seven—until 1918, when an influenza epidemic killed her husband and six of her children.

She dug the graves and buried them all, performing the funeral service, as she was the only one in the settlement who could read or write.

Life Became Tame

Life became tame for Mrs. Mukko, so she studied nursing at the St. Anthony hospital, then served as nurse and mid-wife for anyone within 35 miles of her home.

"I brought 32 children into the world," she says proudly, "and never lost a mother or baby."

Recently Dr. Tony Paddon, in charge of the St. Anthony hospital, told R.C.A.F. and American fliers at the Goose Bay airbase about Mrs. Mukko. They chipped in and sent her to St. John's for new artificial limbs.

"It's nice to have legs again after being without them for 27 years," she said as she walked aboard the coastal vessel, bound for Labrador and more service to others.

Find Old Coins

ROME, Oct. 16 —(Reuters) — A group of boys found 99 coins, all 2,100 years old, in an earthenware pot while playing in a field in the outskirts of Rome Saturday. Archaeologists said they are "Assi"— one tenth of a Roman silver denaro. The coins were engraved by hand with the double head of Janus on one side and a Roman warship on the other.

The evening was spent in round and square dancing. Lunch was served.

Invite Attack

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee said Sunday night that countries without adequate defence forces are practically inviting attack by aggressors. "We all know from experience—and events in Korea are the most recent example—that an attack by the strong on the weak may take place suddenly and without warning," Attlee said in a country-wide radio address. He urged Britons to join civil defence groups.

Oldest Restaurant Makes Money Squeezing Life Out Of Ducks

By PHILIP CLARKE

PARIS, Oct. 16—(AP) — For more than 300 years the oldest restaurant in Paris has made money by squeezing the daylight out of ducks.

At the Tour D'Argent (Silver Tower), all but the feathers are served in sauce compounded of the duck's own blood and bones. Founded in 1582 in a medieval city wall fortress on the Seine river bank, the restaurant is one of the most noted eating places in the world. Many of the world's famous have dined here.

Tourists now eat at the "king's table" and ooh and aah at the breath-taking view of Notre Dame Cathedral through the Tour's 40 square yards of plate glass windows.

Claude Terrail runs the restaurant with diplomacy and showmanship. The 32-year-old Terrail once paid the French finance ministry 14,000 francs, $40) nightly to keep the cathedral flood-lit during a power shortage.

Duelled For Tables

In 1582, says Terrail, customers often duelled to the death for tables at the Tour, the only hostelry in that section of the city's outskirts. Travellers were forbidden to enter Paris after sundown and naturally sometimes the Tour got crowded.

Terrail claims King Henry III of France tried out the world's first fork here in 1585. It worked so well that he stopped eating with his hands.

Terrail swears that J. Pierpont Morgan, the American financier, took one of the Tour's two bottles of 1773 cognac from the wine cellar, leaving a cheque for $1,000 as payment. The cheque is still displayed in the restaurant's museum, which includes a cigar of King Alfonso of Spain and gold-plated knife and fork sets used by Britain's King Edward VII, Russia's Czar Alexander and Belgium's King Leopold I.

District Governor Visits Cobourg Rotary

COBOURG, Oct. 16—(ENS)—Cobourg's Rotary Club was visited Friday by Arthur Ferguson of Gravenhurst, District Governor of the 247th Rotary International District. It was his first official visit to the Cobourg club, one of 45 clubs in central and northern Ontario and Quebec, to be visited by the district governor.

The district governor recalled that General Douglas MacArthur had once declared that if Rotary had been 100 p.c. stronger prior to 1939, there would have been no second world war. He empahsized the importance of community service and in this connection paid tribute to the crippled children's work of the local Rotary Club as revealed in the annual report of Dr. W. W. Wade, chairman of the committee.

The speaker was introduced by President Mel Earl and was thanked by Harry Carlton.

During the course of the meeting, Mel Earl informed the club that the directors, in considering ways to raise additional funds, had decided on a giant bingo to be held in the market building with Johnny Ewart as chairman, proceeds to go to Boy Scout work.

Keep Traditional Peepholes In New UK House Of Commons

By HAROLD K. MILKS

LONDON, Oct. 16— (AP)— The historic chamber of the House of Commons, burned out by German bombs in 1941, will reopen Oct. 26, rebuilt completely even to the traditional peepholes in the doors.

The new chamber, a far cry from the one in which members of Commons first met in 1295, is a clever combination of the ancient and modern. The peepholes, at first forgotten, were included as a bow to old tradition.

Always, in the good old days, members peered through the holes to inspect the king's "black rod," the messenger who came to summon parliament into session. An alert member of today's Commons spotted the omission of the peepholes from the new doors.

Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, the architect, agreed it was a mistake. Out came the new glass panels and in their places went wooden ones, complete with holes through which the Commons members may peer to their heart's content.

King To Take Part

The king and others in the Royal Family will help open the new chamber. But the ceremony will not be held there. It will be in another part of Westminster palace.

This will be for two reasons, one traditional, the other practical.

A king never visits the House of Commons. The practical reason is equally important — the Commons chamber is just too small for the hundreds of dignitaries. Like all halls of the Commons back through the ages it's too small to accommodate on the benches even all its 625 members.

The new Commons Chamber still seats only 939 persons counting spectators. There are green felt-covered benches for 437 members. The other 188 members will have to stand if all should be on hand at one time.

The floor of the Chambers remains precisely the same as that of the old House, 68 feet by 45½ feet.

The new Chamber, like the old, is Gothic. But there has been a marked attempt at embellishment by what the architect describes as "horizontal bands of enrichment alternating with plain areas."

The walls are covered with English oak treated to give a mellow color.

Most Obvious Addition

Most obvious new feature of the rebuilt Chamber is the Churchill Arch, constructed from damaged stones of the bomb-battered old meeting place and named in honor of Britain's wartime Prime Minister.

Most of the Commonwealth countries have contributed replacements for the ruined furnishings.

Canada contributed the table of the House of Commons. Newfoundland, before it became a province of Canada, contributed six chairs from the former Prime Minister's Conference Room.

Clearing of the burned-out Chamber began May 10, 1945, four years to the day after German planes hitting at the nearby Battersea power station and Waterloo Bridge sent two salvos of bombs screaming into Westminster Palace.

Clifton Brown, then and now Speaker of the House, laid the corner-stone of the new Chamber May 26, 1948.

Since 1941 Commons has had temporary accommodations in the old House of Lords.

Plane Crashes In London Report 28 Aboard Killed

"ONE OF OUR PRETTIEST MEDALS," said President Truman as he admired a four oak leaf cluster to the Distinguished Service Medal he presented to Gen. In the centre is John Muccio, American Ambassador to Korea.

UN Soldiers 12 Miles From Capital

Troops In Race To Get There First Red Army Shattered

TOKYO, Oct. 17—(AP)—American and South Korean columns slashed tonight through shattered Communist remnants within 12 miles of the Communist Korean capital, Pyongyang.

Just over a month after the Allied tide turned on the landing at Inchon, the war was running swiftly toward victory for the United Nations.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry and the Republic of Korea (ROK) 1st divisions were racing each other for the Red capital. An official ROK spokesman said he believed the Republican troops would reach the Communist capital Wednesday.

AP correspondent Don Whitehead, with the Americans, reports the capital is certain to come within range of allied big guns in 24 hours or less.

Mop-up Operations

Military circles in Tokyo say the fall of Pyongyang almost certainly will end the Korean war except for mop-up operations against guerrilla forces.

Behind the Americans, British and Australian Commonwealth Brigade troops sped 31 miles to Sariwon and captured that highway city.

AP correspondent Hal Boyle reported the Americans might reach Pyongyang by Wednesday.

ROK officers had trouble restraining the weary but eager South Korean troops from running along the road to Pyongyang. Many of them had not stopped to rest for two days.

The South Koreans Tuesday drove from Suan to Sangwon, only 20 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

Much Farther By Road

In airline distance the gain was 26 miles. But it is much farther actually along the winding mountain road.

The U.S. First Cavalry Division smashed nearly 30 miles from its kickoff point at Sohung. It bypassed Sariwon, 35 miles south of Pyongyang, and drove over a secondary road into Hwangji, only 23 miles south of the Red capital on the main highway.

The 1st Cavalry rammed up a secondary road leaving Sariwon, a key city 35 air miles south of Pyongyang, for British and Australian troops to mop up.

The Commonwealth troops fought their way into the city after a 31-mile dash.

Poor Safety Equipment

Reports Quebec 70% Below Standards

QUEBEC, Oct. 17 —(CP)—A transport department inspector testified today that safety equipment aboard the cruiseship Quebec, destroyed by fire in August with loss of seven lives, complied only to a degree of 25 or 30 per cent with the latest government standards.

Inspector Paul-Georges Gagnon, appearing at a court inquiry into destruction of the Canada Steamship Lines' cruiser at Tadoussac in August, said the latest government safety regulations were issued in April.

He said the date the regulations took effect did not allow time to bring the Quebec up to the new safety standards before it went into service for the summer season.

Gagnon said because improvements had been carried out and the ship complied fully with 1937 regulations he recommended that the Quebec be permitted to go into service this year and he was authorized by the transport department to sign an operating permit.

None Would Have Sailed

Inspector Gagnon said if April, 1950, regulations had been applied completely last spring neither the Quebec nor any other of C.S.L.'s larger St. Lawrence and Great Lakes cruise ships could have operated.

During the court sitting, Patrick Satwell, Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph reporter, appeared on Judge Choquette's order to explain a story in the daily newspaper that a "pyromaniac" was believed responsible for the ship fire.

Judge Choquette asked:

"Have you personal knowledge of the facts mentioned in your story," asked the Judge.

"Is it confidential information," Sawtell said.

"Are you in a position to tell the court who your informants are so they can be questioned?"

"No."

UK Air Liner Hits House In Suburb

One Engine Afire After Take-Off Tried To Make Base

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 17 — (AP) — A twin-engined air liner smashed into a London suburb today, killing 28 of the 29 persons aboard.

British European Airways said an engine failed shortly after the plane took off from London for Glasgow. The plane, a Dakota, was attempting to return to London.

The airline said it carried 24 passengers, including one infant, and a crew of five.

"As far as we know all have been killed except one adult, either passenger or crew," a spokesman said. "The aircraft was completely burned out."

The survivor, a man, was taken to Edgware General Hospital.

Hits House Top

One report said the craft caught fire in the air, hit a house top, then plowed through a wall into a garden. One wing still teetered atop a house.

The crash was in suburban Mill Hill, a middle class residential area.

One eye-witness expressed belief the fuel tanks exploded. He said:

"No one could get near the plane; it was burning so fiercely, but I understand some of the passengers must have been thrown out because some bodies were taken away.

"As it sailed over the houses one wing came off and struck a house. The plane crashed across the narrow road—Highwood Ash—and landed in the garden of another house."

Engine Trouble

A large open space adjoins the crash scene, and the pilot may have been attempting to make a forced landing there.

Airport officials said shortly after the take-off a message was received saying that one engine was out of order and that the pilot was trying to get back to base. Nothing further was heard from the aircraft.

B.E.A. officials said no passenger list would be released until next-of-kin had been informed.

Charge 22 Let Go, No Trial

WINDSOR, Oct. 17—(CP)—Despite "conclusive" evidence, 22 persons were charged as found-ins in a Windsor bookmaking establishment were freed without trial, the Windsor Police Commission was told today during its investigation of law enforcement here. Sgt. George Browne, head of the police morality squad, said the 22 were connected with the case of Lester Flowitt, convicted in June, 1948, of keeping a betting house. Under questioning by Judge Archibald Cochrane, Commission chairman, Sgt. Browne said that 32 found-ins were arrested in April, 1948, at the time Flowitt's premises were raided by the morality squad.

Ten of the 32 pleaded guilty and were fined $10.

Sgt. Browne said evidence against the other 22 was "just as conclusive" but was not presented in court and found-in charges against them were dropped at the request of the crown attorney's office.

Puts Up $800 Bail

Bail totalling $800 for the 32 persons arrested was put up by a man called Anthony Fontaine, Sgt. Browne said. He identified Fontaine as the operator of a pool room connected with the room where Flowitt and the 32 others were arrested.

Turning to the case against Flowitt, Judge Cochrane termed it a "clear-cut case" and asked the reason for a series of remands between April 8 and June 2, 1948. Flowitt then pleaded guilty to the bookmaking charge and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and a $200 fine.

"It's a common occurrence," said Chief of Police Claude Renaud, also present at today's meeting. "It's a matter between the crown attorney and the defence counsel."

The commission's morning session today ended in an hour-long closed meeting between the commission and Chief Renaud. Monday the commission reviewed case records of persons arrested by the police morality squad in recent years.

Judge Cochrane sifted a stack of records of liquor, gambling and bawdy-house cases handled by the morality squad during the last 3½ years, and questioned Sgt. Browne, morality squad head, regarding a score of them.

Liberals Lose 2 Quebec Seats, Retain Welland

OTTAWA, Oct. 17—(CP)—Independent Liberals scored upset victories Monday in two Quebec constituencies as official Liberal candidates went down to defeat in two of three Federal by-elections. The Liberals retained the Ontario constituency of Welland in the third by-election, but in Montreal St. Mary and Rimouski the Independent Liberals defeated candidates backed by the Liberal party and its organization.

In Montreal St. Mary, a seat that had consistently returned Liberal members to the Commons since it was established in 1896, Hector Dupuis, a civil employee, won over four opponents. Although he ran as an Independent Liberal, he said in his campaign speeches that he is a "straight Liberal."

In Rimouski, a seat that has returned 19 Liberals and four Conservatives in elections since 1867, the winner was Joseph Herve Rousseau. Like Mr. Dupuis, he opposed an official Liberal candidate but still designated himself as a Liberal.

Held By Liberals

In Welland, a seat held by the Liberals since 1935, Dr. W. H. McMillan, 57-year-old physician from Thorold, retained the seat for the party by defeating Progressive Conservative, CCF and Labor-Progressive candidates.

In 17 by-elections since the general federal election of 1949, the Liberals have retained eight seats. They lost four to Independent Liberals, three in Quebec and one in New Brunswick. They lost two to the Progressive Conservatives, one in Ontario and one in Nova Scotia. They lost another to an Independent in Quebec. The Progressive Conservatives retained two Ontario seats.

The new standing in the Commons:

Liberals, 185; Progressive Conservatives, 43; CCF, 13; Social Credit, 10; Independent, five; Independent Liberal, five; vacant, one; total, 262.

Vote Light

The vote in all three constituencies was light compared with the last general election. Six of the 12 candidates lost their $200 deposits when they failed to obtain half of the vote cast for the winner.

Charges Russia Refused Adequate Protection For Allied War Convoys

LONDON, Oct. 17—(Reuters)—Western Allied convoys carrying supplies for Russia during the Second World War were refused adequate protection by the Soviets, the British government charged tonight. The allegation was made in the official story of the Murmansk-bound convoys, written from the dispatches of Admiral Sir John Tovey, then Commander of the Home Fleet.

Despite the fact Russia at the time labelled the convoy link "a northern saga of heroism, bravery and endurance," the Tovey picture is one of uneasy partnership and general lack of Russian co-operation.

Throughout the operation Russia declined to give the western allies adequate facilities to establish air bases or to organize effective cover for the aid-bearing ships, the dispatches indicate.

The report came 24 hours after publication of a dispatch from the Soviet navy journal Red Fleet which claimed the German warships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau had been allowed to go through the English Channel in 1942 so they could be used against Russia. A Foreign Office spokesman categorically denied the allegations.

An Admiralty foreword to the Tovey dispatches recalls that Britain and the United States lost 90 merchant ships and 829 men from the North Cape convoys to German air or submarine attack. The convoys took in $1,198,400,400 worth of aid to the Russians.

The Royal Navy, which had the main responsibility for the convoys, lost 1,840 men, two cruisers, six destroyers and 11 other warships.

Admiral Tovey reported in 1942: "The Russians' long-range fighter escort, expected up to a distance of 200 miles from the Murmansk coast, failed to materialize."

On another occasion, he wrote, "the Russians promised to cover the passage with a big-scale offensive by 200 army bombers on the airfield of North Norway, but unfortunately were only able to deliver one small attack which took place after the enemy's main attack on the convoy had been completed."

Will Bar Aliens Unless Visas OK

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP).—The Immigration Department Monday warned aliens travelling in the United States that they will be refused entry into Canada if their visas are not revalidated under the new U.S. internal security law.

"In view of the recent regulations put into effect by the U.S. Government," the department said, "aliens in the United States who have not been admitted to the United States for permanent residence and who seek admission to Canada will be required to present evidence that they will be readmitted to the United States."

An official said such revalidation of visas must date from Oct. 12 or later. He said the government decision has been placed into force at border points. So far there have been no reports of individuals turned back.

Cut Instalment Buying

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP). — A government source today disclosed that regulations to curb instalment buying in Canada have been drafted and will be placed before cabinet for approval at 4 p.m. EST.

As an anti-inflationary measure legislation granting the government power to control credit was passed at the last session of parliament.

Since then financial experts have been busy surveying the credit field to find out how greatly it has increased during recent years.

Sarnia Quarterback Dies Of Injuries From Game

SARNIA, Ont., Oct. 17—(CP)—Jack Bell, a 27-year-old backfielder for Sarnia Imperials, died early today from a neck injury suffered in a football game Saturday. The young Navy veteran dislocated his neck in an open field flying tackle on Carl Galbreath of Toronto Balmy Beach. He was taken to hospital in critical condition, partially paralyzed by the injury, and failed to rally.

Bell's death was the third in the history of senior Canadian football and the first in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Harold Bailey, Secretary of the O.R.F.U., said reports from the managers of the Sarnia and Toronto teams and from Ralph Adams of Toronto, who refereed Saturday's game, agreed that rough play was not involved in Bell's injury.

The young quarterback, playing his third season with the Sarnia club, hit Galbreath hard, his head striking the Toronto player's hip. The force of the tackle threw Galbreath six to nine yards from the point of impact.

Had Taxi Business

Born in Port Colborne, Ont., Bell came to Sarnia at the age of three and was a product of Sarnia's city football league he operated a taxi business in the city.

His boyhood idol was Ormond Beach, hard-plunging backfielder of Sarnia clubs of the 1930s, killed in an oil-plant explosion in 1938.

Bell is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jeannie Bell, and a brother, Ernest. His father, J. T. Bell, died eight years ago.

Bell's death is the first in senior football since 1922, when Allan Arless of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association Club was fatally injured in an Interprovincial Union game against Toronto Argonauts at Montreal.

In 1912, Gladstone Murphy of the Argonaut Club died a few days after he twisted his neck in a fall after missing a tackle on Sam Mansion of Hamilton Tigers in a game at Toronto.

Murphy, one of the stars of his day, came from Kingston.

Bell's funeral will be held here Thursday. His teammates will form a guard of honor.

Team officials said Bell's sweater will be buried with him. His number—19—was retired by the Imperials today for all time.

Mrs. Bell told reporters she realizes Galbreath was in no way to blame for her son's death. She expressed the wish that Galbreath attend the funeral.

Ottawa Rejects Sunday Sport

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP).—The issue of Sunday sport, red-hot in Ontario since the provincial legislature made it possible for municipalities to break down the old blue laws, is dead in the federal capital.

The issue flamed up and was fanned into a lively blaze after an alderman at a council meeting last Friday suggested a referendum on the matter.

It was effectively extinguished—probably for two years—when city council voted Monday night against the motion, 29-2. Only the mover and seconder voted "yea," after a city-wide campaign by church and other interested parties.

May Send US Bombers From Korea To French

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 17 (Reuters)—United States light bombers may be flown from Korea to Indo-China within the next 10 days to help French forces hold the northern border against the Vietminh insurgents, French sources said today.

The planes would act as a stop-gap until the arrival of American military aid promised this week in Washington, these sources added.

The French air force in Indo-China has enough American-trained pilots from the Second World War to fly the bombers immediately.

A French mission, headed by Jean Letourneau, minister for associated states, and Gen. Alphonse Juin, military strategist, flew into Saigon today. They will study the situation on the border with Communist China where the French are withdrawing under pressure from their fourth stronghold, Langson, 80 miles from Hanoi, the Tonkin capital.

City Councillors Request Hearing On Police Dismissal

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 17 (CP). City councillors Monday night reaffirmed the request for a police commission hearing on the dismissal of detective Allan Rush in the face of a strongly worded letter from Ontario Attorney-General Dana Porter.

Ald. A. M. Towe accused Mayor George A. Wenige, chairman of the police commission which fired the detective at the end of 16 years on the police force, with attempting to get attorney-general to protect him.

The council chamber area of city hall was packed as council voted eight-one to approve the decision to request a hearing made last week in committee sessions.

Mayor Wenige alone voted against the proposal.

A resolution from London Labor Council asking city council to "demand" that the police commission grant the former detective a public hearing, was laid over "temporarily" pending a reply from the commission.

Mayor Wenige was in Toronto most of Monday on a mission that went unexplained at city hall. He returned with the letter from Mr. Porter. It read:

"In our conversation today the general condition of the police force in London was discussed. Apparently there has been some criticism from certain quarters as to certain actions of the police commission which have been causing you and others in London some concern.

"As you are fully aware, the full responsibility for the discipline and the administration of the police force in a municipality is in the hands of the police commission. The commission must use its own judgment with situations that arise and in the hiring and the appointment and dismissal of members of the force. Unless the commission may freely exercise its best judgment in these matters it is quite obvious that the discipline and the morals of the force could not be maintained.

"I may say, without hesitation, that I have complete confidence in the police commission of the city of London."

Cabinet Boosts Railway Rates

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP)—The cabinet otday is expected to approve an order-in-council allowing the railways a 25.8-per-cent boost in charges for carrying mail and a government source said it may lead to an increase in parcel post rates.

This increase in payments to the railways—first in many years—is expected to be made retroactive to Dec. 1, 1948.

It will mean that the government may have to pay the railways an extra $2,000,000 a year in addition to current annual payments of about $8,000,000 for carrying the mail.

The post office department, it was learned, is considering the possibility of increasing parcel post rates to raise additional revenues for increased mail transport costs and salary increases.

Parcel post rates provide the bulk of the government's postal revenue.

Generally, the rate in Canada ranges from about 13 to 15 cents for the first pound. The rate to the United States is about 14 cents for the first pound.

Blame Combustion For Dynamite Blast

MALARTIC, Que., Oct. 17 (CP) —Spontaneous combustion started the fire which caused the explosion of 20 tons of dynamite at Barnat Gold Mines Monday, investigators said today. The blast injured 70 persons—none seriously—and caused an estimated $50,000 damage in this Northwestern Quebec mining town.

RCMP, provincial and town police were assisted by mine safety engineers in their investigation. They said there was no evidence of "external cause of the blaze."

Truckers from North Bay and Montreal were on the way here today with sheets of glass to replace the windows smashed in scores of stores, offices and houses.

Urge Supreme Civilian Boss To Direct Korea Rebuilding

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP).—The United States proposed today that the United Nations appoint a supreme civilian boss to direct Korea's multi-million-dollar economic rebuilding.

He would be known as the U.N. "Agent-General." His functions would be equivalent in the rehabilitation of Korea to those Gen. MacArthur has exercised in the military sphere.

The proposal is embodied in an American resolution submitted to the U.N. economic and social council today.

An American spokesman said the U.S. has no one in mind for the job, but there is considerable speculation here that the job may be offered to MacArthur himself. The spokesman could not say whether the plan had been discussed with the general.

The agent-general would deal only with rehabilitation and would have no authority over Korea's political future. That already has been entrusted to another U.N. commission.

He would head a new organization known as the "Korean Rehabilitation Agency," would be completely independent of all other U.N. commissions, and would have complete control of Korean economic rebuilding.

The only restriction on his authority would be the necessity to make periodic reports to the U.N. general assembly. Since that body will adjourn in December and not meet again until the fall of 1951, the agent-general would have at least a year of supreme command.

The preliminary part of the U.S. resolution calls on the General Assembly to name an advisory commission to consult with Secretary-General Trygve Lie and the present U.N. commission for Korea to select an agent-general.

After this consultation, Lie would make the appointment independently. It would not be subject to ratification by any other U.N. body.

Cabinet Plans Name Arbitrator

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP)—Appointment of an arbitrator to settle the railway wage-hour dispute will be dealt with by cabinet today. The ministers are scheduled to meet at 4 p.m. EDT.

It was understood between 15 and 20 names would go before cabinet for its final choice.

Provision for appointment of arbitrator was made in parliament's Aug. 30 bill that ended a nine-day general rail strike.

The railways, and unions, representing 124,000 employees, were given until last Saturday to work out a settlement.

The negotiations failed to bring about either a wage-hour settlement or agreement on the choice of an arbitrator, leaving it to the government to name the referee.

Red Indian Squadron Will Move To Britain

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP)—Canada's famed Red Indian Fighter Squadron, No. 421, based at Chatham, N.B., will move to the United Kingdom early next year for an operational training tour of several months, air force headquarters announced today.

Both air and ground crew members of the squadron, commanded by Squadron Leader R. T. P. Davidson, DFC, 33, of Vancouver, will make the shift. Present plans call for it to leave its Vampire jet planes in Canada and be provided in the United Kingdom with fighters—probably the same jet types—for training purposes.

Plane Crashes, Rescue Pair In Icy Water

BARRIE, Oct. 17 (CP). — A Toronto doctor and his wife were rescued Monday from the icy waters of Lake Simcoe after clinging for three hours to an overturned plane which crashed on a flight from Toronto to their summer cottage.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Easson Brown were rescued by a lakeshore resident, Joe Smith, who first thought the floating plane was a boat. He found Mrs. Brown, wearing a life jacket, sitting on the plane, her husband clinging to the aircraft with part of his body in the water.

"I saw something bobbing in the water about two miles out in the bay, and I couldn't figure out what it was," Smith said later. "My wife became very curious, and kept insisting some one was in trouble and I should take the launch and go out. I thought she was wrong, but when she kept insisting I got the launch out and made for the object.

In Bad Shape

"When I got near I could see it was an overturned plane bobbing in the choppy water," Smith said. "A woman with a life jacket was clinging to the top of the plane half in and half out of the water. In the water was a man. Both were in bad shape. They told me later they had been in the water about three hours."

Smith had difficulty getting the Browns into his launch, but finally hauled them in and made for shore.

Dr. Brown, a city coroner, and his wife rented a plane at Toronto Island Airport and left for their cottage at Muskoka about noon Monday. A few moments after taking off from the bay the engine failed, and the plane landed in the water.

The aircraft capsized and the occupants were thrown out. The 45-year-old doctor, who has been flying for 20 years, was unable to do more than hang on in the chilly water after helping his wife to get a grip on the plane.

Warns Longer Hours Required In Industry

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)— The man in charge of mobilizing the Untied States for the huge rearmament program says it will mean that Americans must work longer hours, pay still higher taxes and endure "cuts and sacrifices" in their living standard.

And while it may be possible to avoid general wage and price controls if "scare buying" slacks off, W. Stuart Symington said Monday night, "we are getting organized . . . for such price and wage action as may be needed."

But an assurance came today from a top agriculture department official that there is no need at present for price controls on farm commodities.

Likely Avoid Blackout Says Robt. Saunders

TORONTO, Oct. 17 — (CP).— Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, said Monday night the province should be free of power blackout this year. The Commission also hopes to avoid restrictions on such things as store lighting, Mr. Saunders said in an address over a local radio station. He said the Commission has not yet considered restrictions and voluntary savings should be able to avoid them.

CCL-OUTBOARD MEETING

The Canadian Congress of Labor has extended an invitation to Outboard Marine workers to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. tonight in the Legion Hall. Ernest R. Evans, general representative of the CCL, will speak on affiliation and outline the makeup and purpose of the CCL. Two weeks ago at a special meeting of the membership there was an overwhelming vote in favor of affiliation.

Insurance Men Meet In Guthrie

Members of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada from the Simcoe, Muskoka, Owen Sound, Peterborough and Oshawa districts met Saturday at Guthrie, Simcoe County.

W. LaVon Robison, Mutual Life, Duluth, Minnesota, addressed the group on the topic "Salesmanship Can Be Fun."

"There is nothing more interesting than getting to know people and making friends of them. There are many different types of people in the world, and in selling you are bound to meet a great many of them," he said. "These contacts naturally give one a broader outlook and viewpoint which is helpful for anyone."

From Toronto, Leslie W. Dunstall, general manager of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada, stressed the ethical standards set up by the association when speaking on "Your Professional Association." He stressed particularly the part played by the 68 local associations which together form the national association.

"The question of service has been over-emphasized and underworked," said Claude F. Dunfee, branch manager of the Great West Life Assurance Company in Vancouver and notional president of the Life Underwriters Association. He spoke on the subject: "The Man in Salesmanship."

Many life insurance men feel they are rendering service by giving their prospects complicated proposals and a tremendous amount of information that may make them the best-informed prospects in the city, he added.

"I have yet to meet a widow who gathers any satisfaction in knowing her husband was well informed in life insurance matters when the representative hands her a death claim cheque for a small fraction of what it should have been."

Mr. Dunfee's opinion of service is consulting the client in friendly, business-like manner, keeping him informed on current changes, helping him maintain his insurance in force and seeing that he is adequately insured and that insurance is properly arranged.

Other speakers were: Ralph E. Lang, branch manager of the Mutual Life of Canada in Orillia; F. Walter Godwin, manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Toronto; C. W. Mealing, North American Life Assurance Company of Toronto.

Hint Attlee Plans Reshuffle

LONDON, Oct. 17 (Reuters) — Political circles Monday speculated that Prime Minister Attlee may reshuffle his cabinet soon after parliament reopens today for the last few days of its current session.

The health of Ernest Bevin, bulky foreign secretary, and Sir Stafford Cripps, lantern-jawed chancellor of the exchequer, is not good. Political circles are speculating about their future.

Meantime it's a safe bet Winston Churchill's Conservatives will keep the Labor Government —with its seven-man majority in the 625-seat House of Commons —on its toes fighting off opposition attacks for the rest of the sitting.

Hit Open Country

The South Korean 1st Division, in another driving gain, entered Sangwon, 20 air miles south-east of Pyongyang. It, too, was rolling out of the hills into open country.

Correspondent Whitehead said Red troops were throwing down their arms and fleeing into the hills or surrendering.

A cavalry spokesman said the enemy was leaving heavy weapons, anti-tank guns and other equipment beside the road.

On the east coast, South Korean 1st Corps elements were within sight of Hamhung, Korea's great industrial city. Another column speared toward Hungnan, the port of Hamhung.

Resistance Shattered

Organized Red Korean resistance virtually was shattered. The war appeared to be swinging into a great clean-up campaign.

Communist forces fled everywhere before the many-geared Allied juggernaut. They abandoned huge piles of supplies and ammunition.

An air communique said fighters and light bombers today were "alerted to continue the support of friendly ground forces now rapidly driving towards the North Korean capital city."

Good weather above the 38th parallel favored U.S. planes based on Korea, but bad weather delayed the takeoff of Japanese-based planes.

Naval forces supporting troops moving up the east coast announced today that they ran into the biggest mine field they have yet encountered.

While sweepers were clearing existing mine fields, naval forces were trying to prevent more mines being laid as well as continuing their blockade of North Korean points.

Cautious Optimism

But despite these difficulties, there was cautious optimism from ground commanders about reaching the capital.

"No doubt we will be there in a week," Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker, U.S. Eighth Army commander, told war correspondents.

The commnader of the Korean 1st division was more optimistic. If all goes well, said Gen. Piak Sun Yup, the South Koreans will be there in three days.

"We don't intend to stop now," Piak said. "The men are tired but they don't care as long as they move fast.

"When they get to Pyongyang they can sleep for a week . . ."

Drive 20 Miles

AP correspondent Jack MacBeth, with the Korean 1st division, reported that the South Koreans drove 20 miles in 24 hours without resting. So eager were the troops that they ran along the road and only walked uphill or when ordered to do so.

Field dispatches said they split up into two columns after capturing Suan. One drove three miles north toward a main road to the capital. The other west 10 miles toward Hwangju. This column was within less than 34 air miles of Pyongyang, but the road distance was farther.

AP correspondent Leif Erickson, at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters, said British troops were reported in Sariwon, 35 air miles from Pyongyang.

This put the British forces, elements of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Middlesex Regiments, in better positions than the South Koreans.

Koreans Have Tough Job

The South Koreans still were pushing through mountain country, along winding roads. The British forces were in open country, driving along a fairly-straight main artery only slightly longer than the airline distance to the Red capital.

The report to Eighth Army headquarters said the British troops found 300 North Korean dead in Sariwon. Causes of death were not reported.

Two American divisions were close to Sariwon.

The U.S. 1st cavalry was driving west on the road from captured Sohung to Sariwon.

The U.S. 24th division, making a surprising end run through Haeju, was reported within 10 miles of Sariwon on a road leading from the south. The 24th, trail-blazer of the Korean war, had rolled more than 50 miles since Sunday. Elements were reported in Okhyon.

Charges 22 Let Go

Two of the cases were of Windsor women who had escaped trial on serious liquor counts and were instead convicted on lesser charges.

Reduced Charges

Sgt. Browne told the commission that the reduction in charges had been made at the request of the crown attorney's office. Original charges laid by police against Edna White and Edna Cobb of keeping liquor for sale which could have brought jail terms on conviction, were dropped he said. The women pleaded guilty instead to illegal possession of liquor and were fined.

Of other cases checked by the commission—some given only passing notice—Judge Cochrane noted 11 in which bootleggers were convicted and sentenced to jail terms.

Another case was that of Catherine Walika, acquitted on a charge of keeping liquor for sale when the court found insufficient evidence. Sgt. Browne said the woman admitted being in charge of premises where his squad seized 174 bottles of beer, but had refused to sign a statement admitting the fact.

Get Off With Fines

Judge Cochrane, noting the lengthy liquor records of a Windsor couple, Delmar and Kate Hoobler, asked why they had not been charged as second offenders. Conviction as such carries a jail penalty.

Sgt. Browne said he did not know why such charges were not laid.

Hoobler was jailed for two months last year, but other liquor convictions against him and his wife resulted only in fines.

"Quite obviously the imposition of fines isn't sufficient to keep these people from their activities," the judge remarked.

The case records of Albert Begin and Harry Mayville, jointly charged this summer with keeping a bawdy house, were also reviewed. They were acquitted on that charge, but Begin was convicted and sentenced to four months in jail for keeping liquor for sale. He is appealing the case.

Sgt. Browne, said a young auto worker, Mike Nidoff, was wounded at the premises run by the two and added that police had had "a lot of trouble" with Mayville.

Urges Canadians Eat More Cheese

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (CP).—Prime Minister St. Laurent Monday asked Canadians to increase their consumption of cheese.

At a luncheon launching a month-long cheese festival, the Prime Minister noted that Canada consumed four pounds of cheese per capita and the United States eight.

"This is not really fair to the Canadian industry," he said. "It should be possible to convince Canadian people to make greater use of this delicious Canadian product."

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Justice Minister Garson, various trade and agriculture officials, as well as heads of dairy organizations attended the luncheon. It was sponsored by the National Dairy Council.

Mr. Gardiner said it might be news to the outside that the government now has disposed of its stock of about 17,000,000 pounds of cheese, purchased to support the 1949 market. "It has been pretty well taken over by the trade and now on its way to consumers," he added.

Mr. St. Laurent touched on the agricultural industry while wishing the cheese producers every success. He hoped that Canadians would eat more cheese and also more fish, while enjoying their current high degree of prosperity and increased purchasing power.

In Montreal St. Mary's, a seat made vacant after Hon. Gaspard Fauteux was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, there were 34,000 eligible voters.

Mr. Dupuis polled 9,593 votes, compared with 5,237 for Ignace Deslauriers, official Liberal candidate. Pierre Archambault, Independent, got 397 votes; O'Neil-Leonide Gingras, Republican Party, 194; and Emil Naud, another Independent, 81.

Mr. Archambault, Mr. Gingras and Mr. Naud lost their deposits.

Has 359-Vote Lead

In Rimouski, when counting stopped for the night, Mr. Rousseau had a 359-vote lead over Maurice Tessier, the official Liberal candidate. There were still five of 138 polls to report.

Mr. Rousseau had 9,468 votes to 9,109 for Mr. Tessier. Lucien Robitaille, an Independent, was running a poor third with 1,068 votes. There were 27,000 eligible voters.

Mr. Robitaille lost his deposit. The seat was made vacant through the death of Gleason Belzile, a Liberal and parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott.

In the last election, Mr. Belzile polled 11,708 votes to 7,389 for his Progressive Conservative opponent. An Independent Liberal candidate got 3,614 votes and a Union Des Electeurs representative 1,492.

Decided Margin

In Welland, Dr. McMillan polled 19,352 votes to 13,037 for Sam Hughes, Progressive Conservative Welland lawyer. Melvin Swart, CCF, was third with 5,958 votes and Mel Doig, regional organizer for the Communist Labor-Progressive party, fourth with 1,683. There were close to 70,000 eligible voters.

Mr. Swart and Mr. Doig lost their deposits.

The seat was made vacant through the death of Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, former Labor Minister, who had held it from 1942.

The by-election in Welland — the only constituency in which Progressive Conservative and CCF candidates ran—showed that the Liberal majority was reduced, the CCF vote lower, and the total vote down.

A fourth by-election was scheduled for Monday in Joliette-L'Assomption - Montcalm, but Maurice Breton, the Liberal candidate, was declared elected Oct. 3, when his lone opponent withdrew.

Mr. Breton succeeds George Emile Lapalme, who resigned from the Commons to take over the leadership of the Liberal party in Quebec.

Rink Street Area Is Not For Sale

Reference to the use of the market and also marketing accommodation cropped up in three items dealt with by the council Monday night.

One was a petition from G. Norman Moncrief and other requesting that in the proposed transfer of the market to George and Rink streets no action be taken until provision was made for the removal of both the indoor and outdoor sections at the same time.

Council has been disposed to leave the indoor market in occupation of the present hall under the town clock. The petition was sent to the property committee.

Seek To Purchase

An enquiry from Irwin and Godson, Ford dealers, as to purchase of part of the city-owned block opposite the old George St. wharf for the erection of a new building for their sales, garage and other purposes was reported by Mayor Swanston.

Council replied to that feeler with a motion by Alderman Braund and Miller that Irwin and Godson be informed that the city was not interested at present in proposals of purchase.

"That property becomes more valuable all the time," said Ald. Braund.

"You know how I feel about it," said Ald. H. Dodds. "That is one of the most attractive lakes you can find in any city in Canada. You remember the recommendation of the city planning board and Dr. Faludi that Peterborough should own more of its water front properties. It should be a gold mine when the water of Little Lake is cleared up. So, why dispose of it now?"

Ald. Braund: "If we did sell it, where would we put the market?"

Ald. Adam Sands recalled that when the city bought the Allin Ice Co. property, much of it now is the site of the Miller Lacrosse Bowl, it was obtained for park purposes.

Parking Meters

Council also passed a bylaw authorizing the execution of an agreement with Dual Parking Meter Co. for the supply of 100 meters that are to be set up on the market square. Delivery is expected by the end of November. Cost is $85 for each time measuring machine. Installation charge is $3.40 a unit, and the receipts are to be equally divided between the city and the company until the machines are all paid for.

Horton company recommended the type of machine that will take 10 nickels or two quarters to pay for 12 hours of metering, that is 50 cents for 12 hours of parking time.

The "combination will utilize the standard 10-penny indicator assembly on a 12-hour movement, and will result in a customer getting 1-2 hours for each nickel, and six hours of parking for each 25-cent piece."

The alternative of customer payment was a machine taking 12 nickels for 12 hours or two quarters and two nickels for the same time.

"I move that we take the one that operates on 10 nickels or two quarters for 12 hours," said Ald. Braund. That motion was seconded by Ald. Gillespie, and carried.

Industrials Boosted Onto Higher Ground

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (CP) — Steady buying over a broad front boosted industrials with fractional gains into new high ground as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Papers, utilities, banks, foods, and refining oils directed the advance in an otherwise mixed board. Steels, manufacturing companies and liquors were mixed. Agricultures and constructions declined.

The rest of the market went lower with base metals leading. In a sharp reverse from yesterday's big gains base metal leaders like East Sullivan, Falconbridge, Labrador, Sherritt Gordon, Steep Rock and Waite Amulet showed losses up to 35 cents. Consolidated Smelters and Quemont bucked the trend gaining fractions along with Macdonald which traded heavily for a gain of 13 cents at 93 cents.

Western oils also declined with losses up to 20 cents. National Petroleum helped to drag the list down, trading actively for a 19 cent loss. Trading throughout the entire group was very brisk.

Golds weakened quietly. Senior producers were mixed while junior producers showed a majority of small losses.

Fire Destroys Barn, Chicks At Fife's Bay

BRIDGENORTH, Oct. 17 (ENS) —Fire destroyed the barn on the Fife's Bay farm of L. Meenhardt, Monday night. Two calves, 16 pigs, and 1,400 fowl were lost in the blaze.

Meenhardt, whose farm is about a half-mile from a narrow bay off southern Lake Chemong, said he spotted a red flash in his hay-mow about 8 p.m. and telephoned the Bridgenorth fire station immediately.

Twenty-two firefighters from Bridgenorth and Smith brigades answered the alarm. But the barn was almost burned to the ground when they arrived.

Meenhardt said he had no idea how the fire started. He said he was just going out to water the chickens when he noticed the blaze.

Before the barn burned, Mr. and Mrs. Meenhardt and their 14-year-old son saved three sows and 37 pigs, but one sow, 15 pigs, two calves, 500 seven-weeks-old chicks and 900 brooders were burned.

Insurance on the barn amounted to $2,000. The farm was formerly the property of Victor Fife.

Asks For Six Months Man Given 15 Days

Harold Brady, 48, no fixed address, who spent 22 of the last 30 days in city police cells as a lodger, in court this morning asked for six months in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

"How much time can you give me; six months?" Brady asked Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

"You want to get out before then don't you?" the magistrate commented.

"No. Why be out and around the streets in the slush and snow?" Brady answered. He said he had no family in the city. He added that he would work, but he couldn't get a job.

He was fined $15 and costs or 15 days. He took the 15 days.

Alderville Church Observes Anniversary

ROSENEATH, Oct. 17.—(ENS).—Anniversary services were held in Alderville United Church on Sunday. The Rev. J. N. Lovelace, pastor, conducted both services. The Rev. Preston Brown of Camborne was the special speaker at the afternoon service.

Alderville choir, with Mrs. Norman Marsden at the organ, contributed an anthem, Miss Lorene Linton, Harwood, was guest soloist, and Miss Barbara Bates was her accompanist. The afternoon service closed with the Rev. R. C. White pronouncing the benediction.

The Rev. H. G. Lester of Warkworth was the special speaker at the evening service. A mixed choir of 20 voices, the choir of Warkworth United Church, with Mrs. Douglas Knight at the organ, were in charge of the service of song and contributed two anthems. H. Camborne pronounced the benediction at the evening service.

The church was decorated with early autumn flowers.

Complainant Knew Cheque Not Covered

COBOURG, Oct. 17 (ENS)—Two charges, one of theft and one of false pretenses, against Chester Schofield of Peterborough, were dismissed in police court yesterday. He was charged with theft of $350 from Marguerite Warner of Percy Township, during the period, November, 1949 and February, 1950 and with obtaining credit to the amount of $350 by false pretenses from Cyril Haynes of Cobourg on May 1.

In connection with the theft charge, Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the magistrate that restitution had been made for the amount involved and that the complainant had asked to have the charge withdrawn. Upon the recommendation of Mr. Deyman that this be done, the charge was dismissed.

The revelation that the complainant was aware that there were not sufficient funds behind a cheque he had accepted for payment of a car sold to the accused, resulted in the false pretense charge being dismissed. Mr. Haynes testified that in the spring of the year he sold Schofield a car, the accused being a traveller at the time for a tea company. The cheque was for $750 and Schofield asked him to hold it for a few days so that he could see that there was enough money in the account to cover it. The cheque was duly presented and returned unpaid. In June he received a telegram from Schofield that the car had been sold and that he would call in to see him. However the visit did not materialize, to his knowledge, and nothing happened until he found the car in his yard one night in August. The ownership card, which had not been transferred by Schofield, was on the steering wheel.

"When he got the car he told me that he might have to sell it to get the money," related the complainant.

"There is not enough evidence, in view of this, to warrant a conviction," interposed Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

"It is apparent that the complainant had knowledge of the deficiency in the account," the magistrate said in dismissing the charge.

Major Cashiered

HONG KONG, Oct. 17 (AP)—A British major Monday was cashiered out of the army and sentenced to 18 months in prison by a court-martial. Maj. Eric Hodget pleaded guilty to misappropriating several thousand Hong Kong dollars in army funds.

Farouk Heads Home

CATANIA, Sicily, Oct. 17 — (Reuters)—King Farouk of Egypt left Catania Monday for Alexandria, Egypt, in his private yacht. He has had a month's tour of fashionable European vacation resorts.

INFLATION A THREAT—Hugh Gaitskell, left, Britain's minister of economic affairs, held confidential talks with Finance Minister Abbott during his visit to Ottawa. One of the main topics of the talks, he told a press conference, was the deep concern of Britain and other European countries over inflation and possible scarcity of strategic items which may hit European defence planning.

Mrs. Fallis Elected Deanery Officer

BETHANY Oct. 17—(ENS)—Victoria County deanery appointed Mrs. McNichol, president of Lindsay Senior WA deanery officer, at Bobcaygeon Thursday. She was appointed to succeed Mrs. J. J. Hamilton of Bethany.

Mrs. Reginald Fallis, president of Millbrook WA, was appointed deputy deanery officer.

A choral service and holy communion was held at the morning session, the Rev. A. Chote of Millbrook delivering the sermon and holy communion being given by Rural Dean Hasketh, assisted by Mr. Berkley of Coboconk, Mr. Skuce of Cannington and Mr. T. S. Gault of Bethany.

The afternoon session opened with Mrs. J. J. Hamilton presiding. Mrs. M. McNichol of Lindsay read the scripture and Mrs N. Nie of Dunsford gave a short address of welcome. The speakers for the afternoon were Mrs. Frisby, who gave information on literature available for Women's Auxiliaries; Mrs. N. Priestman, the diocesan treasurer, and Mrs. Henry Marsh, president of the Arctic Women's Auxiliary.

The two appeals presented were for funds for the nurses' residence at Aklavik and for the Abuse Sanitoriam in Japan. The offering received amounted to $50.90, and a vote decided to divide this equally between the two causes. After votes of thanks expressed to the Bobcaygeon branch, all speakers and the deanery officer, the rural dean closed the meeting.

The ladies of Christ Church in Bobcaygeon served luncheon, and at the close of the afternoon session, all were invited to the parish hall for refreshments.

At the invitation of Miss N. Nye, it was decided to hold next year's meeting at Fenelon Falls.

Family Reunion On 80th Birthday

WARKWORTH, Oct. 17. — (ENS)—A family reunion of 25 members of the immediate family of Mrs. John Dick, formerly of Warkworth, was held on Sunday in Toronto in honor of her 80th birthday.

Mrs. Dick, whose maiden name was Agnes Yule, was born in Arbroth, Scotland, Oct. 15, 1870. She came to Canada with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Yule Sr. and settled near Brickley, where they set up farming. She had seven brothers and four sisters.

She was married to John Dick of Warkworth January 23, 1888, and they moved to Chicago, Ill., where they lived for about 20 years, returning to Warkworth in 1906, where Mr. Dick followed the blacksmith trade until his death in 1934.

They were active members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Warkworth, until Church Union, when they became members of St. Paul's United Church, Warkworth.

Mrs. Dick has been living with her daughter, Mrs. Fred White, at Vineland, Ont., since 1946.

She has four sons: Jim Dick of Chicago, Ill., Jack, George and Tom Dick in Toronto; and four daughters: Mrs. Harold Insley (Anne) and Mrs. A. P. Sayles (Margaret) of Warkworth, Mrs. Fred White (Agnes) of Vineland and Mrs. Cecil Ball (Janet) of Port Credit. One daughter, Mary Dick, died in February, 1921, in her 9th year.

Mrs. Mary Bolster, 74, of Cobourg, is a sister and was present at the birthday party.

Mrs. Dick has 20 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Identity Of Body Still Unknown

COBOURG, Oct. 17 — (ENS)—The transient found dead on the lakeshore just east of Port Hope Monday by two duck hunters has not yet been identified. The body was brought to Cobourg, but there was nothing in the clothing to indicate the man's name.

The body was discovered by William Gallagher and George Smith of Cobourg. Sixty years of age or thereabouts, he was dressed in a dark suit that had seen considerable wear. Height was 5 feet 8 inches, and he was of moderate build, with grey hair.

There were no signs of death, other than by drowning. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine investigated.

Jail Sentences For Three Youths Total Ten Months

COBOURG, Oct. 17 (ENS) — Howard Sandford, age 21, of Belleville, was sentenced to six months definite and three months indefinite in reformatory when he appeared in police court Monday on remand for sentence for robbery.

Charged also with robbery, Ronald Elliott, 17, of Belleville was sentenced to three months in jail and Garth Badgely, 22, of Cannifton was sentenced to one month in jail. The trio was found guilty of robbing Nicholas Sispatol of $108 in Seymour township on August 7, while on a drinking party.

"You beat a man up, take his money from him, hire a taxi and leave him on the road," Magistrate R. B. Baxter declared. "It has all the appearance of having been well-planned.

"Sanford, you have a record. It has been a principle with me that if a man goes straight after a term in jail he has learned his lesson. The time you have served in jail apparently did not have the desired effect because you got into more trouble."

Sues For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (AP)—Movie and radio actress Hattie McDaniel sued Monday to divorce Larry C. Williams, interior decorator she married in 1949. The Negro character actress charges that Williams was cruel to her. She asks restoration of her maiden name.

Anniversary Services Held At Oak Heights

WARKWORTH, Oct. 17 (ENS)—Anniversary services at Oak Heights United Church were held on Sunday and were attended by people from the surrounding communities.

The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of St. John's United Church, Campbellford, was guest speaker.

Mrs. L. Tucker was at the piano at the morning service and Ferne Killingbeck and Eleanor McMurdo sang a duet. Joan and Mona Taylor sang a duet and Eleanor McMurdo sang a solo.

In the evening Miss Laurel Arkils of Castleton was soloist. A women's quartette from Castleton also sang and Mrs. H. Allen of Castleton was pianist.

Clare Copperthwaite of Dartford who has been assistant carpenter to his father in the building of the church 59 years ago was present at the evening service.

The Logs Ride to the Mill on the Spring flood....

When the ice has disappeared from the lakes and rivers in the spring months, the logs are completely boomed and towed across lakes to mills. Where rivers or creeks exist between lakes the logs must go over dams as here shown in cut taken from dam at the head of Eagle Creek looking north. As the boom is drawn in, logs must be guided into mouth of log sluice.

Eagle Creek looking south from dam. Logs have just come down log chute and are being carried downstream by current. These will travel about 2½ miles and be put into booms again at Little Gold Lake, towed to Ratv's Narrows, cut loose and again boomed where the outlet of Lake Catchacoma joins Mississauga or Gull Lake These booms of logs are then towed by boat to the Peterborough Lumber Cavendish Mill and stored in blocks until mill operations commence—generally the first week in May.

The Taxi Bylaw

A new taxi by-law has been promulgated in Peterborough. It is chiefly a revision of the old by-law, to bring the terms into line with present-day conditions. The amount of insurance which owners are required to carry has been increased; there are modifications of rules governing drivers' working hours. One contentious new clause is that requiring the finger-printing of all cab drivers. Some of the taxi men feel that they are being branded, like criminals. They should not be unduly worried on that score, for there are more than a million Canadians now fingerprinted, and most of them never have been and never will be inside a jail. Every man and woman who served in the Canadian armed services during the war was fingerprinted.

* * *

Police, orderly-minded civil servants and all people who love records, favour the finger-printing of every man alive. For that matter, some of these enthusiasts would like to have ever human and his actions ticketed from the womb to death and disintegration. They forget that what raises men above brutes and machines is their unaccountability. Finger-printing can be carried too far. The Dutch, an orderly nation with a businesslike regard for statistics, had voluminous files, including fingerprints, on the entire populace, all centred in a tiny Records Office. The Germans walked in, took over the files, and had complete information on all people who would possibly be unfriendly to their regime. We shudder to think what would happen if Ottawa were over-run and the enemy got its hands on the R.C.M.P. files.

* * *

The finger-printing regulation of the new taxi by-law merely adds another score or two of prints to the national collection. It will be of no value to the passenger in identifying his driver. The driver's licence, with his picture attached thereto, will be sufficient identification, for the by-law requires the licence to be placed in the interior of the cab, where it will be clearly visible to the passenger.

* * *

One aspect of the taxi by-law overlooked by most people is this: it is a by-law passed by the Police Commission. The elected City Council has nothing to do with it. The Police Commission is an appointed body of three: the Judge, the Police Magistrate and the Mayor, as Chief Magistrate of the city. Its authority to regulate taxi cab operation is given by the Municipal Act, an act passed by the Ontario Legislature which is increasingly taking away from municipalities the right to run their own affairs. We freely admit that people in a democracy are reluctant to rule themselves entirely. They are always setting up authorities over themselves and allowing those in authority to take more authority. It can be argued that an appointed Police Commission is the best body to sit over such public services as taxis, that nominated boards are less likely to be moved by local sectional pressures, and more likely to legislate without bias for the whole public good in such matters, than are boards dependent for their authority on the caprice of electors. But there is a limit beyond which this benefit becomes an evil, and people in a democratic city or state must ever be watchful that it is not overstepped, as it was in Germany, as it is in Russia. When a Police Commission can require licence fees and prescribe their amounts (Section 6 of the by-law) we feel that municipal government, as determined by the paternalistic Ontario Government, is leaning towards police state methods rather than towards political democracy.

Another Neglected Problem

"Down through the years, very little has been done about the problem of the after-dinner speaker who does not know when to stop", says the Montreal Gazette. True, but another problem, even more shamefully neglected, is the problem of the after-dinner speaker who doesn't want to begin.

There are in every part of Canada numberless clubs, associations and fellowships, most of which do some kind of admirable work. But they all have one deplorable characteristic in common — they want people to make speeches to them.

Now it is an honour to be asked to speak to these bodies, but the preparation of a speech worth hearing is a long business. There are professional speakers—university presidents, public relations men and the like—who are always full of oratory; they can pour out a speech without any appreciable depletion. But the ordinary mortal has to prepare his speech, he has to sweat and stew all morning before he makes it, and then he has to sit through a luncheon, or a dinner, with the dismal consciousness upon him that the time is drawing nearer and nearer when he will have to get up and say his piece.

A good speech is a work of art, but good speeches are uncommon. Would it not be better to find some other form of entertainment at luncheons and dinners —twenty minutes of recorded music, for instance—and leave in peace those unhappy wretches who are now asked, all too often, to speak?

Dignity In Civil Marriage

The Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Huron recently sent a resolution to the provincial government asking that the civil marriage service now in force in Ontario be cloaked with greater dignity; it asked that the solemnity and importance of the marriage bond be emphasized, and wanted an obligatory clause in the service compelling the contracting parties to promise "to love and to cherish, and to be faithful to his or her spouse, to the exclusion of all others, as long as they both shall live."

This is an odd demand. Does the Huron diocese observe a disagreeable lack of dignity and solemnity in our Ontario legal proceedings? We have not done so. On the contrary, we have often had occasion to comment on the dignified manner in which our courts and public offices are ordered. Judges and magistrates, we feel, may be trusted to give marriages a proper dignity, and certainly they will not permit musical comedy music, operatic selections and cheap ballads to be played in their courts, as the clergy do at weddings in their churches.

As to the adjuration to love, be faithful and seek no divorce, we think it unnecessary in a civil marriage service. Many of those who seek it will do so because they have been divorced before; are they to be asked to make a vow which they have already shown that they have not been able to keep in one instance? As for love and affection, the law has no more power to compel it than the church.

Now that civil marriage has been instituted in Ontario, with the approval of many churches. The church would do well to let it alone. They cannot have their cake and eat it.

Getting Curtains To Fit The Windows

The Iron Curtain is familiar in our ears as a noisome household word. Now some enterprising American reporter has got a curtain for the communist world's eastern window: The Bamboo Curtain. Perhaps it is time to invent a curtain to put around the Western world, particularly the U.S.A.: the star-spangled curtain. This would, of course, be a night piece, very dark, with only the feeble light of stars from outside the curtained area coming through. Certainly it would keep out any red dawn from the East.

Advertising On A Dollar Bill

We are now looking at a dollar bill which advertises somebody's bait. The advertisement—the firm's name—is overprinted in purple ink along the top edge of the bill. We do not know whether this is an isolated instance, somebody in an office playing with a rubber stamp, or whether every dollar bill on which this firm lays its hands is similarly stamped. We do know, however, that it is a legal offence to deface bank notes in this way, and that there is a penalty of $20 for doing it. If the small firm is looking for a new advertising trick, it had better not perpetrate that trick again.

NOTE AND COMMENT

At the North Pole, where every direction is South, there is no East or West. Just the place to begin Canadian unity.

The latest look for women, we read in a fashion article, is "the pedestal look". Surely women aren't trying to clamber back onto that old thing?

A doctor has announced in a public speech that it is quite possible for one man to give another (psychiatrically speaking) a pain in the neck. And thus science continues its stumbling pursuit of common sense.

We read in a Toronto paper's article on the changes in the Ontario Liquor boards this sentence: "After the issuance of the new licences which came into being with the legislation permitting cocktail bars, has come a period of digestion." Come to think of it, we have never heard that liquor caused indigestion.

Labour's Margate Conference

By WILLIAM CLARK

THIS is the season of the year when everyone has finished his summer holiday and the seaside resorts are empty but not yet quite closed up. It is the time, too, at which the political parties have their annual conferences to prepare for the new session of Parliament, and as a rule they take over the empty hotels at the seaside and enjoy any Indian summer the British climate may vouchsafe. So far this year the Liberals have met at Scarborough, the Labour Party has just finished at Margate, and now the Conservatives are starting at Blackpool.

◇ ◇ ◇

BY its constitution the Labour Party pays more attention than the other parties to its annual conference, which elects the party Executive and prepares its programmes, and on which the whole machinery of the party in the country centres. One noticeable thing about each Labour Party conference since 1945—when the Party came to power—is the growth of the Cabinet's influence and prestige. At first the conference really thought of the Cabinet as being almost its servant, whose main duty was to carry out party policies. Now there is a far clearer realization of the fact that the Cabinet's duty is to govern the country in the interest of the whole nation. Socialist Members of Parliament and most of the Trade Union leaders are fully aware of the need to temper their doctrine to suit the national needs. But there is stil the rank and file. One of the most interesting features at Margate this year was to see the spluttering of discontent amongst the privates in Labour's Army, and the prompt and united answer it got from the officers, so to speak, of every rank.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE main cause of discontent was over conscription, and the high cost of defence. After all this was the Jubilee of the Labour Party; it had been founded as a Parliamentary party just 50 years ago by Keir Hardie—and the best known saying of Keir Hardie was that "Conscription was the badge of slavery". And so it naturally seemed very disillusioning that a Socialist Government should be introducing more conscription in peace time, and a heavy bill for rearmament. The reply came very loud and clear, first from the Chairman of the Conference, and then from the Prime Minister, and, finally, most emphatically, from Mr. Bevin himself. They pointed out that British working men now had all the gains of socialism to defend, and they needed defence from the threats of a Russia which might call its state socialist but whose policies were imperialist. On a vote Mr. Bevin's foreign policy was endorsed by a far larger majority—about six to one—than ever before.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT there was a special reason why, this time, the Foreign policy resolution went so well. Partly it was the threatening situation. Korea in particular has been a shock to those who thought the Communist powers were non-aggressive. Then there was the personality of Mr. Bevin himself, just recovered from his illness, who made a most remarkable personal impression. But above all it was the new line about Asia that caught the imagination and won the enthusiasm of the Conference.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE new line, which is not so very new, is best outlined in the pamphlet "Labour and the New society", which speaks of a world scheme for Mutual Aid. This was commented on by many speakers and interpreted as meaning in the first instance plans by the Western World to help Southern Asia, that is, those parts of Asia which are not Communist dominated. Since a Commonwealth Conference was actually discussing such a plan while the Labour Party Conference was meeting, there was a feeling that here was something constructive—something that was helping the oppressed and which was being done under British Labour leadership. It was very shrewd, too, of Mr. Bevin to speak of our need to deny ourselves to help our friends in Asia, because self-denial is still necessary though Labour is often afraid it is being self-denying only to help the rich.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN fact that fear was the basis of most of the grumbling about home affairs. Inevitably many Trades Union representatives were distressed, and said so, at the rising cost of living and the continuance of the Government's wage restraint order. Their distress is increased by two things: first, the news that our gold and dollar reserves have doubled, which seems to make austerity less necessary, and secondly, by the fact that the relaxed restrictions on food, petrol and so on of the past six months have mostly helped the middle classes and the rich rather than the worker. They wanted to know if the working man's restraint was the profiteer's opportunity.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT is certainly true that so-called "full-blooded socialism" might do far more to soak the rich and for a time divide up the result among workers. But the present Labour Government clearly feels that this would not benefit the country as a whole. Secondly, Mr. Herbert Morrison in particular would feel that any such policy was fatal to Labour's re-election, because to get re-elected Labour needs middle class votes. So you get a tug-of-war between the old line of many Labour supporters which kept them going in the years of opposition—the idea of equal shares for all; and on the other side the doctrine of the Labour Government faced with the problems of running the country and making it economically sound—the doctrine of fair shares for all. There's a great difference. That particular problem was solved by a verbal compromise in which the Executive (which virtually means the Government) promised to look into the limitation of profits.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE was a similar sort of compromise over the even more exciting question of nationalization. It may well be true that within the party Mr. Aneurin Bevan stands for a vigourous leftist policy which would include more nationalization and Mr. Herbert Morrison stands for caution and time in which to get the already nationalized industries working properly. But at the Conference all was harmony. Bevan and Morrison appeared fully agreed that at the moment there should be no time-table for nationalization; no promises one way or the other.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN fact, looking at the Conference as a whole, I would say that its great defect was that there was too much compromise, too little leadership. After all, with a rearmament programme looming ahead, the Government of this country is going to have to take some very hard decisions. There was little talk about that in public at Margate. The price of unity was often agreement not to define what they were united about.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT of course it is true that on the whole political rallies of this sort are not meant to be policy-making affairs. Their object is to ensure that no great gap exists between the leaders and the rank and file. In that way this conference was a great success. The hero of the conference was not the fiery Aneurin Bevan, nor the skilful Herbert Morrison, nor Ernest Bevin with his amazing ability to capture an audience. No, the man who got most cheers was Clement Attlee, the modest middle-of-the-road middle class socialist who has been Prime Minister for five and a half years.

◇ ◇ ◇

THAT seems to me to indicate that on the whole the Party is in close agreement with the Government drawn from its midst. Or, to get that another way, the Government which, with a small majority in Parliament and great problems at home and abroad, has a difficult enough task, need not worry about its own supporters. They are loyal, and the Government can concentrate on carrying out policies which may help to convince the electorate as a whole that they are worth retaining in office.

HAY FOOT, STRAW FOOT?

Chinese Christians

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

A broadcast on the official Peiping radio indicates that Chinese Communists have set in motion their program for the "reform" of Christian churches and missions in China. This is based on a state and church declaration signed since July by religious leaders, pastors, and students.

Under this declaration Christian churches and institutions throughout China must "rid themselves of all imperialist influence"—an indication that missionaries suffer from "guilt by association" at the hands of the Communists since they come from "imperialist" countries, though their works have been the antithesis of colonialism.

The National Christian Council of China recently pointed out that the Christian church, though small in numbers, had first promoted popular education in China, including education for women, for workingmen, and for farmers. This church, the council added, must continue to serve the people "with Christian faith and in Christian love."

This it must do henceforth, apparently on Chinese resources; for another point of the official program is that no further financial support must be accepted from abroad. American officials still are hopeful that some welfare assistance will be permitted, but essentially the Christian movement in China now must survive on its own resources.

These are slender, even meagre in material terms, and there will be governmental pressure to take over schools if not other institutions. But the spiritual resources of those Chinese who have become Christians and who now must bear witness to their faith are literally inestimable.

Members of western nations have long been generous in tangible ways toward Chinese Christendom. Now it is their opportunity to give intangibly but nonetheless genuinely by their prayers that Chinese Christians may be fortified with wisdom as well as courage to meet the tests before them.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me. For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God....

As for God, his way is perfect: the world of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him....It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect....Therefore will I give thanks unto thee, O Lord, among the heathen, and sing praises unto thy name. (Ps. 18: 20, 21, 30, 32, 49.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Consider and hear me, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, lest I sleep the sleep of death. (Ps. 13: 3.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff comfort me. (Ps. 23: 4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles. (Ps. 43: 3.)

Unconsidered Trifles

It was a wet and bitterly cold night when Dr. Lucas was called to the home of Farmer Smithers. The head of the household was down with a severe cold that threatened to turn into pneumonia.

"All he wants, all he can think of," reported his faithful wife, "is hot punch".

"All right," the doctor agreed. "Let him have it. Fix it up and let me see it."

In a little while Mrs. Smithers came into the bedroom, bearing a large bowl of smoking punch. The doctor examined it, smelled it and then drank it down.

"Yes, that's just right," he agreed, smacking his lips. "Now go back and make him one exactly like it—but only half as much."

Truth And Facts

(Windsor Star)

Cleaving a hair neatly down the middle, a British scientist points out that the so-called "truth serum" is wrongly named. It cannot make a witness tell the truth, he said, for the reason that it cannot impart to him facts that he doesn't know. It can only cause him to give honest replies.

As this is what a "truth serum" is popularly understood to do, the misrepresentation is negligible, indeed, as the deception in an oath which calls upon a witness to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

The law recognizes that he can do no more than state what he believes to be the truth. That his testimony may fall some distance short of accuracy does not leave him open to a charge of perjury. If his evidence is honest, that is all the law asks or has a right to ask.

While the British scientist is setting terms and definitions right he might also take a crack at the old saw, "In vino veritas." According to his precise viewpoint there can be no truth in the influence of wine; so the time has come to recast the axiom as "in wine, honesty," or whatever that is in Latin.

Canada Needs More Engineers

EDMONTON, Oct. 17—(CP)—There is "a national need for young engineers to open up this country," James A. Vance, of Woodstock, Ont., president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, said in an address Monday.

Mr. Vance made the statement to rebuke "those who express concern about positions for the large number of graduating engineers."

"I hope that our universities will continue to graduate a large number of engineers," said Mr. Vance, on a tour of the society's 5 branches. Nine out of 10 graduating engineers were finding employment in the dominion.

There is need of opportunity for engineers for water supply systems supplying farms and small villages; design and construction of rural telephone lines for small companies; facilities for servicing, repairing and improving farm and electrical equipment and the many branches of the construction industry.

Says Ad Policy Too Limited, Losing Money

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17—(AP)—Profit margins of newspapers have been narrowed by lagging advertising rates and increased publishing costs, the comptroller of The Montreal Standard said Monday.

A. K. Buckland said publishing policies with regard to advertising have been "too conservative," while publishing costs have been rising steadily.

Speaking before 200 persons at the third annual meeting of the Institute of Newspaper Controllers and Finance Officers, he recommended that publishers reduce costs by eliminating waste and streamlining operations.

To do this in the advertising department, he said, newspapers should investigate the individual efforts of each salesman, insure that advertising agencies respect the company deadlines, encourage advertisers to use repeat ads whenever possible and analyze linages by accounts to ascertain the causes of decreases.

In the advertising promotion department, he advised reviewing the services extended to clients in advertising promotion work and discouraging placing of ads for benevolent or good-will purposes.

Buckland suggested that economies in circulation promotion can best be effected by breaking down the field into individual units and using budgets.

Clark A. Renwick, auditor of the Detroit Free Press, was named president of the institute, to succeed H. B. Crump, controller of the Newspaper Printing Corporation of Nashville, Ont.

F. W. Pollard, secretary of the Brantford Expositor, was named a director.

Own Sense Of Justice Jails Soldier Again

WINDSOR, Oct. 17 (CP). — Harold Kennedy, who claims he is a victim of his own sense of justice, is in trouble again.

For the second time in a week, army authorities from London came to the Windsor jail to pick up the 26-year-old soldier for being absent without leave.

Kennedy was first arrested by city police last week at the request of military officials who said he was A.W.L. He was taken to London where he decided that he had been wrongly arrested.

There was only one thing to do, Kennedy told Windsor police. He escaped army detention to return to Windsor and try to clear his name.

"It's all a repetition of the first mistake," Kennedy said. "I'm an innocent man."

Marmora Population Assessed At 1,081

MARMORA, Oct. 17—(ENS)—The population of the village of Marmora is officially assessed at 1,081 following the Ontario population census.

In 1948, the figure was 1,023, and in 1949, 1,037.

Charge Is Dismissed

A charge of attempted indecent assault against James Wannan, 29, Little St., was dismissed in police court Monday.

Wannan was charged with the offence in connection with a 19-year-old girl and also with supplying her, a minor, with liquor.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., dismissed the charge on the grounds that there was not sufficient evidence corroborating the girl's story.

Disastrous Climb

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17 (AP)—A mass attempt to climb lofty Popocatepetl volcano during the weekend resulted in two deaths, 10 serious and 400 minor injuries, Red Cross alpine squad reported today. Some 5,000 mountain climbers planned the mass ascent of the 17,887-foot peak to attend a religious ceremony. A blinding snowstorm hit the peak while the climbers were on it.

Old Omemee Boy Dies In North Bay

NORTH BAY, Oct. 17—(CP)—Robert Lawrence (Larry) Lamb, 71, former assistant superintendent of the Ontario Northland Railways, died Sunday at Three Rivers, Que. The funeral and burial will be here Wednesday.

Mr. Lamb started his CNR career as a telegraph operator. He became chief dispatcher and then asistant superintendent. When he retired seven years ago because of illness, he was superintendent of transportation. He opened the first CNR station at New Liskeard.

He was born at Omemee. Surviving are his widow, a son Donald, North Bay, a daughter, Mrs. Murray Wilson, Toronto, a sister, Mrs. W. G. English, Toronto, and a brother, W. J. Lamb of Peterborough.

Traffic Deaths Down

TORONTO, Oct. 17 — (CP) — There were 51 less traffic deaths in Ontario during the first nine months of this year as compared with the same period in 1949. Highways Minister Doucett said Monday. A department survey showed 543 were killed in automobile accidents to the end of September, 1950, compared with 594 to the end of September, 1949.

Contesting Will

TORONTO, Oct. 17 — (CP) — Judgment was reserved on an appeal against the will of the late Col. Edmund Newcombe, Ottawa lawyer killed in an auto accident. The will, leaving 42 per cent of the $195,000 estate to hospitals and universities, was contested by his widow and children, claiming he was of unsound mind when it was made.

Kissing Can Be Costly

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 — (CP) — Kissing can be costly. Jean Marlow, 20, of Cornwall, appeared in magistrate's court here Monday and was fined $15 and costs for attempting to kiss a woman on a street car Saturday night. The charge—disorderly conduct.

Lawn Bowling Club Closes With Banquet and Dance

Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club annual meeting, at Club Aragon Monday evening, will probably be recorded in the annals of the club as the biggest and best ever. About 225 arrived for the banquet at six-thirty o'clock.

The plan of combining the banquet, entertainment and business went over in big style and the committee in charge are to be congratulated.

Entertainment, which immediately followed the meal, was a real treat—the talent from Toronto, with Joe Murphy as master of ceremonies, was exceptionally good.

Mrs. Margaret Munn, "Miss Canada 1949," rendered several solos that were well received and Ted Rust, ventriloquist, with his friend "Pat," put on a fine performance. Stanley Northrop was their pianist.

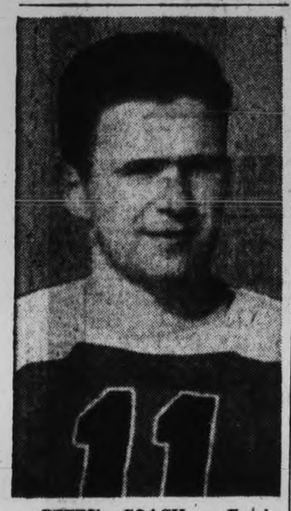
In opening the business session president Stanley Shields spoke in glowing terms of the support he had received.

Reports from both the ladies' and the men's section contained no criticism of any kind, which spoke well for the club management.

Mrs. F. Staunton spoke on behalf of the ladies, and praised all who had helped in any way during the past season.

The big item, as usual, was the election of a new board. There was great interest shown as the scrutineers reported the following elected for a two-year term:

H. Beatty, A. Black, J. Fitzpatrick and W. Jeffries, after an absence of one year.



For one-year term: Dan Anderson, a newcomer on the board, and Judge S. L. Smoke and H. Freeman, after an absence of two years.

Ladies elected the following officers: president, Mrs. L. Ackford; membership, Mrs. H. Helson; games, Mrs. H. Wilson; secretary, Mrs. D. Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. J. Adams.

Messrs. W. W. Jeffries and R. Gamble were re-elected nominating committee and Geo. Soulby and K. McVittie auditors.

After prizes had been distributed to winning rinks, the annual meeting for 1950 was adjourned and dancing commenced.

Among out-of-town visitors noticed: from Belleville, C. Argue, president, Provincial Lawn Bowling Association, and Mrs. Argue; Mr. and Mrs. H. Cross and Mrs. C. Mott; from Port Perry, M. Letcher, chairman, Provincial District No. 14, and Mrs. Letcher; Mr. and Mrs. T. Harris and T. Conant; from Port Hope, Mr. and Mrs. R. McTaggart and Miss Margaret McTaggart.

PETES' COACH — Frank (Drake) Jopling last night was named playing coach of the Petes' senior "B" hockey squad for the 1950-51 season. Husky Drake, long a fast-skating and good blocking defenceman for junior, intermediate and senior teams here, saw action for several years with New York Rovers. A talented player, he is also a popular one with teammates.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggists.

Cobourg Gains Grid Win In Junior "B"

Overpowered by weight both in the backfield and on the line, PCVS Garnet and Grey thirds dropped their second straight on Monday night at the Oval 20-0 to the Cobourg High.

Several fumbles helped the bigger lads from Cobourg as they cashed in twice for major scores. Throughout the game Art Round, Garth Douglas and Art McIntosh chopped with knees high through the small PCVS line. Harry Sirret, a player more of the PCVS size, made the longest and nicest jaunt of 40 yards earlier in the first to set Cobourg up for the first touchdown.

Sleeper plays nearly carried the lakeshore high into the junior playdowns last year. For the first time in three starts the Cobourg gridders began to sprinkle their play with the old timer. Twice out of four times it worked, once for a touchdown off a no-huddle play.

Passing So-So

Both teams failed to set the world on fire with a passing offensive. The Garnet and Greys conected once, that pass going for five yards from half-pint Art Batley to half-pint Garry Kearns. The Cobourg air attack was good for only two complete (both on sleepers) out of 11 attempted.

Sirret's long run settled the Cobourg team early. But forced to kick they did and the ball was fumbled at the four-yard line by PCVS and recovered by Cobourg. After McIntosh was stopped at the two, Neil Cain crossed on a quarter sneak.

Midway through the second after PCVS took possession on their own 35 Garth Douglas pulled down a Bob Batley pass and tore down the sideline for the second major which went unconverted.

Another PCVS fumble, this time at the 45-yard line, provided the setting for the third score. Douglas grabbed the loose ball and went 20 yards. Round and McIntosh plunged to the PCVS 12. A no-huddle sleeper play caught the PCI'ers napping, Cain pasing to Douglas for the five points. Again the convert attempt foiled.

Big McIntosh early in the fourth began to roll again and on one play got over 1 yards of territory. After Cain went for several yards McIntosh swept around the end for the final points.

The teams will meet again on Saturday morning in Cobourg.

The line-ups:

Cobourg High— Flying wing, Sirret; halves, Douglas Found, McIntosh; quarter, Cain; centre, Calnan; insides, Campbell, Bayman; middles, Harden, Pearse; outsides, Niles, Morris; alternates, Wilson, Jim Allen, Jack Allen, Spalding, Ward, McIvor, Galbraith, Finley, Delaney, Brisban, Lake.

PCVS — Flying wing, Goodson; halves, Pammett, Bloom, Delahey; quarter, Batley; centre, Keating; insides, Parry, Walker; middles, Speirs, Brotherston; outsides, Nickson, Eastwood; alternates, H. Stewart, Lynch, Ash, J. Stewart, Cubica, Merrett, Lundy, Reader, McPhee, Rose, Kearns.

By DON GRANT

Today the eighth signal for interference will be continued.

Where a ball is kicked either from the kickoff or from a scrimmage, players of the defending side may interfere with any opponent attempting to follow down the kick but only when (i) on the kickoff, in a zone extending from the line of kickoff for a distance of 20 yards in advance towards the defending side's goal-line, but only those players of the defending side who are within the area between the 20-yard limit rule and a line 10 yards closer to the line of kickoff and who have not left that area, may interfere in this zone until the ball is dead and when (ii) on the kick from scrimmage in a zone one yard on each side of the line of scrimmage. Penalty in either case is the ball goes as a first down where the foul occurred.

When neither side has possession and the rule is violated, the ball will be given to the non-offending side as a first down.

It is not permissible to interfere in any way with any player of either team eligible to catch a pass. Players of the defending side may interfere only within one yard of their own side of the line of scrimmage. An infraction of the rule will be loss of ball where the offence occurred.

If the defending team commits illegal interference behind its goal-line, except on an attempt to convert, the ball will be awarded to the attacking team as a first down at the centre point of the 10-yard line unless the last scrimmage was closer to the goal-line, in that case at the point of scrimmage. If on attempt to convert the defending side interferes with an eligible receiver the attempt will be ruled good and a point awarded.

The main idea is that on a forward pass the ball should be played and not the man.

If the team interferes behind its own goal-line, the opposing team shall be awarded a point or either of the two previous options. But if a foul is committed behind its opponents' goal-line, the non-offending team will be awarded the ball at its 10-yard line or option of any ground gained or score made.

ADANACS EVEN SERIES—New Westminster Adanacs, western Canada lacrosse champions, evened the Mann Cup series with Owen Sound Crescents Sunday by winning the fourth game of the best-of-seven series 7-5. Here Adanacs' Ralph Douglas checks the ball from Crescents' Jack Mason—wearing hockey sweater instead of the regular Owen Sound uniform—in the fourth game. Owen Sound won the first two games.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

"Are you listless, draggy, discouraged?" an item reaching us yesterday starts off. Nope, not a pill dispenser ad or anything to sell. It follows: "You may be stale as last year's biscuits, but if you're an athlete, keep your spikes on — you'll get over it." The piece comes from Sports College, 5 Wellesley St., W., Toronto. A free government-sponsored service to improve amateur athletics. The latest training bulletin "Can Athletes Be Burned Out?" and it may be had by Sports College members. Just write for membership gratis but enclose stamped addressed envelope. Even tired housewives may join as this service is also aimed at raising the general health efficiency of all Canadians.

* * * * * *

Coach Lloyd Percival in this article says you cannot "burn out" through hard physical activity. But you go stale, a passing condition caused mainly by lack of variety in training, and cured by improving diet, sleeping habits and training schedules. The burning out bugaboo is not recognized by top level medical or physical education experts, the bulletin states, and a number of famous medical officials are quoted. However, get the piece, if you're interested. We may have more on this when we get the space to use it, as it's of general interest and help.

Raiders Playing Orfuns

Cobourg Ghosts lead our ORFU group with six wins and one loss, while our Orfuns are next with four and three, Oshawa having three verdicts and four reverses — and Orillia is out of the race. Now, Oshawa Raiders play the Orfuns here at 8.30 tomorrow eve under the Morrow Park arcs, and that's a highly important fray for the local gridders. They still have the old mathematical chance of tying Cobourg for first, but they have a good chance of finishing second and thus going into provincial "B" playdowns. But they must knock out Oshawa in the process. Orfuns are hotter'n a stepdancer's soles now and playing great football. The game should pack in the biggest crowd yet, as the schedule is nearly over. Cobourg comes here Friday to end it.

* * * * * *

Meantime, our OHA senior "B" team know where they stand. Eagles and Petes are grouped with Belleville, Queen's and Kingston in senior "B", with a couple of interlocking games with the intermediate "A" Gananoque crew. Schedule opens two weeks from last night with Kingston Nylons playing the Eagles here, as Petes travel to Queen's. St. Mike's senior "A" squad has an exhibition with the Petes here this Thursday night, and that'll be right interesting. Our junior "B" Oddfellows aren't grouped yet, but expect to be playing early in November. They have open drills in the arena tomorrow night from six to eight, and Friday p.m. from six to seven. Gosh, how hockey sneaks up on you!

Jopling Coaches Petes

Frank (Drake) Jopling is the new coach of the Petes' senior "B" puckists, being chosen last e'en at an executive meeting by the club in the YMCA. Various business and equipment angles were dealt with, but the appointment of a coach was the main item on the agenda. They picked a good man in Drake, the capable and popular defenceman knowing his hockey thoroughly and having the confidence of his teammates. He starred for years here from junior "B" up, as well as being a regular for several seasons with New York Rovers. It is likely that Drake will see blue-line duty from time to time during the coming campaign, as well as coaching the club.

* * * * * *

Bob Cooper, ace backfielder and playing coach of Cobourg Galloping Ghosts in ORFU play, is also recreation director in that town. But we note where he will serve on a part-time basis in future at a salary of $1,800, doing other work, as well. He was hired in '49 as recreation director at $2,800 a year, and was to get $3,000 this year, but they haven't enough money available, the town grant for the job being $1,500 now. Rotary Club there kicks in with $400 as Bob patrols the beach in the summer, the Kinettes give $100 and the grid club contributes $200. The government gives a rebate of one-third on salaries plus 20 per cent on equipment costs. Whitby, second lowest in the province for recreational allowances, spends $3,200.

Harpo Marx To Speak After 25 Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17 (AP).—For the first time in 25 years, Harpo Marx is going to speak before an audience.

Harpo is the mute, wild-wigged character who chased blondes in filmdom's most famous brother act. Now that the Marxes have gone their separate ways professionally, Harpo is embarking on a concert tour. And he says he's going to talk.

"I thought I'd do it this way," he said. "I would be playing the harp and one of the string would break. I'd say 'damn.' That would break the silence and then I'd talk to the audience and explain why I never spoke."

An Old Story

The story begins a quarter-century ago when the Marx brothers were touring vaudeville. They were doing a 25-minute sketch and Harpo had two comedy bits. One was in pantomime, which drew a lot of laughs, and the other was dialogue, which didn't. So the brothers decided to lengthen the pantomime routine and cut out the other. Harpo never spoke again.

Reports have it that Harpo was once offered $50,000 to say a line in a movie, but he turned it down. While this is dubious history, it adds to the legend.

The brothers are still firm about doing no more pictures together, except a final one based on their own lines. It will be taken from Kyle Chrichton's book about the boys. But as far as making another straight comedy, Harpo said "We've done all the gags; why do them again?"

School Soccer

Q.A.-Q.E. and Confederation eleven played their postponed senior league soccer game Monday afternoon, on Exhibition Grounds with the latter aggregation scoring a 6-1 win to hold second position in the league. Best for the losers were: Macklin, who was brilliant in goal; McMillan and the brothers Whitton; for the winners: Lindsay, Goldie and Simmons.

Confederation settled down to combination to get the opening goal through D. Miller to Little. Then Little enacted a similar play to allow Miller to register number two. On resuming, Macklin, losing goalie, was outstanding with his effective goalkeeping and held Confederation scoreless, but he was injured then and had to concede three goals in a row as Simmons, Chamberlain and Miller made the count read 6-0. Throughout the period the Northenders' positional play was perfect but lacked finish around the goal although their lone tally was well deserved when McMillan scored.

Q.A.—Q.E.—W. Macklin, goal; F. Anderson and R. Dillman, full backs; C. McMillan, W. Whitnell and W. Kempt, half backs; R. Whitton, W. Harrison, J. Johnson, G. McClennan and W. Whitton, forwards. Subs., R. Turnbull, E. Hewitt, K. Brown, D. Frise.

Confederation — G. McIntosh, goal; R. Lindsay, D. Goldie, full backs; D. Sloan, V. Hamilton and B. Floyd, half backs; C. Simmons, B. Chamberlain, R. Miller, D. Mein and A. Little, forwards. Subs., S. Graves, B. Douglas, D. Wright.

Referee, Mr. Curry.

Grove Victors

In the intermediate series Grove school boys registered another win at Queen Mary's expense Monday on Bonner - Worth grounds by a 5-0 count.

Right from the start the Southenders settled down to a defensive system until they found their bearings then opened up with goals aplenty with B. Copping and D. Patterson getting two goals apiece, Simmons getting the other tally. Best for the losers were Burgess, Trude, Comstock and the goalie, Perritt.

Queen Mary—D. Perritt, goal; A. Madigan and W. Stoneburg, full backs; D. Comstock, P. Milne and W. Trude, half backs; B. Burgess, A. Deck, P. Cromie, W. Dorrington and D. Dunn, forwards. Subs., R. Austin, P Reader, H. Young, G. Drury.

Grove School—L. Griffin, goal; B. Herritt and J. Bailey, full backs; G. Keene, G. Casey and R. Wood, half backs; D. Patterson, B. Copping, W. Simmons, R. Hargreaves and L. Wood, forwards. Subs., F. Simmons, G. Duncan.

Referee, Mr. Hill.

Defeat Northenders

May's intermediate team of the soccer league defeated Q.A.-Q.E., Monday afternoon, by a 2-0 count on King Edward Park and kept pace with Grove eleven in the league race.

Before Q.A.-Q.E. players got settled to their game May's had scored two goals; Clark at centre registering and Wells getting the other counter on his own play. Time and again the Northenders broke away to bombard their opponents' goal without success and throughout the second period continued to attack to bring out the superb defence of May's full backs —D. and J. Hill. There was no further scoring.

May's—B. Griffin, goal; D. Hill and J. Hill, full backs; K. Collins, R. Marshall and P. Tobbins, half backs; G. Marchan, T. Grant, P. Cinnamon, D. Cinnamon and T. Northey, forwards. Subs., R. Oliver, C. Clark, K. Clark, B. Wells, F. White.

Q.A.-Q.E.—N. Sutherland, goal; R. Osborne and R. Sage, full backs; P. Morton, D. Gardner and R. Ward, half backs; W. Hamilton, G. Olmstead, K. Orgill, C. Nicholls and A. McFadyean, forwards. Subs., K. Druce, M. Sexsmith.

Referee, Mr. Lawless.

Several Track Records Set At The Central School Meet

On Monday afternoon, under sunny October skies, Central School held its second annual field day at Nicholls Oval. The jumping events were held previously at the school and this afternoon Grades 3-8 gathered at the Oval for the track events. The teachers of the above grades were in charge.

Several records were set during the meet: Bob Patten finished the half mile in 3 min. and 5 sec. to cut 5 sec. off the 1949 time set by Bob Delahey, and Roy Butler handled the 220 yd. at the clip of 29 seconds. The list of events and the winners together with the champions and the runners-up are given below:

Charles Fights Nick Barone On November 28

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — Ezzard Charles will fight as a 14-karat champion for the first time in his caree when he defends his heavyweight title against Nick Barone in a 15-round bout at Cincinnati Nov. 28.

Jake Mintz, Charles' manager, made the announcement Monday.

Charles won the National Boxing Association title in June, 1949, when he defeated Jersey Joe Walcott. He was recognized in all states but New York, and there were some who refused to recognize him at all. Not while Joe Louis was around, they said.

But Charles whipped the Brown Bomber and earned national recognition. From now on he will pick up the champion's share of the purse, which will be 42½ per cent this time.

Barone, a native of Syracuse, N.Y., will get 17½ per cent, plus an unexpected crack at the title.

Ranked sixth among the light heavyweights, he is a crowd-pleasing fighter with a stiff right punch. The 24-year-old Barone is short on experience, however.

The receipts, promoter Sam Becker predicted, should hit $100,000. Prices for the 15,000-capacity Cincinnati Garden will be scaled from $2.50 to $15.

The fight, believed to be the first heavyweight title bout in Cincinnati history, will mark Charles' first appearance before the home folk since he defeated Walcott.

Player Changes Ended Till December

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — The flow of talent from the minors to the major leagues is over—at least until early December.

Midnight Monday night was the deadline for the shifting of minor-league meetings on Dec. 7. jors or to any other minor-league club until the second day of the minor-league players to the ma- The annual draft of minor-league players by the majors will take place Dec. 4-5.

Three teams, the world champion New York Yankees, Brooklyn Dodgers and Cleveland Indians pulled last-hour deals with their minor-league affiliations.

The Yanks brought up eight players, Brooklyn four and Cleveland one.

New York recalled pitchers Hugh Radcliffe, Dick Carr and first baseman Fenton Mole. The Yanks also purchased catchers Clint Courtney, Lour Berberet, shortstops Jim Brideweser and Jerry Snyder and outfielder Art Schult.

Radcliffe, Carr, Berberet, Brideweser and Shult played for Binghamton of the Eastern League last season. Mole performed for Portland of the Pacific League and Kansas City of the American Association. Snyder labored at Kansas City and Courtney for Beaumont's pennant-winning Texas League team. Brideweser, Berberet and Radcliffe are bonus players.

Dodger Additions

The Dodgers obtained the contracts of outfielders Bill Sharman, Don Thompson and Dick Williams and pitcher Ray Moore. Sharman prepped at Elmira in the Eastern League. He is a bonus baby.

Thompson, former member of the St. Louis Cardinal, Boston Red Sox and Boston Brave chains, starred for Montreal in the international League where he batted .310. Williams and Moore played at Fort Worth in the Texas League.

The Indians purchased Ortes Minoso, speedyy third-baseman, from their San Diego Pacific coast affiliate. Minoso, who played the outfield in a previous trial with Cleveland, led San Diego hitters with .329.

Here and There In Sport

Felix Bocchicchio, manager of Jersey Joe Walcott, says Joe Louis' plans for a comeback and his intention to fight heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles again are a "travesty" to boxing.

The announcement, Bocchiccio said in a statement at Camden, NJ, "shows an amazing disregard of the interests of the boxing public."

Charles easily defeated Louis last September 27 in a Yankee Stadium fight at New York.

"Louis, by his weak performance in that bout, has not earned the right to challenge Charles ahead of all other contenders," Bocchiccio said. "It would be only fair to the other contenders, and to the fans, if Louis was made to prove his right to a return match with Charles by first eliminating them, if he can."

Walcott has twice lost to Louis, both in championship fights.

Bocchichio said Walcott is "ready and willing" to fight Charles.

Ronnie Crane, 16-year-old Vancouver swimimng ace, smashed three Canadian records in a Saturday meet at Vancouver. Crane churned the 100-yard butterfly in 1:08.9, breaking the record set by Fred Smith of Toronto by more than 5 seconds. In the 50-yard butterfly, Crane knocked over both the junior and senior records with a time of 29.4 seconds. Old senior mark was 30.7, set by Lucien Beaumont of Montreal.

The San Francisco Baseball Club has announced sale of first baseman Les Fleming to Toronto of the International League. It was an outright cash deal, amount undisclosed. Fleming, acquired from Indianapolis of the American Association, last spring, hit .292 and was fifth in runs batted in with 138.

Ray Cicia, one of the outstanding guards this season in Eastern Canada football, has received an order to report to his Draft Board at his home in Ansonia, Conn., for military medical examination.

Cicia is a Montreal Alouette import wha lost year starred with Wake Forest College in North Carolina.

Black Pico, Cuban flyweight champion, defeated Stan Almond of Vancouver when the referee halted a one-sided contest in the eighth of 10 scheduled rounds in Manchester, England, Monday night. Pico was too quick for the 25-year-old Canadian who had greater reach and height, but rarely showed an attacking punch. Almond had won 30 of his 31 fights in Canada before making his British debut against Pico.

John Bell, 24-year-old quarterback of the Sarnia Imperials football team, was reported still in "extremely critical" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital late Monday night. He suffered a multiple fracture of the neck Saturday in the fourth quarter of the game with Toronto Balmy Beach.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, former national open golf champion, signed up for the draft Monday along with other dentists, doctors and veterinarians.

Anyone wishing to join this year can get any information and application forms by phoning 6884 or applying at Market Hall on any playing night. For juniors there is free instruction by the city's best players.

"Would you mind leaning on the other side, signor — we're beginning to get a bit worried about it!"

Jackie Gordon Leads Scoring For AHL

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — Jackie Gordon, young centre of the amazing Cincinnati Mohawks, leads the American Hockey League in scoring after one week of play.

Gordon, in five games, has belted home six goals and drawn five assists for 11 points. Gordon's line mate, left-winger Fern Perreault, is second with nine points.

Buffalo's high-scoring line of veterans Ab Demarco, Grant Warwick and young Paul Meger are tied for third place at eight points each. Gordon and Demarco are tied for the lead in goal-getting at six apiece.

Retired Captain Veteran BC Windjammer

VANCOUVER (CP). — The story of Capt. Sig Salvesen, is the story of fishing and deep-sea towing on the west coast. When he retired recently, it marked the end of an era.

The smiling, pipe-smoking Norwegian-Canadian skipper with the brown, lined cheeks and iron handshake is one of the last of the hardy race who came to the west coast around the Horn and entered the maritime life of British Columbia in the days when the logging and fishing industries were in their infancy.

Sig Salvesen was a teen-ager when he first went to sea in Norway 60 years ago.

He worked his way to this continent on an old windjammer and went into northern fishing after settling in B.C.

Uncanny Forecaster

He was a high-liner on the halibut fleet in the old days. Most mariners think it must have been his experience in waters from Vancouver Island to the Gulf of Alaska that gave him his uncanny knack of forecasting weather.

The Haida Indians on the Queen Charlotte Islands recognized this long ago and gave him an honorary title which means "he who can smell weather."

This ability came in pretty handy when Capt. Salvesen went into towboat work.

A big tug may take as much as 3,250,000 board feet of lumber in a single raft tow. This would make more than 3,000 tons of paper, enough to print a big daily for 100 days.

Often, an ocean-going tug will take three rafts in line astern.

The man who skippers the tug must be a weather prophet, master mechanic and expert navigator. He must know winds, tides, reefs and currents.

In other words, a lot of money —not to mention the safety of 20 crew members—rode on the skill of Capt. Salvesen.

Top Executives Sacrifice Time Serving National Organizations

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Finding people to hold office, especially top office, is often a real problem for national organizations and one to which they must have an answer at annual convention time.

The presidency of these organizations is certainly regarded as an honor, and there is no lack of people who are qualified.

But one must not only be qualified. One must also have time —and perhaps be ready to throw in some of one's own cash for expenses.

At least in the cases of the larger organizations, such as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, one must to a considerable degree say goodbye to his own business for his year or so of high office.

For they are time-taking tasks requiring, in some cases, many thousands of miles of travel and the making of scores of speeches.

So a man may hesitate before accepting, torn between his obligations to the organization and to his own business.

Find It Worth While

His reward is that of a duty discharged, a job well done, a broadening experience for himself and a widened national reputation. As far as one can see, those who have gone through it have for the most part found it worth while in personal satisfaction.

The foregoing is a continuation of this column's recent discussion of conventions, and here is another point:

Thought should be given not only to the type of entertainment given at convention requests, but to how it is presented.

Sometimes a vocalist, male or female, is asked to get up before a dinner audience which may number up to 1,000; many of them still eating and rattling dishes; most of them talking and in party mood.

Then the soloist, too often, stands beside a piano placed on the dining-room floor at dinner-table level, where he or she can be seen by only a few. The soloist has come to give his or her best, and many times it is a hopeless effort.

So, in this writer's opinion, convention entertainment should always be presented from a platform and be of such a nature that it will virtually command attention.

But if the entertainer is not to be given a chance, or can not be given a chance, then both for his and the audience's sake, entertainment should be left off the program.

Guilty Of Arson

Judge Orders Reporter To Ship Inquiry

QUEBEC, Oct. 17—(CP)—Patrick Sawtell, Chronicle-Telegraph reporter, was ordered Monday to appear before Judge Fernand Choquette to explain a report published by the daily newspaper that a "pyromaniac" was believed responsible for a fire aboard the cruiseship Quebec.

A story by Sawtell, appearing in the Chronicle-Telegraph Saturday, said:

"High provincial authorities are inclined to believe a pyromaniac set fire to the Canada Steamship Lines steamer Quebec Aug. 14 in which seven persons lost their lives.

"Intensive investigations during the last two months by Quebec Provincial Police uncovered many strange co-incidences which support the 'pyromaniac' theory and eliminated all other possible criminal motives."

Provincial police declared they knew nothing of the story which went on to say a crew member of the burned ship was under surveillance.

A spokesman for the Quebec Attorney - General's Department said provincial police had conducted an investigation of rumors about the fire some time ago. The spokesman said this inquiry led to nothing and has been closed.

Attention of Judge Choquette was drawn to the story by Gerard Lacroix, K.C., transport department lawyer, when an inquiry into the ship fire resumed Monday morning.

Liberal President Charges Scandals

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (CP). — Norman L. Matthews, president of the Ontario Liberal Association said Monday night that "disgraceful" administration of Ontario liquor laws and "scandals" about law enforcement in Windsor "may well provide the knockout punch" to the province's Conservative government.

Speaking in the first of the season's "provincial affairs" broadcasts over a CBC Ontario network, he said the cabinet of Premier Frost lacks "calibre and unity," that "shocking mismanagement" of the Hydro Commission had resulted in serious power shortages and that the government had assumed "dictatorial powers" in prohibiting erection of fruit stands within 150 feet of a provincial highway.

He did not elaborate on his charges, but said they would be discussed by future speakers in the series, including the new provincial Liberal leader to be chosen at a convention here Nov. 9 and 10.

Mrs. Wm. Golloher To Attend WI Meet

NORWOOD, Oct. 17—(ENS)—The regular meeting of the Norwood Women's Institute was held in the Public Library.

Fosbraey Asks Change Of Venue

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (CP). — James Fosbraey, in a motion filed in Supreme Court Monday, asked for a change of venue from Napanee to Picton for his new trial on a charge of murdering his wife.

Fosbraey was convicted and sentenced to be hanged Sept. 21. He was granted a new trial by the Ontario Court of Appeal on the grounds that the trial judge had erred in directing the jury it could not bring in a manslaughter verdict.

Fosbraey claimed a local prejudice that would prevent him having a fair trial.

The 29-year-old veteran is accused of stabbing his wife to death four days after he had returned from a visit to England, his homeland.

THEY DEMAND HER BLOOD—McGill's freshette beauty queen, Miss Betty Lou Van Buskirk, listens wide-eyed as she is sentenced to give a pint of blood to the Red Cross for violations of the Frosh code of etiquette. But Betty was not alone. Chief Prosecutor Irwin Gliserman, law faculty, shouts into the microphone as he demands that the hundreds of other Frosh etiquette violators also be sentenced to part with their blood. Helping him lay charges is Leo Kobler. "Chief Justice" John Sheyne officially pronounced the penalties.

Ask 15c Increase Of Smelter Firms

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (CP). — A general wage increase of 15 cents an hour will be sought from smelter companies in Ontario and British Columbia by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.). Union officials said Monday night.

The union demands, decided at a policy wage conference of Canadian and international delegates here Monday, will be placed before the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail and Kimberley, B. C., and the International Nickel Company at Port Colborne and Sudbury.

Union officials said the increase is supplemental to existing wage contracts in all four plants.

Must Doctor Tell? Each Case Decides

LONDON —(CP)— The old question, how much should a doctor tell his patients, was discussed by Sir Cecil Wakeley, president of the Royal College of Surgeons. He said it's a delicate question and it's up to the surgeon himself to decide in each case.

"Too often, when the mystery goes out of surgery, the patient loses a great deal of his co-operative power and confidence in his full recovery," he told medical students at Westminster Hospital Medical School.

"Some patients will benefit from a description of their operation, but such knowledge will transform others into nervous wrecks."

Marketing Body Fix Tobacco Price

SIMCOE, Oct. 17 (CP). — The Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 24 to negotiate a minimum average price for the 1950 flue cured tobacco crop in Ontario.

As has been the custom for some years past, the minimum average price to be paid for this year's estimated 100,000,000 pound crop will be agreed upon by a market appraisal committee.

Last year the minimum average price set by the board was 42 cents per pound, the growers actually receiving an average of 42.33 cents when all of the leaf had been purchased.

MP Would Annex Indian Reserve For Industry

SARNIA, Oct. 17 (CP). —J. W. Murphy, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Lambton West, said Monday he will urge the Federal Government to transfer the 4,000-acre Sarnia Indian Reserve south of the city for use as an industrial area.

Mr. Murphy said he understood only about 300 of the reserve's 4,000 acres are under cultivation and the whole area is sparsely settled.

The idea met immediate opposition from Chief Telford Adams of the Ojibway Indians. He said the band would fight any attempt to expropriate the reservation.

"J. W. Murphy betrays ignorance of both history and of the provisions of The Indian Act when he advocates expropriation of the Sarnia reserve for industrial purposes," said Chief Adams. "Section 52 of the (Indian) Act provides that Indian lands may be expropriated by the Crown 'when such land lies within or adjacent to any town or city with 8,000 or more inhabitants.'"

"I should like to remind Mr. Murphy that the Sarnia reserve does not touch the boundaries of the city of Sarnia at any point. It is bounded on the north and east by the township of Sarnia; on the south by the township of Moore, and on the west by the St. Clair river.

Given Guarantee

"It has always been the British boast that an Englishman's word is as good as his bond," said the Chief. "I would remind Mr. Murphy that in the treaty signed by the Crown and the Ojibway nation at Amherstburg on July 10, 1827, the Indians surrendered to the Crown all of Ontario west of the township of London and north of a line commencing at the township of Sombra. In return, they were guaranteed for reservation those at Kettle Point, Stoney Paint, Sarnia and Walpole Island.

"Stoney Point was surrendered during the war as our contribution to the war effort," continued Chief Adams. "We now are faced with the spectacle of the West Lambton Federal member openly suggesting that one of these small remaining areas be expropriated whether its Indian inhabitants are willing, in effect, Mr. Murphy is advocating the violation of the treaty of the Crown, thereby putting himself on the side of those who believe that treaties are mere scraps of paper. Finally, I would like to suggest to Mr. Murphy that he can confine his real estate promotions to the lake shore area where his business interests lie. He can sell his own home for a factory site if he so chooses. We resent his suggestion that we should be evicted from ours."

Freeing Dollar Fails To Lower Price Of Beef

The beef price situation has the butchers baffled. Wholesalers are somewhat confused, and the consumer is completely lost. Anyway the freeing of the Canadian dollar has not affected the price of beef.

In a survey made today, local retail butchers would predict nothing definite. A lot of "if's" qualified every forecast. Words like "sirloin" and "gold" were used interchangeably.

Most butchers merely shrugged their shoulders when asked for predictions. One went so far as to say that he couldn't see any reason why beef prices should go up, but he wouldn't predict a decrease.

"One of the Toronto newspapers carried a story about a 14-cent cut in prices. I think you could say that is exaggerated," remarked another.

The popular reason for the increase was the unprecedented sales of beef cattle to the United States. Sales to the U.S. have depleted Canadian beef stocks more than most people realize, they claimed.

Yet another claimed that for a while, few beef cattle were crossing the border because Canadian prices were higher than U.S. prices.

Said one: "people aren't buying much beef. They are buying cheaper things such as chicken and pork. Why if you bite into a sirloin steak now, it's like eating gold."

Then the question of hind quarters and front quarters entered to confuse the situation a little more. Two butchers said they thought the packers had an overload of hinds.

What happened, said one, was this: the packers had more hinds than fronts of beef, and to offset the heavy sale of front quarters, prices on front quarters were increased. The packers, he said, seemed to feel that this would help them sell their excess hindquarters.

"This kind of condition just about buffaloes a butcher," he claimed.

Wage Increase Asked For CGE

Members of the United Electrical Workers in both the CGE and Westinghouse plants are working together to get an immediate wage increase.

In the CGE chain the UE is asking for a straight 15-cents-an-hour increase, with an additional five cents an hour for skilled and other day-rate workers; the Westinghouse demands are for a straight 15 cents, and an additional 10 cents.

At a meeting between the Joint UE-GE Negotiating Committee and the Local 504, Westinghouse, Negotiating Committee, T. P. Davies, president of Local 524, UE, made this observation:

Average earnings for 5,000 Westinghouse production workers is $1.50 an hour, while the average earnings for 3,500 workers in the Peterborough shop is $1.18.

C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, has already notified the CGE that the union wants negotiations opened up and the Westinghouse committee will meet management Thursday.

COBOURG, Oct. 17—(ENS)—Cecil Byrnes of Vancouver was charged with theft in court yesterday and remanded a week. Bail was fixed at $5,000 in view of the continuing investigation. He, "and others", the charge read, was charged with robbing Albert Weir at Roseneath on October 13 of a sum of money over the value of $25. Provincial police are investigating further.

William Milner of Cobourg, who pleaded guilty last week to robbing the local peanut vendor of two watches and a coin bank, was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Church Organist 40 Years, Dies

Organist at Sacred Heart Church for 40 years, John L. Armstrong, 437 George St. south, died today in hospital after a week's illness. He was in his 80th year.

Born in Beaverton, he married the former Bridget Pouliette, and has lived in Peterborough most of his life. He was a member of Sacred Heart Church and of the Holy Name Society.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Ethel, at home, and two sons, John, at home, and Harold of Toronto.

Funeral will be Friday from his home to Sacred Heart Church for solemn requiem mass at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Alderman Asks Survey Lansdowne St. Traffic

With seven fatalities marked up against it, Ald. Herbert Young recommended to the council Monday night action to check the speed of traffic on Lansdowne St.

"We should do something to lower the rate of speed on that strip," Ald. Young said. "To my own knowledge there have been seven deaths on that street, two at the Park St. corner, one between Park and Aylmer, one at Lock St., another caused by crashing into a tree near the Locks turn, one between the bridge and Downer's Corners, and the little boy who was killed near Western Ave., on Saturday."

Ald. Young is a physician and coroner. He asked that a study be made of the traffic, its volume and speed, for a report at the next meeting of the council.

Labor To Enter 5 Candidates In Civic Field

Organized labor is making a major bid for office in the coming city elections.

Monday night the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) decided to run a full slate of five candidates for the five aldermanic vacancies.

Dave Hatherly (Local 599, IUE officeworkers), chairman of the civic elections committee, said "We must run the full slate to get the attention of anyone wanting to vote labor."

The committee's recommendation was that the campaign "be essentially one of circulars backed by regular publicized procedure."

A fund of $500 is to be raised for publicity.

The slate will be chosen at a nominating convention on November 2. All members of affiliated locals will be invited to attend the convention and cast their votes.

Orville Martin (Local 599, IUE) wanted a less ambitious approach at this first municipal venture by the Labor Council.

"We must gradually educate the people to support labor ideas," he said. "And we won't do it by running five candidates. The ratepayers may think labor wants to dominate the council. If we can get one man elected he can serve as a goodwill ambassador."

Neil McNulty and Gordon James (both Local 524, IUE) also said they thought running a full slate of candidates was a poor tactic.

"I dislike the idea of a straight division being drawn between the labor aldermen and the rest of the council," said Mr. McNulty.

Want Supporters of Labor

Ed Humphrey (Local 434, UPWA) said the candidates need not all be trade unionists; outside candidates who supported labor ideas might be nominated as well.

He warned his fellow council members to expect a hard fight and added he expected the press to be against the labor candidates.

Mr. Humphrey reserved a slam for the Examiner: "It seems almost prophetic at this time when we have notions about getting representation on city council, that our editor friend, in a recent editorial, should have thought fit to ridicule Herbert Morrison of the British Labor movement."

"More than 30 years ago Mr. Morrison was getting a trimming from a much more powerful newsrag (The Daily Mail), than the Examiner. He was at that time campaigning for a place on the London County Council. He made it and a lot more of his kind have come along behind him."

Irwin Yeo (Local 599 IUE) said he thought it was 1938 when labor achieved office in the Oshawa municipal elections. "It certainly hasn't brought any catastrophe to that city," he said.

The motion for running a full slate was passed with only three members of Local 524, IUE, dissenting: Robert Campbell, Neil McNulty and Gordon James.

Civic Hospital Expenditure Totals $3,591,849; Board Is Within Estimates

Capital cost of Peterborough Civic Hospital is keeping within the estimated total as indicated in a financial statement presented to the city council in committee of the whole Monday night by John R. Marshall, chairman, and T. T. Rodger, treasurer, representing the Board of Governors. Total resources amount to $3,412,484.28 of which the only outstanding sum was $58,000 of the federal government's grant of $230,766.60.

Total expenditure, allowing for approximation of certain items that cannot at present be exactly determined, is $3,591,849.89. The excess of cost, $179,365, should be considered against the expected receipt of $200,000 for the former Nicholls Hospital land and buildings, including Nurses residence.

That item of revenue was contemplated as an estimate of property value when the available resources for the new hospital fund were originally reckoned.

"I think the public should know that the Board is keeping within the estimates of cost of the new hospital," Ald. H. F. Waddell commented as a brief summary of the financial report to date.

It has also been published recently that the council, in offering the old hospital property for sale, did not receive a bid which the council was willing to accept. One definite offer was $50,000 for and and buildings, including the former nurses' residence.

Civic Hospital

So, the anticipated $200,000 from that source cannot be taken into the present accounting. There are also improvements to the hospital grounds, landscaping, walks and so on to be considered, with purchases of equipment, cost of which is not definitely known.

Bylaw Proposed

After the conference, Mayor Swanston proposed that the council should set about a complete survey of what work was yet to be done involving expenditure, together with other final costs, thereby ascertaining as closely as possible what amount was still needed to cover the capital expenditure, and submit a bylaw for that amount of borrowing to the people for their approval.

"I don't think we should have any departments under the council burdened for the next five years or more with any costs which properly should be included in the cost of the hospital," His Worship said.

He was presumably referring to the landscaping and road-building and such ultimate details being done by departments such as the

Suggest Dec. 1 Premier's Visit

Premier Leslie M. Frost will likely lay the foundation stone of Peterborough's new city hall on Dec. 1.

Hon. Harold R. Scott wrote the council Monday night that the Premier's time was fully taken up through November, and that he could accept the local engagement Dec. 1. His letter was referred to the reception committee of which Ald. Adam Sands is chairman.

Mayor Swanston recently reported that the contractor would be ready for the event about the third week in November.

Ald. Hugh Waddell remarked that the architects Maran and Morris had overlooked the erection of a sign to the effect that Peterborough was building a new city hall on that site.

"We are all proud of the city hall," said Ald. Waddell, "and we should have some sign there telling visitors what it is we are building."

W. F. Orr, clerk of the works, reported that with favorable weather the construction company was making excellent progress.

"Efforts are being continued to advance the work so that all below ground concrete will be completed before freezing sets in."

Aldermen Term Examiner's Criticism Obnoxious

Council Annoyed At Criticism Of Handling Wallis Offer

Remonstrance with the Examiner on an editorial published Saturday was expressed by Ald. E. C. Braund and Ald. T. D. Miller towards the close of the council meeting Monday night.

The editorial discussed the offer by Miss Katherine Wallis of a collection of her works of sculpture to the city of Peterborough, her home many years ago. Incidentally, it endorsed the opinion of the council that it would be impractical to consider establishing a gallery for the gifts of one sculptress.

Council decided recently, as reported from the finance committee, read by Ald. H. F. Waddell, chairman, "that the offer of Miss Wallis to make a gift to the city of Peterborough of certain objects of art, be referred to the Public Library board for consideration, particularly as to care of this collection and the exhibiting of it, and the responsibilities of maintaining it properly into the future, and that the Public Library Board be requested for its recommendation."

The Examiner said that apparently the council had been "messing incompetently with the problem" for three years.

Knows Little About Art

Ald. Braund said he did not pretend to know much about art matters, and that it could hardly be expected that men who were daily engaged in business should know what to do with a sculpture collection. As to money being raised for the lighting of Riverside Park, it was true that this was made possible by the interest of a small group including the late Vern Dawson and George Clarke and the large sum of money which they raised.

Ald. Braund said he hardly knew what should be said about the whole tone of the editorial condemning the council. "I think we should take exception to it. We could write or tell the editor, whoever it was, or tell him that we don't mind criticism of a constructive nature, but this kind is not appreciated."

Ald. Doug. Miller said he had been in the council long enough to accept criticism as something to be expected. He read a sentence: "The people of Santa Cruz, California, (where Miss Wallis is living), who are not stupid would like the collection for themselves." That reference, he said, sounded as if the people and the aldermen of Peterborough were stupid.

As to alleged passing the buck to the Public Library Board, "We are simply asking them for a suggestion as to some suitable place for those pieces of art. The Examiner suggests that they might be placed in various public buildings, including the Public Library. There is some piece of sculpture up there, but it has been used as a hatrack. Maybe if he had these pieces in public buildings they might serve as hatracks, too."

The editorial comment about the floodlighting of Riverside, also caught Ald. Miller's attention. He mentioned the more than $15,000 for that fund which was collected by three or four civic-minded citizens.

Present Difficult Angles

The general course of the council, he continued, was to deal with questions as carefully as possible. Many problems of importance came before the council, presenting difficult angles that required full consideration. "We try to consider all those angles, because decisions can't be made in a dictatorial way."

Ald. Miller said this was not the first time the Examiner had published "an obnoxious editorial on matters of which it did not know all the facts and difficulties." But, this was one to which he felt exception should be taken.

"I suggest the reason it is so difficult to get men to run for council is because of the abuse to which they are subjected by such editorials. I'd like to challenge the writer to divulge his name. I will gladly resign my seat in the council and do everything in my power to have him elected, that is if he has courage enough to stand for election. It is a shame the council hasn't the advantage of his mighty knowledge."

Mayor Swanston closed that disgression with the explanation that the council had hesitated about accepting the work of Miss Wallis "because we didn't have a building which we thought would be suitable to do justice to her work by properly displaying it. If we could have it all together and in the right place, I think we would probably have had it here long ago."

Junior Chamber Holds Boss's Night

Monday night was boss' night for the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting with Past President Doug Vaisey outlining the importance of bosses to Jaycee organizations.

If a man is to succeed in his chosen profession he must prepare himself to advance in that profession, Mr. Vaisey said. He stated that the place for a young man to prepare himself was as a member of the Jaycees.

By being a Jaycee, a man helps himself, his community, his country and his boss. And bosses can make or break the Jaycees, he said.

Employers can lift the Jaycee organization into a first class movement by introducing the club to other bosses, giving his Jaycee employee time off from his work pay his employee's initiation fee, sharing his secretary, giving prestige to the organization, and helping to get new members from among his employees for the Jaycees.

Club Projects

Many people and many bosses did not know of the numerous accomplishments of the Jaycees, such as a tuberculosis survey which took in 20,000 citizens of the city and the county; clean-up and paint-up projects; Jackson's Park creek, garbage receptacles on downtown streets, and many others.

Jaycees helped to supply young Canada with needed young leaders, Mr. Vaisey said. And for all these reasons, it was in bosses' own interest to back Jaycees in their city.

The speaker was introduced by Ken Billings and thanked by Jim Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

President Gerry Grady introduced three personalities of the month, Ken Billings and Paul LaVictorie, who had both started in new positions during the month, and Bob Cutmore, who had become a father during the month.

Mr. Grady announced that the November meeting of the Jaycees would be ladies' night.

Roy Shouldice was inducted as a new member of the organization in a brief ceremony.

Bus And Car Collide

A city bus and car collided as the car attempted to turn right in front of the bus at Park and King Sts. Monday.

William A. Holland, 633 Beverley St., driver of the bus, had stopped his bus at King St. to pick up a passenger. He started up and had gone no more than about five feet when the bus met in collision with the car driven by Donald McMillan, 377 Stewart St.

The right front and rear door, running board and rear fender of the car were damaged. The left front corner of the bus was damaged.

Constable Dennis Traynor investigated.

A presentation and dance will be held in the LOL Hall, Roseneath, on Friday.

Sealskin Price Up 84% At U.S. Auction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP).—The price of black sealskins, fashion's present favorite, jumped almost 84 per cent at the fall auction of government-owned skins, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service said today.

Prices at the semi-annual auction are regarded as a barometer of future fur prices in the industry.

At the autumn auction, held by Fouke Fur Company in St. Louis Oct. 9, black sealskins sold for an average of $106.10, almost 84 per cent more than the average last spring.

Dyed "Matara"—brown—skins sold for an average of $98.25, an increase of 48 per cent.

The average for Safari, or lighter-brown skins, was $74.60, an increase of 51 per cent over the spring average.

Included at Auction

The auction included 25,697 skins from the government-administered Pribilof Island seal herd in the Bering Sea northwest of the Aleutian Islands, 2,000 Canadian-owned Pribilof Island skins, 2,159 Cape of Good Hope seal skins for the Union of South Africa, and about 3,000 Cape of Good Hope, New Zealand and North American sealskins for private shippers.

Also included in the sale were 279 blue fox pelts from the Pribilof Islands.

Fur buyers paid an average of $95.52 for all United States government sealskins, an increase of 52 per cent over the price at the April 17 sale. The government-owned seal and fox pelts sold for $2,456,928.35. Canadian - owned skins brought about the same average price as the United States-owned skins. Cape of Good Hope sealskins averaged $34.57 each, an advance of nearly 58 per cent.

WHOOPING COUGH!
DIPHTHERIA!
SMALLPOX!

THESE diseases attack all ages—but often people acquire immunity to them by the time they are adults. Babies and little children lack immunity—are easy victims of infection. Whooping cough is especially dangerous to very young children and causes more deaths among babies under one year of age than any other contagious disease. Diphtheria causes the highest death rate among children under five years of age.

MEDICAL science has the means to prevent these diseases. Every child should be given this protection by the age of one year . . . or earlier. Toxoid to prevent diphtheria; Whooping cough vaccine to protect against whooping cough; Smallpox which is a constant danger can be prevented by the use of smallpox vaccine. Parents do not delay!

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Grape Sherbet Very Popular With All Grape Juice Fans

Last year I received a complaining letter from one of my masculine readers asking me for goodness' sake why would I give good space to recipes using grapes. "Did anyone ever actually make grape jam—to say nothing of making a pie out of the things?"

Evidently my reply to him persuaded him that he was missing some eating fun, if he neglected to use grapes—and another thing I said that he ought to be ashamed of himself not using this beautiful fruit for which his country is famous. He good-naturedly replied that he was making one concession to me: that because the method I gave for bottled grape juice was so simple he had bought grapes and made some of it. Good too—he claimed.

If you are in a neighborhood where they are plentiful today's column may help you. If you have to buy your juice in bottles try our recipe for grape sherbet. It is popular with grape juice fans.

✧ ✧ ✧

Grape Juice (Kettle Method)

Wash grapes, stem them, then wash once more in warm water. Drain. Barely cover with cold water and simmer until tender and seeds are separated from pulp—about 20 minutes—after boiling point is reached. Do not have heat high as these will burn. Strain through strong bag. Measure. To each cup add ¼ cup sugar, bring to simmering point and simmer 10 minutes. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

Grape Juice (Quick Method

Have quart jars and rubbers and tops sterilized by boiling 20 minutes. Have grapes washed in running water for 5 minutes after they are stemmed. Into each sterile jar with rubber on put 2 measuring cups of grapes. Add either 1 cup or ¾ cup of sugar, depending on your sweet tooth. (1 cup makes it very sweet). Slowly fill to brimming with boiling water. Put on sterile tops and seal. Invert to make sugar dissolve, several times. Keep in dark place. This does not need much dilution.

✧ ✧ ✧

Grape Sherbet

One and one-half cups sugar, 2 cups bottled grape juice or freshly made grape juice, juice or 1 lemon, 1 egg white. Boil 3 cups of water with the sugar 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add grape and lemon juice and cool, then freeze to a mush. Remove from freezing tray and beat in cold bowl to make soft enough so you can fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Freeze hard. This may be used for canned crushed pineapple, when you would use 4 cups water and ¾ cup sugar.

✧ ✧ ✧

Grape Conserve

Three pounds ripe Concord grapes, ¼ cup water, ¼ cup grated lemon rind, ¼ cup lemon juice, ½ cup ground orange, skin and all, 7 cups sugar, 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans, 4 ounces liquid pectin. Wash grapes well and stem them and slip pulp from skins. Put pulp on to heat with ¼ cup water and boil gently until seeds float to top. Strain. To strained pulp add all but the pectin and nuts and bring to hard boil. Add the nuts. Let boil 1 minute more. Add pectin. Remove from heat and stir 2 minutes. Pour into sterile jam jars and seal with boiling hot paraffin, adding a second coating when cold.

If readers would like recipe for grape jam or jelly or pie they should write to me and let me know and I will print them.

CUT SQUARES, circles, triangles of white, wheat, rye and brown bread to achieve interesting variations in color and shape of sandwiches.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Pretty Up Sandwich Platter Use Fancy Shapes of Bread

A sandwich tray can be made to look like a tempting array of delectable tidbits—and it all depends on just a little added effort. For a host of suggestions, recipes and illustrations giving all sorts of visual sandwich ideas, you must see "500 Tasty Sandwich Recipes," fourteenth in the series of twenty-four cookbooks sponsored by this newspaper and available to readers for just 15c each.

The Sandwich Book is remarkable because, in addition to any number of delicious recipes for sandwiches, it has carefully made sketches showing just how to cut bread and arrange it for novel effects like checkerboard sandwiches, ribbon sandwiches, and pinwheels. But all these take sandwich loaves which might not happen to be on hand when you expect last minute guests and want to whip up an attractive tray of sandwiches.

With the Sandwich Book on hand, even a last minute tray can be attractive, colorful and delicious. Use as many different kinds of bread as you have on hand, as mixing white, whole wheat, rye and brown bread breaks up the monotony. And cut squares, triangles and circles out of the bread. These can be filled with sausages, meats, or lighter spreads. Here for example, are a number of ideas for vegetable spreads:

Vegetable Fillings—Carrot and Raisin

2 carrots, grated
½ cup chopped raisins
½ cup peanut butter
Mayonnaise to moisten

Celery

1 cup minced celery
¼ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt

Radish

¾ cup sliced radishes
¼ cup watercress leaves minced
3 tablespoons mayonnaise

Vegetable

1 tablespoon chopped onion
3 tablespoons chopped celery
3 tablespoons chopped cucumber
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped lettuce
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
¼ cup mayonnaise

Grated Carrot

½ cup grated carrots
½ cup grated cabbage
½ cup ground peanuts
½ cup mayonnaise

To get your copy of the Sandwich Book all you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at the Examiner office or from your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or, if you prefer to order your copy by mail, send the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Aaron Black Wed in Toronto

The wedding of Mr. Aaron Simon Black, son of Mrs. Black of Peterborough, and the late Philip Black, to Beverley Starkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Starkman of Toronto, took place in the University Ave. Synagogue at five o'clock in the afternoon last Wednesday.

Rabbi Shapiro performed the marriage assisted by Cantor Bernstein. The temple was beautifully decorated with baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums and the guests' seats marked with ribbon and flowers.

The bride chose traditional white in beautiful French lace over satin with beading the accent on the fitted basque of lace. There was a high sheer yoke studded with silver and pearl beads and the sleeves were long and close-fitting. Satin draped into a gloriously full cathedral train with French lace applique. She wore a matching cap of lace and silver beads with full length veil of ethereal tulle illusion and carried a bouquet of gardenias with streamers and bouvardia. She was escorted by her father.

The groom's sister, Mrs. Irving Moldaver of Peterborough was matron of honor. Her gown of rose beige net was designed with fitted off-the-shoulder bodice and skirt embroidered with gold thread. Her headdress, in cap style, was of the same material with matching feathers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Rose Rotenberg and Misses Lorraine Starkman and Marian Fox, cousins of the bride. Their gowns were of bronze embossed taffeta and they wore bittersweet feather headdresses.

Each attendant carried a cascade of orange roses and matching fall flowers with streamers of green leaves.

Mr. Isadore Black was groomsman for his brother and his brother Morris Black and brother-in-law Irving Moldaver were ushers with David Starkman, Myer Attin and Harvey Fingold of Toronto.

After the ceremony there was a dinner at the Crystal Ballroom, King Edward Hotel, for 350 guests and later in the evening a reception and dance attended by 500 friends.

For the wedding the bride's mother chose a gown in mellon French lace over taffeta, designed in a shirred bodice with high neckline of beads to match and very full circular skirt. A matching hat of ostrich tips was studded with rhinestones and her corsage was of melon shaded roses. The groom's mother was gowned in prima donna blue Alencon lace over taffeta, the long sleeves with fine pleating over her hands, and the bodice with Queen Anne collar topping a full skirt. She wore a matching feather hat in poke shape and had a corsage of tea roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Black motored to New York City to spend their honeymoon and they will live at 691 Weller St., in Peterborough on their return.

When going away the bride was lovely in a cinnamon coloured suit with brown velvet trim and brown velvet hat and accessories with corsage of Talisman roses.

YW Board Hears Helpful Reports

An active and stimulating year ahead for YWCA activities was indicated by the various reports presented at the monthly meeting of the Board Monday afternoon.

A senior drama group has been formed, under direction of Mrs. J. G. Campbell, who has arranged a series of lectures and demonstrations open to the public, as a foundation for the work.

"Playtime," a two-hour period on Thursday afternoons for preschool children, is also being held by Mrs. Campbell, and is proving a delight to mothers who desire some free time.

The new cafeteria, now open to the public, is proving a valuable service extended by the Y.

The Public Affairs Committee is holding an open meeting on Thursday evening, October 19, when electorship and membership in YWCA and the Bill of Rights in Canada will be discussed by Mrs. T. J. Carley and Miss Agnes Roy, of Toronto.

Miss Marion Pogue gave the meeting a short account of her recent trip to Britain and the continent on the first tour sponsored by the Y. She said the contacts made with YW groups and individual members in the different countries added greatly to her enjoyment.

Mrs. Paige Rowell and Mrs. Carley gave reports on the recent annual meeting of the Y held in Toronto, at which National president Mrs. Savage stressed these points: need of members to cultivate and maintain interest in training for citizenship, also as members of an organization which shows no racial or religious distinctions and that a high Christian purpose must be kept before them.

KnowledgePolitics To Understand Missions Situation

Fall Thankoffering meeting of the Evening Auxiliary WMS at St. Paul's Church Monday evening in the Sunday school auditorium was attended by guests from Cobourg, Lakefield and Centreville Auxiliaries, as well as members of other organizations of St. Paul's and all were welcomed by the president, Mrs. J. McLeod.

Guest speaker of the occasion, the Rev. A. Gordon Faraday, of Vankleek Hill, former relief secretary of the Board of Missions, began his address, entitled "Challenge of Missions Today," by saying: "A knowledge of world politics is necessary to be able to understand the missionary situation."

He recounted how missionaries had been forced out of China by the Communist regime and how the religious beliefs of many of the foreign countries were still too strong for missionaries to enter on their work. Mr. Faraday stressed the great need for help to carry on missionary work among the foreign element in this country.

Presentation of a life membership to Mrs. Vernon Read was made with Mr. Faraday doing the honors for interested friends of the Auxiliary who made the membership a gift.

Mrs. Read, pianist, accompanied Mrs. Adam Sands, Jr., as she sang two pleasing solos. Devotions were led by Miss Verna Johnson. After votes of thanks to the speaker and soloist were voiced by Miss Marjorie Nesbitt, the Rev. C. G. Boyd pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. J. Dutton and Mrs. R. McCuaig presided at the tea table during a social half-hour following.

YW Drama Group Formed By Mrs. J. G. Campbell

A Senior Drama Group has been formed in the YWCA for the benefit of people of both sexes who are interested in any branch of the art. The group is under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Campbell, former director of Drama in a Scottish YWCA and in Oshawa, and the first meeting takes place this evening at the Y.

As a foundation, four lectures and demonstrations are to be given and these will be open to the public as well.

Mrs. D. MacTavish is to give a make-up demonstration on October 24; Mrs. Robertson Davies will lecture on costume on November 1; Mrs. J. G. Campbell a talk on "Mime" on November 7; Mr. J. G. Campbell on acting and production on November 21.

After the course, rehearsals will commence for a nativity play to be presented at Christmas.

Marion Patterson Bride Of Michael Surkos

The marriage of Marion Patterson, daughter of Mrs. C. Sporle, Dalhousie St., to Michael Surkos, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Surkos, North York, took place Saturday afternoon in Knox United Church.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas officiated. Organist Mr. W. Potter played the music, and soloist Mrs. D. Jackman sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremony, and "Because" during signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her step father, Mr. C. Sporle, the bride was wearing an exquisite gown of star-white slipper satin, the bodice fashioned with a small turn-back collar, and tiny covered buttons to the waist, and long sleeves tapering to a point over the hand, the soft pleated skirt falling into a slight train. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was fastened to a garland of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, centred with an orchid.

Wedding attendants were, Miss Joan Dinsdale, maid of honor, wearing a gown of gold taffeta with matching bandeau headdress, and carrying a bouquet of bronze 'mums, and Miss Maxine Patterson, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, wearing a gown of moss-green taffeta with matching bandeau headdress, and carrying a bouquet of yellow 'mums.

Groomsman was Mr. William Coe of Peterborough. Ushers were James Hargreaves, Peterborough, and Samuel Surkos of North York.

A reception was held at the Empress Hotel, where the bride's mother received, wearing a suit of blue gabardine, with matching accessories and corsage of white roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a wine crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a honeymoon in Northern Ontario. For travelling, the bride wore a suit of navy gabardine, with a navy feathered hat, navy suede accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Surkos will live in Peterborough.

Phyllis Gardiner Chooses Victorian Gown for Bridal

A pretty autumn wedding solemnized Saturday afternoon in St. Luke's Anglican church by the Rev. W. J. Gilling, was of Phyllis Isabel Gardiner, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hopcroft and the late Bruce Gardiner, to Mr. George James Bishop, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Bishop, all of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Charles Hopcroft, the bride wore a Victorian gown of white bengaline with a finely tucked panel, outlined with heavy guipure lace extending from the neck to just below the waist of a tightly fitted bodice. The same lace edged the high boned collar and bands of lace applied to the skirt front contained the panel to the hemline. The fullness of the skirt was concentrated over the hips and across the back and swept into a graceful flowing train. The bodice was buttoned down the back and had long, light fitting sleeves with lily points over the hands. Her headdress was a tiara of seed pearls from which fell an embroidered finger tip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and fern.

Miss Joan Gardiner attended her sister and was lovely in a gown of azure blue with a flowing skirt of nylon net over bengaline. The strapless bodice of lace was covered by a sheer nylon net top. Her headddess was a Juliet cap in matching colour adorned with tiny seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of baby blue and white 'mums.

Mr. Ivan Pearson, cousin of the groom, was groomsman and Mr. Richard Pearson, also cousin of the groom, and Stewart Gardiner, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The reception was held at Club Aragon where the bride's mother received wearing a lovely autumn brown crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. She was assisted by the groom's aunt, Mrs. F. Pearson, who wore a becoming gown of dove grey and matching accessories with grey squirrel furs and a corsage of talisman rose buds.

Leaving for their honeymoon in the Niagara district, the bride wore a skipper blue suit with grey accessories, mink furs and a corsage of delicate pink roses. On their return the couple will live at 33 James Street.

Duff-Lemoire

ROSENEATH, Oct. 17. — The marriage was solemnized Saturday at the United Church parsonage, Roseneath, of Margaret, daughter of Mr. Conrad Lemoire, Hastings, and the late Mrs. Lemoire to Mr. Neil Duff, third son of Mr. and Mrs. James Duff, Roseneath.

The bride wore a dress of royal blue taffeta with Queen Anne collar fitted bodice and full skirt, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Jean Lemoire was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing beige and a corsage of red carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Trevor Duff, Campbellford.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, his mother receiving, assisted by the bride's sister, Mrs. Solomon Scriver, Hastings.

A buffet luncheon was served to about 20 guests, near relatives of the bride and groom.

The couple will live in Hastings.

With Rev. R. C. White officiating at this marriage, he has officiated at five weddings in the Duff family, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Duff during six years in Roseneath charge.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband Unfaithful to Wife Begs Her Not to Leave Him

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married sixteen years. My husband has just one affair after another with women, but when I tell him I do not want to stand in the way of his happiness and that I will gladly give him his freedom if he wants to marry one of these women, he begs me not to get a divorce. Says that he does not want me to leave him and that I am the only one whom he loves, and that he would not want to live if it were not for me. He treats me with the utmost consideration and kindness, shows me all kinds of affection, yet he is unfaithful to me. I cannot understand the contradiction. What would you advise me to do in this case? As far as money is concerned, I can take care of myself, so that does not have to be considered. In spite of all that he has done I love my husband with all my heart and soul.

MRS. BROKENHEARTED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: For some women who are afflicted with unfaithful husbands, divorce is like a major surgical operation that cures. It cuts away the canker in their lives, and when they are no longer tortured by the pangs of jealousy that gnawed at their hearts, they are well. They can put the past behind them. Forget the husbands who have neglected them and be gay and happy, and perhaps find solace in another husband.

Some Can't Take Divorce

But there are other women to whom divorce is death. They do not survive the operation. They have no lives outside of their husbands, and if they separate from them they are the most forlorn, miserable, purposeless creatures in the world.

I think that you belong to this latter type of one-man woman, and that you will be happier with your husband, putting up with his infidelities, condoning his neglect, enduring the shame he puts upon you, than you would be if you left him. As it is you see him daily, you have a part in his life, you have the interest of making a home for him and you are not so lonely as you would be if you went away and never even heard from him.

Of course, he doesn't deserve that you should love him after the way he treats you, nor that you should bear with him and forgive his sins against you, but the love of a wife for an erring husband has nothing to do with justice. It gets to be the divine pity that a mother has for her child who is a weakling.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am just 14 and I do like the boys a lot. Some people say I am boy-crazy. Am I not supposed to like boys? Tell me how I should act.

SALLY.

ANSWER: I suppose most girls of 14 are boy-crazy. It is so new and thrilling to them to find out that they can attract the opposite sex that it goes to their heads and they can think of nothing but boys, and have no interest in anything but boys.

As to how to act while you are suffering from boy-craziness, I can only suggest that you take it as easy as you can. Don't let it obsess you to the extent of making you oblivious to your studies at school and indifferent to whether you get an education or not.

Then, don't run after boys. That way you make yourself ridiculous and cheap. Besides, you scare the boys off. The things that men value even in women are the things that are hard to get. Don't be a telephone hound, who is always calling up boys who don't want to hear from her. Don't write two letters to a boy's one.

Above all, don't fancy yourself in love just because you are boy-crazy and get married while you are still in your 'teens and spend the balance of your life in repenting it. Just remember that people who are crazy are not in their right minds and are incapable of making wise decisions. Wait until you get back your senses.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What is the difference between personality and character? D.D.L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The dictionary gives about the same definition for both, as the qualities that distinguish an individual, but as the terms are commonly used they are quite different. A man, for instance, may possess a fine and noble character. He may be honest, upright, an examplar of all the virtues, but he may have such a disagreeable personality that all of his good qualities go for naught. On the other hand, many a man has a charming and gracious personality and is a scapegrace utterly devoid of principle.

Women Get Fish At Slave Lake

EDMONTON, (CP).—Who says a woman doesn't belong on a fishing trip?

Mrs. Virginia McCullough of Los Angeles stepped off a plane here proudly displaying a 27-pound Mackinaw trout.

She hooked the "big one" in Great Slave Lake while on a fishing trip with her husband and six others from California.

"The fishing was excellent," said Mr. McCullough. "In four hours six of us caught 750 pounds of fish which we gave to the Indians."

Two other women were included in the party. They were Mrs. Roy P. Dolley of Los Angeles and Miss Anne Roberts of Long Branch, Calif.

Woman of Year Not Chosen Yet

KIRKLAND LAKE, Oct. 17 — ((CP). — Mrs. Dalton Johnston, president of the Kirkland Lake Business and Professional Women's Association, said Monday the association has not yet nominated its candidate for the woman of the year.

Earlier Monday, it was reported that Mrs. Ann Shipley, Reeve of Teck Township, would be nominated by the Kirkland Lake Association for the honor awarded annually by the Canadian Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Johnston said: "At our last meeting, some of the members casually discussed the subject.... We do think Mrs. Shipley would fit the qualifications for the nomination, but we definitely have not done anything about it yet."

Nancy Hodges, Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature, won the award in 1949, and figure-skater Barbara Ann Scott in 1948.

OLD DENTISTS

Artificial teeth made of bone or wood have been found on Egyptian skulls dating from earliest times.

RASPBERRY SOUR CREAM PIE is a delicacy suitable for any special occasion and yet it is simple to make. Whether a new bride still learning by experience or a woman who has been cooking for years, the housewife keeping an eye open for easy-to-make desserts cannot overlook this recipe.

Pride of All Good Pies

What thrill there is when a new bride prepares her first meal! What pride the most experienced cook takes when she serves her friends an entirely new dessert treat! What pleasure your family shows when a new, delicious dessert appears on the table!

Here is a dessert that fills all requirements. It is easy to make so that any new cook can prepare it with ease. It's entirely different—your friends and family will love its luscious raspberry flavor, creamy texture, and crunchy crust. Try this rasperry treat.

Raspberry Sour Cream Pie

1 package danish dessert
1½ cups liquid (fruist juice and water)
1 cup sweetened canned or frozen raspberries (well-drained)
1 cup sour cream
1 nine-inch graham cracker pie shell.
Whipped cream

Stir contents of package of dessert into liquid (fruit juice and water). Bring to full boil, stirring constantly. Then boil for one minute. Remove from heat. Cool to room temperature. Then add raspberries and sour cream. Pour into graham cracker pie shell. Chill 3 to 4 hours. Just before serving, top with whipped cream.

For variation, add I cup sweetened peaches, strawberries or other favorite fruit in place of raspberries.

If you prefer, you may use heavy cream in place of the sour cream. Whip ½ cup cream until stiff and fold into cooled danish dessert.

Graham Cracker Pie Shell

1¼ cups graham cracker crumbs
1/3 cup butter (melted)
¼ cup sugar

Mix graham cracker crumbs, melted butter and sugar together in a bowl. Press into 9" pie plate to form a shell. Bake at 350° F. for 10 minutes. Cool.

Ingrid Bergman Happy Mama Plans No Films

By GEORGE PALMER

SANTA MARINELLA, Italy (AP).—Ingrid Bergman, now Mrs. Rossellini, spends virtually all her time these days with her seven-months-old son Robertino.

In her new country home which overlooks the sea here, 35 miles northwest of Rome, her life is simple and peaceful. The house was bought for her by her Italian film director husband, Roberto Rossellini.

She has "no plans whatsoever for making another movie," she said in an interview.

The actress, looking youthful in navy blue shorts and a pale blue blouse, is clearly at ease. She serves you coffee, then suggests a game of Boccia while you wait for Rossellini to drive out from Rome. Boccia, Italy's time-honored "abem of bowls" is one of Rossellini's favorite games. He's an expert at it.

Skids To Stop

Halfway through the game Rossellini roars into the driveway in his powerful sport roadster and skids to a stop. The sleek Ferrari roadster is his pet of a garage which includes among others a Cadillac, a custom-built Fiat, two smaller Fiats and a Chevrolet sedan. Miss Bergman admits she's worried about his fast driving.

You introduce Rossellini to your photographer and he smiles, shakes hands and says: "We're old friends. We've had many a battle in the past." Whereupon he takes over and promptly wins the Boccia game.

Revising Stromboli"

He is still at work on his own version of "Stromboli" which he intends to distribute in Italy. The version distributed abroad, he says, was badly cut and "is not my picture." Miss Bergman will "dub in" her own voice in Italian for the sound track of Rossellini's version.

Miss Bergman brings the baby out on the porch on the assurance that no pictures will be taken. The only published photographs of the baby have been those taken by Rossellini himself.

Ingrid says the handsome, smiling Robertino "has a wonderful appetite . . . he's always smiling . . . he sits up now, but hasn't tried to crawl yet . . . he has five teeth . . ."

"No," Rossellini interrupts her. "Only four. Two uppers and two lowers."

"Roberto, he has five now," Bergman says. 'I found a new one today. He has three upstairs now, and two downstairs."

Plow-women Best Without Male Help

MIDDLE RIVER, N.S. (CP). — Following a plowing matching in this Cape Breton village the judges made what at first sounded like a most unchivalrous complaint. They said women competitors had been given too much assistance.

Then it turned out that the judges figured the women would have handled the plows better if they had been left alone.

SPEAKING OF FOOD —

This is the time of year when apples are at their best. Ontario produces a large variety of these old time favourites such as McIntosh, Northern Spy, Greening, Baldwin, Wealthy and others, and your Dominion Master Market has a supply right now. They're ideal to give the children after school, in lunches, for pies and other desserts.

Here's a new recipe that appealed to us so we're passing it on. Cook apples, quartered, cored, peeled, with a little water and fresh honey. Serve cool with cream or cottage cheese for a tasty dessert treat.

No. 1 McIntosh Apples at Dominion are priced at 59c for 6 qt. basket . . . Snow at 51c 6 qt. basket.

P.S You should see the mouth-watering displays of celery, lettuce, tomatoes, grapes, oranges and many others. There are plenty of things to give you inspiration for meals at Dominion.

Breakfast is usually a meal taken in the rush of preparing for the day's activities. That is the general rule except on Sunday. Then it becomes a more leisurely affair. If you're looking for something new as a surprise for the family, try this recipe for Shirred Eggs in Bacon Rings.

SHIRRED EGGS IN BACON RINGS

6 slices bacon
6 slices bacon

Cook bacon. Line six muffin tins with strips of bacon, forming each slice into a ring around edge of tin. Break an egg into each bacon ring and bake in a slow oven (325°F.) for 5 to 10 minutes, or until eggs are set. Remove from tins and serve on toast.

Made with farm-fresh eggs and mild-cured bacon from Dominion, your family will recognize the mouth watering aroma of these most favoured of all breakfast foods long before you serve them.

There's still time to enter Dominion's "Dollars for Shoppers" contest and become eligible for a valuable cash award. Here's all you have to do. Visit your Dominion Master Market, corner of George and Sherbrooke Streets in Peterborough, fill in an entry form and then listen in to Station CHEX at 6:55 p.m. l[illegible]ur name is drawn, you will be asked a question . . . the right answer brings you a cash award.

When you're at Dominion, notice the wide variety of delicious meats. They have been specially selected by expert buyers for tenderness and flavour. An experienced salesman will help you select the cut you want and you'll find Dominion's prices mighty attractive too.

Milk is well-protected by Aluminum

An Inside Story

1. The nourishing glass of milk from Grandma is the happy ending to this story. It started when Nature put aluminum in the earth itself. That is why this important mineral is right in the milk we drink.

2. And Nature gave aluminum qualities that make it ideal in contact with food. Many milk pails . . . many parts of modern milking machines are made of aluminum.

3. From farm to dairy . . . from country to city . . . rich, wholesome Canadian milk is being increasingly carried in aluminum containers to reach you fresh and pure.

4. And to cap it all, many bottles of milk are protection-sealed with shining aluminum foil tops. Aluminum assures cleanliness for this most sensitive of all foods.

No other material is more "food-friendly" than aluminum. Whenever you see aluminum on the outside of a food or a drink, there's an "inside story" of perfectly protected flavour, quality and purity.

6—In Memoriams

AUSTIN & McCURRIE—In loving memory of our children who passed away, Carole Austin, Oct. 10, 1936 and Jerry McCurrie Oct. 14, 1943.
God takes loved ones from our homes,
But never from our hearts.
—Sadly missed by their parents and grandmother, Mrs. Starr.

LEAN—In loving memory of our dear sister-in-law, Cicely Lean, who passed away October 17th, 1949.
If all the world were our to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more
To hear your voice, to see your face
Come smiling through the door.
—Ever remembered by Jim and Amy Lean.

LEAN—In loving memory of our dear daughter-in-law, Cicely Lean, who passed away October 17th, 1949.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Lovingly remembered by Norman and Luella Lean.

PARKER—In loving memory of my sister, Regina, who passed away Oct. 17, 1949.
You are not forgotten, sister,
Nor ever will you be.
As long as life and memory lasts
We will remember thee.
—Ever remembered by Roland.

STARR—In loving memory of a dear husband, who passed away Oct. 17, 1949.
I often sit and think of you, when I am all alone,
You're always in my mind, no matter what I do,
All the time within my heart there are thoughts of you,
Never for a moment are you very far away,
Absent and yet near you seem and dearer every day,
For with you my dear we spent our happy days.
—Sadly missed by your loving wife, Amy.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

6—In Memoriams

STARR—In loving memory of our dear Dad, who passed away Oct. 17, 1949.
It's a lonesome home without you, Dad,
And sad the weary way;
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away.
Gone from us that smiling face,
Those carefree happy ways,
The heart that won so many friends,
In by-gone happy days.
—Sadly missed by your daughters Jean and Edna and sons-in-law Barney and Bill.

WINSLOW—In loving memory of our little David, whom Jesus took away October 17th, 1940.
Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of my heart I miss you so.
Often my darling my tears will flow
Dimming your picture before my eyes,
But never the one in my heart that lies.
The stars seem dim as I whisper low
"My own darling boy, I miss you so.
—Ever sadly missed by Mommy and Daddy.

OBITUARIES

DENNIS HOULIHAN

Dennis Houlihan of 93 Robinson St., died suddenly at his residence on Monday. He was born at Downeyville, son of the late James Houlihan and Julia Shine, and came from there to Peterborough 50 years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Clara Meade, and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Richardson (Geraldine) of Toronto and Mrs. Dominic O'Connell (Mary) of this city. There are two sons, the Rev. James Houlihan of Peterborough and John of Toronto and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Winn (Hannah) of Peterborough, and Mrs. Joseph Winn (Sarah) of Simcoe and Mrs. Patrick Scully (Mary) of Calgary. A brother, John Houlihan, also lives in this city.

Mr. Houlihan was a miller at the Quaker Oats Company for 35 years and had retired nine years ago. He was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church and of its Holy Name Society and the Altar Society and of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The funeral service will be held Thursday from the family residence, 93 Robinson St. to Immaculate Conception Church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

JOSEPH CALIXTE St. LAURENT

Joseph Calixte St. Laurent, 52, of 559 Bethune St. died suddenly at work at the Canadian Sealright Ltd. at 9 a.m. today. He was born and educated in Windsor, Quebec and has resided in Peterborough for 10 years. Formerly he lived in Detroit, Michigan, and Montreal.

Mr. St. Laurent was maintenance superintendent at the Canadian Sealright Ltd. He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral, the Altar Society and the Knights of Columbus.

He leaves his widow, the former Juliette Bourget; one son, Michel, 6; two sisters, Rev. Sister Paschaline, Pensionate St. Louise, Gonzague, Quebec; and Mrs. Wilfrid Richard (Hermance), Lac Megantic, Quebec, and one brother, J. St. Laurent, St. Lambert, Quebec.

The funeral will be from his late residence, 559 Bethune St. The remaining funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Centennial Display At Library Ends

The display at the Public Library one of the highlights of Peterborough's centennial celebration came to a close Monday.

Featured since July 24 the display has proved a great attraction as William Graff, librarian, had hoped.

Today the library staff is taking down the exhibits. "A number of items will remain permanently in the library" commented Miss Genevieve Sullivan who is in charge of the display.

Many favorable remarks from such centres as the Archives, Ottawa, Toronto, and the University of Western Ontario, London, have been received, complimenting the library on the excellence of the display. Staff members of the latter university claimed that it was one of the best planned and staged exhibits of local history in the country, Mr. Graff reported to The Examiner today.

Posters Tell Tourists

"Tourists were attracted to the display by posters placed at the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce booth," stated Mr. Graff. "A great many of these tourists were former Peterborough people who had a personal interest in the exhibit."

Students of all the Public and Separate schools in the city and the Collegiate visited the display.

"We have had many favorable comments on the colorful murals that formed a part of the exhibit," stated Mr. Graff. These murals were painted by students of the Normal School and Miss Marlene Wright.

Present Parting Gifts To Mrs. N. Thompson

WARKWORTH, Oct. 17 — (ENS)—Two parting gifts were presented to Mrs. Neil Thompson recently at a party held in her honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Grant Allen.

Eldon Ewing presented a pair of bedroom lamps on behalf of the senior members of Warkworth Badminton Club and the choir of St. Paul's United church combined with the Dorcas group in presenting a tri-light.

Mrs. Thompson is moving to Peterborough with her husband.

board of works or parks committee, and that expenditure coming out of their annual appropriations.

A motion by Aldermen Dodds and Waddell embodied the proposal that the survey be prepared as completely as possible and submitted to the ratepayers at the December elections.

Finances Reviewed

Mr. Rodger prefaced his financial review with the following explanation:

"In our submitting the figures which accompany this memorandum it should be clearly understood that at best the information is incomplete. While care has been taken to verify the correctness of expenditures made and to ensure that estimated costs where but part of the work is done are in line, and also to fix and incorporate the present cost of additional equipment yet unordered, there is still present some likelihood of error.

In the case of the total of resources available to meet expenditures, the bulk of this money is now under our control or within reach so that the figures provided can be viewed with assurance of their accuracy.

In addition to the resources totalling $3,412,484 shown in the accompanying statement, there is a further sum of $200,000 which the City Council of 1948 agreed to supply to the Hospital Board, and which sum the former anticipated would be available from the sale of the old Nicholls Hospital buildings.

I believe it to be worth while refreshing the memory by reiterating the statement made by the Architects on November 2nd, 1948—that in estimating likely cost no allowance was at the time made for any rise in building cost in 1949 and 1950. The overall cost was estimated then at $3,564,985 exclusive of cost of land, sewers, roads, grading and landscaping."

Civic Hospital resources were listed as follows: Nicholls Hospital Endowments, $278,978.53. Proceeds of debentures, $2,112,215.55.

Grants

Utilities Commission	$ 50,000.
City Trust Commission	300,000.
County Peterborough	150,000.
Province of Ontario	242,666.66
Dominion of Canada	230 766.60
Sale of materials	637.45

Financial revenue, (interest and increment, $10,782.93. Donations, $36,436.56. Total, $3,412,484.28.

The contributions from the Utilities Commission and City Trust were taken from their respective surpluses.

Mr. Rodger recalled that the invested endowments of Nicholls Hospital were quoted at $242,500 when the council was considering at the outset the funds needed for the new hospital.

The amount actually realized from the endowments was shown at $278,978.53.

Debentures were sold in two issues one for $600,000 which yielded $600,717.52, and $1,500,000 which yielded $1,511,498.03.

Estimate of Expenditures

Capital expenditures were: cost of land $19,000; Eastwood Construction Co., Ltd., contracts on main building, east wing, power house and laundry, $2,521,078.59. Architect's fees on those contracts $168,515.36; Nurses' Residence contract, and architect's fees, $446,533.48; furnishings and equipment, including estimated requirements, $401,985.42. Clerk of the works, salaries, $18,190.06; administration expense, $1,766.44; grounds and services, $7,948.; financial expense, $6,834.54; total, $3,591,848.89.

Other expense for work about the grounds, including sewer, undertaken by city departments "while charged to the hospital have not been paid out of hospital funds, and are not included in the total above."

Storm drain, sanitary sewers and driveway, (City Engineer 1948) $3,209.96.

Grading, drives, storm drains and sewer (City Engineer 1949), $22,140.16.

Other walks are being done this year. Cost was not yet determined.

Mr. Marshall remarked to the council: "There would be no question of any more money if we had the $200,000 (anticipated from the liquidation of the asset of the Nicholls Hospital properties."

Bethany Church Fifty Years Old

BETHANY, Oct. 17.—(ENS).—Bethany United Church was filled to capacity at morning and evening services on Sunday when many former residents were present to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the church.

The Rev T G. Hasser of Millbrook was the guest minister.

The choir was under the direction of Harry Preston and Mrs. Ona Thorndyke sang solos. Allan Clark of Toronto was guest soloist, accompanied by Norman Lowes of Oshawa.

Letters from former members and ministers of the Bethany circuit were read, and during the services special tribute was paid to the builders of the church. Although there are no early records, older residents claim that the first Methodist church was built in the village about 1865. In 1899-1900, during the ministry of the Rev. Thomas Brown, it was rebuilt and enlarged and moved to its present site.

There are no records which give the ministers' names from 1865-1876. In 1876 the Rev. R. W. Walker came to Bethany and he was followed by the Revs S. E. Scales, A. C. Wilson, D. N. McCamus, R T. Courtice, J. C. Bell ,R N Adams, J W Bunner, Roger Allen, W. J. Cragg, Spence, W. Fulford, N. D. Drew, W. Fulford, Harrison, Thomas Brown, C. W. Barrett, J. E. Robeson, F. Howard, Bowerman, H. Graham, J. Robeson, G W. Marvin, Herbert Trewin, Ed. Rowland, Glad. McKee, Roadhouse, Charles Adams, W. W. Jones, Daniel Williams, Alex. Edmison, P. H. Neville, Walter Smart, H. Stainton, W. T Wickett, J. E. Beckel, W H. Dafoe, Alfred Poulter, L. W. Scott, R. W. Paton, C. H. Ferguson, A. W. Harding, J. P. Henderson, W. N. Crandall, and the present minister, the Rev. James Hampson.

Some of the laymen who preached occasionally were T. H. Richardson, James Steer, W. J. Grandy, William Lee, John Lowes, Silas Beer and A. H. Monk

Volunteer Work

Most of the work of building the church was done by voluntary labor, and it is recorded that many who assisted were not Methodists, but people of the village and community, members of other denominations, who desired to see Christian leadership established.

Gifts from members of the congregation have helped to furnish the church. The bell in the steeple was a gift of the Graham family in memory of their parents; the Bible in use today was presented by James Little in 1860 to Graham's Methodist chapel, which was situated one mile west of the village, and re-dedicated to Bethany Methodist chapel in 1870; the communion table was presented by Mrs. Lavina Murphy in memory of her husband Samuel Murphy; the silver communion plates were the gift of Mrs. Harvey Fallis in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lee; and a mirror in the choir loft is the gift of Otto Spencer and Mrs. Lloyd Kennedy in memory of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer. The large Bible in the Sunday School was presented by Joseph Fair of Listowell who worshipped here as a boy.

Failed To Prove Careless Driving

A charge of careless driving against Joseph Hill, of Belmont Township, was dismissed in Police Court today when Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said there was not sufficient evidence to warrant his drawing an inference that Hill had driven off the road because of carelessness.

Constable John C. McKendry testified he investigated an accident on Highway 7, two miles west of Havelock in Belmont Township. He said an old car driven by Hill was lying on its right side in a ditch. It had been destroyed by fire.

Marks on the road showed that the Hill car had left the highway and travelled on the north shoulder of the road 154 feet, gradually going farther off the road until it fell over on its side in the ditch, the constable said.

He said there were no skid marks. The highway at that point was straigh and level. There was a curve 150 yards to the east and about 250 yards to the west. He said the weather was clear and the visibility good. Hill had been drinking, but was not drunk.

Corporal Lloyd McClure corroborated the constable's evidence.

Hill explained he had met a transport travelling in the opposite direction and its bright lights had made it difficult for him to see. He said he dropped off the hard surface of the road on to the soft shoulder and it was impossible for him to turn back.

He said he could have braked the car well with 154 feet, "but I figured on getting back on the road."

No Ceiling On Enlistments In RCAF Association Told

First meeting of the Peterborough wing of the Air Force Association was held Monday night at the Armouries. Speaker was Squadron-Leader Donald Forbes of Trenton.

He told members of the wing that future plans of the RCAF call for much greater expansion as an example saying that the RCAF no longer had a ceiling on enlistments.

Many of the millions of dollars earmarked for RCAF expansion, he said, will go into the "fantastically expensive" radar and electronic equipment used by a modern air force.

Until the advent of the Korean war, he said, the RCAF was in a "fairly favorable" position. Indeed, recruiting units were closed at the end of June this year. The ceiling of recruits will only be limited by the training facilities of the air force.

As far as air crew recruiting went, the quota has been stepped up from 100 to 200 every eight weeks. To keep air schools operating the Chief of Air Staff called up instructors who were on reserve, Squadron-Leader Forbes said.

A radical departure in the methods of training finished air crew was shown, he said, by the recent decision of the Minister of Defence to dispatch a Canadian squadron to Europe, where the group will train for some months.

Until the Korean crisis, he said, the RCAF was recruited on "the nucleus theory," which provided for a solid core of trained personnel who would become instructors for the most part in the event of war.

Following the start of the Korean war, RCAF officials lifted the enlistment ceiling and sought expansion in other ways. As enlistments have been almost doubled, said Squadron-Leader Forbes, training establishments will probably be increased to handle the larger number of recruits.

To the members of the Wing, he said that the RCAF considers the Air Force Association a "most valuable link between ourselves and the general public" which could only be formed of veterans who realize and appreciate the problems of the air force.

Honor S. G. Marchen On Retirement

The staff of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company had a dinner and social evening at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club in honor of Samuel G. Marchen, who recently reached his retirement.

Assistant Manager Gerald Norris was chairman, J. W. Bowen, manager, presented Mr. Marchen with his retirement certificate. On behalf of the staff, W. C. McCreery made the presentation of a lounge chair to Mr. Marchen and Miss M. Cadigan, a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Marchen.

Old friends and asociates of Mr. Marchen, A. J. Brennan, Lindsay, W. C. McCreery, Jim McCulloch and Miss Edith Francis also spoke.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Marchen wish them many years of health and happiness.

Couple With Two Kiddies Still In Summer Spot Can't Find Rooms Under $70 With Children

Since July, a Peterborough factory worker and his wife have been looking for an apartment in Peterborough in which they can live with their two small children, aged one and two-and-a-half.

"We've had no luck at all," the wife said today. "If we find a place within our means, the landlord doesn't want children in it. And if we find a place that will take children, we can't afford it."

At present, the family of four is living in two small rooms in a Chemong summer cottage. They have to quit their present home by Wednesday, and although Mayor Swanston has volunteered his help, they have been unable to find a new home.

And, says the wife, the family of four will soon be a family of five.

'Most of the apartments have been up around $70 or $80, and the ones we could afford were ones where we couldn't have children," she said. "We've phoned every want ad. that's been in the paper, but they all seem to be taken or won't allow children."

Pleads Guilty To Beating Horse, Fined $25

Pleading guilty today to a charge of beating his horse, Clifford Shepherd, Campbellford, was fined $25, and $6.75 costs.

Provincial Constable Gordon Caldwell testified while watching a horse race at the Norwood Fair October 9, he saw Shepherd riding a bay mare, "beating his horse furiously over the right eye" with with a riding crop.

He said as he walked to the finish line of the race, he received several complaints from members of the trotting association about the "cruel manner in which the horse was treated."

A short distance beyond the finish line near a gateway, he found that the horse had kicked a small dent in a car. Shepherd paid $10 for the damage done.

The constable said Shepherd told him the horse was very difficult to handle and at a previous race had run off the track injuring two people, sending them to hospital. He said he felt it was necessary to beat the horse on the right side to make it go to the left.

Constable Caldwell said he found welt marks on the horse's right rump and the right eyeball and eyelid had been cut and were bleeding. There were three distinct welts along the side of the horse's head, and the left eye was badly inflamed. He told Shepherd to take the horse home and see that it got a veterinarian's attention.

Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford testified he saw Shepherd start to beat the horse over the head and neck at the gate after it had crossed the finish line. He said Shepherd then got off the mare and beat it with the riding crop about the head and neck again.

The moment the race had started, he said, Shepherd had started to slash the horse on the rump.

Shepherd denied he had hit the horse after he dismounted.

"It appears," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said, "this man has a vicious temper and lost control of himself." He said the charge called for a fine up to $500 or a jail term of from one month to one year.

"I think a jail term would be a salutory lesson to others. I am glad to say only a few mistreat animals at races," he said.

PlanHolsteinDay At Morrow Park

The public is invited to look in on the District Holstein championships Wednesday at Morrow Park. The first class is called for 10 a.m. with J. Derno Innes of Woodstock, who is judge for the second year in a row.

This is the fourth year the district honors have been decided in Peterborough, and with good weather for the morrow there may be 200 Holsteins shown by breeders from Simcoe to Frontenac-Addington. It has become one of the biggest cattle shows of eastern Ontario.

Just as a rough guess of the number and quality of the Black and White cattle passing through the show ring their total value might be up to a quarter of a million dollars or more.

Tells Mission Band Of Japanese Children

FAIRMONT, Oct. 17—(ENS)—Mrs. Donaldson told the boys and girls of the Mission Band about the habits of the children of Japan, at their Thanksgiving meeting on Saturday.

Ann Wildman read the Scripture and Ruth Grice, Joan Minnie and Betty McIndoo read a poem.

Dry Fire Hose By New Method

Purchase of two Circal-Air drying units for the fire hall, replacing the old drying method by hanging hose lengths in the tower, that has been torn down, was left by the council Monday night to Ald. T. D. Miller with power to act.

Low price recently quoted by Ald. Miller to the finance committee was $918, but a later bid of $835 was reported by him.

"For identically the same equipment," Ald. Miller told the council.

City Clerk Outram suggested the new low price might reflect altered exchange conditions. So, to give the other bidders an opportunity of offering the city similar advantage if they could do so, the purchase was left entirely in the hands of Ald. Miller, in a motion by Aldermen Waddell and Gillespie.

Council also agreed to Ald. Miller's recommendation of purchase of a gasoline pump from Wonder Bakeries at $75. The old one at the fire hall, he said, was obsolete and not in the proper location for convenience.

"The information about the Wonder Bakeries pump was obtained by City Clerk Outram," Ald. Miller said. "I want to thank him. I think it will save us some money. The pump has been inspected by Chief Smith and Assistant Chief Foster. They feel that it is satisfactory to the department's requirements."

A meeting of the representatives of the city and Smith fire departments is to be arranged by Ald. Miller with the approval of the council.

"We mentioned mutual help when they were talking of forming a brigade," Ald. Miller said. "We might be glad of their assistance some time, and they might be glad to have us."

Fighting Bosses And UE Says Labor Head

The Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) which claims a membership of 14 locals and 5000 organized workers, has thrown its weight behind the executive of the Independent Outboard Marine Workers' Union who are seeking affiliation with the CCL.

Alfred Barber, president of the Labor Council and also president of Local 210, UPWA, said: "At the Outboard plant the boys are fighting not only the bosses but also the red-dominated United Electrical Workers."

(Monday the UE announced it was starting an organizing drive in the plant. This came after an overwhelming vote at the Outboard plant on October 3 to dissolve the independent union and affiliate with the CCL. Critics claim this special meeting was called to vote on the company's proposals to the negotiating committee and for no other reason. The whole thing was a CCL manoeuvre, say the dissenting group.

"The company has gone into partnership with the UE to help keep the CCL out," said Mr. Barber. "But this move won't succeed. The workers are going to join the Congress."

Every CCL local was asked to lend what assistance it could to help in organizing the Outboard plant.

Announce Raise In Bank Rate For Banks Only

OTTAWA, Oct. 17—(CP)—The Bank of Canada Monday night announced an increase in the bank rate—the interest rate which it will lend money to other banks—to 2 per cent from 1½.

The change, effective today, is the first in the rate since it was set at 1½ per cent on Feb. 8, 1944.

In Toronto, a top ranking official said that the Bank of Canada's action in increasing the bank rate possibly will make no difference to ordinary bank customers.

The official, a senior executive of a large chartered bank, said the increase to two per cent from 1½ per cent apparently was designed to curb credit and stem inflationary pressures.

It would not mean an increase in the interest rate banks pay their depositors and it probably would not mean an increase in interest rates on bank loans.

The official, who asked to remain anonymous, told The Canadian Press that his bank had not found it necessary to borrow funds from the Bank of Canada for many years. He believed that Canada's other banks had not borrowed from the central bank either.

Bank of Canada loans to chartered banks, he said, were a means by which banks could increase their credit structure and, in turn, increase their loans to borrowers. The increase in the bank rate would make it less attractive for a chartered bank to use this means of raising credit and, consequently, make banks more reluctant to increase their loans.

Boat Owner Gets $68 After Plane Collision

TORONTO Oct. 17 — (CP) — Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow awarded a boat owner net damages of $68.90 Monday in a lawsut resulting from a collision of the boat and an aircraft.

The boat was owned by Harry T. Tilley and driven by his son-in-law J. Moffat when it collided with a float plane owned by the Georgian Bay Airways and piloted by I. M. Watt.

Mr. Justice Barlow ruled each was 50 per cent negligent. He assessed Tilley's damages at $593.68 and damages to the plane at $456.88. The boat owner received $68.90 as a result.

HARVEST TIME IN KOREA — In a Korean rice field, shocks of the grain, harvested entirely by hand, are stacked in neat rows. Korean farmers appear as tiny specks in centre of the photo. One major result of the speedy UN liberation of South Korea was to rescue the valuable rice crop from invading Reds, and thus save countless thousands of Koreans from possible starvation.

Rotary To Start UN Association

The need for a United Nations Association in Peterborough was Monday stressed by members of a UN study group at a meeting of the Rotary Club.

On display was the UN flag—a map of the world encircled by an olive wreath in white on a light blue blackground.

The three members—Leo Copp, Charles Hearst and Miss Claire Mason—explained to club members the basic functions of a United Nations Association. They explained that the emphasis on the United Nations at this time was because next week—October 16 to 24—is UN Week for Rotary.

The object of a UN Association in Peterborough, said Mr. Copp, was to provide a part of a well-informed majority of citizens among the member nations of the UN. Education was the basic reason for the existence of the UN Associations, of which there are 22 in Canada.

A minimum of 40 members would be needed to set up such an association in the city, and a drive for membership will be started next week.

To date, said Miss Mason, one city service club has joined as a group, and others are expected to join.

Near the end of the meeting, Rotary president Hugh Waddell presented Mayor M. J. Swanston with a large UN flag for the city. A smaller one, similar in size to the one owned by the UN Association, was presented to Mr. Waddell by the international committee of the club.

How to beat the price of meat!

CHATEAU TOMATO SCRAMBLE

A main dish that has everything! Easy to prepare . . . economical (Chateau Cheese has the protein value of meat, fish or fowl). And it has the smooth, mellow, flavour only Borden's Chateau gives!

1½ cups canned tomatoes
¼ cup finely chopped onions
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
½ lb. of Borden's Chateau, diced
1 tsp. butter
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper

Place tomatoes, onions and green pepper in frying pan and simmer over low heat about 20 min. or until onions and green pepper are tender. Add taste-tickling Chateau Cheese and butter and cook, stirring occasionally until Chateau is melted. (Chateau Cheese melts as smoothly as it spreads and slices.) Add eggs, salt and pepper. Cook until eggs are done, stirring constantly. Serve at once, on hot buttered toast, to the whole family. (Borden's Cheeses are all highly digestible.)

First-to-last-course wonders . . .

More Cheese Treats—there's a Borden Cheese for every occasion and taste, you know!

The distinctive flavor of each of Borden's Fine Cheeses (mellow result of cheese-making for half a century) makes it traditional for cheese-lovers to say, "Borden's Cheese, if you please!"

BORDEN'S FINE CHEESES

Think of Canada As Sort of Another State

By JACK SCOTT

The small country home of John Longmore on the lovely north coast of Maine, which I've been writing about as a kind of glimpse into the lives of Americans, is a happy place. Much of the credit for that rests with Dorothy Longmore.

Dorothy's great - grandfather emigrated from Northern Ireland to England and her grandfather, in turn, sailed west to the promised land; in his case, Massachusetts. Dorothy was brought up in Springfield, studied the piano with a view to a concert career, but had to abandon her ambition as she became increasingly near-sighted. When her mother was widowed, Dorothy went to work in the head office of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Association.

Working a few offices down a corridor from Dorothy's was John Longmore (he was in Annuity, she in Policy). Their romance did not begin as an office affair, however, but through music. John lived in a boarding house next door to Dorothy and often she would hear him playing the violin in his room.

In Short Pants

John has played since he was in short pants. His grandfather had been one of Maine's best country fiddlers and John inherited his violin, an instrument with a high, clear pitch suited to the acoustics of barns, and which John called "Dinah." At the age of 11, he sent away to Sears-Roebuck for a fingerboard chart which he pasted on the violin and taught himself to play.

The fiddle had gone with him to Springfield. When he was lonely for Maine and the country, which was nearly all the time, he would go up to his room after work and play sad songs.

One day Dorothy saw the young man walking by and instead of the usual formal nod she spoke to John. "I said I'd heard him playing and I thought it was very pretty," Dorothy recalls now. "I also mentioned that I liked music because I'd studied piano for many years.

Practise Up

"Well, John just looked at me and said, 'You practise up and maybe I'll come over and play with you.' That made me mad and I did. He began to come over pretty regular after that and one night he played very badly, put down his fiddle and asked me to marry him."

Dorothy was happy in the city. Her first two children, Gail and Hugh, were born there. John was getting steady promotions at Massachusetts Mutual. When he decided one day that he could never find happiness in the city, she felt dismay, but made no objections.

"I guess I'd known it from the beginning," she says now. "I'd wanted to go to New York on my honeymoon, but John decided on a canoe trip through Maine. I took my trousseau along in a duffle-bag. It was a strange honeymoon. John became very quiet and thoughtful, almost poetic, in the woods. He was like an Indian. I guess I knew then that he could never be happy in the city."

All their complacent suburban life disappeared with John's decision. When they bought their acreage and the one-room shack John went north to Maine to get the place ready for occupancy. Dorothy went back to her old job.

Ready To Move

"It was two long years before we were ready to move in," she said. "John taught at the school and worked at anything he could find. We each lived on our own income. What we had left over we pooled for the house. I spent all my spare time looking for bargains. I bought nails, a pound at a time, and soil pipe and lumber, and piled them up in my mother's basement. John bought an old ton-and-a-half truck and he'd rattle down to Springfield, load up and come back to the house to do a bit more."

Dorothy found life in the country strange at first. The northern New England drawl, the blunt directness of speech and the vocabulary itself ('spider" for frying pan, "cup-towel" for dish towel, "distemper" for any kind of illness) made her feel like a foreigner. She overcame this by keeping busy. When she learned that there were no swings or teetertotters in the school ground and that the school bus service was poorly run, she decided to form a "Mothers' Club."

"It went poorly at first, but then I decided to have a benefit dance to raise money for the playground," Dorothy said. "I got John's orchestra to play for nothing, got in the Ford pick-up and started to visit all the women in the back roads. They'd look at me and say, 'So, you're Johnny Longmore's wife, eh? Thought you two had split up, what with Johnny working here all alone.' Well, I sold all my tickets and we made $56. The Mother's Club began to grow and we got a new school bus. I began to feel that I belonged."

Happier In Country

Dorothy is convinced that the children live happier lives in the country than they do in the city. "They've come to have personalities of their own," she says. 'In the city everything is standardized—the clothes, the talk, everything. Children are cut to pattern. Here in the country they develop more as individuals."

Among her many theories is that a happy home must be built amound music and this creates a certain amount of chaos in the small Longmore home.

In the living room stands an upright piano and beside it a complete set of drums, which John purchased for his orchestra, the Down Easters. On top of the piano are 'Dinah," John's violin, and two Flutophones, plastic kazoo-like instruments.

Weird Cacophony

The children are encouraged to play any or all of these instruments when the spirit moves them. On the first night we visited the Longmores we heard a weird cacophony of sound from the little white house. Looking in the window, I saw Dorothy at the piano and John, standing bug-eyed and like a beanpole with his fiddle under his chin. Young Hugh was beating the drums, Gail was blowing on a Flutophone and Mary, the baby, was sitting beside her mother thumping her tiny fists on the bass register. It was a ridiculously happy concert.

Dorothy confessed that sometimes this becomes a little tedious, but said she'd never discouraged the children from "expressing themselves."

"If it gets too bad," she said, "John and I walk outdoors and stand awhile in the orchard."

The Case of the Unopened Letter

ALTHOUGH she put it out of sight when it arrived, the unopened letter worried her all day. And even when she came home from work again, she couldn't bring herself to open it immediately.

She knew who the letter was from. She knew it contained the bills for little Judith's illness. But what she feared to know was the amount of this new debt, the size of this added threat to the family she was now solely responsible for.

Jim had always said that the last act of his life would not be that of going into debt. And it wasn't. But there was so little left over now—no fund for the unexpected emergencies that had arisen during the difficult first year of adjustment.

And now faced with this latest emergency Mary was afraid. Afraid that her family's slender thread of security would snap under the strain.

Think. Could this happen to your wife?

South Koreans Said Fighting In Capital U.S. Troops Nearby

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Oct. 18—(AP)—South Koreans said tonight their troops have fought their way into Pyongyang, the Communist capital. The Korean information press said the report was made by the Pusan, South Korean, radio in a broadcast at 9 p.m. (7 a.m., EST). There were indications, however, the South Korean report may be premature. Two hours after the radio at Pusan said South Korean troops had entered, a field dispatch reported Marine pilots still were attacking enemy targets in close support outside the city.

The dispatch, filed by AP correspondent O. H. P. King after a flight over the capital, made no mention of friendly forces inside the city.

Instead it said that North Korean rearguards were withdrawing into the bomb-blackened city before the United Nations advance.

Hard-driving Republic of Korea (ROK) 1st division troops swarmed over the Pyongyang airfield and then stormed across the Taegong river into the Communist capital, Pusan radio said.

Their thrust into Pyongyang, prize goal of the massive United Nations drive, climaxed a brilliant eight-day march of nearly 90 miles.

The ROKs fought hard to enter the city ahead of the U.S. 1st cavalry division.

Yesterday the Commonwealth Brigade, made up of British and Australian troops, apparently following allied planned strategy halted their rapid advance after a brush with the Reds' outer defences outside Pyongyang to allow U.S. cavalry troops to move up alongside.

The American troopers wanted to add Pyongyang to their string of historic firsts—Manila, Tokyo, the linkup between the two South Korea beachheads.

Given Head

But the South Koreans, battling to win back the northern half of their country — wrested from them with the Russian occupation after the Second World War — were not to be stopped.

Along the winding mountain road southeast of Pyongyang and into the capital plains, the ROK troops rolled forward, hardly pausing.

For days their officers had trouble restraining the South Koreans from running on toward the city.

They surged through the Red opposition, sporadic at times, bitter at others.

The mountain road was littered with Communist dead. The South Koreans wheeled past huge piles of abandoned Red arms and equipment.

They paused only to seize what they needed for their onward thrust.

Tanks Cleared Path

American tanks cleared a path at least part of the way for the surging ROKs.

The thrust climaxed a spectacular northward drive out of the old Pusan beachhead, about 270 miles to the southeast.

The ROK 1st division made its reputation for toughness north and northeast of the old Taegu anchor of the southeast Korea beachhead.

When other ROK divisions recoiled there before the fury of Communist attacks, the South Korean first division held. It would not retreat.

Vice Unchecked In Toronto, Council Blamed

TORONTO, Oct. . 18—(CP)—Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, Secretary of the United Church of Canada's Board of Evangelism and Social Service, said today that vice is rampant in Toronto and that during the last 20 years the illegitimate birth rate has more than doubled.

He made the charges in an interview in which he revealed the substance of a report he plans to deliver next month at a meeting of the church's three Toronto Presbyteries.

Dr. Mutchmor said the responsibility for the alleged vice lies with city council.

"There has continued to be an almost wholesale granting of liquor licences and the development of Yonge street into a veritable rum row without any effective protest by the Mayor or any other member of the council."

Only Mild Protest

The city had made a "very mild" protest against the granting of additional liquor licences and the number of outlets had continued to increase. In his opinion, the increased consumption of liquor was reflected in the number of unwed mothers.

"Statements by Mayor (Hiram) McCallum about the purity of Toronto are just naive. Anybody who knows Toronto knows how much vice goes on unchecked. It used to be Jarvis and Sherbourne (east-central thoroughfares) but now Yonge street is even worse."

His reference to the Mayor concerned an assertion yesterday by Mayor McCallum that Toronto police are "on top of crime" and that no gambling syndicates are operating.

Parties Rally Transport Issue

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Both sides issued their most urgent calls for parliamentary attendance today as the Conservatives aimed another attack at Prime Minister Attlee's government.

The latest opposition bid to unseat Labor came as a slap at the British Transport Commission. The Conservatives introduced an amendment to a BTC report "deploring" the socialized industry's losses which amounted to £20,800,000 (about $61,360,000).

While the motion is not technically one of no confidence, the government could be expected to resign if defeated on such a major issue.

Majority Eight

Labor's voting majority went back to eight today with the announced retirement of David Kirkwood, Labor member for Dunbartonshire East. Yesterday it had been temporarily raised to nine when the government ruled that Rev. J. G. McManaway, member for a northern Ireland constituency, was ineligible to take his seat. He was a Conservative supporter.

If the House of Commons—back in harness after a brief autumn recess—accepts the ruling, a special election will be held to pick his successor.

Indo-China Leader Gives Up Riviera

NICE, France, Oct. 18—(CP)—Bao Dai, Chief of State of Vietnam, left by plane today for Indo-China after a three months vacation on the Riviera which had made him the target of much criticism in his war-torn country.

The former Emperor of Annam, who now heads the French-created state in Indo-China, issued a statement at the airport expressing satisfaction that "the United States of America has decided to join its powerful efforts to those of France and our own."

WINSTON CHURCHILL, who flew from Copenhagen, Denmark to London to see his horse in action at the Newmarket race meeting, wasn't disappointed when Colonist II won the Lowther Stakes over the one and three-quarter-mile distance. The steed gets a pat of appreciation for his fine work from "Winnie" who is believed to have a real star in Colonist II.

Judge Named In Rail Dispute

OTTAWA, Oct. 18—(CP)—Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, of the Supreme Court of Canada, is the government arbitrator who will work out settlement terms in the railway wage-hour dispute.

The justice, who has been called on several times to conduct major investigations for the government, was chosen by the cabinet late yesterday to bring an end to the wage dispute that precipitated last August's general rail strike.

Within the area still at issue between the railways and 17 unions representing 124,000 employees, he will be empowered to dictate final and binding settlement terms.

Increase Figure

These will deal chiefly with the amount of a general wage increase, the effective date for the five-day, 40-hour week and the classes of employees to which these concessions will be extended.

The compulsory arbitration was ordered under an Aug. 30 parliamentary bill which ended the strike after nine days. The disputants were given until late Saturday to work out a settlement among themselves; but were unable to reach agreement on contract terms or on the choice of an arbitrator.

It is expected that Mr. Justice Kellock will get to work immediately on the task of laying down settlement terms. One of his first moves probably will be to consult with the disputants at Montreal.

While his power to dictate terms is absolute, it is limited to the area laid down by parliament in the Aug. 30 bill—the field still in dispute when negotiations broke off.

Florida Hurricane Kills 1 Damage Set At $5,000,000

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18—(AP)—One person was known dead, hundreds are homeless and National Guardsmen were called out today to guard hard-hit areas in the South Florida hurricane area where damage was officially estimated at $5,000,000. The storm, losing force as it travelled over land, moved on toward the central Florida citrus belt, leaving destruction in its wake from 125-mile winds.

Hardest hit were the communities of Davie, West Hollywood and West Hallandale. In those towns at least 40 homes were destroyed, 79 trailers wrecked, many homes damaged and an undetermined number of persons injured.

Mrs. Owen Adams was killed at West Hollywood when the winds upset and smashed her trailer. Her husband, Owen, was critically hurt and their three children injured.

Sheriff Amos Hall of Broward county made a tour of the three communities and called out the 40 men of the Florida National Guard."

Connie Mack Quits Ball Club

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18. —(AP).—Connie Mack, popularized as "the grand old man of baseball," retired today as manager of Philadelphia Athletics, a post he has held since 1901 when the American League was organized. Mack will be succeeded as field boss of the A's by Jimmy Dykes, colorful ex-third baseman for the A's and onetime manager of Chicago White Sox.

Mack is 87 years old. His 88th birthday anniversary will be observed December 23.

He had been under fire for a number of years by sports fans in Philadelphia who argued that Mack had outlived his usefulness.

The Athletics wound up last in the American League in the season just completed. Dykes acted as assistant manager and took over the field job on a number of occasions toward the end of the season.

French Troops Abandon Post

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 18—(AP)—France today announced the abandonment of the Indo-China frontier post of Dong Dang relinquishing for the second time in 65 years her control of the main invasion route from China.

A French military spokesman said the Dong Dang garrison withdrew yesterday. It was the fifth post the French have given up within a month along the mountainous frontier, stronghold of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's National Vietminh Guerrillas.

Don Dang squarely faced the traditional invasion route from China—through the walled Chinese city of Nam Quan (Chinese Gate) and a mountain pass. Except for periods of Japanese and Chinese occupation during and just after the Second World War, France had held the post since 1885.

The withdrawal from Dong Dang left major French frontier garrisons only at Langson, and on the western and eastern ends of the former French border line—at Loakay and Moncay.

The military spokesman said the retirement from Dong Dang had been carried out "in good order" and without unusual pressure from Vietminh forces.

Langson itself is being made ready for the onslaught of the Missing Heir To Ancient Irish Peerage

Not Excited Over Good News

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Oct. 18 (CP). — If Arthur Plunkett of Vancouver will drop a letter to Debrett's, England, enclosing full particulars, the chances are his name will appear in the next registry of Britain's titled families.

The 3,000-word, red-and-gold registry, published annually for two centuries under the title Debrett's Peerage, goes to press in six weeks. If the 64-year-old railway engineer can establish before then that he is the missing heir to an ancient Irish peerage, his name will be entered alongside 100,000 other members of the aristocracy.

Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's, said today he is convinced from Canadian newspaper reports that Plunkett really is next in line to a peerage created by King Henry VIII, but he still needs proof.

"I'm writing him today," Hankinson said, "asking him to forward details of his relationship to Harry Edward Plunkett who is still shown in our records as next-in-line to the peerage."

(In Vancouver last night, Plunkett didn't seem too excited about it all. "I know all about it, but I'm on my way to work and haven't got time to discuss my plans," he told a reporter.

(Plunkett, who works for the Canadian National Railways at Port Mann, 15 miles from Vancouver, did take time to deny reports he isn't interested in the title. "That's all wrong," he said, adding that he'll explain the facts later.

(Plunkett, who was born in Winnipeg, said his father moved to that Canadian city in 1886.)

Hankinson also received a report saying that Harry Edward Plunkett was a lighthouse keeper on Lake Winnipeg before his death 40 years ago.

"If that is so," Hankinson said, "it will mean Arthur Plunkett is the first lighthouse keeper's son ever to appear in Debrett's."

Hankinson said a letter addressed simply "Debrett's, England," would reach him.

Blind Woman Starved To Claim Attention

SUDBURY, England, Oct. 18 — (Reuters). — A blind woman starved herself to death "in order to claim attention," a coroner's court was told yesterday. Dr. L. B. Rowe said Mrs. Edith Parsonson, 47, complained to her husband and son of various illnesses and was "hysterical." He said she persistently refused meals her husband cooked for her. Mrs. Parsonson became ill through "starvation," Dr. Rowe said. Her husband finally persuaded her to go to hospital but she died next day.

Cruise Ship Fire Set Wilfully

Veteran Investigator Believes Inflammable Material Used In Fire

QUEBEC, Oct. 18—(CP)—Charles Hazen, veteran fire-investigator, testified today he believes the fire aboard the cruise ship Quebec which cost seven lives was "set wilfully."

Hazen, a Montreal chemist with 30 years' experience in fire investigation, told a court of inquiry he came to the conclusion, after a series of experiments, that the Aug. 12 ship fire was deliberately set.

Tests Described

The 74-year-old witness said these experiments established that it was virtually impossible for the fire, originating in the ship's linen room, to have been caused by a carelessly discarded cigaret butt or a burning match.

Hazen, called as a witness by Canada Steamship Lines, which owned the Quebec, added that rapidity of the fire's spread indicated inflammable material was placed in the linen room and someone deliberately set fire to it.

(Fire that destroyed the CSL cruise ship Noronic at Toronto in September, 1949, with loss of 119 lives, also was believed to have started in the ship's linen room.)

The chemist, using sheets taken from the linen room of the CSL Tadoussac, a sister-ship of the Quebec, showed the court it would take some time to set fire to one of them even by holding a large lighted wooden match under one edge.

Tried for Three Hours

He said in his experiments after the SS Quebec fire he tried for three hours to set fire to folded sheets with a burning cigarette.

He produced before the court sheets recovered from the wreckage of the Quebec and noted that while parts of them were burned they were not consumed by the fire which destroyed the ship.

Hazen said that nothing listed by Doucet Prieur, the Quebec's B deck steward, as among the contents of the linen room when the fire occurred could have caught fire spontaneously.

Hazen said a burning cigarette placed on folded linen scorched it but did not set it alight.

When a cigarette sets a bed afire, it is the mattress rather than the sheets that blaze up, he said.

Three Fighters Crash

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP). —Andrews Field Air Force Base reported today that three F-86 fighter planes crashed today almost simultaneously in the Washington area.

Lieut. Joe Kent, public relations officer, said two of the planes went into the Potomac River and that the third had been located by air observers in a wooded area in Virginia.

Not Reckless—Nervous

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18 — (AP)—Joe Krafcheck, 55, a bank messenger, got a sympathetic hearing when he told Judge John S. Barry how he happened to be arrested for reckless driving.

The police said Krafcheck sped away at 38 miles an hour in the downtown district after his car scraped the fender of another machine.

Krafcheck said he was unaware of the mishap but he had $25,000 in cash on the seat beside him and became frightened when he noticed an automobile following him. The car overtook him and forced him to the curb.

Judge Barry dismissed the charge.

Must Continue Social Progress In Crisis—Martin

OTTAWA, Oct. 18 — (CP) — Social progress must be continued despite military defence preparations, Health Minister Martin said Tuesday night.

The minister, in an address prepared for delivery to the CBC's political free-time series, apparently was replying to suggestions that such social measures as extended old age pensions would be sidetracked because of higher defence expenditures.

Declaring the Canadian way of life must be maintained, Mr. Martin said that "to defend ourselves, to protect our advances, to keep intact what has been built with so much labor—these must be our first objectives."

"But even when peace is endangered," he added, "even when it is violated, we must maintain every worthwhile line of national endeavour and keep on planning and building and progressing, if we are to save ourselves from destruction and servitude.

"We must be sure that in giving first thought to the military dangers that threaten us, we do not forget social progress. Military defence must come first, but economic and social progress is also vital to defence."

The secret of both social security and prosperity lies in production, the minister said. To produce was to prosper; and year after year Canadian farmers and factory workers had produced more and more abundantly.

In social welfare, Mr. Martin said, it was his belief that the provinces could do better. The province should leave to the municipality, and the municipality to the family or individual whatever could be done better on their levels.

Meet Our Terms!

AURORA, Ill., Oct. 18 ((AP)—Aurora's city fathers have banned flying of the United Nations flag over public buildings. The city council voted Monday night to ban the U.N. flag as long as "Russian Communists" remain in the United Nations Assembly.

Bookkeeper Missing Several Days

Power Of Attorney Over Accounts Of Toronto Lawyers

EDMONTON, Oct. 18—(CP) —Police last night arrested a woman identified as Elsie Arnetta Teasdale, 33, in connection with the disappearance of $38,000 from a Toronto law firm.

Police said they made the arrest on request of Toronto police and are holding the woman on a nominal charge until an escort arrives to take her to Toronto.

No trace of the missing $38,000 was found.

Police said he woman arrived in Edmonton Oct. 9 and obtained employment a few days ago as a bookkeeper with an Edmonton firm. She was picked up in the Edmonton Y.W.C.A.

First reports were that the woman was arrested two days after arriving in Edmonton. She spent one night at a YWCA, another at a rooming house, local officers said. On the strength of information forwarded from Toronto, Edmonton detectives took her into custody.

Miss Teasdale's disappearance was made known last Saturday. At that time, her brother, Wallace Teasdale, told police he had received a letter in which she hinted at suicide.

Police said she was last seen here Thursday in company of a man who described himself as a private detective. He was held for a time as a material witness and released Saturday on $2,500 bail. Police did not identify him.

Detectives H. Thurston and W. Johnston said $38,000 was withdrawn during August and September from bank accounts of the law firm which employed Miss Teasdale. As bookkeeper, she had power of attorney over the accounts.

Dionne Quints On Trip To U.S.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18 (CP) — The Dionne quintuplets, accompanied by a retinue of 20, passed through Montreal early today en route to New York for a five-day visit.

The 16-year-old quints, their father, Ovila Dionne, 10 schoolmates and two nuns in charge of the Roman Catholic Notre Dame Convent in Corbell, Ont., left that town by train last night and are expected to reach New York tonight.

During their visit in New York, they will be guests of Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, and will attend a banquet of the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation Thursday.

Archdeacon A. Vachon, of Ottawa, Father Gustave Sauve, of the Ottawa University and a nurse also are making the trip.

5-Year Term Up

Reds Move To Oust Lie As UN Secretary

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—Russia was reported today to have proposed formally that the United Nations pick a new secretary-general from veteran delegates of Latin American or Asian countries. No name was offered in the early stages of a closed-door Security Council meeting, however.

Immediately after Russia's Jakob A. Malik made this proposal in the council, it was reported, Sir B. N. Rau, India, proposed that the council draw up a list of 22 names, including the names of former presidents of the General Assembly and other U.N. delegates, to see if the five great powers could agree on one of them.

Malik was reported to have told the council that every attempt to find agreement should be made. He was said to have stated that it is not yet time for the assembly to act on the Lie issue.

Meet Thursday

The assembly has been called to meet tomorrow for final action on a United States proposal to extend Lie's term, which ends Feb. 2. However, the assembly session will depend on the outcome of today's council meeting.

Malik indicated the Russians still are opposed to Lie. He vetoed last week a motion to re-elect Lie.

Malik vetoed in the Security Council a new term for the bluff Norwegian, and the council could not agree on any other candidate. Assembly discussion now will have to wait until the council finishes with the problem.

The Soviet delegation kept carefully hidden the name of the man it wants to replace Lie in the $40,000 a year post. It clouded the issue in a haze of corridor lobbying.

Lie's whole-hearted support of U.N. action against aggression in Korea is believed to be the basis for Russia's opposition to him.

The American position is that Russia had plenty of time to campaign for a replacement before the council meeting where it vetoed Lie; that the U.S. and Britain got nowhere in attempts early in the fall for discussion with the Russians about the question, and that consequently it now is too late.

Back Lie

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, is reported to have told Malik yesterday that the U.S. made every effort to get together with Russia and agree on a candidate. Since Russia would not even talk, he is reported to have said, the U.S. made up its mind to continue to back Lie.

It is doubtful if the council will be able to come to a vote today on the question.

26,000 Men Strike Paralyze Aussie Ports

MELBOURNE, Oct. 18 (Reuters).—A 24-hour strike by 26,000 Australian dock workers protesting the rising cost of living today paralyzed every port in the country.

The strike, first move in the Labor party campaign against rising prices, was launched yesterday in Sydney. That tie-up delayed 256 ships and cost ship owners £10,000 (about $22,000).

Elsewhere on the Commonwealth's labor front, Victoria was without rail services for the third straight day because of a strike of railway brakemen demanding wage increases.

In Melbourne, 500 firemen carried their "push-button strike" into its third week with no sign of a settlement. The men are striking against a rule forcing them to press a button every 10 minutes while on duty to indicate they are on the job.

Will Fight To Preserve Way Of Life

Broadcast Message By Truman To All Eastern World

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18—(AP)—President Truman has set the world stage for an unprecedented counter-offensive to Russian peace propaganda with his offer of a full "partnership of peace" to all Asia, backed up by United States military might.

The State Department's "Voices of America" today bombarded every reachable listener with a constant repetition of Truman's warning last night to the peoples of the Far East that Russia is trying to turn them into "colonial slaves of a new imperialism."

And the president left for the Russian Politburo a bold and blunt reminder that the United States will not stop short of war to resist aggression and preserve "our free way of life."

Truman flew back to Washington shortly after delivering his major foreign-policy speech in the War Memorial Opera House where the United Nations charter was born five years ago.

He left on the last leg of a 14,400-mile round-trip flight during which he talked with Gen. MacArthur on Wake Island about the "dangers which still face us."

Want Peace

"What we want is a partnership for peace with all the world," Truman told last night's cheering audience. "We want peace but it must be a peace founded upon justice. That American policy is as old as our Republic and it is stronger today than ever before in our history. And with God's help we intend to keep it that way."

The crowd applauded vigorously as the president declared, "we are increasing our armed strength because Soviet policies leave us no other choice."

If the Russians "really want peace," they can prove it "by living up to the principles of the United Nations charter"; and "by joining the rest of the United Nations in calling upon the North Koreans to lay down their arms at once"; and 'by lifting the Iron Curtain and permitting the free exchange of information and ideas"; and, finally, by joining with the UN to establish a system of collective security "which will permit the elimination of the atomic bomb and the drastic reduction and regulation of all other arms and armed forces."

Common Defence

Until Russia does these things, "we are determined to build up the common defensive strength of the free world."

What the United States did for Korea, he said in effect, it stands ready to do, in conjunction with the United Nations, for any peaceful country that finds its borders violated and its freedom attacked.

"We hate war," the president declared, "but we love our liberties. We will not see them destroyed."

Truman countered Russia's peace propaganda by tagging that country with responsibility for fear in both Asia and Europe, and said the United States and associated countries will continue to build up their arms to resist attack.

Great Red Army

"The Soviet Union and its colonial satellites," he said in the course of a long and bitter indictment, "are maintaining armed forces of great size and strength. In both Europe and Asia, their vast armies pose a constant threat to peace.

"So long as they persist in maintaining these forces and in using them to intimidate other countries, the free men of the world have but one choice if they are to remain free. They must oppose strength with strength."

U.S. Tourists Spies Say Reds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—A new Moscow propaganda charge that American tourists are swarming over Sweden to spy out military information apparently is based on a wartime conversation guide for United States soldiers.

A Stockholm dispatch to the Literary Gazette of Moscow, broadcast to Russians this week by the official Soviet radio, said the guide contains 800 "words of menace" in English and Swedish.

The Russians find suspicious such phrases as "I am an American. Show your documents."

Puzzled officials here were inclined to dismiss the whole thing as sheer invention until the Defence Department today recalled a booklet prepared for American forces overseas in 1943. It was one of a score or more such booklets devoted to countries which American soldiers conceivably might visit.

The proclamation was taken here as evidence of official fears that the Vietminh forces may descend from their mountain strongholds to attack the French-held Red River delta.

Tenants Delaying Razing Building

Demolishing of the Louis St. terrace on the east side of the property that is to be the site of the postal-customs building will have to wait until three tenant families get other quarters.

Ross L. Dobbin, manager for the Utilities Commission, reported at its meeting Tuesday that some of the employees had cut off the service connections to the old buildings on Charlotte St. But, they had been held up on Louis St. because the tenants objected that they had no place to move into.

Mr. Dobbin said a man from Kitchener had the contract for razing the buildings, but he would not begin work until all of them were vacant.

Brisk Buying On Stock Market Near New Record

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP). — Lively buying today pushed the stock market close to a new 20-year high.

Gains of a few cents to around $1 a share were scored by numerous key stocks before the rising price curve levelled off.

Steels, autos and rails were favored, as they were yesterday. Radio-television issues, which have been behaving erratically lately, leaned ahead.

American Broadcasting responded to a flurry of buying with a rise of around $1 a share at one time, selling at above $12 a share.

Gillette Safety Razor bounced about $2 a share following a proposal to split the stock on a two-for-one basis.

Also up were General Motors, Chrysler, Willys-Overland, Studebaker, U.S. Steel, Republic Steel, N. Y. Central, Texas Co., and U.S. Gypsum.

St. Regis Paper, a recent strong spot, backed down. Evidently traders were disappointed at the size of an extra dividend.

Canadian issues gained with Distillers Seagrams climbing ⅜, Hiram Walker and Canadian Pacific ¼ and International Nickel ⅛.

On the curb, Giant Yellowknife fell ¼ and Royalite Oil ⅛.

May End War

The battle for Pyongyang, which may end the war, began earlier today when allied columns surged against a Red Korean defence line south and east of the city.

Pyongyang is the first capital of a Russian satellite to be entered in war by forces of the democratic nations.

Allied air reconnaissance earlier said no fixed Red defence installations had been observed before the capital. But the Reds were reported to have massed tanks around the city and were laying down artillery fire from entrenched positions.

Roads leading to the capital last night were reported clogged with Communist infantrymen streaming back to Pyongyang. Generally they had put up only short and half-hearted skirmishes farther south and east against the allied juggernaut.

On the east coast, South Korean troops captured the twin industrial cities of Hamhung and Hungnam, 110 miles south of the Manchuria border. Eighth army headquarters said the South Koreans were mopping up light hold-out Red forces.

Travelled 78 Miles

The U.S. 24th Division, first American in Korea, was slicing west to capture Chinnamapo, the port of Pyongyang.

It had rolled 78 miles in 24 hours in a desperate bid to pass the 1st cavalry and enter Pyongyang first.

"We know they were hard hit early in the war," said cavalry Lieut. Harvey R. Hager. "There's no other outfit we'd rather see get in ahead of us.

"But our 1st cavalry has been in constant contact with the enemy for 92 straight days, longer than any other American division over here. We feel we have earned the right to go in first."

Tanks, vehicles and troops of the 1st cavalry clogged the dirt road stretching north of Pyongyang.

There was no room, on that dirt strip, for the trail-blazing 24th division to pass.

Two Money Bylaws Go To Ratepayers

Two money bylaws will be submitted to the qualified voters at the December elections, one for a Collegiate Institute on Monaghan Road south to relieve the serious pressure of attendance at the Collegiate and Vocational school. The other will be for approximately $250,000 for Civic Hospital as explained to the council Monday night by John R. Marshall and T. T. Rodgers, representing the Board of Governors.

Ald. E. C. Braund, apparently quite sincerely asked: "Is there possibility of putting anything in for the Community Centre?"

Ald. Herb Young: "There is, if you want to take a chance on getting it defeated."

Woman Breaks Shin In Fall From Ladder

While cleaning woodwork at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, Tuesday, Mrs. Rose Lavictoire, 58, Chamberlain St., fell from a ladder and broke her left shinbone.

She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by ambulance.

The fall was not more than two feet.

An elderly woman was brought into St. Joseph's after a bad fall. She was Miss Jennie Clysdale, 81, Norwood. Miss Clysdale received a broken right wrist.

France to Get U.S. Arms Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—High United States officials said today that France is likely to get up to $6,000,000,000 in American military aid during the next three years. An American plan to allocate up to $2,400,000,000 of existing funds to France is just "a first instalment," these officials said. Additional billions will be needed if France is to build up an army of at least 20 divisions by the end of 1952. This is reported to be one of the goals set by U.S. military planners to help strengthen western Europe against Communism. President Truman and State Secretary Acheson have put Congress on notice that rearming the North Atlantic Pact countries and other friendly powers is a long-term job.

Finance Minister Maurice Petsche of France was assured yesterday of American plans to give France $200,000,000 almost immediately so it can start mass production of arms in French factories in line with Atlantic-Pact strategy.

Most of the American aid will be in the form of new and modernized tanks, artillery, guns, planes, military vehicles, munitions and supplies shipped from the United States. American funds also will be spent to buy raw materials, machinery and equipment needed by French arms factories.

Despite the urgency of building North Atlantic defences, the United States also assured the French that the needs of French and associated troops in Indo-China would merit a "particularly high priority."

The state department said the "major part" of all funds earmarked for arms shipments to the Far East go to Indo-China to pay for arms, munitions and newly-requested light bombers. An official estimated Indo-China's share at about $500,000,000.

Florida Hurricane

"Davie, a town of about 2,000, looks as though a tornado went through it," said Hall. "Substantial homes were destroyed and there isn't an undamaged house in the town."

West Hollywood, a town of 2,000 population, was hit even harder. Twenty-five injured were sent to hospital, 500 were homeless, 30 or 40 homes were demolished and 200 others partly or wholly unroofed.

The three communities are inland from Fort Lauderdale, resort city 24 miles north of Miami, and Hollywood, another resort between the two cities.

Miami Hit Hard

Miami itself was hard hit. About 40 persons injured there crowded hospital emergency rooms after the wind died down about 3 a.m.

Some houses were unroofed and about 2,000 plate glass windows were shattered in the Miami area, but no fatalities were reported. Fallen trees blocked a number of streets.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster, made preliminary damage estimate for the South Florida section of [illegible]. Miami [illegible] Director O. D. Henderson [illegible] in Miami at $3,[illegible] Daily News said it may [illegible] 000,000 in the area.

Five radio stations lost their towers which lay in twisted heaps after the blow. Storm shutters were wrenched off many windows, the glass smashed and displays sucked out into streets. Uprooted trees crushed many automobiles.

Calm Centre

The storm's tiny calm eye, only five miles in diameter, passed directly over the western sections of Miami. The wind dropped suddenly from over 100 miles an hour to a zephyr. Half an hour later the roaring winds returned.

Palm Beach, at the other end of the 70-mile south Florida "Gold Coast," escaped damaging winds.

Communities along the eastern shore of Lake Okeechobee rode out hurricane winds and heavy rain. Crop damage, especially to corn and beans, was heavy.

The storm lost some force as it pushed northward near the eastern edge of Lake Okeechobee but still packed winds of 100 miles an hour as it headed for central Florida.

All Miami policemen were called to duty. Electricity was off in many sectors of the city.

Believe Dead Man To Be From Toronto

COBOURG, Oct. 18 —(ENS)— The transient found drowned east of Port Hope Monday has been tentatively identified as Gordon Reid, age 69 of Toronto. Constable L. Coughlin of Port Hope believes that he checked Reid in for an overnight stay in the town lock-up Saturday night. Provincial Constables H. Wool[illegible] and C. Meadows of Cobourg in the Port Hope police [illegible] when the transient booked in they also believe the dead man is Gordon Reid. There is apparently no next of kin. His fingerprints have been sent in to Ottawa.

BOEHMERIA NIVEA ANY USE TO YOU?

Boehmeria Nivea is the botanical name for the Oriental plant that produces "ramie", toughest fibre known to nature. Not only is it highly rot-resistant, it actually becomes stronger when wet!

Johns-Manville Research engineers processed the naturally tough ramie fibres and wove them into a packing with unique lubricating and long-wearing qualities. Known as Navalon, this packing has an excellent record in both marine and industrial service.

For almost a century, Johns-Manville research has developed packings and gaskets to meet every industrial need. From the largest to the tiniest, each of these packings is processed with exacting precision for maximum efficiency. To apply this experience to your own packing problem, write Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto, or consult your local J-M distributor.

Tax Employees Fired

WINNIPEG, Oct. 18 (CP) — Hon. J. J. McCann, minister of national revenue, said Tuesday that about 2,000 employees in Canada's 22 income tax offices will have been dismissed by March, 1951. "We had a great backlog of work in 1945 when we didn't have the staff or facilities," he said. "We will have caught up with this work by March." The minister said some of the dismissed people will be given other government jobs.

Plan To Survey Proposed Site Of Public School

COBOURG, Oct. 18—(ENS)—Request of the public school board for a bylaw from the town to authorize purchase of a $10,000 school site from W. J. Carey, has been deferred. Meanwhile council will have a survey made to establish the location of a former roadway on the site and to ascertain what roadways to the property could be made.

The board two weeks ago asked the council for a by-law to issue debentures to buy the school site, which is owned by Chief Constable W. J. Carey. The mayor at that time expressed the opinion that if a new collegiate were built, the old building would provide public school accommodation to relieve overcrowding. Later a joint meeting with the collegiate and public school boards was held at which time it was learned that the collegiate board had no intention of constructing a new building.

The public school board met the town council again and repeated its request for purchase of the school site but there was considerable discussion about the price, the suitability of the location and the extent to which a new school was needed. The matter stalled on the question of roadways to the property, the council taking the stand that nothing further could be done until a survey had been made.

Tells How Banking Act Is Abreast Of Time

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 18—((ENS). — Rotarians heard a talk on banking in Canada given by Rotarian Putman, manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, at the Monday luncheon meeting.

Mr. Putman said that commercial banking in Canada is under constant evolution to keep up with the times. In order to keep the Bank Act abreast of the times it was reviewed and revised every 10 years. The first Canadian bank was opened in 1817 and received its charter in 1822. From that time until the 1880s, the number of banks increased until there were 46 chartered banks in Canada. Since then, failure and amalgamation had reduced the number to 10. Only one chartered Canadian bank had failed since 1914.

Canadian banks are owned by 51,000 shareholders, of whom 71 per cent are Canadians, Mr. Putman said.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Frank Linton and thanked by Rotarian Ross Richardson.

Jump In Hydro Rates Predicted In St. Kitts

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 18—(CP)—Higher rates for electrical power in St. Catharines were forecast in a financial discussion at last night's meeting of the Public Utilities Commission. A special meeting to discuss the question further was set for Oct. 26.

Main causes of the projected rate increase would be a five per cent boost in the "wholesale" cost of power bought from the Ontario Hydro Power Commission, and the need to set aside funds for conversion of the city to 60 cycle power in a few years.

Mrs. William Trevor

The funeral of Mrs. William Trevor, 88, of 267 Westcott St., who died in hospital Sunday was held at the Comstock Funeral Home Tuesday.

The Rev. W. J. Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican Church conducted the service.

The pallbearers were the late Mrs. Trevor's six grandsons, Ralph Thompson, Cecil Thompson, Clarke Hartley, Richard Hartley, William Froggett and Lavergne Butcher. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Kinsmen Greet Ron Hazell New President

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 18—(ENS)—Kinsman Ron Hazell's promotion to the presidency of the Campbellford Kinsmen Club was greeted by a mass turnout of members and guests at a chicken dinner at the Trent House on Monday.

The Rev. A. E. Toombs, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was guest speaker. Mr. Toombs was introduced by his colleague, Kinsman the Rev. Jim Ritchie, of Warkworth. The Rev. R. Duncannon, of Norwood, was also present.

Mr. Toombs told from personal experience of the vast change in Oriental life compared to what it was before the war. After the war Japan lost much of the haughtiness it boasted in 1937.

Kinsman Forrest Dennis moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Toombs on behalf of the Campbellford club and R. Smith spoke on behalf of the visitors.

Plans are proceeding for the Hallowe'en Shell-Out and Kinsman Harry Ayrhart and Forrest Dennis agreed to canvass the merchants for funds for the party to be prepared for the children of the district. The party will be held at Edgewater Park Pavilion. Citizens are asked to buy Shell-Out tickets from the children, for which prizes will be given for the greatest number sold. The funds raised in this way will assist in financing the party.

Meet In New Building

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 18—(CP)—Grantham township council met for the first time last night in the new Grantham municipal building, which will be formally opened Oct. 24.

Council arranged for the annual election on Jan. 1. The date was changed from the first Monday in January by last year's council.

Forty Hours Devotions

COBOURG, Oct. 18—(ENS)—The forty hours devotions, which opened on Sunday at St. Michael's Church, concluded Tuesday with special services. Attendance at the morning and evening services was heavy. The sermons were delivered by the Rev. Stephen Coffey of Bowmanville. Outside clergy who assisted were the Rev. John Weiss of Warkworth and the Rev. J. C. Moloney of Campbellford.

Former Child Actress

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP). — Mrs. Albert G. Andrews, 76, once a noted child actress, died yesterday. Mrs. Andrews began her stage career at the age of five under the name of Winona Shannon and came to Broadway in 1890 after touring the country as Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Her last important role was as the Butterfly in "The Butterfly on the Wheel" in 1915.

"Churchill Way" Named Over Opposition

STAFFORD, Eng., Oct. 18—(Reuters)—A few Labor members of the city council have protested a plan to name a street "Churchill Way."

Alderman S. H. Adamson, speaking in the housing committee of the council, which has a Conservative majority, said last night that "when the political complexion of this council alters, that name will be altered."

Councillor Edward Robinson interjected: "I do not think houses provided by the foresight of the Labor government should be named after one of the bitterest enemies of the working class."

The proposal to name the street was passed.

Peer's Son Fined Sold Tickets For Reds

CIRENCESTER, England, Oct. 18—(Reuters)—The son and heir of a Conservative peer was fined £5 (about $14.75) here today for selling lottery tickets in aid of the Communist party.

The Hon. Wogan Phillips, 48-year-old declared Communist and son of the first baron of Milford, pleaded guilty to the charges.

He had broken the law by selling five lottery tickets and distributing 15 more to people who were not members of the Communist party. Under English law organizations may run lotteries for their own members only.

Psychiatrist Killed

ROCKTON, Ont., Oct. 18 (CP)—Dr. J. D. Grieve, psychiatrist at the Ontario Hospital at Hamilton, was killed Tuesday night when his car collided with a truck near this village 10 miles southeast of Galt. Agnes Butters, a psychologist at the hospital, was taken to hospital in Galt with a leg injury.

275 At Supper In Sunday School

BETHANY, Oct. 18 (ENS). — Continuing the 50th anniversary celebration of Bethany United Church, the ladies of the congregation served a supper in the Sunday school room on Monday evening to approximately 275 people, many of whom had come from considerable distance.

A program in the town hall followed, with the Rev. James Hampson as the chairman.

Guest artists were Mrs. Leonard McNeil and Mrs. Ross Moore of Peterborough, who entertained with several piano duets. Mrs. Earl Argue, elocutionist gave several humorous readings. Ralph Preston entertained with comic Irish songs in costume. Sam Castle baritone from Peterborough, sang three solos.

The Rev. E. Rowland, Peterborough, voiced his congratulations on this anniversary, reminiscing on his boyhood visits in the village with relatives, and of some of his later experiences as a student minister on the Bethany circuit 45 years ago.

Mrs. Fred Willis, Pontypool, played four accordian selections. Allan Beer received hearty applause for his comic Scottish songs in costume.

The Rev. T. S. Gault, rector of St. Paul's church, in the village, spoke briefly, adding his congratulations and those of his congregation.

Letters were read from former members of the United Church. Mrs. Alfred Driver, Phoenix, Arizona; William Fair, Listowel; Miss Evelyn McKinnon, Montreal, Que.; Thomas Stinson, K C., of Lindsay; the Rev. W. W. Jones, Lake Megantic, Que.; Harold Monk, Detroit, Mich.; Nelson Brown, Nickel Plate, B. C.; the Rev. J. Robeson, Lingday; the toon, Sask.; all speaking of their former happy association with the church and expressing their good wishes for the future.

A. H. Monk conveyed the thanks of the church Board of Session and the congregation to Mr. Hampson for his leadership and untiring efforts in making the anniversary celebrations such successful events.

Sam Castle sang "Lord Let Me Live" and prayer was led by Mr. Hampson.

The Council And Criticism

Lively and passionate resentment against the Examiner was expressed in the Council meeting on Monday night, as a result of an editorial in which we suggested that the Council had been dawdling over the matter of accepting or rejecting Miss Katherine Wallis' proferred gift of sculpture. Such a gift might be embarrassing, but why wait three years before asking advice about it? If the Council thinks that delays of this duration are unimportant, the Council cannot be in tune with the thinking of the people of Peterborough.

* * *

We are interested, however, in the statements made at the meeting that the Council seeks constructive criticism, but does not like any other kind. Constructive criticism, we have observed, means agreement; any other kind is destructive, and obviously springs from some base motive. As a matter of fact, our criticism of the Council on this subject was constructive; we suggested that they do something, instead of shifting the matter of a gift from hand to hand. What could be more constructive than a spur to action?

* * *

The opinion was also expressed that "abuse" of the type contained in our editorial made it hard to get men to run for the Council. We do not believe this. Able and experienced men—of whom there are many on the Council—know that public life and public responsibility bring criticism, good and bad, as well as honour and public gratitude; and they do not confuse criticism with abuse.

* * *

Some of the speakers on Monday night forgot that although the Examiner has sometimes given the Council the rough side of its tongue, it has much more often supported and praised the Council in generous measure whenever it was honestly possiple to do so. We do not expect or want the Council's approval for our support, but we recommend a few of our aldermen to recall it when next they are inclined to fly off the handle over well-deserved criticism. There is no emotion that so ill becomes a public body as self-pity.

* * *

It is not the role of a newspaper to flatter the municipal government of the city in which it is published. A very able journalist has said that the task of a newspaper is to comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable. That is what we appear to have done in the case of the Council and we are unrepentant.

Maybe We Need A Knock On The Head

It has come to the attention of some of our contemporaries, the Toronto Globe and Mail and the Ottawa Journal in particular, that Canada is not growing as fast as she should. It is thought that our national population may be up to 14,000,000 by Christmas, and that certainly is not a very satisfactory figure for a country such as this. Our contemporaries want to know why our country grows so slowly.

We do not pretend to know, but we are willing to give a guess. When a human being does not grow quickly enough, learned physicians suggest that there may be something wrong with his pituitary gland, which is a small but important thingamajig in the very top of the brain. Sometimes it is possible to stir up the pituitary gently, with good results; proper growth has also begun as a result of an accidental knock on the head.

Maybe our national pituitary gland is sluggish. Maybe we need a crack over the noggin to wake us up and start us growing.

To continue in this medical strain, it is a fact that Canada has been suffering from slow bleeding and anaemia of the brain for many years. As John Bartlet Brebner has pointed out in his admirable report Scholarship For Canada, our country lost approximately 70,000 men and women to the U.S.A. between 1933 and 1943, and the great majority of these were university graduates seeking the opportunities elsewhere which did not exist for them at home. We tend to export our best people and import inferior ones, and as Brebner says, "One can predict the uproar in the press and parliaments of Canada if the United States tried to buy a single Canadian island or corner of territory but the neverending loss of scholars passes without comment and there seems to be no general appreciation of the sacrifices made by those Canadians who refuse to be won by salaries . . . which their own country does not attempt to match". What is true of Canadian scholars is true of professional and business-trained Canadians, as well.

There can be no question that our greatest enemy, as a growing nation, is the U.S.A. and our greatest handicap that undefended frontier about which we make so much fuss. Had things been otherwise, this nation would now either be absorbed in the U.S.A., or it would be strong and numerous, eager to hold its own against its southern neighbour. But as it is we play, not second fiddle, but fourth fiddle, and never think of protesting or doing anything about it.

The above is no expression of hostility toward the U.S.A. Its people are our best friends. But it must be confessed that the friendship is that of the humble dweller at the rich man's gate; and whenever the humble dweller has a particularly clever son or daughter, the rich man can offer him a more attractive home than his own. It is a pity, but what can we do about it?

We can do nothing by growing angry at the U.S.A. But we can likewise do nothing if we patiently accept our position, and do little about immigration. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the twentieth century would belong to Canada, but he was wrong. Canada is too small and too complacent to hold on to anything that anyone else wants very badly.

Indian Summer?

What a superb day! Warm, soft light, quiet bronzes and a golden haze. Surely these are the finest days of this year; all the finer because unexpected, like a gift from another world on a day which is not one's birthday. If it is not Indian Summer, it is better than Indian Summer. Wilfred Campbell's lines on the subject—he was a good Canadian versifier who died in 1919—describe these days well, even though the poem has been dulled by constant repetition in school-rooms:

Along the line of smoky hills
The crimson forest stands,
And all the day the blue-jay calls,
Throughout the autumn lands.

Now by the brook the maple leans
With all his glory spread,
And all the sumachs on the hills
Have turned their green to red.

Now by great marshes wrapt in mist,
Or past some river's mouth,
Throughout the long, still autumn day
Wild birds are flying south.

These lines suggest that Indian Summer cannot be later than this date, for already our maples have lost their glory and the sumachs have turned from red to black. But hereabouts people say we cannot have Indian Summer until after the first snow. We have had no snow, although Haliburton has had a whiff. Perhaps the first frost can be Peterboroughs' sign-post to Indian Summer; we have had frost as the sumachs show.

But why argue? Let us enjoy these few summer days without quibbling about a name for them.

Freer Currency

When the Canadian dollar was allowed to go freely into the American market, instead of its price being pegged at a ten per cent. less than the American dollar, its value rose. While we have lost the usefulness of a cheap Canadian dollar, we have gained in other ways. For instance, American oil and gasoline are now slightly cheaper, reflecting today's Canadian dollar price on the New York market of 95 cents. The Canadian dollar was not released from an artificial price in the British market until Monday. Now our dollar is fetching exactly what it is worth, in trading terms, in both the United States and Britain. The pound can now be bought for $2.95, a saving to Canadians who buy pounds or British goods.

Canadians may be a bit disappointed that their dollar is not worth a full U.S. dollar. The British, whose pound a decade ago was worth more than four dollars, cannot be proud that it now fetches only $2.95 in Canadian money. The encouraging part of the whole business is that Canadian currency is now sufficiently strong to stand on its own feet in a free market, and to take whatever pounds or American dollars it is worth from day to day.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A man in Grand Rapids has stolen a ton of can-openers. Probably he wanted them for wedding presents.

A Calgary drunk has been fined for punching a horse in the face. But who can tell—in that state the horse may have made an insulting remark to him.

A Russian writer has described Mr. Truman as "a despised hypocrite, a Pharisee and the personification of human baseness". Sounds just like the City Council referring to the editor of the Examiner.

ON THE MARGIN:

Wit and Misery

WHO is the most remarkable novelist of our day? On the level of farce the name of P. G. Wodehouse at once comes to mind. For comic invention and social satire we turn to Evelyn Waugh. But for comedy—the pure, high essence which Meredith describes in his essay on the Comic Spirit—it is doubtful if any contender can challenge the supremacy of Miss Ivy Compton-Burnett. You have not heard of her? Very possibly not, but you will hear of her, and your children and grandchildren will hear of her. She has written ten novels, all on a very high level of achievement. They have rather curious names: "Pastors and Masters", "Brothers and Sisters", "Elders and Betters", "Manservant and Maidservant" are some of them. If you pick one up in an idle fashion, and begin reading at random, you may find that you have not the book in hand which you were reading the day before. These are strange idiosyncratic novels, and they do not yield their secrets to careless readers, but they are worth the trouble which it takes to appreciate them.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE comedy which is the foundation of Ivy Compton-Burnett's ten novels is the comedy of life itself. It is not "charming" in the conventional sense, and she does not create eccentric characters who do strange things, like Miss Angela Thirkell. Some readers may find it a bitter type of comedy, but they will look in vain for any bitterness in the writing. Miss Compton Burnett has one theme only: it is the theme or the complexity and anguish of family life, as it may be found below the surface of family living.

✧ ✧ ✧

SUCH books will not appeal to readers who wish to be assured that all is for the best in this best of all possible worlds. Nor are they for people who "like a good laugh", for they are likely to arise from a reading of one of these novels laughing on the wrong side of their faces. Jealousy, hatred, failure, ingratitude, indifference — every element which can invade and rot the family circle, is exposed by this writer, not with glee, and not for cheap laughter, but calmly and with the graces of high comedy. An English critic has said that Ivy Compton-Burnett's characters have more wit than any people created since the comedies of Congreve. That is a considered, defensible and moderate judgement.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE books have some superficial oddities of manner. For one thing, all the characters, young and old, well-educated and ill-educated, talk in the same ornate, involuted Victorian prose. Consider this opening from "More Women Than Men":

"It is with an especial feeling that I welcome you back today", said Josephine Napier, rising from her desk and advancing across her study to greet the woman who had entered it. "I do not forget that you are embarking upon your eighth year on my staff. Believe me, I have not been unmindful of my debt. May I say that I think no one has lived a more useful seven years? You will allow me to say just that to you?"

"Indeed I will allow you to say it, Mrs. Napier", she said in a quick deep voice, with a quick, deep laugh. "It definitely smoothes my path toward decreptitude."

"I think that maturity has very few disadvantages inherent in itself...."

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS hardly sounds like the opening of a novel in which a jealous woman will kill another woman's husband, in which a mother will forcibly assist her daughter-in-law to die, in which a schoolmistress and a parson will impose their illegitimate child upon the world as something he is not, in which a young man will callously torture his dying father. Yet the people in "More Women Than Men" do all these things and more. You say then, that they are monsters, created by a novelist who does not care for resemblance to "real life", as we live it. No, dear reader, the people in the book are just like ourselves, and behave just as we all behave, at times. And they do as we do, or wish to do.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT is Miss Compton-Burnett's special gift as a novelist to show us what melodramatic lives quite ordinary people lead without suspecting it. Once the superficial oddities of her style have become familiar, it is a very special pleasure to read her books. She uses language with the accuracy of an apothecary measuring out expensive drugs. She shares none of the ordinary assumptions: her people, though courteous, never attempt to conceal any dislike which they may feel toward one another; they do not raise their voices, but they speak daggers. And what daggers! Legend tells us of Chinese knives so sharp that a man's throat may be cut with one of them and he will not realize it until he sneezes and his head tumbles to the floor. That is the quality of Ivy Compton-Burnett's prose.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOT to have read at least a few of her books is to be ignorant of one of the major talents in the world of fiction today. These are not children's books, nor are they for people who like to be cosy when they read. But if you want to laugh while your hair is standing on end, she is your writer.

Britain's Economic Position

(Ottawa Citizen)

The picture of the sterling area's economic situation, painted by Mr. Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the exchequer, during his Ottawa visit, was neither wholly bright nor shaded. The optimism created by expanding exports and increased dollar reserves is subject to reservations. The raw materials which Britain must import are becoming more expensive, and the United Kingdom's defence expenditures have had to be increased since the beginning of the Korean war. To meet these factors in Britain's economy, it will be necessary to continue the policy of improving productivity by every possible means, and of giving a high priority to the manufacture of goods for export to the dollar area. In other words, no basic change in the economic policy pursued by Britain since 1945 may be expected.

"NOW, LOOK WHAT I'VE STIRRED UP!"

Capitalist Companies Offer Lesson To Russia

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

IF Russia has observers, undercover or otherwise, around the great airfields of Japan, they must be sending information to Moscow that may puzzle, and will certainly disappoint, the leaders of the Communist Party there. This information will be that large numbers of commercial planes are landing there, bearing the insignia of a dozen or more privately-owned airlines of the United States and of one of this country. These planes are carrying out the huge and intensive airlift which is essential to the successful conduct of the campaign in Korea.

✧ ✧ ✧

A thoroughly indoctrinated Russian Communist could hardly be blamed for expecting that these capitalistic airlines would be competing fiercely for the business of ferrying urgently needed materials across the Pacific. Russian propaganda mills have been grinding that sort of thing out for some time, listing it as one of the reasons why the capitalistic system must eventually collapse. There has never been any recognition of the possibility that capitalistic competition would be set aside by privately owned companies in order to serve the urgent need of all the people of a capitalistic nation or nations.

✧ ✧ ✧

Yet that is precisely what has happened in the United States and Canada today. Within a few days, at the behest of government, the United States airlines organized themselves into a single efficient line, complemented by Canadian commercial and Government airplanes. Eastern, Pan American, United, American, Capital, T.W.A., Canadian Pacific Airlines and a number of lesser lines contributed valuable equipment and highly trained men and women to the airlift pool.

✧ ✧ ✧

The effort made by these lines has been described as a military milestone, confirming the lessons learned during the vast airlift to supply the civilian population of Berlin. It indicates that the airlift will in future be regarded as a standard and major instrument of supply, whenever conditions warrant its use in preference to water, rail or road. The performance, however, means more than that. The demonstration of co-operation, among normally competitive outfits, the instant sharing of technical knowledge, the ability to organize swiftly and efficiently, are signs of a healthy economic structure and a wise readiness to submerge corporate interest in time of national and international need.

✧ ✧ ✧

These are not new traits in capitalistic corporations and individuals. They were very noticeable during the years of the Second World War, when the Canadian and United States Governments called on "big business" and "big industry" to turn plants to government-required production or to operate government-owned plants. The record of that co-operative achievement cannot be topped by the industrial war record of any nation; it turned this continent into a vast arsenal serving all the allied nations, in greater or lesser degree, including Russia, through feats of production not uncommonly described as miraculous by European observers.

✧ ✧ ✧

We do not know whether or not the Communist system could ever be developed to the point where it could match this record, but we are inclined to doubt it. We doubt that slave labour can be made to produce as well and as effectively, with full maintenance of high standards, as free labour. Individual initiative and competitive energy are tremendous spurs; they are largely responsible for the very high standards of living on this continent. Yet the system that embraces them by no means precludes full co-operation in a national interest—and that, we believe, clearly stamps it as infinitely the most desirable system for peoples determined to remain free.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying, Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread. But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandent of God by your tradition?...

And he called the multitude, and said unto them, Hear, and understand: not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man....Then answered Peter and said unto him, Declare unto us this parable.

And Jesus said, Are ye also yet without understanding?....For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: these are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man....

And Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there. And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15: 1-3, 10, 11, 15, 16, 19, 20, 29-31.)

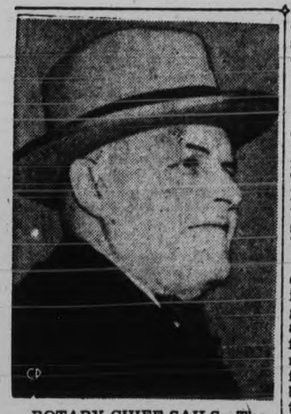
REGARDING FLOODLIGHTING



Sir: I am hoping this will catch the eye of the Utilities Commission. We have floodlights for sports, which is O.K. How about a couple of lights in the Exhibition Grounds (George St.) on a Sunday night so the folks can see their way to and from church?

Yours sincerely,
SOUTH-ENDER.

United Nation Associations Better Understanding Of International Issues

The understanding of international issues and the support of the United Nations by the people of this country is the aim of the United Nations Association in Canada. October 16 to 24 has been proclaimed United Nations Week. The U.N. Association has a stepped up program for this week to make Canadians more informed about international problems and to stress the need for international co-operation.

ROTARY CHIEF SAILS—The president of Rotary International, Arthur Lagueux, of Quebec, sailed recently aboard the Empress of Scotland for Liverpool en route for a six-week visit to Rotary clubs in Europe and South Africa. Mr. Lagueux will visit France, Italy, Portugal, Algeria, Morrocco and Tunisia.

The U.N. Association was incorporated by the Secretary of State of Canada in March, 1946. Similar associations have been formed in more than half of the member countries in the U.N. They are joined under the World Federation of U.N. Associations, which holds official consultative status (category A) with the United Nations.

This voluntary, non-political organization operates by organizing national and local programmes for knowledge dissemination of local international affairs. These programmes include mass meetings, lecture series, film showings, radio broadcasts by sending out qualified speakers to clubs and groups, by publishing a monthly journal and press releases on Canada's work in the U.N., by organizing student trips to Lake Success, by working closely with schools, universities and teachers and by distributing booklets and pamphlets.

Behind this work of the association is the belief that Canada cannot continue to make the recognized contribution she is making to international co-operation wthout public support for such a policy. For this support there must be an understanding by both business and labor of Canada's stake in a well-ordered, prosperous world.

In addition to asking people to inform themselves about world afairs, this association needs money to provide funds for developing an informed public opinion. It is calling for people to make membership contributions to the association.

The U.N. Association is stressing the importance of taking an active part in the activities of the local branches. In this community, the Peterborough Branch of the U.N. Association needs workers and funds.

The importance of an informed public and its support of the United Nations is stressed not only by political leaders, but also by heads of non-political organizations as well.

Peace Needs Hard Work

Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations stated that, "We shall have peace in proportion to the amount of hard work and strong faith the peoples of the world give to make the United Nations work."

Hon. Warren R. Austin, U.S.A. representative to the U.N.—"It is, in my judgment, absolutely essential that each community raise the question as to whether it has the resources and programs to assure education in world affairs to all of its people. We must unceasingly give thought to raising the level of community understanding of world problems."

Arthur Lagueux, president, Rotary International—"I am asking every Rotary Club in the world to take a vigorous program of public enlightenment in their communities during the week preceding United Nations Day, October 24, and I proclaim the week of October 16 to 24 as United Nations Week for Rotary International."

Manager Lies In Wait Catches Bakery Thief

SUDBURY, Oct. 18 (CP). — John Foster, 27, of Cornwall, Ont., Tuesday was remanded two weeks on a charge of attempting to rob a bakery here.

Foster was arrested Monday night after store manager Ted Goodbrand caught an intruder at the cash register and hit him with a steel barrel rim. Goodbrand told police the store was broken into three weeks ago and he was lying in wait for the prowler to return.

MORNING COUGHS and Asthma

Do you cough and cough, especially mornings and at night? Do you choke, gasp for breath, wheeze and often can't sleep? The cause of these devitalising symptoms may be recurring attacks of Asthma or Bronchitis. In such cases, the very first dose of MENDACO usually starts right now, working through the blood and thus reaching lungs and bronchial tubes, to help relax that clogged up stuffy feeling in the chest, then helps Nature loosen and clean out thick, strangling phlegm. This helps you get good fresh air into your lungs and promotes restful sleep. Ask your druggist for MENDACO. Satisfaction or money back.

An amazing new diaper cover, DRYFOLD, puts an end to unsanitary, irritating rubber pants which often cause babies to cry. DRYFOLD pins tight on with diapers. Tucks in around your baby's legs to stop seepage, but isn't tight or binding. Baby stays cool and fresh 24 hours a day. DRYFOLD allows air to circulate so diaper dampness evaporates and baby doesn't get chafed or diaper rash. Easy to wash and dry in seconds.

Made of Soft, Transparent Plastic

Made of finest, softest plastic, DRYFOLD never gets stiff like rubber pants. Has reinforced corners to protect it from being torn by diaper pins. Sizes to fit all babies from infants to 2 year olds.

No Scene Shift In Murder Trial

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — The Supreme Court Tuesday dismissed a request for a change of venue from Napanee to Picton for a new trial of James Fosbraey on a charge of murdering his wife.

Fosbraey was convicted Sept. 21 and sentenced to be hanged. Granted a new trial on grounds that trial judge erred in telling the jury it could not return a manslaughter verdict, Fosbraey claimed local prejudice would prevent a fair trial at Napanee.

The 29-year-old RAF veteran is accused of stabbing his wife to death four days after he returned from a visit to his home in England.

Asks Gov'ts Lead In Defence

TORONTO, Oct. 18 — (CP).— Mayor Hiram McCallum said on Tuesday he has written Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Frost asking for leadership from the Federal and Provincial Governments on questions of civil defence.

The Mayor announced his letter shortly after W. J. Stewart, chairman of the Toronto and York Civil Defence Committee, said the committee will stick by its decision to adjourn "indefinitely."

The committee's decision was made Friday after Maj.-General Churchill Mann, retired Vice-Chief of the Canadian Army General Staff, said the city and the county showed a "lethargic" attitude towards a master plan for civil defence he had drawn up.

Mayor McCallum said the committee's action was hasty and ill-advised.

"We are ready to proceed as soon as Ottawa, particularly, tells us to do so and indicates what financial assistance it is prepared to give, Mayor McCallum said.

HALLOWE'EN HANDOUTS: "Please give me a good recipe for Candy Apples for Hallowe'en. We live in a neighborhood thickly populated with children and these taffy apples seem to be the most acceptable gift."

Taffy apples? Everyone loves them—children or grownups. And here's how we make them so that they have a good butterscotch surface. Measure three-quarters cup white sugar, ½ cup corn syrup and ⅓ cup boiling water into a saucepan. Stir until dissolved, then cook over low heat until the syrup is very brittle when tested in cold water. Have skewers stuck in 10 rosy apples. Twirl quickly in the syrup, then let harden, stuck in milk bottles. Oil the tops of the bottles so the syrup doesn't stick. They're delicious, delectable and deluxe.

Former Champ Takes Lee In Top Bout of Mat Show

Class will tell in any sport or business—and it told at the Brock Arena last night as Frank Sexton, former world's heavy grapple champ defeated rough Lee Henning in the main bout before a good-sized crowd. The "man of a thousand holds" dished up a lot of them in an impressive performance, but his good wrestling was often offset by rough and illegal stuff used by a strong opponent. Both the semi-final and the prelim bouts went to draws.

Sexton, 245-pounder from Columbus, Ohio, took the first fall of the main scrap in 16 minutes with a hammerlock. He forced the 250-pound Iowan to concede after flipping him twice with hammer throws and then putting on the agony on the left arm. The fans liked it and Referee Sam Gotter hadn't too much to do this trip. Lee was rough and tried to get in some choke holds but Sexton was calm, efficient, and he collected.

Lee Came Back

The second round was something else again, with Henning finally winning out in 14 minutes when he downed the ex-champ with aid of knees for the count. He came out full of fight and used all his bag of tricks in a rough, wide-open session. Lee pulled hair, choked his opponent, threw fists and got away with plenty. The referee was caught in the middle once and was groggy for some seconds as Henning threw the book at Sexton, who played it clean all the way. The 180-pound ref was but a runt in there with the big fellows and Henning was in vile mood to take advantage of everything as the fans booed him throughout.

The final fall came in slightly more than 15 minutes when Sexton was awarded the bout on a disqualification after referee Gotter was thrown out of the ring by an infuriated Henning. The latter was taking a beating on a variety of fancy and painful holds when he suddenly went berserk to pull hair and soften Sexton up.

He had Frank groggy by the ropes and went outside the ring to work on him and, when warned by Gotter, Lee yanked the latter over the ropes and continued to pummel Sexton. Gotter returned to disqualify Lee and the villain later was chased out of the ring by angry Frank Sexton as the fans applauded heartily at the action and exciting finish.

Goes to Draw

Seelie Samara, 245, the South African, and strong Dan O'Connor the 240-pound Boston Irisher, went to a draw in 18 minutes of the semi-final. Both were counted out of the ring after Seelie, peeved plenty at rough stuff pulled by O'Connor, used head butts and followed Dan out of the ring onto the arena floor. They mixed there as customers scrambled out of the way. Each in turn tried to get back in time to beat the count but the other guy always yanked him out and time ran out on them. Seelie was fast and clever, as well as getting away with some stuff with his "innocent" look, while rough Dan proved blacker than the Negro with a wide assortment of stuff not seen in any rule or Emily Post book. It was a lively fray.

Ray Gunkel, 248 and a former gridder from Purdue, mixed in the prelim with Abe Zvankin, the 234-pound former Hamilton footballer. It went 30 minutes to a draw after some rough and fairly fast grappling. Abe played it hard, yanking hair and generally raising havoc. They stalled for a spell with the rough stuff shown by Abe holding down action for quite a time, but Gunkel opened it up later with a series of flying tackles, once knocking Zvonkin out of the ring. He got back in time and they were grappling away fairly evenly at the time-limit gong.

Rickey's Future In Baseball Still Speculated

By RALPH RODEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP). — Rumors are a dime a dozen these days regarding Branch Rickey's future plans in baseball.

Reports persist that Rickey, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will either buy the St Louis Browns lock, stock and barrel or purchase substantial block of stock in the American League club and become its general manager.

Other observers feel that Rickey will take the general manager's portfolio at Pittsburgh at the behest of his friend John Galbreath, owner of the Pirates.

Few believe that Rickey will stay as general manager of the Dodgers. Rickey's Dodger contract expires at the end of the month. The Dodgers' stockholders have a meeting scheduled next Monday when Rickey's fate will be decided.

Rickey, with Galbreath acting as a go-between, sold his one-quarter interest in the Dodgers to William Zeckendorf, real estate operator, Sept. 23 for over a million dollars.

Deal Hanging Fire

The deal, however, has not been completed, as two of Rickey's partners, Walt O'Malley and the late John L. Smith, agreed some time ago to that arrangement. Since the deal, Smith died and his 25 per cent now is held by Mrs. Smith. O'Malley also owns 25 per cent and the remaining 25 is owned by Mrs. James Mulvey, who has refused to sell to anybody.

Rickey has thrown little light on the situation.

"I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I retired altogether from baseball," he said yesterday. "But I am not yet ready to announce where I may go or what I will do when the deal for my Brooklyn stock is closed."

Arcos Show The Way In Lasses' Bowling

Arcos rolled high pinnage this week in the girls' City Bowling League at Duffus, hitting a total of 2,896. Marines had high single of 1,213. P. Hawthorne led the lasses in threesomes with 719 as K. Beatty hit a hefty 323 single. D. Hendren had a 322 single and D. Mason 300, while F. Killen rolled 710 in three.

Dickson's blanked Sevenaires 3-0, as 2-1 wins were collected by Cardinals over Brintons, Arcos against Aces, Curtin's over Towne Togs, and by Collis over the Outboards. The blind score of 666 was taken by D. Hendren with her total count of 670.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Mickey Cochrane was named the most valuable player in the American League by American baseball writers, 16 years ago today. It was the second time the award went to the player-manager of the Detroit Tigers, who piloted the Tigers to their first pennant in 25 years then lost to St. Louis in the world series.

TACKLE FATAL—Jack Bell, 25-year-old backfielder for Sarnia Imperials, died Tuesday from a neck injury suffered in a football game last Saturday. The young navy veteran dislocated his neck in an open-field flying tackle on Carl Galbraith of Toronto Balmy Beach in their Ontario Rugby Football Union game. Officials of both clubs said that rough play was not involved in Bell's fatal injury.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Peterborough Orfuns can put the clincher on second spot in their ORFU grid grouping here tonight when they play Oshawa's Red Raiders at 8.30 under the lights in Morrow Park. A win for the Bamforth bunch will give 'em the second rung and a chance to go into provincial playdowns. The Raiders still have a chance, too, and they'll give it the old college try here. Remember, they beat Orfuns 1-0 in the opener, though losing to our squad later in the Motor City. This will be hard knock-down-drag-out football as played by huskies, many of senior "A" calibre. It will be a swell and an important scrap, rating a huge crowd of fans.

* * * * * *

Dan Odette, a guy we worked with in Ottawa—he had the city hall beat—is leaving his sports editor's desk on the Kitchener Record to move over to the news desk. Says he'll miss the excitement of the sports whirl but will at least have regular hours, adding: "Sports writing, including a daily column, is not easy as many people think. Besides being willing to put in long and unusual hours, you have to have unbounded zeal for your job. The old zing left us, helped along by various sports overlapping and midnight calls from individuals wanting to know the year Tunney defeated Dempsey, etc." Also the Kitchener-Waterloo rivalry there is tough on a scribe. How right you are, Danny boy.

St. Mike's A-Coming

St. Mike's Majors, new entry this year in the OHA senior "A" race, play the Petes a puck exhibition at 8.30 tomorrow eve in Civic Arena. Gene Sheedy, former St. Mike's player, arranged the game, Sheedy being on the Petes' executive this year. It'll be right interesting to see how the local senior "B" squad shapes up against Peanuts O'Flaherty's Irishers of senior "A" calibre, and we'll be interested, too, in seeing what the Petes have for this winter. Pat Wilson, who played for years in the AHL, is expected to bash them on defence for St. Mike's. It promises to be a neat hockey showing and likely will draw well.

* * * * * *

Bun Kingdon's junior "B" Oddfellows practise at Civic Arena from six to eight tonight and again Friday from six till seven, both open workouts. Anyone interested is invited and all will get a fair trial. The IOOF-ers lost quite a few via the over-age route since last spring, so they'll be building again and looking for stiff OHA opposition in their grouping. This club is proving a good feeder for the local senior "B" teams and it will be better from now on, with backing by Boston Bruins of the NHL. A swell chance for Peterborough boys to make an impression, but they'll have to hustle plenty to catch the eye of a pro scout.

* * * * * *

Lee Comes A Cropper

Frank Sexton, after a long absence here—and he's gone again for a long time—put in an appearance at the Brock Arena last eve in the main bout. And the veteran showed plenty once more. He beat rough Lee Henning in the main bout and had a goodly gallery urging him on. They call him the "man of a thousand holds", and he certainly served up 50 or so last night. He's not a chicken, by any means, but is still in fine shape, has speed to burn and lots of mat savvy. Henning is no softie, either, and made Sexton sweat oodles all the way. The runty little referee, a mere 180 pounds or so, had quite a time with the heavyweights. Samara and O'Connor drew in a hot semi-final, while a rather tame prelim betwixt Zvonkin and Gunkel went the distance to a draw.

* * * * * *

OBA tossed out a Sarnia protest and that gives Ottawa the midget baseball title. An item from Petrolia says that team won the peewee crown, but what became of the Ottawa outfit which ousted our peewee crew last week-end? Local bantams still await word on their final series. Waterloo, senior victors this year, dropped much moolah in finals, and Oshawa Merchants went in the red about a thousand smackers by going into provincial semi-finals. They had to bring back a number of their imports from the States for the late-season series. No, once the weather cools off, there's little money to be made in ball playoffs.

Fusari-Pellone Fight May Draw 10,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP). — A crowd of 10,000 is expected at Chicago Stadium tonight for Charlie Fusari's 10-round revenge bout with Tony Pellone.

Fusari, Sicilian-born welterweight from Irvington, N. J., is a 7-5 betting choice. Pellone, a New Yorker, snapped Fusari's 45-win streak with a 10-round decision at New York City June 13, 1947.

Fusari has an over-all record of 62 victories and only seven losses. He was outpointed by champion Sugar Ray Robinson Aug. 9 in Jersey City.

Pellone, who is expected to weigh in at 147, one pound less than his rival, has 41 victories and 16 defeats. In his last outing he lost to Johnny Saxton in New York.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, said Pellone will be matched with lightweight king Ike Williams if he wins tonight. If Fusari triumphs, he will get an encore with Rocky Graziano, who stopped him in the 10th in a previous bout.

King George Wins

King George edged Central 1-0 in a soccer match, A. Baptie scoring the lone goal of the game in the first period. The teams battled on most even terms throughout, with some neat soccer shown from start to finish. The opposing goaltenders made many excellent saves in the tight tussle.

Central: Goal, Kelly; fullbacks, Ellis, Pollock; halves, V. Armstrong, C. Sorrie, T. Armstrong; forwards, D. Lustic, Naish, J. Lustic, Lloyd, W. Sorrie; subs, Simpson, Dunford, Hayman, Dinsdale.

King George: Goal, Innes; fullbacks, Dinesen, Pollard; halves, Dixon, Barclay, Hayden; forwards, Clark, Dorrington, Baptie, Crowder, English; subs, Donaldson, Hale, King.

Li'l Arthur King Wins Decision Over Irish Lloyd

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP)—Li'l Arthur King, who lost his first professional fight in two years to Irish Bobby Lloyd two weeks ago, roared back Tuesday night to take a unanimous 10-round decision over the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., boxer.

The Toronto-born King, now fighting out of Philadelphia, weighed in at 138, one pound heavier than Lloyd. More than 7,000 saw the fight.

Lloyd, a southpaw, seemed nervous. He consistently beat King to the punch, but his blows carried little weight. The blows that King did land were more effective; on several occasions he shook the Irishman.

In the fourth round of one of the hardest-fought fights seen in Toronto for some time, King cut loose with a left that opened the flesh over Lloyd's right eye. The cut seemed to bother him for the rest of the fight.

In a bantamweight preliminary, officials said Johnny Howard of Cleveland wasn't "trying" as they called a halt to his bout with Maxie Males of Toronto after 45 seconds of the third round. The bout was scheduled for six rounds.

Howard, 117½, was disqualified and officials said his purse will be held up. Males weighed 122.

Howard's handlers claimed the Cleveland boxer had been hurt by the punches of Toronto's Maxy Males.

Howard was disqualified after 45 seconds of the third round of his bout with Males.

Howard's handlers claimed Males should have been awarded a technical knockout. Males was well ahead on points when Murphy stopped the fight.

Murphy's action was jeered by the crowd. He was jeered in another preliminary when he stopped a heavyweight bout between Dan Moray of Cleveland, 179, and James J. Parker of Toronto, 187. Murphy stopped that fight at 2:20 in the first round and called it a draw when Moray cut Parker between the eyes.

Results of other preliminary bouts on the pro card featuring a bout between Little Arthur King of Philadelphia and Bobbie Lloyd of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.:

Tommy Reece, 154¾, Niagara Falls, Ont., decisioned Bobby Cedar, 153, Troy, N.Y. (6).

Davey Mitchell, 130, Toronto, won by a technical knockout over Joe Leo, 133, Syracuse, N.Y., at 2:45 of the fifth round.

Pete Gibb Wins 5-0

GUELPH, Oct. 18 (CP).—Pete Gibb shut out Toronto Peter Pans 5-0, on two hits here Tuesday night as Guelph Regents tied up their best-of-five Ontario Baseball Association junior final series at two games apiece. Site of the deciding game has not been decided.

A matter of 2½ per cent is all that stands in the way of a Joe Louis-Cesar Brion match scheduled for Chicago stadium Nov. 29.

Hymie Wallman, Brion's manager, said he was offered 22½ per cent to meet the Brown Bomber in the 10-round go, but said he's holding out for 25.

"I talked with Jim Norris (president of the International Boxing Club), Wallman said, "but no agreement was reached. We'll probably confer again today."

Wallman said his Argentine contender would fight once more before the tentative meeting with Louis.

Assault charges against George Campbell, a member of the Hamilton Westinghouse soccer team, were withdrawn Tuesday at the request of the complainants, referee Robert Crawford and linesman William Clarke.

Crawford and Clarke, officials in a Glebe Cup match between Hamilton and Toronto Canadians Oct. 7, charged earlier that Campbell entered their dressing room after the game and attacked them.

Campbell was suspended until May 1, 1952, by the Toronto and District Football Association following the incident.

Randolph Turpin won the British middleweight championship in London Tuesday night by knocking out defending titleholder Albert Finch in 1:02 of the fifth round of a scheduled 15-round bout. Turpin weighed 158, Finch 159½.

Turpin thus avenged the defeat of his brother Dick, who lost the 160-pound crown to Finch last spring.

Ottawa General Hospital officials said Tuesday that Pete Mantha who suffered a brain concussion in a football game Saturday was "coming along well" but that the 23-year-old St. Pat's College player's football days are finished.

Mantha was injured in an Ottawa-St. Lawrence conference game with Royal Military College which ended in a 10-10 tie but his condition was not discovered until the game ended. Game officials said they did not know how he had been hurt.

Mantha, a second year arts student, began playing football this year at the insistence of friends. He had suffered other lesser injuries previously and his family said Tuesday that on the advice of doctors he would not play football again.

Branch Rickey, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers organization, said Tuesday he will not retire from baseball but indicated he may not remain with the Dodgers.

Rickey stopped briefly in Billings, Mont., en route to the Matt Tschirgi ranch, 110 miles southeast, on a vacation trip.

"I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I retired altogether from baseball," Rickey said, "but I am not ready to announce where I may go or what I will do when the deal for my Brooklyn stock is closed."

There have been reports that he may become identified with either Pittsburgh Pirates or St. Louis Browns. His only comment in regard to these rumors was that his wife likes to live in St. Louis.

Leafs, Boston Meet To Decide Who Gets Cellar

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs tangle tonight with Coach Lynn Patrick's rugged young Bruins in Boston, and both will be gunning for their first victory of the new National Hockey League season.

It's the only scheduled game of the night. Thursday finds Detroit at Chicago and New York at Montreal.

Even at this early stage of the race behind the Bruins-Leaf clash has interesting sidelights. Last weekend both came out of bruising encouters with the teams selected in some quarters as those most likely to succeed this season —the Red Wings and Les Habitants.

The Bruins managed to salvage one point—a tie—out of two meetings with Canadiens, and in one of them they maintained the reputation of past Boston teams for bashing and rugged play. They stepped toe-to-toe with Canadiens in a wild rhubarb in Boston while losing 2-1 last Sunday.

Whirlwind Finish

Coach Joe Primeau's Leafs have an identical record of a loss and a tie in two starts. But they showed dash and put up a whirlwind finish to gain their point, rallying to tie Detroit 4-4 after being down 4-1. Their loss was to Chicago in the Toronto opener.

The Leafs and Bruins now share the cellar, and will be battling to get out of it.

Patrick's squad includes three of the league's 17 rookies who'll be eligible this year for the Calder Trophy. They are defencemen Steve Kraftcheck, Eddie Reigle and forward Lorne Ferguson. The Leafs have two—leftwinger Danny Lewicki and defenceman Hugh Bolton.

Canadiens have six — Goalie Gerry McNeil, Tom Johnson, Bert Hirschfeld, Frank King, Vern Kaiser and Paul Masnick; Chicago three, Gord Fashoway, Vic Stasiuk and Hugh Coflin; Rangers, one, Reg Sinclair; and Detroit, two, goalie Terry Sawchuk and defenceman Marcel Pronovost.

McLaughlin Stables On Auction Block

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — The breeding and racing stock of Col. R. S. McLaughlin's Parkwood stables goes on the block at Woodbine Park here tonight.

The stock is being sold by auction as a result of the sale of the stables to a group of Canadian horsemen, headed by industrialist E. P. Taylor, which plans to establish a national stud.

Outstanding horse in the stables is Nephisto, three-year-old winner of the 1950 breeders' stakes, championship race for eastern three-year-olds, and the 1950 Canadian championship at Long Branch. Nephisto has won six of his last eight starts and placed in the other two.

Lacrosse Finals Goalies' Duel Series Even 2-2

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — The crucial fifth game of the Canadian lacrosse championships looms tonight for Owen Sound Crescents and New Westminster Adanacs as a goaltenders' battle.

With the best-of-seven series tied 2-2, tonight's winner will probably rule as odds-on favorite to take the title and the coveted Mann Cup.

Crescents drove here from Owen Sound yesterday, determined to get a full day's rest before the game. Adanacs had a brief practice at their training camp in suburban Mimico Monday, then relaxed yesterday with many of the team getting in a round of golf.

On the basis of the first two games, the future of the cup appears to rest heavily on the work of goaltenders Gord Pogue of New Westminster and Harry Wootton of Owen Sound.

Wootton was a standout during the first two games when Crescents won 8-7 and 13-6. But Pogue stole the show in the next two games, when the western champions won 13-9 and 7-5 to tie t series.

Thus far Wootton has had the most work to do. He's made 110 saves so far in the series as the faster western club outshot the Ontario Lacrosse Association's champions. Pogue has stopped 79 shots.

If Adanacs are to take the title, much will depend, too, on the shooting eye of Alfy Wood. He's scored seven times in the four games. Jack Proctor, Reo Jerome and Jack Northup each has scored five goals.

But the big scorer of the series has been Owen Sound's Russ Slater. He's fired nine goals past Pogue, who still wears a special mask to protect his throat as a result of an injury he suffered in the 1947 series when Adanacs defeated Mimico Mountaineers for the title.

Don Campbell has scored seven for the Crescents.

As a preliminary to tonight's game, Sarnia Athletics meet Toronto St. John's Training School in a sudden-death game for the Ontario bantam title.

Memorial Fund For Jack Bell

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — The Quarterbacks' Club of the Toronto Men's Press Club announced Tuesday night establishment of the Jack Bell memorial fund for the widowed mother of Sarnia Imperials backfielder, who died from an injury suffered on the playing field.

The club made the announcement during its weekly half-hour football forum broadcast over radio station CFRB.

The fund will be supervised by a committee comprising Harold Bailey, president of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, to which the Imperials belong; Tom Alison, president of the Canadian Rugby Football Union; Wes McKnight, CFRB sports announcer; Hal Walker, footbal writer of the Toronto Globe and Mail; and Joe Ryan, representing the Press Club.

Bell, who operated a taxi business in Sarnia, was the sole support of Mrs. Jean Bell, his widowed mother.

Field Day Held At PCVS Tabloid Form

PCVS students spent Tuesday afternoon throwing softballs or footballs, jumping into sawdust, squeezing through rubber car tires and crawling under canvas. The occasion for the breather from Latin, French and other classes was the annual tabloid field day held on the school campus.

Last year at the event held at the Morrow Park only 700 students took part in the various events. Field day officials decided this year to change the site to the school grounds. The move proved successful as the competitions attracted more girls and boys.

The annual meet is held in the hope that every boy and girl will compete in the events offered and profit from the experience.

The students of the school were divided into four houses (girls) or batteries (boys) from each of which four teams or troops competed. The first group was composed of students of Grades 11 and 12, the second Grade 10, the third and fourth groups Grade 9. The Grade 13 students and the teachers conducted the eight events: sprints, ball throw, high jumps, obstacle relay, broad, shot putt for boys, girls' hurdle, shuttle relay and a novelty relay.

Each competitor was awarded a point for entry, and upon passing the required standards, three, five or seven points.

The obstacle relay was easily the most popular event on the schedule, partly because it provided the most of laughs. Each competitor first had to squeeze through a car tire, then dive under a large sheet of canvas and through another tire.

Girls of House 3 rolled through the eight events to mass 1,623 points for a landslide of the girls' competitions. Its closest rival was House 1 which totalled 1,300 points. House 2 was only two points behind House 1 while House 4 had 1,285.

By 107 points Battery B won the boys' competitions. The four troops piled up 1,383 points to more than match the second place battery, Battery C, which had 1,276. Battery D was close with 1,243 while Battery A was off the course with only 1,052 points.

PCVS STUDENTS Tuesday afternoon held their annual track and field day (tabloid type) on the school campus. The meet is held with the hope that every student will participate in at least one or two of the events. Pictured here is Bob Craw, a senior footballer, placing first for his troop in the sprint.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Close Contests Shown In School Soccer Loop

King Edward School intermediate team defeated QA-QE eleven 2-0 Tuesday afternoon at King Edward Park to hold a good position in the league.

The QA-QE boys were erratic in their attack, allowing King Edward to consolidate themselves with positional play in the first period. On resuming, King Edward forwards played combination to open the scoring — Rose from a scrimmage in front of the goal,and Byers adding the other goal on a beautiful effort.

QA-QE — N Olmstead, goal: J. Mason and R. Baker, backs; W. Johnston, J. Hall and R. Waldie, half-backs; T. Reid, M. Tighe, R. Whitnell, P. Stewart and R. Conway, forwards; subs, R. Barker, R. Nelson, B. Kilborn, B. Dargar, and G. Ball.

King Edward — J. Parks, goal; F. Ball and R. Murduff, backs; W. Rowe, J. Rose and P. Waldie, half-backs; K. Dunstan, J. Byers, A. Beggs, R. Steevans, and R. Rowe, forwards; subs, R. Cuff, J. Murphy, K. Vogilsang and T. Collins.

Referee—Mr. Bird.

Confederation Lost

Prince of Wales intermediate soccer team defeated the fast-moving Confederation eleven 2-1 in a hard-fought match on Prince of Wales grounds Tuesday.

Taking control of the attack at every opportunity the winners never gave up around goal and picked up a quick one by Johnston. Ashby connected with a smart effort to make it 2-0 at the interval. The second half saw the winners rely on a defensive system that had the losers baffled in all attacks on goal as the goalie held them scoreless until the last minute when Trotter scored to make it 2-1.

Confederation — J. Hotston, goal; B. Druery and D. Mace, backs; R. Jones, R. Brown, and G. Kimball, half-backs; P. Parnell, L. Ferguson, J. Cherney, T. Trotter ad L. Walling, forwards; subs, C. Outwater and K. Whatman.

Prince of Wales — J. Scharfe, goal; B. Douglas and K. Fulbrook, backs; D. Frances, E. Varga and S. Morley, half-backs; B. Corp, P. Ashby, K. Johnston, P. Falkner and B. Johnston, forwards; subs., K. Wager, C. Rowland and T. Welch.

Referee—Mr. Crown.

Vote Down Sweepstakes

WHITBY, Oct. 18 (CP).—Ontario county council Tuesday voted against legal sweepstakes to raise hospital funds. Reeve William Noble said approval of such a scheme would be in poor taste.

Driver Dies In Crash

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 18 (CP)—Robert Smith, 23, of London, died in hospital Tuesday night from injuries suffered when his car crashed into the rear of a trailer-transport which had stopped just east of Delaware on No. 2 highway. His companion, Mrs. Anna Mae Park of Chatham, was reported in "fair condition" in hospital with sever facial lacerations and possibly other injuries.

TTC Operating At Loss

TORONTO, Oct. 18 — (CP).—Chairman William McBrien of the Toronto Transportation Commission said Tuesday the TTC is operating at a loss for the first time since the early 1930s. The TTC, one of the few municipally-owned transportations systems still selling fares at four tickets for 25 cents on city lines, will have an operating deficit of more than $1,000,000 this year, Mr. McBrien told city aldermen who asked for better service.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—The historic "Ferme Du Caillou" (Pebble Farm), Napoleon's last-stand headquarters during the Battle of Waterloo, is to be turned into a Napoleonic museum. It is situated on the Brussels-Charleroi main road skirting the famous battlefield.

Home And School Holds Open House

MARMORA, Oct. 18—(ENS)—An open meeting of the Home and School Association was held in the public school Monday, when Fred Bunting, a nurseryman of Pickering, gave an address on horticulture. He had spoken earlier in the day to the children.

The president, Mrs. Bruce Mackenzie, was in the chair and T. J. Smith, a new teacher at Marmora, was introduced. He had been elected corresponding secretary.

Attention was drawn to a euchre and bridge party to be held Oct. 23. W. J. Cottrell extended a vote of thanks to the guest speakr. Refreshmnts were served.

Catches Skunk On Line

FORT ERIE, Oct. 18 (CP). — Another skunk story, or a fish story, is told by Al Kane of the immigration department. Trying to scare off a black-and-white intruder, fisherman Kane flipped his sinker towards the animal. It took a little patience to free the skunk, but he did it without prompting "chemical warfare."

Moye Toilets Inside

NORTH BAY, Oct. 18 (CP). — Outside toilets are the latest target of the North Bay Board of Health. The board decided to order households still using the outside "installations," although located where sewage is available, to replace them with indoor sanitation—or else.

All Okay—Except

TILLSONBURG, Oct. 18 (CP) —Commenting on fire drills at the two Tillsonburg schools, fire chief Murray Truefitts said: "Everything turned out all right." Almost as an afterthought, however, he said that the alarms at both schools were out of order.

2 MPP's Deny Taking Money In Windsor Case

WINDSOR, Oct. 18 —(CP)— Hon. William Griesinger, Ontario minister of planning and development, and the Rev. M. C. Davies, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, have issued a statement denying that they received any money for expenses and services in connection with a liquor lounge licence for the Thomas' Inn at suburban Riverside.

The two Windsor area members of the Ontario Legislature—Mr. Griesinger represents Windsor—Sandwich and Mr. Davies Windsor-Walkerville—said they issued the statement because of publicity in connection with a report concerning James S. Allan, Windsor lawyer and former Crown Attorney, and his client, Thomas' Inn.

Text of the statement follows:

We feel it is incumbent upon us due to publicity received to state briefly our position with regard to the report concerning James S. Allan, KC, and his client, Thomas' Inn.

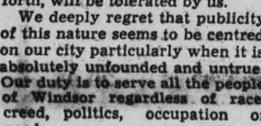
On Sept. 3, 1950, we were called by Mrs. Thomas to discuss with her the contents of a letter received by her on or about April 21, 1950, from Mr. Allan dealing with her legal account for services rendered. The letter among other things intimated that we were paid monies by Mr. Allan received from Mrs. Thomas for what were called expenses and services rendered by ourselves. This statement was emphatically denied to Mrs. Thomas.

Letter in Files

We received the letter and on Wednesday, Sept. 6, 1950, discussed it with the Hon. Dana Porter, Attorney-General. We affirmed our position. Mr. Allan was called to Toronto by Mr. Porter and confronted with the demand on proof or complete retraction by letter. This letter of unqualified exoneration is now in the files of the attorney-general.

From the very beginning of our terms as representatives we have sought to impress upon any and all requiring legal or any other advice, whether such be concerned with liquor licences, charters for companies, individual or general services, that no consideration of any kind by or through anyone other than actual out-of-pocket expenses, i.e., hotels, meals, telephone and so forth, will be tolerated by us.

We deeply regret that publicity of this nature seems to be centred on our city particularly when it is absolutely unfounded and untrue. Our duty is to serve all the people of Windsor regardless of race, creed, politics, occupation or need.



22 Rubber Firms Move To Block Evidence

TORONTO, Oct. 18 — (CP).— Twenty-two rubber companies went to court Tuesday to seek an order restraining Thomas D. MacDonald from submitting to the Federal Government reports of an investigation into their operation.

The investigation was started in September, 1947, by F. A. McGregor, who resigned last December as Combines Investigation Commissioner. Mr. MacDonald was appointed last February 23 to continue the probe to determine whether a combine existed in connection with manufacture, distribution and sale of rubber and related goods.

The companies, in filing a writ to keep Mr. MacDonald from submitting a report, argued: "Insofar as the investigation is concerned the defendant is not the commissioner named in the (Combines Investigation) Act and authorized to make a report thereunder."

SHAW SUNNING—Day Nurse Sister Horan takes world-famous playwright George Bernard Shaw out for a little sunshine in the garden of his home at Ayot St. Lawrence, in England. Shaw, saddened by his semi-invalidism, has stated that he may never write again. He was recently released from a hospital after an operation for a broken thigh bone.

Evangelists Get 2-Month Terms

VAL D'OR, Que., Oct. 18 (CP) Three more Regular Baptists were sentenced Monday to two-month jail terms and fined $40 and costs when found guilty of illegally holding street meetings.

Sentenced were Helen Hall, 19, of Hamilton, Maurice Boillat and Eileen Veals, both of Noranda, Que. The latter's parents live in Omemee.

In line with recent similar cases here, if court costs are not paid at expiration of jail term, the three will serve an additional two months.

All three pleaded innocent.

Before passing sentence, Recorder Baillargeon noted that insults had been hurled by a crowd gathered about the speakers who were rushed to police station to avoid possible injury.

This is the first time that the crowd had been hostile but "I warn you and others that on another occasion, Val d'Or police may not be able to control the crowd. . . I give notice that the town of Val d'Or will not be responsible for accidents that may happen to you.

"The police will do all they can to protect you against mob action but it is you who collect the mob."

3,000 Laid Off

WINDSOR, Oct. 18 — (CP).— Passenger car assembly lines at the Ford of Canada plant here will be closed today and Thursday because of "an accumulation of cars in our yards not ready for shipyment," a company statement said. Some 3,000 men in two shifts are affected.

Olivier Loves Peppermint Ice Cream Dish

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 18 (AP)— "It's my own discovery," glowed Sir Lawrence Olivier. "It is pure heaven. In fact, it's right next to the throne."

The man who is probably the most distinguished English-speaking actor was speaking of the dessert which he has every day for lunch. It is peppermint ice cream with a small sea of chocolate sauce poured over it.

"Pure heaven," he sighed. "It seemed incongruous. I tried to imagine Heathcliffe, Henry V or Hamlet eating such a gooey dish. Impossible."

The saccharine sundae was one of the less-weighty matters we discussed at luncheon in Olivier's dressing room. Another concerned the art objects in the room, which normally belongs to Ray Milland.

Taste in Art

On one wall was a painting of a chartreuse nude, on another a strip-teaser nearing the conclusion of her act. "I must say," smiled Olivier, "that I admire Mr. Milland tremendously, but I'm not certain about his taste in art."

Oh, yes, we also talked about acting, which Olivier termed one of the hardest jobs he knows.

"Acting is strenuous work," he said. "It requires a tremendous amount of concentration. I am in the scene every minute of the working day. I have a portable dressing room on the set (of 'Sister Carrie'), but that is just a sham. I am never in it except when they want a change of clothes. And then they rush me in and rush me back to the scene."

Actors Underpaid

"I think actors are vastly underpaid," he continued. "At least my wife and I are. We are paid a very nominal sum to live on. The rest of our earnings goes right into our company."

The company is the reason the Oliviers will return to England after they finish their respective pictures. They will put on two plays for the Festival of Britain in 1951. Eventually they plan to produce their own pictures as well.

Buyer's Car Market Foreseen By Mid 1951

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — A buyer's market in automobiles by the middle of 1951 was forecast Tuesday by spokesmen at the annual meeting of the Automobile Dealer Association of Canada.

Federation director H. D. Robertson of Nova Scotia said that continuation of present production should catch up with demand by that time.

The name of the capital of Norway was changed from Christiania to Oslo in 1925.

Catalogues Used To Teach English

STRATFORD, Oct. 18 (CP). — Illustrated mail order catalogues are being used by one Ontario Women's Institute branch to help teach Dutch school children the English language, Mrs. Duncan MacPherson of Elmira, told the annual convention of the Guelph Area Women's Institute here on Tuesday.

The convention area covers counties of Halton, Waterloo, Wellington, Grey, Perth, Bruce and Huron. About 450 women are attending the convention in St. John's United Church.

Mrs. MacPherson reported that a school inspector had suggested the mail order catalogues to help teach the English language.

Women's Institutes of Ripley and Lucknow are compiling histories of those villages for their county council, and South Waterloo institutes are backing a Galt Board of Trade proposal to set up a county historical museum.

Mrs. Joseph Moore, Durham, convener of the citizenship and education committee, said in her report that stress was being laid upon the "importance of good home training in producing useful citizen."

Killed By Tractor

MOUNT FOREST, Oct. 18 (CP) —Farmer George Hunt, 79, was killed Tuesday when his tractor backed down a hill out of control and overturned on top of him. Police said Hunt was plowing on top of a hill on his farm north of here.

Grant System For Schools To Be Explained

G. A. Pearson, assistant superintendent of elementary education, will explain the complex subject of provincial grants at the annual meeting October 25 of the Peterborough County Teachers' Institute.

Trustees and secretaries of all school boards in the county are being invited to the one-day convention at the Kawartha Club. It is the first time that the Institute has invited school board members.

An attendance of 200 is expected, about 125 of them county public school and separate school teachers.

New Curriculum

Leo Copp, principal of Peterborough Normal School, will lead a discussion among teachers and trustees on the new curriculum of Education Minister Dana H. Porter. The new curriculum substitutes three gradings—primary, junior and intermediate—for the first 10 grades in school.

Speaking for the trustees will be Walter Van Steenburgh, of the Belmont-Methuen school area, No. 2, and G. K. Hunt, member of SS No. 4, Harvey.

Presenting the teachers' point of view will be Miss Alberta Anderson, SS No. 10, Otonabee, and Duncan Sinclair, principal of Norwood High School.

Mr. Copp will sum up.

R. C. Ward, National Film Board, will speak on the desirability of setting up rural film councils, similar to the one established in Peterborough.

An address on trustee-teacher relations will be given by J. J. Thurston of Victoria county. The opening exercises will be conducted by R. F. Downey, and Warden Norman Wilson will bring greetings on behalf of Peterborough county.

Can't Remember But Pays $11,000

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — A man unable to testify because of amnesia suffered in an automobile accident was ordered Tuesday to pay $11,000 damages to four other victims of the mishap.

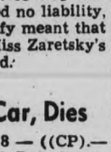
An Assize Court jury gave judgment in favor of Samuel Krieger ($6,500); his son, Carlyle ($2,153); Mrs. Carlyle Krieger ($800) and Sylvia Zaretsky ($1,695), all of Toronto.

John Gilbrook of London, Ont., whose automobile was in collision with that of the plaintiffs on No. 2 highway near Thamesville, Ont., in August, 1949, could enter no defence. Injuries he suffered in the crash caused him loss of memory to a time preceding the collision. Two passengers in his car were said to have been asleep at the time of the impact.

Gilbrook's counter-claim was dismissed. Legal advice was that although he admitted no liability, his inability to testify meant that the Kriegers' and Miss Zaretsky's could not be disputed.

Thrown From Car, Dies

WINDSOR, Oct. 18 — ((CP).— Marshall T. Oliphant, Detroit motorist, was killed Tuesday night when he was thrown 25 feet from his rolling automobile into a creek at River Canard, 10 miles south of here. Oliphant was thrown clear of his car when it went out of control on a sharp curve and ended upside down in a swamp bordering the creek.



Girl, 7, Killed

SARNIA, Oct. 18 — ((CP). — Lowis Gulek, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gulek, Rose Street, was almost instantly killed Tuesday when she darted across the road in front of a truck. The driver of the truck, John Desbein, 48, RR 2, Sarnia, has been charged with reckless driving.

Musician Elected

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 18 (CP). — Ernie Horner, London, Ont., Tuesday was elected president of the Canadian Conference of Eastern Locals of American Federation of Musicians. Al Saunders, Ottawa, was elected vice-president and Edouard Charette, Montreal, was re-appointed secretary-treasurer.

QUEEN'S HONORS PAIR—Leaders in two Canadian fields were honored at Queen's University, Kingston, during the week-end when portraits of Col. R. S. McLaughlin, leading Canadian industrialist, and Dr. R. C. Wallace, principal and vice-chancellor of Queen's who is retiring next year, were unveiled in the Students' Memorial Union. Shown following the ceremony are, left to right: Col. McLaughlin, whose gifts to Queen's include the McLaughlin Mechanical Engineering Hall opened in 1948; Dr. John Orr, Kingston, chairman of the Memorial Union Council; and Dr. Wallace.

Arsenals Strike Ends After Day

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP).—The United Mine Workers of America (CCL), late Tuesday ended their strike at the small arms division of Canadian Arsenals Limited in suburban Long Branch.

Employees of the crown-owned plant called the strike Monday to back demands for recognition of their union and for a 15-cent hourly wage boost. The union said in a statement issued after a membership meeting Tuesday:

"The strikers are satisfied they have demonstrated to the federal government that an overwhelming majority of the employees want a union and the democratic rights of collective bargaining."

An estimated 280 of the 400 Long Branch workers picketed the plant during the strike. Others, including toolmakers and office clerks, crossed the lines and continued to work.

Another 30 union members walked out Monday at the company's plants at Valcartier, Que., and Quebec City, which employ a total of about 1,000.

Canadian Arsenals were exempted from provisions of the federal labor code by an order-in-council passed three years ago. Federal government officials have taken the stand that the workers do not need a union but may take up grievances individually with their employer, union officials said.

3 Years On Drug Count

HAMILTON, Oct. 18 (CP). — John Zych Tuesday was sentenced to three years in Penitentiary, one at hard labor, and fined $800 or another year, on two charges of illegally selling narcotics. An RCMP corporal testified that he had paid Zych $30 for 10 capsules which turned out to be morphine.

JP's Findings Quashed, No Jurisdiction

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP).—Mr. Justice W. F. Spence Tuesday described as "astounding, improper and ineffective," a letter in which a justice of the peace was authorized to hear a careless-driving case—after he had convicted and fined a man.

The Ontario Supreme Court judge quashed the conviction of Stephen Wayne of Hamilton and ordered reimbursement of the $100 fine and $39 costs he paid.

Wayne was convicted in September by Harry Burnill of Dundas, near Hamilton. G. A. Martin, Wayne's lawyer, said justices of the peace have no jurisdiction in careless driving charges unless a magistrate asks them to take over.

Among the documents studied by Mr. Justice Spence was a letter dated Oct. 2—after Wayne's conviction—in which Magistrate John E. Robinson of Dundas confirmed verbal authority he gave Burnill in November, 1949.

This letter, said Mr. Justice Spence, was "astounding, improper and ineffective." He said the Criminal Code "should not be administered with such startling looseness."

Wayne was charged with both careless and dangerous driving. He was convicted of the lesser charge and the major one was withdrawn. But, Mr. Justice Spence was told, endorsements on the back of the police informations had this reversed; they showed conviction on the dangerous driving charge, dismissal of the careless driving count.

Mr. Justice Spence said also that the transcript showed evidence in both charges was taken jointly, violating a principle of law. For this reasen as well as because of Burnill's jurisdiction, he quashed the conviction.

Ottawa Sells New Government Bond Issue

OTTAWA, Oct. 18 — (CP). — The Finance Department today announced a new $700,000,000 Government of Canada bond issue to be used for refinancing purposes.

The issue consists of two maturities: Two-year 1¾ per cent bonds maturing November 1, 1952, and five year-eight months bonds at 2¼ per cent maturing July 1, 1956.

Proceeds of the new issue, the announcement said, will be used along with other funds to redeem two 1⅜-per-cent issues maturing next November 1 and totalling $735,690,000.

Both the new issues are non-callable to maturity. Interest on the two-year bond is payable May 1 and November 1. Interest on the longer-term bond is payable July 1 and January 1.

Both bonds will be offered in denominations of $1,000, $5,000, $25,000, $100,000, and $1,000,000 The short-term bonds are being offered at 99.70 per cent to yield about 1.91 per cent to maturity and the longer term bonds are being priced at 98⅜ per cent to yield about 2.37 per cent.

The issue will be offered immediately to investors through investment dealers and banks. Books of the loan will be opened at the Bank of Canada here October 19.

2 Top Students Given Medals At King George

Ross Withers and Martha Anne Buttery, the most outstanding all round students at King George School during the 1949-50 school year, were presented with the Bousfield and Tinker medals at a ceremony in the school Tuesday afternoon.

The Bousfield medal was presented for the 14th successive year. It was first presenied by the Rev. George J. Bousfield, a former rector at St. Luke's Anglican Church, in memory of his son George, a pupil at the school, who lost his life in a hunting accident.

Mrs. Bousfield has continued to present the medal every year, and was present at the school on Tuesday, when Ross Withers received the honor.

Ross, aged 16, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Withers, 368 Burnham St. He left King George School this summer and is now testing motors with the CGE.

Now At The PCVS

Martha Anne Buttery, 14, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Buttery, 45 Hunter St., who entered PCVS this term in grade 9a.

Martha Anne received the W. F. Tinker medal from Mr. William Tinker, who was accompanied by Mrs. Tinker. For some time there was no medal for the girls to correspond with the boys' award. Mr. Tinker filled the need and every year, presents a medal to the best all round girl student.

Stroyan Leith explained to the students, assembled in the main hall of the school, Mr. Bousfield's purpose in establishing the award.

Too Few People A Basic Flaw Of Canada, Export Head Says

Canada's need for increased immigration was stressed Tuesday night at a meeting of the Sales and Advertising Club by John A. Marsh, former federal MP and now general manager of the Canadian Exporters' Association. He was speaking to the club on "This Canada of Ours." It was the club's Centennial Night banquet.

He said that present and past policies on immigration have been short-sighted in that they provided mainly for the immigration of Anglo-Saxon stock to this country.

"The great future of Canada is awaiting only the awakening touch of more people. Think of the United States — they took European stock into their country, and the USA today is a product of the blood and skills of Europe," he declared.

Basic Weaknesses

The basic weakness of the Canadian national structure, said Mr. Marsh, was that the country has not a large enough population. The governments have not done it because they don't let in Europeans other than those from the United Kingdom.

As Canada stands today, he said, we cannot defend or develop her. "We cannot pay for our railroad system nor can we support our governmental structure.

"Find out to what extent Canadians own their own assets. Canada has long been known as the kept woman of two great countries because more than seven billions of dollars from Britain and the USA are invested here.

"With more people, we can begin to own our assets, but we must first awaken the mind of the private individual."

He listed the faults of the country: too many national anthems, inability to grow up, provincialism, and a lack of people.

Elder Son Maturing

But Canada is beginning to grow up, he said. It was more or less the case of the elder son growing up and running his own show. Today Canada stands third in world trade, and her productive capacity is about 20 billions of dollars.

The last 50 years have catapulted this country into a favorable position which she must take hold of.

Introduced by H. B. Cowan, Jr., Mr. Marsh was thanked by former mayor William G. Ovens. Chairman was Alex Elliott.

Miss Lorna Stewart was heard in two much-appreciated solos. She was accompanied by Gwen Craw.

Peterborough Tableau

Before the speaker, a tableau of Peterborough, written in the form of a radio program by Thomas Allen of the Examiner, was presented. Five characters, appearing on the stage one at a time, represented the periods of Peterborough's growth—the settler, the lumberman, the manufacturer, the man of today and the man of 1975.

Seven Mayors

Six former Peterborough mayors were presented at the banquet —Senator J. J. Duffus, Archibald A. McIntyre, William H. Taylor, George A. Macdonald, James Hamilton and William G. Ovens. Representing the city of today was Mayor Max Swanston. The mayors were introduced by City Clerk E. A. Outram.

'51 Car Plates Blue And White

A peek into the future revealed that the 1951 license plates will be white with blue figures.

Boxes piled high in the Chamber of Commerce office contain 11,600 passenger car licenses that were issued by the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways. January 2, 1951 will be first day of sale for these licenses.

Next year two letters will distinguish Peterborough license plates. These two letters are U and S. The first license to be issued will be S5851. The last license to have the letter S will be S999. The remainder of the plates range from U11 to U2500.

J. J. Dorris, issuer for Peterborough, stated that he expected approximately 1,000 additional license plates will be needed before the end of 1951.

REPORTERS WIN PRIZES

Two Examiner reporters have been capitalizing on assignments this week to carry off door prizes. Bob Hatton won the door prize, a plastic cheese dish, at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday. Jim English followed suit at the Sales and Ad Club meeting Tuesday to walk away with a "welcome set."

SUNDAY SPORT

The controversial question of whether or not to have Sunday sports has not yet arisen in Peterborough. But it is a political hot potato in several nearby localities. It has been discussed in Lindsay, Cobourg, and now Port Hope. Port Hope Council have not yet decided what to do about it. "It won't cost a great deal to let the people vote on it," said Deputy-Reeve Lorne Giddy. "Put it to the people and let them decide."

SCREWY CARROT

Having exhausted the supply of oversize potatoes local residents are now bringing other varieties of freakish vegetables into the Examiner. Today, William J. Thompson, 102 Stewart St., brought in the year's strangest-looking carrot. As a matter of fact "it" was a fusion of four carrots, all grown together, giving the impression of an eccentric corkscrew. Mr. Stewart grew it in his back garden.

CHARGES ADJOURNED

Judgment in the cases of four gas station operators charged with violating the city's early closing bylaw was further adjourned today to November 1. Magistrate R. B. Baxter of Port Hope, who sat on the case, has been ill and only recently began to read written arguments submitted by T. J. Carley for the defence, and Alex Elliott for the city.

FLOWER TROPHIES

Horticultural Society will present its trophies and other awards at a social assembly Monday, Oct. 23 in the YWCA. Refreshments will be served towards the close, concluding one of the most active seasons of accomplishment in the history of this old Peterborough society. Plans have already been sketched for next year. Spring flower bulbs offered as premiums have been somewhat delayed in delivery by strikes overseas, but should be here next week.

Driver Suffers Head Injuries, Car Overturns

William Foster, 59, 292 Townsend Street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with serious head injuries after the car he was driving Tuesday afternoon rolled over in the ditch, a half-mile west of Peterborough on the Chemong Road.

He was unconscious when removed from the overturned car and taken to hospital by ambulance. There he was found to have severe face and head cuts and an undetermined head injury.

His condition today is described as satisfactory.

Foster, a pensioner, was driving his son Roy's car toward Peterborough. Somehow the vehicle got out of control when about half a mile from the city limits and it ran into the deep north ditch and overturned.

The car is badly damaged.

Foster was given first-aid treatment by a passing nurse before being removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Provincial Constables F. M. Rawlings and Jack McKendry investigated.

Truck Overturns

About the same time a dump truck driven by Delbert Jessup, 19, of Lakefield, snapped off a telegraph pole on the 5th Line of Smith. The truck then overturned but Jessup emerged uninjured.

The accident occurred a mile west of the Centre Line of Smith as Jessup was returning to Lakefield. It is believed the steering gear momentarily seized up causing him to lose control of the truck.

It careened across the road into the north ditch where it snapped off the pole, turned over on its left side. Damage to the truck is estimated at $50.

Provincial Constable Dave Coffey investigated.

Hydro Office To Cost $100,000

Plans for the new Utilities Commission office at the northwest corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets were reviewed by the Commission Tuesday afternoon, and are being submitted to the Hydro-Electric Commission for their approval.

G. S. Matthews presided with G. A. Macdonald and Fred Hills, the two other Commissioners present, and R. L. Dobbin, manager.

Plans were prepared within their own department, and when the project of the new building has received the assent of Hydro, the Utilities Commission will ask the city coucil to issue debentures for $100,000, required for the electric utility.

Mention was made again of the circumstances leading to the decision of the Commission to build their own office instead of moving into the new city hall. The amount of space needed would have involved enlarging the plans of the city hall with the likelihood that the Commission would have had to contribute an estimated $250,000.

As the council advances toward the stage of moving from the old municipal headquarters on Simcoe St., the Utilities Commission would also have to vacate their rented premises in that building.

Decision of the Commissioners was to provide their own offices on their own property. When the transfer of the Commission's treasury staff takes place, accounts will be payable there, but arrangement will also be made with the banks to accept payments from Utilities customers.

Alderman Preparing Budget Statement

Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman of the finance committee, told the council Monday that he expected to have this week a statement of long term budget of the municipality. It will indicate "what is likely to happen to the tax rate in the next few years".

It may be recalled that Herbert I. Bradburn was chairman of the same committee when the first of these financial foreviews was prepared and studied by the council with special reference to trend of the tax rate.

747 Children In One Month Attended By Children's Aid

A total of 475 cases involving 747 children were known to the Children's Aid Society during the month of September, according to the report given Tuesday at the meeting of the Board of Directors by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent.

Commenting on this report, Miss Young stated, "this is stupendous when you realize that we touched the lives of all these children."

Of these cases, 213 were family cases, 201 children in the care of the society, 57 unmarried mother cases and one was an investigation for family allowance. Twenty-seven of these cases were initially brought to the attention of the society in September.

Ten children were taken into the society's care, during the month. Five adoptions were completed. At the end of the month, 191 children were in the society's care. Seven of these children were in the shelter, 75 in boarding homes, 19 in free or wage homes, 84 on adoption probation and nine in institutions.

A total of 37 hearings were held in family Court. Six of these were in Juvenile Court, 11 in connection with wardship and the remainder were desertion, non-support and assault cases.

The Rev. F. W. Craik and Mrs. C. Pilon, secretary of the board, gave reports of the Regional Conference of the Children's Aid Society held in Belleville, October 6. This conference was attended by representatives of seven societies in the district.

PHILISTINES, EGAD

Kaj. Dinesen, 227 Swanston Ave., is quite sure that Ottawa thieves wouldn't know a worthwhile chunk of loot if they saw it. And at that he was victimized for $250. Kaj. is noted for his landscape and seascape paintings and Monday night he was showing some to Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Killaly, Rideau Terrace, Ottawa. After a social get-together he went out to his unlocked car and found that thieves had stolen a suitcase, painting equipment, winter overcoat, and other clothing — the whole valued at $250. But they left eight paintings valued at $3,000. Friends say they don't know which irks Kaj. the more: loss of $250 or the snub to his art.—DW.

Hospital Board Permitted $50,000 Credit

Financing the daily affairs of Civic Hospital are the same as those of the city council, Ald. Herbert Young remarked at the council meeting Monday night in reference to the explanation of the Governors' need for increased credit. John R. Marshall, chairman of the board, and T. T. Rodger, treasurer, presented their case as a means of acquainting members of the council once more about operating costs.

"We have to borrow at the bank to pay our running expenses of the city until the tax money comes in," said Ald. Young, and that was the whole story in parallel.

Hospital Governors requested the council to authorize them to increase their borrowing maximum from $25,000 to $50,000. Some council comment was to the effect that such financing should be crimped. Other members drew the analogy of ordinary business, with the illustration that when a man sets out to increase his buying and selling, he provided not only enlarged physical accommodation but also expanded credit.

Extended To $50,000

This matter was disposed of with only incidental discussion, and on Ald. Waddell's motion, seconded by Ald. Anglesey that the credit of the Board of Governors be extended from $25,000 to $50,000. That means the Hospital may borrow any part of $50,000 which they need in any month to meet current costs, to take advantage of discounts and so on.

When bills receivable come in, that money is credited to the hospital account. Mr. Rodger reminded the council that the Governors had no authority of their own to borrow money. Permission had to come from the city council representing the citizens.

In his statement for the Board, Mr. Rodger said: "That need to borrow exists, is no reflection on the Board's management of the hospital, but is the outcome of a very ordinary situation experienced in any business which extends credit, and rather obviously hospital patients do not always have ready cash.

The Board uses this power to borrow within the set limit only when there is need, and for the most part the extent of its requirements will be in much lower amount (than $50,000).

$90,600 in Accounts

At the end of Sept. 1950, hospital accounts receivable stood at $90,600, while as the analysis reveals this to be a valuable asset close to the appraised value, in its present form it does not provide money to pay wages or other expenses. In August 1950 the month's expenses totalled $57,229, and temporary borrowing was the only avenue by which needed funds could come.

It should be stated that by its granting the authorization asked, the city council is not increasing in any manner its liability, or the cost of operation of the hospital. On the other hand only a refusal could bring about added cost to the hospital should its suppliers or other creditors not receive payment of their accounts, and take steps to enforce payment.

The expansion in the hospital business volume can be readily seen in the rise in accounts receivable: 31st Dec. 1949—$64,253. September 30, 1950—$90,600.

This factor emphasizes need of increase in line of credit from $25,000 to the amount now asked, namely $50,000.

The statement relating to accounts receivable showed a balance of $24,310 at Jan. 1, 1950.

From Jan. 1 to Sept. 30, the Governors wrote off $6,660 as uncollectible; leaving $17,650.00. Amount collected during that time was $3,330; increasing the reserve to $20,980; meanwhile and during those nine months the Board added $8,650 to the reserve for a total of $29,630.

62 Herds of Holsteins From Central Ontario Represented At Cattle Show

Sixty-two herds of Holstein cattle from the Central Ontario district comprising the counties from Simcoe to Lennox-Addington were represented at the Black and White championship show at Morrow Park today. For these finals of the county competitions which have been held since late in August brought together 190 head, eight more than last year, with J. D. Innes of Woodstock acting as judge for the second successive year.

George R. McLaughlin of Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, was awarded the senior and grand championships in the male section which was concluded at noon, on his $10,000 bull Ravenglen Hartog Triune, bought this year at the dispersal sale of the Ravenglen herd at Antioch, Ill.

Incidentally, Mr. McLaughlin was accompanied on that trip by the late Prof. Arthur D. Runions of OAC.

Reserve senior and grand champion was shown by O. Parks and Son of Bloomfield, Prince Edward county. Their entry, Park Acres Rag Apple Historian, was first in the two-year-old bull class.

The junior champion was Illehee Sovereign Supreme, from the herd of H. C. McCloskey, Queensville, York; and the reserve junior champion was Inka Supreme Jim, shown by N. Craig Nelson of Campbellford. They were respectively first and second in the senior yearling bull class of seven entries.

Won Two Firsts

James T. Brown took the first prize ribbons in both the senior and junior bull classes with sons of his herd sire Glenafton Futurity.

Results of the morning judging were:

Bull calf, junior, 13 entries—1, J. T. Brown, Newcastle on Brownview Futurity Pietje; 2, Stewart Nelson, Otonabee, on Keendale Lodge Sovereign 2nd; 3, Stanley Wood, Douro, on Donwood Magnet; 4, B. W. Naylor, Weston; 5, Hugh Ormiston, Brooklin; 6, Percy W. Schroter, Dunsford; 7, Cedar Dale Stock Farms, Otonabee.

Bull calf, senior, 16 entries: 1, J. T. Brown on Brownview Futurity Ace; 2 Joseph T. Tully, Otonabee on Otonabee Sovereign Amis; 3 J. T. Brown on Brownview Futurity Burke; 4, A. Muir & Sons, Courtice; 5, J. M. Fraser and L. S. Livingston, Woodbridge, York; 6, Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa; 7, N. Craig Nelson, Campbellford.

Junior yearling bull: 1 Craig Nelson on Rag Apple Craftsman; 2 Fred Bolton and N. W. McConkey, Peterborough, on Lifiic Legend Scepter; 3 Gordon Robertson, on Sovereign Posch.

Senior yearling bull: 1 H. C. McCloskey, on Illehee Sovereign Supreme; 2 Craig Nelson, on Inka Supreme Jim; 3 Russell Boynton, on Willow Grove R.A. Sovereign; 4 K. E. Hooliday and W. J. Bowman, Brooklin; 5 Crowley Brothers, on Otonabee R.A. Supreme; 6 J. J. May and F. M. Huff, Picton; 7 D. McNevin and S. Wood, Otonabee; on Donwood Monogram Daygwood.

Bull, 2 years: 1 O. Parks and Sons, Bloomfield; 2 J. G. Brethet and Sons, Beeton; 3 W. Cochrane of Thornton, Simcoe county; 4 Thomas McGriskin and Sons, Unionville; 5 R. A. Davis and Stewart Nelson, Otonabee.

Bull, 3 years: 1 Elmcroft Farms, on Ravengien Hartog Triune; 2 B. W. Naylor, Weston, on Bond Haven R.A. Monarch.

Only one animal was entered in the aged bull class, and it was withdrawn. Rembco Texal Sovereign was a winner here last year for the syndicate of Hon. G. S. Henry, G. C. Jackson and Whittaker Bros.

Among those at the ringside at Morrow Park were George M. Clemons, Brantford, secretary-manager of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, who recently returned from South America; Dr. Jose Figaro of Mexico City; Hector Estengo of Rosate Farms, Brampton and also of Argentina; W. J. Murpay, Lindsay; Tom Hays of Oakville; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stagg, Oakville, of International Livestock Exporters, Ltd.; Jack Fraser of Streetsville, a former president of the national association, and one of the leading breeders of the province.

"Holsteins were the last breed of cattle to come to this country and we now show more registrations and transfers than all other breeds put together," Mr. Murpay told the Examiner. "There has been a marked increase in the number of breeders and their entries at county Holstein shows this season. That is evidence of the keener interest that is being shown in our Black and White cattle, and also of the business they are doing. It is the old story, nothing succeeds like success."

The judging of the female classes continues this afternoon. Ringside attendance was more than 200.

HOT TO HANDLE—One ticklish job for the three Canadian destroyers now serving in Korean waters is the destruction of Communist-laid mines. This Royal Canadian Navy photo shows AB Edward Dalton of Fort Frances, Ont., holding a mine while Commissioned Officer David Hurl of Winnipeg attaches a demolition charge. Watching are AB David Kidd of Winnipeg, standing; AB Ron Souliers of Ottawa at the oars, and PO Tom Shields of Calgary. After the charge is secured, a five-minute fuse is lit and the boat is towed away at full speed by a motor launch.

Mountie In Accident

OTTAWA, Oct. 18 (CP)—Commissioner S. T. Wood of the R.C.M.P. escaped injury Tuesday when the car he was driving was involved in a minor collision with another car.

The commissioner's car and one operated by William Alex Calder of Toronto collided at an intersection in the north eastern section of the city. Damage was slight.

Lawyer Convicted, Drunk At Car Wheel

WINDSOR, Oct. 18 — (CP).—George Yates, Windsor lawyer, was convicted Tuesday of having care or control of a car while intoxicated and was sentenced by Judge J. A. Legris to 10 days.

He was retried in a Crown appeal of a previous acquittal by Magistrate Angus W. MacMillan.

Yates was charged with drunken driving following an accident May 17. The charge was later withdrawn out of court at the request of Crown Attorney E. C. Awrey, who has since been dismissed from the position.

A month later the Attorney-General ordered that Yates be tried and he then was acquitted on the charge of having care or control of a car while intoxicated.

Won't Let Mayor Quit

GODERICH, Oct. 18 (CP)—The resignation of Mayor George Mathieson, tendered at a special meeting in committee of town council here Tuesday night, has been refused. The mayor said he would resign last week after opposing as unnecessary the hiring of Assessor J. P. Coombe of Toronto to defend appeals against individual assessments and to prepare new assessment cards.

Port Churchill Shipping New High In Import, Export

CHURCHILL, Man., Oct. 18 — (CP).—The Manitoba Tidewater Shipping Terminal of Port Churchill set an import and export shipping record this season, thus bearing out a prediction that the port may soon become a shorter route by which to market western produce in Europe.

The prediction was made this spring by the Hudson Bay Route Association, staunch supporters of the Hudson Bay port.

They urged the federal government to support development of Churchill where "the vast, undeveloped areas to the west might one day become the nucleus for a separate northern province."

The association said it was time the route was seriously considered as a national project.

The record shipments were announced yesterday by the Canadian National Railways, which reported that 6,767,743 bushels of wheat cleared the harbor during the shipping season—July 31 to Oct. 4, compared with 5,527,934 bushels in 1949.

A record number of 20 vessels also cleared this season as compared to 16 last year.

Also, three incoming ships carried 2,383 tons of goods, including machinery, automobiles, glass, crockery, liquor, curling stones and household goods.

In its campaign earlier this year, the association had asked the government to make a full-scale of test of Churchill's possibilities as an export port by shipping 25,000,000 bushels of grain to Britain and other world markets during the 1950 navigation season.

Western Canadian wheat should be delivered and sold at Port Churchill during each season of navigation, the association said. This would provide western growers with a net freight saving of about 12 cents a bushel as compared with shipment via Montreal.

No Fair Chance

Frank Eliason, secretary of the association, said the $70,000,000 federal investment has never been given a fair chance to prove itself. He listed as deterrents to the outlet's development:

1. Hull and cargo insurance rates, which determine the length of the shipping season.
2. Canadian Wheat Board's policy of moving wheat stores from western elevators to the elevator company terminals at Fort William and Port Arthur.
3. Inadequate port facilities which limit the type of cargoes handled.
4. "Diversion charges" assessed by elevator companies on wheat stored in Port Churchill government elevator to recoup storage charges lost to their lakehead terminals.

Russian, Satellite Troops Believed Total 7,000,000

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—When President Truman said that "the Soviet Union and its colonial satellites are maintaining armed forces of great size and strength," he presumably meant that at least 7,000,000 men are under arms.

That is the estimated total of the ground, air and sea forces of Russia, its European satellites and Communist Asia, on the basis of authoritative information available here.

These are actual forces-in-being. They do not include the hordes of recruits or reservists with battle experience who could be drawn from the almost-unlimited military manpower pool which exists among the 665,000,000 population of the Communist countries of the Occident and Orient.

Constant Threat

In his San Francisco speech last night, Truman said that "in both Europe and Asia, their vast armies pose a constant threat to world peace." He obviously was using the term "armies" in the broad sense of military force. The threat from Russian air and, to a lesser degree, naval strength also must be taken into account.

Russia and her European puppet states are assumed to have something more than 4,000,000 men in their armed forces. The estimates on the size of the Red China's regular army range up to more than 3,000,000. The North Korean Communist Army, once estimated at 150,000, now is being cut up and destroyed by United Nations forces.

Regulars 2,500,000

The regular Soviet army is estimated at a little more than 2,500,000. This is the army alone. It doesn't count in perhaps 400,000 of the so-called security force, the NKVD. Nor does it include a flexible force which is seasonal in nature—about 1,000,000 men who are called, by age groups, for military service.

The Russian army has excellent artillery and in quantities. It demonstrated its artillery power in the Second World War.

The Red army is believed to have more—and perhaps better—tanks than any of the great Western Powers. Some guesses in military circles are that the Soviet armored force now may have more than 25,000 medium tanks, not including an unestimated number of the huge, 60-ton Joseph Stalin III models. Estimates of the rate of production for new Russian tanks range as high as 5,000 annually.

Has Air Fleet

The number of men in the Red air force is placed at about 600,000, but in view of Soviet efforts toward expansion of its air fleet, may be well above that figure.

Russia is reported concentrating on swift expansion of her jet fighter force. She presumably feels she needs them as interceptors to challenge long-range American bombers should she launch war and bring down retaliation on her cities.

But Russia has not neglected her bomber force since the Second World War, and it is known she is producing quantities of four-engined TU-70s, copies of the American B-29.

At sea, primary Russian interest is in expanding the submarine fleet. In the past, estimates of the Russian submarine fleet have ranged up to 350, but Jane's Fighting Ships say the Soviet goal is believed to be between 750 and 1,000 long-range submarines by 1951.

Family Thinks of Canada As Sort of Another State

By JACK SCOTT

Politically and in most other ways, John Longmore, the tall gangling Maine school teacher and his precise-mannered wife, Dorothy, are about what you'd expect from their own definition of their status as "ordinary, middle-of-the-road Americans." In this last of four columns about the Longmores, I'd like to explore their ideas.

About Canada, for instance. Both John and Dorothy are moderately well-read, yet they have a very misty idea of our country (they think of Vancouver, for example, as a sort of northern outpost) and, as John put it, 'We sawt o' think o' Canada as anothaw state. We know you folks will go along with us in what we do down heah."

Both Rebels

Both John and his wife think of themselves as "rebels" because in a county that's solidly Republican they were strong supporters of Roosevelt.

"We believe in votin' foah the man, not the pawty," John says "Voted ev'y time foah F.D.R., but in the last presidential 'lection we were foah Dewey. Jus' didn't think that Truman was a big enough man. Still don't."

They're satisfied with the two-party system. Both agreed that in their own part of the state a small group of influential, well-to-do families "ran" the parties for their own benefit. I suggested that this kind of thing in Canada often inspired people to join a third, left-wing party.

Like Politics

"Wouldn't do here," Dorothy said. "We folks like to play politics. If some group gets control of a party we don't set up a new party. We start working to get the group out of there."

They are for free enterprise. "Ah say, let the best man win," John drawled. "Ah believe that the man with the initiative should get his re-wawd. We've had no Communism 'round heah. Don't expect we evah will. If theah were any funny goin's-on heah the whole county would know about it befoah mo'nin'."

"That right," Dorothy agreed. "Moscow would have a hard time getting their agents in here. We're on a 15-party telephone line."

America's role in world affairs is a favorite subject for Dorothy. She folds her hands in her lap, leans forward in her chair, cocks her head and impales the visitor on her bright blue eyes.

Last Hope

"America now is the last hope for peace," she says. "We've got the fate of the world in our hands and we've got to realize it. We've got to get tougher, more realistic. If Russia puts out her paw and says, 'We're going to play ball,' we've got to give it a good hard look and not just hope it'll work out. Why, everything depends on us. I don't think England can do much. France never did seem to do much. America's got to be prepared and keep prepared. America and," she added lamely, "Canada, too."

"It's like we've bee nan ovah-indulgent parent . . . " John began.

Shakes Finger

"That's it exactly," Dorothy said. "An over-indulgent parent." She raised her hand and shook her index finger in a parody of a scolding parent.

"We're like the mother who says, 'Now, don't you do that or mother will spank.' We start to discipline them. Then we get soft and never follow through. Well, you know how that will spoil a child. It works the same way in world affairs, too. The point is, whether we like it or not, we're leaders in the world. We've got to be strong."

Both John and Dorothy feel a sense of bitterness and shame that there is still so much racial intolerance in America.

Hates Accent

"It's one reason ah hate to have this co-called suth'in accent o' mine," John says. "But up heah theah's none o' that. Let me tell you about Mistah Bush. We've got a race track here in Pembroke. We have hawness races every Sunday. Mistah Bush is a colored man and he has an old horse he races named Junior Bars. Couple o' weeks ago Mistah Bush and Junior Bars won a heat and when they were comin' back up the track the announcer says, 'Looka theah, folks! Mistah Bush and Junior Bars! Their combined age is 95 yeahs. Well, suh, you should have heard the people clap and cheaw. That's the way it is in Maine."

"We had to worry about intolerance ourselves," Dorothy added. "I'm Catholic and Johnny's Protestant. A lot of our friends thought we were making a mistake getting married. We're trying to teach the children that people have their own beliefs and that they must respect them for it."

I asked them how they felt about security and again found that it was a subject on which Dorothy had very set ideas.

Have Security

"On a farm you've got security no matter what happens," she said. "We'll never starve so long as the blueberries grow and our vegetable garden keeps producing. We don't believe in skimping, as a lot of people around here do. We want to live by city standards. That means fruit juices and vitamin tablets and fluorine treatment for the youngsters' teeth and good books for us. We're not accepting the old rural standards and, of course, it means we're putting nothing in the bank."

She paused a moment and looked around at the snug farm kitchen. "There's really no security in the world now, is there?" she said.

Backbone Broken Man Not Paralyzed

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — Camile Devost of Mattawa, 21-year-old lumber worker, was in "quite fair" condition today after being flown here last night for treatment for a freak spinal injury.

Devost was brought to hospital on a special stretcher by physicians of the Workmen's Compensation Board, who flew to North Bay yesterday to examine him.

Devost was injured when pinned under a pile of timber. His backbone was broken but his spinal cord was not severed and he suffered no paralysis. Doctors said it was "almost inconceivable" that he was not paralyzed by such an injury.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoxid". Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Giant Freighters For Great Lakes

MONTREAL, Oct. 18—(CP)—Two $3,500,000 freighters, reported to be the largest ships ever constructed in Canada, will go into the Great Lakes trade, shipping sources said Tuesday.

One is under construction at Port Weller, Ont., and the second will be started there when the first is out of the shipyards.

Construction is under supervision of David B. Carswell, Montreal marine consultant, who left for Port Weller Monday night.

He said the ships will carry cargoes of 22,000 tons each, against the present high of about 12,000 tons.

The ships, an eigth of a mile long, are being built for Sarnia Steamships, Ltd., of Port Colborne.

Stick to Lakes

The vessels will be used strictly on the Great Lakes although company officials hope that some day they will move down to Montreal on their way to pickup ore cargoes when a deep-sea waterway is completed.

Only one lake freighter, the Wilfred Sykes, an American-owned ship, will surpass the new vessels in size but because of their constructions the Canadian freighters will carry the same amount of cargo.

Papers Still 5c Despite Spiralling Costs

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 18 (CP) —Determination to keep the price of the daily newspaper at its present level despite serious increases in costs was expressed at the regular fall meeting of the Ontario Provincial Dailies Association.

The meeting opened here Monday with an informal dinner. Tuesday the members toured the plant of the St. Catharines Standard, which has been recently enlarged and remodelled, and later met in business session.

Chairman of the meeting was R. L. Curran, managing director of the Sault Ste. Marie Daily Star. A total of 35 representatives of the 28 member papers attended the meetings.

Cut In Newsprint

The seriousness of the newsprint supply question was aired at the meeting Monday. Any cut in supplies to the newspapers would be a serious blow to newspapers right across Canada, it was stated. The members learned of a possible cut in supplies from producers, as well as a $10-a-ton increase in newsprint cost, as the meeting opened.

Discussing the rising costs of newspaper production, the meeting learned that type metal had increased by 35.7 per cent and newsprint by 23 per cent since 1946. Other increases, apart from spiralling labor costs, were zinc 44.8 per cent, film 36.46 per cent, mats 34.19 per cent, and ing 16.43 per cent.

However, it was determined that the newspaper should be the one thing "that a man can still buy for a nickel" and it was not anticipated that any increase in price of the daily newspaper would be put into effect by any of the members in the immediate future.

Plan Advertising

Also under discussion was the proposed establishment of a central advertising office for the association. The matter was referred to the executive of the OPDA. The problem of "selling" the smaller Ontario daily newspapers was at present being successfully accomplished by the Self-Rule For Africans of Gold Coast?

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Oct. 18 (CP). — A delegate to an international conference of Pacific relations, having listened to all sorts of reasons why Asians distrust Americans, tried patiently to explain that Americans have their worries, too.

"We are damned if we do, and damned if we don't," the delegate said. He meant that if the west does try to help some less-wealthy country, there are blood-curdling cries of imperialism; if it doesn't, it is condemned as stingy and isolationist.

Much the same sort of thing complicates Britain's colonial policy in Africa. She is either too imperialist or not imperialist enough.

When Foreign Secretary Bevan said recently that it is Britain's hope to lead native peoples to ultimate self-government, Sir Godfrey Huggins, Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia, retorted "loose talk" and said Africa will never be another India.

Natives Ready?

Thus snags are seen to be on the road to self-government for Africa. Are the natives nearly ready to rule themselves?

A partial answer may be supplied by Britain's rich gold coast colony, which early next year becomes the scene of the empire's biggest constitutional experiment —a general election which will confer most government portfolios on Africans elected by popular franchise.

Two members of the House of Commons—Geoffrey Cooper, a Socialist, and David Gammans, Conservative—came back to London from a three-week visit to the Gold Coast convinced that transfer of power is a wild gamble. Among other things, they said that only one in 10 of the cocoa colony's 4,000,000 inhabitants is literate, newspapers are irresponsible and usually pro-Russian, and local administrations are corrupt.

Political Gunpowder

In a joint report published by the Conservative Daily Telegraph, the two MP's described selfgovernment for the gold coast as a barrel of political gunpowder rolled into a political kindergarten.

"The risk is," they write, "that the individual who shouts the loudest, offers the most outrageous bribes and can produce the best organization to intimidate the bewildered African, will top the poll."

Cooper and Gammans forecast that the election will be won by a man who now is in jail — Dr. Kwane Nkruma, leader of the Convention Peoples' Party. Sometimes called a Communist, Dr. Nkruma formerly was editor of the Accra Evening News, which campaigned for immediate self-government. He was arrested last January on charges of sedition.

In the opinion of Cooper and Gamans, the only hope is that Dr. Nkruma and his colleagues, if elected, may foreswear their totalitarian backgrounds and become reasonable men.

They call that a "bare possibility."

Show Picture

LONDON (CP)—Gabriel Pascal, the only producer to whom Bernard Shaw so far has entrusted the filming of his plays, hopes to start making "Androcles and the Lion" in Rome in the middle of December. Jean Simmons and Robert Newton are likely to take the principal roles.

Dinner-of-the-Week

Swedish Meat Balls (see notes)
Fluffy Turnip Cakes (see notes)
Green Beans with Pimiento Sauce
Iceberg Lettuce with Russian Dressing
Peach Refrigerator Pudding (see notes)
Coffee

✧ ✧ ✧

Low-Calorie Dinner

Chilled Tangerine Juice
Broiled Minced Beef Cakes (4 oz. 200 cal.)
Generous Portions of Broiled Green or Red Tomato Halves
Brussels Sprouts
Chilled Celery and Carrot Strips
Assorted Fruits: Dessert Pear, Grapes and Apples
Clear Coffee (0 cal.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Directions: The recipe for the Swedish Meat Balls comes from the mother of my friend Miss Larson, who is famous for her Swedish dinners. To one pound of finely chopped round steak (or hamburg) add 1 egg, 1 tablespoon of potato flour or cornstarch, 1 finely chopped onion, one-half cup milk, and a generous seasoning of salt, grating of nutmeg and pinch of black pepper and ginger. Mix well with hands. Dip hands in water and form meat into balls about the size of walnut. Fry to a light brown in butter or beef drippings; add 2 tablespoons hot water to the fat in pan when meat balls are barely cooked through. Pour this over the meat balls on hot platter. Surround the meat with

✧ ✧ ✧

Fluffy Turnip Cakes: Boil together turnip and potatoes—using same amount of each—until tender in salted water. Mash and beat with salt and ¼ to ½ cup hot cream or milk, and as much butter as you care to spare. Season with salt and black pepper. Drop in hot frying pan with a little butter and saute until golden on both sides.

✧ ✧ ✧

Peach Refrigerator Pudding

Press through a sieve drained canned peaches to make 1 cup of peach pulp; add 3 tablespoons orange marmalade and heat in top of double boiler. Beat 2 egg yolks slightly and pour the fruit over them stirring. Return all to double boiler, stirring until thick. Remove from heat and chill. Cream 4 tablespoons butter until very soft then add ½ cup icing sugar and beat until light, then beat in the fruit mixture. Whip ½ cup heavy cream until fairly stiff and fold it into the mixture. Line a mould with wax paper, then line it with vanilla wafers or strips of sponge cake or lady fingers. Fill with 3 layers of the fruit mixture putting wafers or strips of sponge cake between each layer finishing with wafers or cake on top. Chill in refrigerator overnight. To serve unmould on large plate and garnish with peach halves with maraschino cherries in cavity, and segments of orange free of membrane. For special occasions garnish it too, with whipped cream piped around edges from pastry tube.

NOTE: Pineapple or pulp of orange may be used instead of peaches.

I have been asked to describe method of boiling

✧ ✧ ✧

Brussels Sprouts

Pick over 1 quart Brussels sprouts discarding discolored outer leaves. Cover with cold water, add 1 teaspoon salt and let soak 10 minutes. Drain, slit crosswise at stem end, put in large pan and cover with 2 quarts boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt. Boil 10 minutes or just barely long enough to make them tender. Drain, add 2 to 3 tablespoons butter and salt, pepper and paprika to season. If you cover or overcook sprouts they will turn that olive green shade we all try to avoid.

Says Club Helps Community Life

MILLBROOK, Oct. 18 (ENS). —Fulton Stewart of Lindsay, vice-president of the Ontario Recreation Association, spoke at the Home and School meeting in the school Monday. He pointed out that a recreation club welds a community together. It teaches people to work and to play cooperatively. It gives them relaxation and pleasure.

The art classes may not produce many great painters, but they taught all to enjoy good pictures. He said that organizing into a recreation group it would not increase activities perhaps, but it would work a schedule so that the various projects of the village would not conflict.

Another great advantage of being organized was that the government will help with grants.

Mr. Stewart was accompanied by Mr. Mitchell, director of recreation for Lindsay, and a former player with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Rev. T. G. Husser introduced the speaker, and the Rev. A. A. Chote expressed the thanks of the club.

Other items on the program included a piano duet by Glenna Graham and Beverley Patton, a vocal duet by Yvonne Richards and Margaret Aiken, and a piano solo by the new director of music in the schools of Millbrook, Cavan and South Monaghan. Mrs. Henry Gray gave a short talk on publications.

Plan Tea and Sale

Plans were discussed for the tea, home-baking sale, and children's fashion show to be held in the school on Saturday afternoon.

The attendance prize for having the most parents present went to Miss Jean Burnham's room.

Mrs. G. A. Spicer is in charge of the program for the November meeting.

New officers appointed at the last executive meeting included Miss Edith Clarke, historian; Mrs. J. T. Crowley, press reporter; and the Rev. T. G. Husser, pianist.

Supper hostesses at Monday's meeting were Miss Ellen Kent, Mrs. Harold Argue, and Mrs. Bruce Ingham.

Mrs. J. Leahy Heads New P-T Group

The first monthly meeting of Immaculate Conception Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school Monday evening.

Officers in charge for the coming years are: President, Mrs. J. Leahy; vice president, Mrs. A. White; treasurer, Mr. Don Hull; secretary, Mr. Alex Talt; executive members, Mrs. Wm. O'Toole, Mrs. E. Powers, Mrs. L. Lefave, Mrs. D. Campanaro, Miss L. Hickey; program convener, Mrs. J. Healey; membership convener, Mrs. Wm. O'Shaughnessy.

The secertary read correspondence relating to pupil insurance, and also letters confirming the association's severance from Home and School affiliation.

A violin solo was rendered by Mr. Kevin Leahy, accompanied by Mrs. Leahy.

The Rev. J. Greenan introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. R. Garvey of St. Peter's Cathedral. Present were the grade 8 graduates who are now attending Catholic high school, and it was to these girls and boys that Father Garvey directed words of advice and encouragement. He gave credit also to their parents as well as their teachers, and cautioned the graduates to be always grateful to them. He urged them to take part in sports and all the activities presented to them in a wider scope—especially the cultivating of new friends.

Father Garvey concluded his interesting talk with a reminder that as soldier of Christ the graduates are responsible to God in the fight against the dangers of Communism, so rampant today.

Mrs. N. McConkey thanked the speaker. The graduates were then introduced and presented with gifts from the association.

Miss Mary Crilly gave the valedictory. Prizes were as follows: Class standing, 1, Mary Crilly; 2, Cecile Byrne. Christian doctrine, 1, Joseph Murdoch; 2, Edward O'Toole. Loyalty to the school, 1, Larry Walsh; 2, Norma McConkey.

Other graduates were: Paul Byrne, John DeNoble, Fred Flaherty, Joyce Foley, Gerard Garvey, Ruth Gosselin, Phyllis Gosselin, Mary Leahy, Robert McGarrity, James McGrath, Gerard Whibbs.

Lunch was served to the large gathering by Mrs. Jos. Anthony and her committee.

GUARD OF HONOR — Two Korean boys with wooden guns formed a "guard of honor" when Cmdr. Robert P. Welland of McCreary, Man., and Victoria, BC, commanding officer of the destroyer Athabaskan, landed on a South Korean island to talk with the village officials. What is the Miracle of Canada?

The miracle of Canada is the reward of its thrifty people; it is a standard of living wrought by men and women who believe in spending and saving wisely. The average Canadian, for example, owns his own car and his own home. He pays his bills when due. His pattern of living is excellent.

When the pattern breaks

But unexpected emergencies do break the pattern. Usually the emergency requires more money than he has available. This can happen to anyone. Then help must come from a dependable outside service.

3 out of 4 choose Household

HFC—HOUSEHOLD FINANCE — specializes in making cash loans from $50 to $1000 to these basically thrifty people. Because HFC service is prompt, friendly, dependable, 3 out of 4 Canadian families prefer to borrow from HOUSEHOLD FINANCE. Your phone book lists office nearest you.

Collect $17. For Treasury

When Mrs. W. White, 491 Braidwood Ave., entertained at her home Tuesday evening, each guest paid a fee of $1. on her arrival and this netted $17. for the treasury of St. George's Church Evening Guild of which Mrs. White is the president. Members thoroughly enjoyed a program originated and presented by the hostess and Mrs. C. H. Crouter. The latter was the hit of the evening in a comedy act that brought forth peals of laughter, as did the skit which she and Mrs. White carried on outside the living room door, purporting to be the church gossipers. Dainty refreshments were served at close of this successful event.

Bride and Four Attendants In Gowns of Silk Velvet

A pretty autumn wedding, solemnized in Bailieboro United Church Saturday, was of Laura Charleen Eagleson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eagleson, Bailieboro, and Robert Alfred Hazeldon, son of Alfred John Hazeldon of Riverhead, Kent, England.

The church was decorated with ferns and 'mums. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bernard Heywood and wedding music played by Mrs. Harland Seens. Mr. Lloyd Stinson of Cobourg was soloist and sang "Because" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" during signing of the register. The groomsman was Mr. Murray Eagleson and the ushers were Messrs. Bruce Eagleson and Donald Davey of Cobourg.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown and train of white silk velvet with jacket of French lace with long close fitting sleeves tapering to points over the hands. Her juliet cap was also lace. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and white 'mums.

The three bridesmaids were Misses Phillipa Grey, Betty Joan Howson and Phyllis Bullinger. All wore wine velvet gowns and carried nose gays of yellow and white 'mums.

Flower girl was little Gloria Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Wood and wore ice-blue velvet and carried a nose gay of white 'mums and pink roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Mrs. Eagleson received in navy tissue faille with navy velvet accessories. Her corsage was of red roses. Friends of the bride who served the refreshments were: Miss Barbara Campbell, Elaine Jones, June Buttars, Lorna Macklin, Doris Hutcheson, Mrs. Margie Downer and Mrs. Eilleen Retallick.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to Pennsylvania, the bride wearing a grey gabardine suit with navy velvet accessories and wine shortie coat.

On return they will live on the farm of Mr. G. Anderson.

Civic Alumnae Planning Tea

A large number of members of the Peterborough Civic Hospital Alumnae Association attended the regular meeting on Tuesday evening in a classroom at the new nurses' residence.

Final plans for the Purple and Gold tea on November 4 were made with president Mrs. Roy Taylor presiding, and many finished articles for the bazaar table were handed in as the evening closed. Tea tickets were distributed by Miss Elsie Crawford and advertising is to begin this week. Mrs. Phyllis Kingdom was appointed in charge of decoration.

A motion was passed whereby members can be assisted with financial aid if necessary.

Mrs. Taylor announced the annual meeting of RNAO District Six to be held in Belleville, October 25.

After lunch had been served by Mrs. A. Wade and Mrs. Powell, the members were conducted on a tour of the spacious and comfortable new residence, where the next meeting also will be held, by Miss C. Wilson, acting in the absence of Miss A. L. Thomson.

Tea at P. of W. Honors Mothers

At an afternoon tea in the Prince of Wales School on Tuesday the honored guests were the mothers of the kindergarten pupils and the hostess the executive members of the Home and School Association.

The ladies were received by the president, Mrs. W. E. Baggs, assisted by Mrs. H. Parnell, hostess, and Mrs. M. G. McCartney, membership convener.

Principal Mr. R. J. Bolton also extended a welcome and teacher Miss M. Faulkner and school nurse Miss M. Jory spoke briefly to the mothers. They were also given an invitation to attend the fun-night planned for November 28.

Past president Mrs. F. Gray presided at the tea table which was centred with lovely bronze 'mums and ivory tapers. Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Smith, assisted by Mrs. J. Morley, Mrs. J. Barry, Mrs. J. James, Mrs. C. Gilders, Mrs. P. Butler, Mrs. J. Goodson and Mrs. J. King.

St. Andrew's WMS Hears Mrs. Kenny

St. Andrew's WMS thankoffering meeting was held in the evening on Tuesday and was unusually largely attended. The guest speaker was Mrs. Mary McKinnon Kenny who told of her missionary work in India with her husband, Dr. Kenny.

Much of her address had added interest for the audience since it concerned their work in the hospital founded by the late Sir William Wanless whose sister, the late Mrs. Jason Elliott, was a member of St. Andrew's congregation for a number of years, and another sister, Mrs. Rogers who now lives in Toronto, had also joined in the activities of this church.

Mrs. Kenny was introduced by Mrs. C. M. Scott who mentioned their friendship while both were living in India.

A pleasing solo was contributed by Mrs. A. L. McLaren with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Wallace and the worship service was led by Mrs. C. W. Holman and Miss Jean Saunders. A skit regarding the missionary magazine was put on by the Evening Auxiliary.

Offering was received by Mrs. R. Hardy and Mrs. A. A. Munro and dedicated by Mrs. M. J. Aiken.

Appreciation to the guest artists was expressed by Mrs. H. Tremaine and extended by president Mrs. F. W. K. Harris who presided.

Tea was served after the meeting with the hostesses who had received the guests, Mrs. Ford Turner and Mrs. Aiken, assisting.

Joan Heath Weds Joseph E. Sexsmith

Sacred Heart Church was the scene of a lovely autumn wedding Saturday morning as Joan Ilene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Heath, 185 Perry St., became the bride of Joseph E. Sexsmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sexsmith of Actinolite.

Nuptial mass was solemnized by the Rev. G. Sullivan and the altar was decorated with gladioli and autumn flowers. During signing of the register, Mrs. M. Collins sang "On this day" and "Dearest Mother" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. C. O'Donnell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white slipper satin with off-the-shoulder neckline encircled in lace. Buttons trimmed the front of the fitted bodice and the long sleeves were buttoned at the wrist. The bouffant skirt was styled with short graceful train. Her veil was of embroidered french lace caught to a metallic Queen Anne headdress and she carried a cascade of American beauty roses.

Bridesmaids were her sister Miss Gloria Heath and Miss Carmen Giardino. They wore similar frocks of turquoise and yellow faconne crepe with off-the-shoulder necklines offset with lace, and they had matching caps and mittens. They carried nosegays of yellow and bronze 'mums. The bride's other sister Mrs. W. Sexsmith attended as matron of honor wearing a similar ensemble in rose shade and she carried a sheaf of American beauty roses and blue 'mums.

Groomsman was Mr. W. Sexsmith, brother of the groom. Ushers were Frank Heath and Donald Landrigan.

A reception was held at Club Aragon and the bride's mother received, wearing a suit of grey English wool and matching accessories with a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother also received, attired in a mulberry coloured suit, matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For travelling the bride chose a navy gabardine suit and grey topcoat with matching accessories and had a corsage of pink roses. They left on a motor trip to Rochester and other points and on return they will live in Peterborough.

Barbara J. Nicol Wed at Madoc To Clifford Noble

A double ring wedding ceremony took place at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, Saturday, with Rev. W. M. Heslip officiating, of Barbara Jean Nicol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth T. Nicol, Madoc, and Clifford Henry Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Noble, of Toronto.

Wedding music was played by Stanley Hawthorne and Miss Phyllis Beatty as soloist sang "The sweetest story ever told."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was exquisitely gowned in white Chantilly lace over white slipper satin fitted bodice with bouffant hoop skirt caught up with rosettes of satin. Her fingertop veil was caught with a lace headdress of cloche design. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Patricia Nicol, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of gold lace over brown taffeta with small lace hat. She carried a bouquet of bronze mums. Miss Margaret Plewes, of Toronto, was bridesmaid, and was attired in light green lace over dark green taffeta, with similar lace hat and carrying a bouquet of bronze mums.

Groomsman was James Davidson, of Toronto. The ushers were John Shannon and Robert Mibay.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where her mother received wearing a gown of silver grey satin with hat of bitter sweet Italian velour. Her corsage was of Talisman roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore brown velvet trimmed crepe with brown fur felt hat. Her corsage was of yellow roses. The couple later left for New York City and Montreal, the bride travelling in a suit of yellow wool with camel's hair top coat, matching hat and brown accessories. On return they will live in Toronto. Out-of-town guests were present from Woodstock, Toronto, Peterborough, Belleville and Ivanhoe.

Spencers Mark Golden Wedding Day

HAVELOCK, Oct. 18 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer, of Belleville, who have spent most of their lives in this district celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Belleville on Saturday.

The parents of both Mr. and Mrs. Spencer were pioneer residents of Belmont township. Mr. Spencer was born in Peterborough but came to this vicinity as a boy with his parents, the late Mark Spencer and Sarah Ann Martin.

Mrs. Spencer was formerly Rose Lewis, a daughter of the late David Lewis and Rebecca Murray, of Belmont.

The couple were married in Havelock on November 7, 1900, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. J. W. Bunner. The bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Jennie Lewis, now Mrs. Charles Spencer, of Havelock, who was present at the celebration.

The best man was William Spencer, brother of the groom, who now lives in Frankford but who was unable to attend the festivities owing to ill-health.

Entire Family Present

The celebration was held prior to the anniversary date so that all the members of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer's family might attend.

After they were married, the couple settled on a farm east of Havelock. Mrs. Spencer recalls that butter at that time was 15 cents and 16 cents a pound and eggs 10 cents a dozen. She made butter the first year by putting the milk in pans and skimming off the cream. Later they moved to the Trent River district and then, 20 years ago, left this district to make their home in Brighton, going from there to Belleville eight years ago.

Receive Visitors

The celebration took the form of an afternoon and evening reception when more than a hundred people visited them. They received many gifts. As members of the Tabernacle United Church, Belleville they were presented with flowers from the WA and the Prince Edward Club of which Mrs. Spencer is a member, gave them a teapot, and stand in white and gold. Cards of congratulation were received from other church groups. Flowers were also received from Fort William and other friends in Belleville.

The tea table was centred with a large cake flanked with gold candles and gold mums, while mums and yellow roses were attractively arranged throughout the rooms. Mr. Spencer was wearing a button-hole of yellow roses and his wife a corsage of yellow roses presented to them by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold Spencer, of Brighton, in memory of their son Harold, who died some two years ago.

Son Guest Preacher

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer have a daughter and two sons, all of whom were present. They are: Mrs. William Brown (Winnifred) of Cobourg; the Rev. Ralph Spencer, of St. Luke's United Church, Montreal; Bruce Spencer, of Colborne.

Those from Havelock who attended the celebration were Mrs. James McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Carman McMillan and Mrs. Charles Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, all their children and their families attended anniversary services at Trent River on Sunday when the Rev. Ralph Spencer returned to his boyhood church as guest preacher.

Saucy Sue SAYS:
For All Good Cooks
Here's Welcome News
HP SAUCE IS GOOD IN STEWS
FOR FLAVOUR WITH ZEST
HP IS BEST!

DEAR MISS DIX: Why do you think it is so terrible for a man to ask a woman to give up her career when he marries her? Certainly being a wife and mother and home-maker is a career in itself, and a man-size job if one is to be successful. I am a stenographer and I would be glad enough to give up my career for a husband.

LONESOME FOR A HOME

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You read me wrong, daughter. Never have I said it was terrible for a man to ask a woman to give up her career when she marries. On the contrary, I think it is just exactly what a woman should do when she marries, provided her career involves work that takes her outside of her own home, and it is what she must do if she is a successful wife and mother and home-maker.

Dorothy Dix

Can't Serve Two Masters

You cannot serve two masters. You cannot do two things at the same time. To have a successful career a woman must give to it the best that is in her; her thoughts, her time, her energies, her ambitions. It must come before everything else with her. To be a successful wife and mother and homemaker, she must give to her task her thoughts, her time, her energies, her ambitions. It must come first with her. And no sophistries can reconcile the two opposing aims in her life.

No man's idea of a home is a place run by servants and to which a wife comes too tired and nerve-exhausted after a hard day's work in an office to even speak amiably. And nobody on earth can take a mother's place to her children. Nobody but a mother has the infinite patience, the understanding to deal with a child and guide its feet into the right paths.

That it is a great sacrifice for the woman who has some especial talent for the career she has espoused and for which she has spent years and years in preparation, to give it up when she marries, no one will deny.

That many women are forced to keep on with their work after marriage because of financial necessity is also true, but the fact remains that careers and marriage do not mix for a woman and that the woman who undertakes both falls between the stools.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a daughter 19 years old who is a cripple and whom I am very anxious to help to a start in life. I am a poor man, but I am willing to go in debt to give her a business course and provide her with the proper clothes, and when she has finished the course I could get her a good position with friends of mine so that she would be self-supporting. But the trouble is that her mother and I have been separated for ten years and the mother will not permit the girl to come and stay with me or with her older sister, who is married, until she can finish the business course, or to go to any place where I could afford to send her. The mother has no way in the world to provide for the girl. But here we are deadlocked—I wanting to provide for the girl in the only way I can and the mother refusing to let me, and the girl so completely under her mother's influence that she won't do what she wants to do. Can you tell me what to do?

J. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The mother evidently thinks she is revenging herself on you by keeping you from carrying out your plans about the girl, and she is so blinded by her fury that she does not see that she is wrecking her daughter's life. It is as terrible an example of stupidity as I have ever known.

It is pitiful to think that this girl, who has already been dealt one cruel blow by Fate should be given an even heavier one by her own mother. For the only thing that could take the curse off of her affliction is for her to be given some chance to do something worthwhile in the world and the ability to make herself financially independent.

The only practical advice that I can give you, poor, perturbed father, trying your best to do your duty under hard circumstances, is to get your married daughter to go and talk to her sister. Perhaps she can brace her up enough to defy her mother and take the course that will mean her salvation.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How is a woman going to recover her faith in a husband who has deceived her? A READER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is a difficult thing, perhaps an impossible thing for many women to do, but you remember that some one once defined faith as the ability to believe a thing that you knew was not true.

Expert Will Learn Eskimo Dances

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Phillipa Pollenz is a dance expert who is so good she teaches the natives how to do their own dances.

She breezed through Vancouver on her way to Alaska to learn new dances.

Two years ago when she went to Honolulu she first had to dance the native dances herself so the islanders could see how to do them properly.

"I guess the reason I was able to do the dances better than the natives was simply because so many of them have forgotten the old dances. The development of the tourist trade dosn't help them.

"I had the advantage of reading old authoritative books on the subject so that, strange as it seems, I knew more about their dances than they did."

With recording machines, she will get the orgiinal Eskimo story behind each dance as well as the English translation.

Results of the 10,000-mile trip will go into the archives of the dance research foundation in New York, where there are 250,000 photographs showing native dances of every corner of the world.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Frosted Sandwich Loaf Special Party Attraction

It is easy to serve sandwiches for a party but to make them attractive is another story. For any number of wonderful fillings and countless striking and unusual ways of serving sandwiches, you must see "500 Tasty Sandwich Recipes," the fourteenth cookbook in the series of 24 Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks available to readers of the Examiner.

Like the other books in the series, the Sandwich Book covers the field completely with step-by-step instructions, delicious, concise recipes, and photographic illustrations that suggest any number of unusual ways of serving or trimming sandwiches.

Most of the recipes are accompanied by many variations and alternate suggestions so that every taste and pocketbook can be satisfied. A whole column of other fillings for the recipe below appears in the Sandwich Book, but for lack of space only the basic recipe is given:

Frosted Sandwich Loaf

1 unsliced loaf sandwich bread
Butter
Mayonnaise
Sliced tomatoes
Minced ham filling
Lettuce
9 ounces cream cheese
Milk
Parsley.

Remove all crust from a loaf of day-old bread. Cut 4 lengthwise slices abou ½ inch thick, and spread with butter. Place a slice on a platter, spread with mayonnaise, then cover with sliced peeled tomatoes. Spread another slice with mayonnaise and place it mayonnaise side down on tomaties. Spread fourth slice of bread with mayonnaise and place it mayonnaise side down on tomatoes. Spread top of this slice with minced ham, cover with third slice of bread. Spread it with mayonnaise and cover with lettuce. Spread fourth together. Soften cream cheese with milk, beat until fluffy, and frost the outside of the loaf. Garnish with parsley. Chill at least one hour. Slice crosswise to serve. Serves 6.

You will certainly want to get your Sandwich Book immediately. Just clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper, and present it with 25c to the Examiner office, your Examiner carrier, or at Braund's Home Food Markets. If you prefer to order your copy by mail, send the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to the Cookbook Department, the Examiner, Peterborough.

For Bad Cough, Mix This Splendid Recipe, at Home

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this easily prepared mixture and try it for a distressing cough. It is no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle, yet it can be depended upon to give quick relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup.) Get a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a 16 ounce bottle and fill it up with your syrup. The 16 ounces thus made gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and is a very effective relief for coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

This splendid mixture soothes the irritated membranes, loosens the phlegm and helps to clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known as a soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

BARRICK—In loving memory of William Barrick, who died October 18, 1948.
Memory lane is a lonely path,
Where hearts are ever true.
A path I travel again and again,
Because it leads to you.
You left me beautiful memories,
Often secret tears,
But you will always be with me
As I journey through the years.
You are always in my mind dear,
No matter what I do,
All the time within my heart
There is a thought of you.
—Remembered by his loving wife.

BARRICK—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who passed away two years ago, Oct. 18, 1948.
Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none can fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by son William, daughter-in-law Elizabeth and grandson Don.

FOSTER—In loving memory of Ray Foster, who died six years ago, October 18, 1944.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by wife and son.

FOSTER—In loving memory of our boy, Raymond, who passed away Oct. 18, 1944.
We lost a boy with a heart of gold,
Who was more to us than wealth untold,
Without a farewell, he fell asleep
With only happy memories for us to keep.
We have lost, but God has gained
One of the best boys the world contained,
—Sadly missed and always remembered by father and brother Ross.

NICHOLS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Peter Nichols, who passed away October 19th, 1932.
Deep in our hearts, a memory is kept.
Of a mother we loved, and will never forget.
And tho' the years be many or few,
We will always be thinking dear mother of you.
—Ever remembered by her family.

Joe Wright, Sr. Rowing Champ Dies At Age 86

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP).—Joe Wright, Sr., "grand old man" of Canadian rowing and one of the dominion's all-time great athletes died today. He was 86.

From his teens until he was 50, he was the iron man of Canadian sport. He won more events in a wider field of athletic endeavor than any other Canadian athlete

His greatest fame was achieved in rowing, in which he won 137 national titles and was one of the first to do 100 yards in 10 seconds.

"Old Joe" or "Mr. Joe" as he was best known in later life, suffered one keen disappointment: he failed to win Britain's coveted diamond sculls in 1894.

More than 35 years later, however, in 1928, his son, Joe, Jr., won this classic event and established his father permanently as Joe, Sr.

Coach 30 Years

For more than 30 years, Wright was coach of the Toronto Argonaut Rowing Club. He started in 1906 at the age of 42, when he might well have been content to rest on his vast collection of laurels.

Seven years earlier, when 35, the big, powerfully-built Wright had won the Canadian amateur heavyweight boxing championship. It wasn't until he was 50—he rowed, an an Argonaut Club regatta that year—that he gave up personal activity in competitive sport.

From 1915 to 1925 he coached crews at the University of Pennsylvania. Each year, after the Poughkeepsie regatta, he returned to Toronto to prepare the Argonauts for the Canadian Henley, the dominion's premier rowing meet.

For two years he coached the Penn Athletic Club.

Back To Canada

Perhaps with Joe, Jr., and the Diamond Skulls in mind, he moved his family back to Canada and set his son to training seriously for the big British event.

It wasn't long until Joe, Jr., too was an all-time great.

At 45, Joe, Sr., stroked a Canadian crew to a United States national title. Earlier he played baseball for University of Toronto, pitching for the university team that beat Cornell and swept undefeated through a three-week tour against U.S. colleges.

Track and Field

He was a top-flight track and field star at university. But to concentrate on rowing, he later dropped running, throwing the hammer and shot putting.

He stroked an Argo eight at Baltimore in 1905 and in victory set a time that stood unchallenged for many years. The same crew went to England, won two heats in the Grand Challenge Cup series and lost the third heat by about a yard.

Two years earlier he was stroke of a crew considered for many years the best Canada ever sent to the United States. It beat Yale, Harvard and University of Pennsylvania and was the first Canadian crew to win a U.S. championship.

The Argo crew that went to England in 1908 had another Wright son, George, in the crew. The father was coach.

The older Wright also took another crew to Stockholm in 1912. It finished second to a Hamilton Leander crew.

There were so many lightweights at University of Pennsylvania when he coached there that he established the 150-pound class. To this day there is the Joseph Wright challenge cup, competed for by 150-pound crews.

Pinned By Tree ½ Day

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., Oct. 18 — (CP).—Fred Toupin, 69, was taken to hospital here with a broken leg last night after being pinned by a fallen tree for more than half a day in the bush near Dorset, 20 miles east of Huntsville.

Two boys freed Toupin when they heard his cries and helped him to his home.

Gold Mine Reports Increased Profit

TORONTO, Oct. 18 — (CP) — Wright-Hargreaves Mines Limited showed a net profit in 1950 that was nearly $90,000 higher than in 1949, the annual report discloses.

Profit for the year ended Aug. 31, 1950, was $921,077 as against $832,684 the previous year. This broke down to 16.7 cents a share compared with 15.1 cents in 1949.

Production operating costs and investments also showed increases.

Company president Edwin L. Miller, in his review of the year's activities, said the stronger position was a result of devaluation of the Canadian dollar in September, 1949, and the subsequent premium of $3.50 an ounce for newly-mined gold.

Union Local Kicks Out Three

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP). — The Consumers' Gas Local of the International Chemical Workers Union (ALF-TLC) last night barred from a meeting three men who had been expelled from the union for alleged Communist affiliation.

The three — former president Reg Wright, former secretary Charles Manser and William Johnstone, former executive member—immediately circulated petitions among the 800 members asking for a hearing before the full membership of the local.

They were expelled by international president H. A. Bradley, authorized by the union's constitution to expel or bar Communists from the union. Immediately after the expulsion, the three were dismissed by the Consumers' Gas Company. Under a union shop agreement, union membership is a condition of employment.

There have been suggestions that Mr. Wright may try to swing the membership of the local away from the international union.

Kitchener Names Morality Squad

KITCHENER, Oct. 18 (CP). — Formation of two-man morality tquad as the first step in an all-out drive on gambling and bootlegging will be requested by Police Chief John Patrick of the Kitchener Police Commission this week.

The Kitchener police department has had an arrangement with provincial police for the services of the latter's anti-vice squad here but it is felt the anti-vice- squad cannot devote enough time to Kitchener.

The proposed morality squad would concentrate on ridding the city of all forms of vice, leaving the regular detective branch free for other investigations.

Railway Ordered To Continue Service

BRANTFORD, Oct. 18 (CP). — The Board of Transport Commissioners who last May refused to allow the Lake Erie and Northern Railway and Grand River Railway to discontinue radial passenger service between Port Dover and Kitchener is standing by that decision.

After the ruling the railways made application for a review of the decision. Today a letter was received by Brantford civic officials notifying them that the transport board had dismissed the railways' application.

CAS Chief To Go To Conference At White House

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society will attend the White House Conference on Children and Youth to be held in Washington the week of December 3.

In preparation of this conference the Department of Health and Welfare and the Canadian Welfare Council listed individuals and organizations who should be represented at this council. Miss Young received an invitation to attend as a representative of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society.

Commenting on this invitation, at the meeting of the Board of Directors Tuesday, Miss Young explained that the board should be honored by the recognition that this invitation demonstrated.

The board passed a resolution authorizing Miss Young to attend this conference.

5,000 To Attend

The conference will be attended by more than 5,000 persons, representing public and private organizations and citizens groups Discussion will take place on matteds of physical and mental health, education, recreation and social services as they affect children.

Preparing for the conference, national, state and local groups are working in the United States on a study of conditions in their own areas and preparing documents for discussion at the conference.

The comprehensive nature of the agenda is indicated by the conference goal, "A Fair Chance for a Healthy Personality."

Mobile Unit Seeks Recruits

For the second time in the past two months a Canadian mobile recruiting unit has moved into the Peterborough area. This time the unit will be recruiting for the active force, men between the ages of 17 and 29, single, men between 17 and 35 who have a trade.

The unit opened Tuesday at the Armouries, under Capt. J. P. MacDowell, Queen's Own Rifles, recruiting officer for Eastern Ontario area. Assisting him is Sgt. R. F. Baker. They will be at the Armouries today and Thursday.

Today the unit will visit Lakefield and Bancroft. Thursday will see the unit in Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Haliburton and perhaps Minden. Friday it will travel along the front to Port Hope and Cobourg. In two weeks the recruiting unit will again enter the Peterborough area for several days.

Legion In Charge Wellman Funeral

Marmora branch of the Canadian Legion formed part of the large congregation at the funeral of David Wellman, Bonarlaw, who was killed last week when the truck he was driving overturned.

The funeral was held at St. Mark's Church, Bonarlaw, and was conducted by the Rev. J. M. Brownlie.

Last Post and Reveille were sounded at the graveside, in the 12th line cemetery, Rawdon Twp.

Pall-bearers were Robert Gray, Milton Campbell, George Osborne, James Rathwell, Ward Leury and Wilbert Bedore.

Tells Home And School SupportUnitedNations

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 18. — (ENS). — Mrs. W. W. Marjoribanks of the United Nations Society of Canada, who recently returned from Flushing Meadow and Lake Success, spoke of the need for the success of UN at the last meeting of the Home and School Association.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. Stephens, who also presented Mrs. Marjoribanks with a corsage. Thanks of the Home and School Association were expressed by Mrs. Harold Pierce.

Under the direction of Dr. Betty Bright, the Glee Club presented a group of folk songs, with Mrs. W. Clark as soloist.

Mrs. J. Cowell, convener for parent education, directed attention to the topics to be discussed on Citizens' Forum, broadcast every Thursday over CBC.

Two layettes were distributed which, upon completion, will be sent to aid European child welfare. The meeting concluded with a lunch served under the direction of Mrs. J. Herd.

Toronto Mayor Said Sniping

WINDSOR, Oct. 18 (CP).—City Council struck back at Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto last night for what was described by one controller as a "sniping, dirty, lousy statement" reflecting on this city.

The council attack was made on a published statement by the Toronto mayor, who said Toronto would take steps to see it was not "contaminated" by racketeers who might be flushed out of Windsor by the present police commission investigation.

"The statements attributed to Mayor McCallum are unworthy of the mayor of any city in Canada," controller Gordon B. Ellis said. 'They are nothing short of shameful and disgraceful and definitely an unfriendly act."

Vice and gangsterism in some areas "flourishes and festers undisturbed by those in authority in Ontario's foremost city," he said.

"We have had to suffer a continuous flow of humiliation at the hands of Toronto. . . I do feel that it has reached the point where we can no longer take it."

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume criticized Toronto newspapers who have published stories describing bootlegging, gambling and vice in Windsor, although he did not specify any paper. He said citizens of Windsor should defend themselves against allegations made about their city.

Present Pins To School Grads

HASTINGS, Oct. 18.—(ENS).—The graduating class from school at Hastings received pins at this month's meeting of the Home and School Association. They were presented by the Rev. N. Cole to Barbara Scriver, Adele Dodd, Juanita Scriver, Gertrude Aste, Marion Grieves, Dolores Lockhart, Cloa Dainard, James Fairman, Elmer Emmory, Marilyn Thomas. John Warrington, Boyce Orr and Bill Smith were absent.

The Rev. J. M. Ritchie presented grade 4 of 1950 with a book for the largest parent attendance during the year. Paul Humphries and Bobbie Jones received the book on behalf of the class. Paul Humphries thanked the Home and School Association for the prize.

Barbara Scriver, on behalf of the graduates, also thanked the H. and S. for their token of remembrance.

The president, Mrs. J. I. Thompson, presided. A letter was read notifying members that the conference planned to be held in Peterborough, Oct. 28, has been cancelled.

Mr. Humphries reported that the School Board would not receive a grant for the radio. Mrs. F. Crate was instructed to order 1,000 cards of invitations to Home and School meeting.

There wer 60 present and grade 5 had the highest parent attendance.

Mrs. S. Whitred, program convener, introduced J. Londerville of Peterborough Normal School, who spoke on building Canadian citizens. Mrs. C. M. Baker thanked the speaker.

Quirt McKinney, also of the Normal School, led a sing-song. Mrs. Switzer, social convener, and her committee served a lunch.

Charges Of Assault Withdrawn By Crown

Charges of assault causing bodily harm against three men were today withdrawn at the request of the crown in police court.

The three—Stanley Finn, 24, 407 Dobbin Ave., Gordon Dunlop, 2, Ida, Ross Chadwick, 22, Toronto—were charged following a disturbance that caused about $500 damage to a George St. restaurant early in the morning of August 8.

At the time, William Coros, night manager of the cafe, suffered head injuries when a glass and a catsup bottle were thrown at him.

Shortly after their arrest, the three were each fined $20 and costs when they pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance.

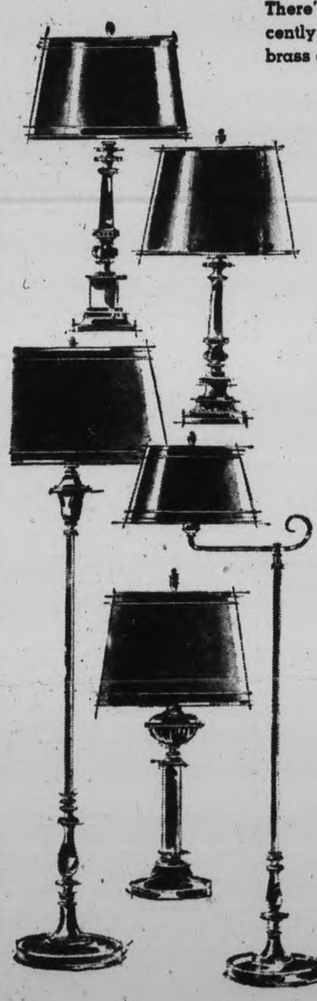
Town Council Asks Gov't Curb Inflation

FORT ERIE, Oct. 18—(CP)—Council last night passed a motion asking the federal government to check inflationary trends which are causing serious difficulties in providing the necessary services within the municipal budget.

Bigger Portion Of Steel Output For Defence Seen

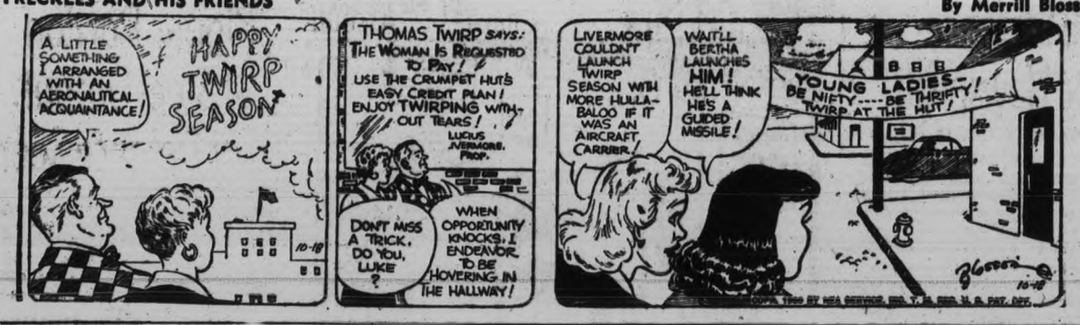
NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP). — Present limits on the percentage of production that an American steel firm may be required to devote to priority defence orders soon will have to be raised, the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, says today.

The publication says the national production authority's limitation order "can not last more than a few months at most, and it might prove completely unworkable much sooner than that."



"Any one who really believes that defence orders will not require more than five per cent of carbon and alloy sheet and strip production in the months ahead is due for a rude awakening. One steel company already has almost the entire production of hot-rolled sheets from one of its mills going into defence work."

A Lone Capacity



A long list of programs is cited by the Iron Age as vital to the defence effort but not qualifying for defence order ratings. These include freight cars, ship repairs, plant expansion, machine tools, farm implements, oil and gas pipelines, electrical equipment, roller bearings, motors and tin cans.

Operations in the industry this week were placed at 102 per cent of rated capacity, marking another high for steel melted in a single week.

Tells Advantages Of Civic Arena

MILLBROOK, Oct. 18 (ENS)—Mrs. W. H. Armstrong spoke of the importance in the life of the community of the new arena at present under construction, when she presented a paper at the Women's Institute on Saturday.

The whole community is joining in this project under the leadership of the Lions' Club. Mrs. Armstrong urged the members of the W.I. to assist in every way possible. She expressed pleasure that the younger generation would have an up-todate place to skate. She was also pleased that the new arena would not be used for Sunday sports.

The prizes for the games of bingo which followed were won by Mrs. T. Harkness, Mrs. Wm. Hilton and Mrs. John Lunn.

Supper hostesses were Mrs. Delbert Olan and Mrs. Wm. Armstrong.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George Freelove and Miss Mary L. Widdis was in the chair.

Mrs. Henry Blakely was appointed delegate to the area convention.

The next meeting is to be held Nov. 11 at the home of Mrs. Chas. Thorndyke.

Use Overcoat For Sail 4 Make Shore Safely

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., Oct. 18 (CP)—With an overcoat for a sail and only one pair of oars, four fishermen reached shore Monday night after drifting for six hours in a small boat on storm-swept Lake Erie.

Howard Mathes, Roy Cudney, Scottie McKenzie and Roy Mathes said high winds almost swamped the boat. After rowing without much success, Cudney rigged his overcoat as a sail. They landed at Point Abino, near this town 15miles south of Niagara Falls.

Charge Thousands Of Moslems Executed Or Starved By Soviets

By HAIG NICHOLSON

CAIRO, Oct. 18 —(Reuters)—Russia is reported to have desecrated mosques, executed hundreds of thousands of Moslems and sent mass shipments to Siberian prison camps during years of persecution to wipe out the Islamic faith in the Soviet Union.

A boatload of 150 Russian Moslems arriving here recently told of torture, starvation and death at the hands of the Russians.

They [illegible] persons camp [illegible] was brought to the attention of the Arab League.

During the last 30 years the Moslem population of Russia is reported to have been cut by more than 50 per cent from 45,000,000 to 22,000,000. The Arab League now wants to know what happened to the 23,000,000 who have disappeared, and what is currently happening to Moslems behind the iron curtain.

The story of one escape, as told to an Arabic weekly newspaper, is typical of all related by the refugees.

Sent to Siberia

He and his family were banished from their native southern province of Turkestan to be imprisoned in the far-north city of Archangel. Moslems opposing the Communist agricultural system were arrested and sent to Siberia, he said.

His parents succumbed to hunger, cold and disease in 1931. When they died, he escaped and walked for 2½ months to return to his Turkestan home. Rebellion was developing there, but the Communists started another campaign of "no prayers, no Koran, no feasts."

One mosque was converted into public lavatories, another became a stable. A third was pulled down and another was turned into a dance hall, the refugee said.

Tried Starvation

He was arrested and sent to a mountain prison camp where the Communists "tried to starve us to death."

[illegible] he made his way to Italy. Naked and penniless, he arrived in Rome where he was cared for by the Vatican, then transferred to the DP camp with a number of his fellows.

Find Captain's Body By Steering Wheel

LORAIN, O., Oct. 18 —(AP)—The body of Capt. Horace S. Johnston, 46, was found by a diver Monday night, the fingers still clutching the spokes of the steering wheel of the sunken sand dredge, John McKerchey.

The 151-foot dredge went down in Lake Erie near here early Monday. The other 19 members of the crew were saved by Coast Guardsmen.

Third Mate Edward J. Farley, 70, said the capsized vessel began taking in water at the bow shortly after it had taken 700 tons of sand aboard. Capt. Johnston refused to leave the vessel.

30 Boats Destroyed In Pavilion Blaze

GRAVENHURST, Oct. 18 (CP)—Fire Monday night gutted a dance pavilion and destroyed 30 boats at the Muskoka Beach Inn here.

Damage was variously estimated at between $40,000 and $100,000. Boats valued at $75,000 had been removed from the building Sunday.

The blaze, believed started by lightning, was fanned by strong winds and swept through the building in less than an hour.

Mother Braves Fire To Try Save Children

OSHAWA, Oct. 18 (CP)—Mrs. Vera Konic dashed into her burning house Tuesday intent on rescuing her three children, unaware that a neighbor, Mrs. Violet Cox, had led them to safety.

The children—Kenneth, 5; Dick 3, and Marion, 14 months—had been left alone while Mrs. Kornic was shopping.

When she returned, she tried to enter her house by smashing window panes with her hands. She was led away by neighbors.

Operator Blameless

WIGTON, Cumberland, England —(CP)— When farmer Robert Graham and his small son went to make a phone call they didn't know how long it would take. A steamroller topped over in front of the booth and workmen freed them after 45 minutes.

More than 8,000 patents have been issued on machinery to improve manufacture of leather shoes and soles.

$10 Increase For Newsprint

TORONTO, Oct. 18 (CP)—An increase of $10 a ton in the price of standard newsprint, effective Nov. 1, was announced Tuesday by the Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited.

Abitibi was the second company to raise newsprint prices in four days. Powell River Co. Ltd., announced Friday that effective Monday it would charge $109 a ton, $10 more than it had been asking. It gave increased production costs as reason for the boost.

Powell River is a major west-coast producer located at Howe Sound, 75 miles north of Vancouver.

Abitibi now charges $96 a ton in Canadian funds, and $100 in New York in U.S. funds. The increase will make the basic Canadian price $106 and the American $110.

A company official said "increased costs" necessitated the boost. The company's price had been unchanged since 1948, and costs had risen since then.

Afraid Nudes Shock Toronto

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Oct. 18 —(CP)—The puritan calm of this peaceful prairie city was shattered Monday by the arrival of a trainload of nude Doukhobor women.

The 14 women prisoners, wearing little more than an occasional smile, spent most of Monday aboard a tourist coach in the station yard here waiting a connection which will take them to Kingston Penitentiary. They are being transferred from the provincial jail at Nelson, B.C., after refusing to sign pledges to obey Canadian laws.

Scores filed by the coaches or paused to watch four women playing Russian rummy.

Two guards and their wives are in charge of the women. They said their greatest concern is trying to talk them into dressing before they reach Ontario.

"It will be most embarrassing if they attempt a nude protest parade in Toronto Union Station," a guard said.

Will Use Radar

TOKYO, Oct. 18 (Reuters)—Japanese whaling boats will use radar to spot whales and icebergs in their next expedition in the Antarctic, the Kyodo News Agency announces. Japan will import 78 radar sets for her commercial vessels this year, Kyodo says.

Cripps Resigns As Director Of Britain's Labor Economy

Allied Armor Units Slice Into Capital 700,000 File Out

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 19—(AP)—Allied armored columns blasted their way into Communist Pyongyang from two sides today. They linked up and drove toward the heart of the capital of Red Korea. Only a few snipers and other die-hard Communists stood before the swift advance of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division and South Korean 1st Division. Behind the Cavalry elements were four United Nations Divisions and the Commonwealth brigade composed of British and Australian troops.

First into the city was the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division which had been first also into Manila and Tokyo during the Second World War. The troopers smashed into Pyongyang from the south, the Republic of Korea forces from the east.

Linking up, they occupied the east half of the capital and began pouring across the Taedong River flowing through the city's centre from the northeast.

Thousand's Surrender

Thousands of frightened Reds surrendered.

A team of four AP war correspondents entered Pyongyang with both divisions.

"This was an easy conquest—nothing like the bitter battle for Seoul waged by the Reds," reported AP correspondent Don Whitehead.

"Either the Communists had lost their will to fight for the city or else the Americans moved so fast they had no chance to group a defence force.

"The entire eastern half of the city is held by Americans and South Koreans and these United Nations forces are pouring across the Taedong River into the western half of the city with little opposition."

Wild Race

The cavalry troopers won a roaring race with the South Korean 1st Division to be the first into the nest of Premier Kim Il Sung's Soviet-sponsored regime.

Kim had fled.

Whitehead reported the Communists dynamited two bridges across the broad Taedong, but failed to blow up a third. The allied forces streamed across the undamaged span.

A U.S. Eighth Army spokesman said today that both outfits had to battle into Pyongyang and that fighting continued. Escape roads to the north were reported jammed.

We haven't captured Pyongyang yet, but everything seems to be going along all right," he added.

City Deserted

Except for the resisting Red remnants, the Communist capital appeared deserted by most of its 700,000 inhabitants.

Pyongyang civilians told a South Korean army spokesman that Kim and his Moscow-installed government had fled to Huichon, 80 miles north.

Pyongyang is the first Communist satellite capital entered by United Nations liberation forces.

The eighth army spokesman said the cavalry troopers and South Koreans ran into heavy enemy artillery and mortar fire on Pyongyang's outskirts. The firing diminished as they advanced.

Seized Rail Bridge

The 8th Cavalry Regiment rammed across a creek on the south side and then seized intact the rail bridge over the Taedong river, which bisects Pyongyang into east and west sections.

First word of the cavalry troopers' entry came from an American pilot, who radioed:

"They are in—they won the race to be the first into Pyongyang."

Petition Warns King Farouk Of Revolution

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 19 (Reuters)—A petition warning of a "nationwide revolt" awaited King Farouk when he returned home today from his tour of European reorts and Casinos.

Farouk's yacht, Pride of the Seas, steamed into the harbor without fanfare. Farouk himself had asked for no celebration.

His return home was in marked contrast with the "gladiator's welcome" given to his premier, Nahas Pasha, when he returned recently from a health trip to Europe.

Meets Premier

Farouk was expected to receive Nahas Pasha and members of his cabinet later today.

The petition warning of a possible revolt was submitted by all opposition parties Tuesday.

"The people's patience has come to an end," it declared.

"We are afraid a revolt will take place in the country which will not only destroy those who are unjust but will leave the country in a state of financial, moral and political bankruptcy."

173 Fines Paid Money Missing

CRYSTAL BEACH, Oct. 19—(CP)—Some 173 motorists fined for parking violations have receipts showing they paid their fines. But the Crystal Beach village council said Wednesday it hasn't got the money.

Reeve Claude Brewster of this Niagara district town told council the discrepancies were discovered when the village clerk sent letters to the violators demanding payment of the fines. They all produced receipts.

Normal practice is for the village's three-man police force to collect the fines and turn them over to the clerk. Apparently this had not been done.

Council will discuss the question Monday night.

Frost Backs Chairman Liquor Control Board

TORONTO, Oct. 19 (CP)—Premier Frost today affirmed his full confidence in Judge W. T. Robb of Orangeville, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Licence Board. He said in a statement that the government plans to strengthen the judge's hand.

Mr. Frost said there had been reports that Judge Robb would be removed from his post as a result of revelations in the investigations of law enforcement methods in Windsor, Ont.

"I emphatically state that such is not the case and that, furthermore, I have the highest confidence in Judge Robb. The judge has no intention of resigning. He has done an excellent job in the handling of a most difficult problem."

French Censorship Hides East Reverses

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 19—(AP)—French military censorship and denial of accurate information are preventing foreign correspondents from cabling factual, comprehensive accounts of the serious reverses being suffered by the French army in Indo-China.

Military authorities are refusing to furnish war corespondents with facilities normally accorded them. French army censors make deletions in dispatches without advising the sender.

Correspondents have been advised by their home offices that some messages are arriving after delays of up to 72 hours, so badly cut as to be unintelligible.

Dispatches have been censored or subjected to long delays for reasons other than what is ordinarily considered military security.

Mouse Conquers Trap, Disrupts UK Industry

Engineer Bends Wire, Restores Prestige

LONDON, Oct. 19—(AP)—A mouse in Trinidad put to shame a big industrial plant in Birmingham. The impertinent beast sat on a British-made mousetrap, ate the cheese and scampered away. The trap didn't click.

A man in Port of Spain who had paid three pence for the trap was angry. He took it to the British Trade Commissioner in Trinidad and pounded the table.

The Trade Commissioner couldn't snap it with a pencil, so he sent the trap 6,000 miles by airmail to the Board of Trade in London. A civil servant worked all day to identify the manufacturer.

Then the trap went by post to the Board of Trade's Midland office. The regional technical officer couldn't make the trap snap either. He went with it to the factory.

The engineers were called into consultation. A "wire" wasn't bent just right. A touch of pliers at the right spot was all that was needed. Now it's doubtful whether even the smartest Trinidad mouse could fool the trap.

Directors of the mousetrap company decided to put the offending trap into a glass case, and the man in Trinidad gets a new one.

"Our first complaint," said the general manager of the firm, which exports 13,500 mousetraps a week.

High Tides Lash Coast Behind Florida Hurricane

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 19—(AP)—High tides tore at Florida beaches and seawalls today, only a few hours after a hurricane ripped the length of the state and fizzled down to squall size as it edged into Georgia. Three Floridians died in the blow. Property and crop damage was well up in the millions of dollars.

The force of the storm tapered off steadily from the 116-mile-an-hour punch it handed Miami at Tuesday midnight. Still it was the worst in years for many north and central Florida cities.

Today's battle scene was along the miles of east coast resort beaches. Navy men and civilian volunteers worked through the night to sandbag sea walls and ocean-front houses.

Destroy Docks

Angry sea waters already had torn away city docks and one section of seawall collapsed. Many roads and bridges were washed out or were under water.

In three south Florida counties—Dade, Broward and Palm Beach—storm damage was tentatively estimated at $5,000,000 by the chief storm forecaster, Grady Norton. He said it would rise as more complete reports came in. Newspaper estimates were as high as $8,000,000 for Greater Miami alone.

Florida's big citrus and winter vegetable business was hard hit. Nearly 15,000 acres of vegetables worth more than $2,000,000 were destroyed. Grapefruit losses in the Indian River section were mostly 30 per cent but as high as 80 per cent in one section.

Runaway Freight Car Knocks Down Woman

TORONTO, Oct. 19 (CP) — A runaway freight car knocked Mrs. Charles King, 42, from her bicycle and narrowly missed running over her Wednesday at a suburban Weston level crossing She suffered shock and minor bruises.

Police said the car broke away from a yard engine when a coupler failed. The crossing gates were not lowered because the gateman had not be signalled the car was coming through.

Aussies Outlaw The Communists

CANBERRA, Oct. 19 (Reuters)—The Senate tonight passed a bill to outlaw the Communist party in Australia.

Gov.-Gen. W. J. McKell is expected to give his assent tomorrow to the bill which has already passed the Lower House. But legal action by the Communist party may delay its operation.

The Labor party, which holds a majority in the Senate, had blocked the bill for months. But it decided to withdraw opposition last Monday.

May Delay Action

Legal representatives of the Communist party plan to apply for a high court injunction as soon as assent is given.

If the high court agrees to hear this it is believed the volume of evidence will delay a ruling for several months. During that time the government would be unable to implement the bill.

The government has already set up a committee of five to advise on the extension of the law to non-Communist organizations and people.

Organizations named by the committee as co-operating with the Communist party will become illegal and their assets seized.

The penalty for any person financially supporting "declared" organizations is five years in jail.

Sweeping Powers

The bill gives the government sweeping powers to remove Communists from key public and trade union posts as well as outlawing the party itself. Prime Minister Robert Menzies has said that the first "declarations" will be made "as soon as possible."

The bill empowers the governor-general to "declare" a person the government considered to be engaged in activivties prejudicial to defence or the maintenance of law.

It rests with the "declared" person to disprove the allegations unless he gives evidence on oath.

The Labor party held that putting the onus of proof on the individual instead of the government was contrary to the principles of justice. It has said it will amend the bill if returned to power.

Destroyed In May

116 Burned Homes Rebuilt

CABANO, Que., Oct. 1 (CP) — It will be a warm, comfortable winter for the people of Cabano, little Temiscouata County lumber milling town wrecked by fire early in May.

The May 9 fire, believed to have been started by sparks from a mill chimney, destroyed 116 homes and wrecked many of the commercial establishments in the town of 2,500.

More Added

Today the 116 homes have been re-built and fine additional buildings have gone up.

Not all the houses are complete—interior finishing work still has to be done in a lot of them. But all are habitable and by the time snow comes to this part of Quebec next month everyone left homeless by the conflagration will be snug behind new walls.

Cabano's young mayor, Emilien Morin who took the leading role in re-building arrangements, says the work is far ahead of schedule. Mayor Morin says the job Cabano has done is one to be proud of.

New Theatre

While it has gone ahead with its home re-building, the town has also treated itself to a new 500-seat theatre.

Cabano also has a new drug store, a new restaurant and pool hall, a new ladies' apparel shop, a new photography studio, a new general store, a new butcher shop and a new business and apartment block.

All are attractive modern buildings.

The new homes, though built quickly, also are modern and comply with government building standards.

Israel President Tries For New Cabinet

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 19 — (Reuters). — President Chaim Weizmann today asked Progressive party leader Pinhas Rosenblueth to try to form a new Israel cabinet.

Rosenblueth, Justice Minister in the cabinet of the outgoing Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion was considered the likeliest candidate for a neutral premier to attempt to solve the present cabinet crisis.

Ben-Gurion's cabinet fell on vote of confidence early yesterday after the powerful orthodox religious block refused to support his plan for a broader cabinet.

Ford Layoffs Said Due To Sabotage

Labor Leader Claims Company Charges Merely Smoke Screen

WINDSOR, Oct. 19 (CP)—With a two-day layoff of 3,000 Ford Motor Company employees now in progress, officials of the company and the Ford local of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) met today to discuss the prospect of a future layoff. The union said it might involve 2,700 men.

Roy England, president of the Ford Local 200, said the meeting would deal with a layoff for model changeover which would extend from 19 to 35 days, beginning next Monday.

He said his information was that 2,200 would be laid off Monday with another 500 scheduled the following Monday.

The question of how seniority will be applied in the layoffs will be brought up, he said.

Termed Fantastic

Mr. England also termed 'fantastic" the company charge that 3,000 auto assembly line workers had been laid off this week because of apparent deliberate sabotage of finished cars.

"This is merely a smoke screen thrown out by the company to divert attention from our wage demands," Mr. England said. A pile-up of cars in company yards were not all waiting for repairs, he said. The majority merely needed small items to be attached before they could be shipped.

Rhys M. Sale, company president, said the shutdown was forced following an "unusual number" of defects in auto trim and paint work, apparently "caused deliberately." Finished cars had accumulated in factory yards awaiting refinishing before they could be shipped.

Resume Friday

Production would not resume on the auto assembly lines—the only part of the Ford plants affected—until the number of cars in the yards was brought to normal, Mr. Sale said. Production would probably resume Friday, he added.

Mr. Sale's statement was "embarrassing" to present company-union negotiations, a spokesman for UAW local 200 said. The local represents more than 11,000 Ford employees.

"Union officials don't know who's doing this but we wish they would stop it," the spokesman said.

George Burt, Canadian UAW director, said he could "hardly credit" Mr. Sale's statement.

"I wish he'd spend more time at the bargaining table and find out what it's all about," Mr. Burt remarked.

Seniority Issue

Today's meeting may bring out a long-standing company-union disagreement on the interpretation of seniority clauses in the present collective bargaining agreement as they affect layoffs. The clauses have not yet been tested by any major layoff since the contract was signed last May.

The union is seeking to have seniority applied on a plant-wide basis when men are laid off. The company feels it should be applied on a departmental basis.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS resigned today as Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer. He was responsible for the United Kingdom's austerity program.

Social Credits To Adopt New Manifesto

REGINA, Oct. 19 (CP)—Delegates to the national Social Credit convention here begin adoption today of portions of their new manifesto.

It is the hope of the party that the program covered by the 21-page document will extend the party's influence beyond the borders of Alberta, and is the governing party in that province with a large majority, but there are no members in any other legislature.

The manifesto covers Social Credit principles toward monetary reform—stressing the unfulfilled original promise of a dividend; taxation; constitutional issues; housing—"every Canadian a home owner;" and individual enterprise, among 18 categories.

Tell Same Story

Solon Low, national leader, in yesterday's opening address to the three-day convention, said the manifiesto will correct a fault which was in part responsible for a disappointing showing by the party in the last Federal election. Social Crediters now would be able to "tell the same story."

Mr. Low also said that too heavy a burden has been placed on the national leader.

New Constitution

This was changed by adoption yesterday of a new constitution, main feature of which is the introduction of a new officer, a national president.

From now on the duties formerly performed by the national leader now will be shared, the national leader handling the political chores, with administration being taken care of by the president.

The two heads will sit on a board of directors, which also will include two vice-presidents elected by each affiliated provincial Social Credit organization.

Started Austerity Program To Cure UK's Ills, Suffering Poor Health

Leaving Seat In House of Commons Hugh Gaitskell Believed Successor Rumor Ernest Bevin Next To Resign

LONDON, Oct. 19—(AP)—Britain's economic czar, Sir Stafford Cripps, quit his senior cabinet post today. Cripps, 61, long known as "Mr. Austerity" to millions of Britons, resigned from the Chancellorship of the Exchequer he took over in November, 1947. In that position Cripps held wide powers over the economy of Britain. He spearheaded the drive, recently successful, of building up Britain's dollar and gold reserves after the post-war slump which threatened Britain's life as a going concern.

Cripps is also resigning his seat as a member of parliament for South Bristol. The resignation brings Labor's voting majority down to eight in the House of Commons.

He resigned because of ill health that had plagued him several years. He has colitis, a form of digestive trouble, and returned Monday from a rest cure in Switzerland and a vacation in Italy.

Reuters News Agency said Cripps' successor probably will be Hugh Gaitskell, economy minister who has deputized for Cripps while the chancellor has been on sick leave the last 2½ months. Gaitskell is due home tomorrow from financial talks in the United States and Canada.

Cripps' resignation was handed to Prime Minister Attlee in the course of a 45-minute meeting.

He informed leaders of his Bristol parliamentary constituency that he wanted to see them, and a meeting quickly was called. He travelled from his Gloucestershire country home to meet his party organizers and colleagues and give them the news formally.

Many Changes

Cripps' departure is expected to touch off a series of changes in the Cabinet. There have been recurring reports that Ernest Bevin, also long a sufferer from ill-health, wants to give up the Foreign ministry.

Among the posts Cripps has held at one time or another were Ambassador to Moscow, Lord Privy Seal, Minister of Aircraft Production, President of the Board of Trade, and Minister of Economic Affairs.

Vegetarian

Six feet tall, a strict vegetarian and a teetotaller, Cripps took over the Exchequer post from Hugh Dalton, a long-time leader in the Labor Party, when Dalton was forced to resign for divulging secrets of a pending budget.

Nude Doukhobors Disturb Union Station

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Fourteen Doukhobor women caused a mild sensation at Union Station today as their train stopped briefly en route to Kingston Penitentiary.

Most of the women, being transferred from the provincial jail at Nelson, B.C., were nude. One wore a skirt. Others had a bit of ribbon in their pigtails.

Train Derailed Two Killed, ChisholmAboard

ONEIDA, N.Y., Oct. 19 (CP) — The New York Central Railroad's "North Star" express, with six Toronto-bound cars attached, was violently derailed here early today at a cost of two lives and 15 injured.

The fleet passenger train, roaring westward through this central New York flatland at a 75-an-hour clip, hurtled the rails in the heart of Oneida. A steel freight-car door that had fallen in the path of the Limited was blamed for the wreck.

The engineer and fireman were killed. Mrs. Pearl Fine of Toronto was taken to the Oneida City hospital where she complained of pains in the head.

None of the injured was reported in serious condition.

Chisholm Unhurt

Maj.-Gen. G. Brock-Chisholm, director-general of the World Health organization, was a passenger on the train. Dr. Chisholm, travelling to Toronto to address a meeting of the Empire Club, was not injured. Officials of the club said in Toronto that Dr. Chisholm told them he hoped to reach Toronto by air in time for the luncheon address.

The steam locomotive and all 11 cars of the flier plunged off the tracks and tore up 500 yards of the Central's tour-track main line. Traffic was rerouted over the Central's parallel west shore railroad on the other side of the canal.

The North Star, en route from New York to Toronto and Cleveland, was racing through this city of 11,500, located in the exact centre of New York State.

200 Passengers

Its conductor, Paul J. Schaefer of Albany, said about 200 passengers were aboard, more than usual because of fog bound air transportation in New York city.

Schaefer estimated the train's speed at 70 to 75 miles an hour when the crash occurred at 1.58 a.m. EST.

All the injured were in the second coach, the third car behind the locomotive. Ahead of it was another coach and a baggage car. The rest of the train comprised a club car and sleepers.

Some On Stretchers

Those who were able to walk left the second coach through a rear door. About six were lifted through windows on stretchers. The windows were broken by

Spain Falange Party Barred From States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Justice Department has ordered members of the Falange party of Franco Spain barred from entering the United States. It ruled them out as members of a "totalitarian" group.

The department acted under the new internal security law which makes members of the Communist or other totalitarian parties ineligible for admission.

However, the state department has not gone so far in applying the law. Its instructions it sent out Tuesday night, consuls abroad were told merely to suspend any decision to grant or refuse visas (entry permits) sought by Falange members "pending further instructions."

Reorganize Transport Department

Ottawa Planning For St. Lawrence Seaway

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier today announced a departmental reorganization based on the possibility of early action on the St. Lawrence waterway.

A special projects branch has been formed, he said in a statement, to strengthen the department's engineering services "in view of the possibilities of Canada being called upon at this time to take decisive action" on the seaway.

The huge power-shipping project has been hanging fire for years because of failure of the United States Senate to ratify a treaty for construction of the seaway signed by the Canadian and U.S. governments.

Won't Wait

In a speech last month at Cornwall, Mr. Chevrier declared Canada was getting impatient with the U.S. delay and indicated the Canadian government feels there should not be much more waiting- that either the U.S. should come in soon or Canada should go ahead on its own.

Today's statement by the minister indicated the possibility of an early start on the undertaking, with or without U.S. assistance.

Head Appointed

This was emphasized by the fact that the head of the new special projects branch is Guy A. Lindsay, who has been closely associated with plans for the river project since 1920 and is chairman of the Canadian advisory committee on it.

Mr. Lindsay has been officer in charge of engineering services in the department, and the reorganization unites that branch with the engineering design and capital construction services.

Mr. Lindsay, 56, is a native of Brandon, Man. Assistant director will be William L. Mackenzie, 55, a native of Ottawa.

Criminal Hand Tampered With Alarm System

QUEBEC, Oct. 19 —(CP)—An expert witness called by Canada Steamship Lines testified today he believed a "criminal hand" interfered with the electrical alarm system aboard the cruise ship Quebec before it burned with loss of seven lives in August.

Dr. Lucien Gravel, 43-year-old Laval University professor, told a court inquiry into the disaster of Aug. 12 he based his conclusion on a study of electrical equipment picked out of the wreckage of the CSL ship.

He showed the court wet-cell battery clips, a large four-bladed switch and the carbon electrodes of five dry-cell batteries, all part of the Quebec's alarm system.

Clips Removed

He said two of the four battery clips were fused in a closed position indicating they had been removed from the wet-cell battery terminals before the fire. The wet-cell batteries supplied power for the ship's alarm system.

Dr. Gravel said the large switch was burned and fused in a neutral position in which power would have been cut from the alarm system.

The brass screw tops that hold wires in contact with dry cells in two of the five cases were found fused in positions indicating they were loosened before the fire, the witness added.

Asked by R. C. Holden, KC, CSL lawyer at the inquiry, what his conclusions were, Dr. Gravel replied:

"It seems to me someone wilfully and deliberately put the switch in a non-working position, unscrewed the tops of the dry-cells and to add to all that saw another switch in an 'on' position and turned it off.

"It seems to me that it was a criminal hand since this modification of the alarm system resulted in loss of life and other important loss."

MORE ABOUT—

Cripps Resigns

Earlier in 1947, Cripps had become Economics Minister, with unusual powers in the fight for recovery. His program of work and self-denial made him a symbol of Britain's hard days.

In September, 1949, it fell to Cripps to announce a 30-per-cent devaluation of the pound, in a bold gamble to sell more goods to the United States and Canada and to earn more dollars. Cripps said earning more dollars was the only permanent solution to Britain's difficulties.

Seat Since 1931

Sir Stafford has served his Bristol constituency in the House of Commons since 1931. In 1942 he went to India in an attempt to work out plans for that country's post-war independence. That mission failed, but Cripps went back to India in 1946 to lay the groundwork for partition in the India-Pakistan araringement.

As wartime Ambassador to Moscow, he negotiated the first alliance between Britain and Russia.

Allied Armor

Behind the cavalry elements were four U.N. divisions and the Commonwealth brigade, composed of British and Australian troops.

Allied commanders have said the capture of Pyongyang may signal a change in the war that started June 25 to scattered guerrilla action in the mountains near Communist China's Manchuria border.

No Defence Seen

In Tokyo, intelligence officers said there is no indication the Korean Communists are planning an organized defence line north of Pyongyang.

The speed of the allied counter-punch and advance evidently had punctured any over-all Red defence plan. In slightly more than a month the U.N. forces had smashed out of their once-perilous Pusan beach-head in the southeast, caught the Communists in a giant nut-cracker and then plunged north of Parallel 38.

The defence line in front of Pyongyang was thin. The Red rearguards resisted from trenches stretching two miles along ridges south of the city. An eighth army spokesman said 2,000 Reds surrendered Wednesday—bringing to nearly 75,000 the North Korean prisoners.

Roads Jammed

Capt. Frank Merritt reported that fleeing Communist soldiers and civilians jammed the two major roads leading northward from the capital.

"Ox carts are bumper to bumper—or would be if they had bumpers," he said.

Merritt flew over the area in an observation plane. Spotting two ammunition trains racing north, he called in fighter planes. Both trains were rocketed into smoking, twisted wreckage.

Other fighter planes knocked out five tanks spotted along the Red defence line south of Pyongyang, a Tokyo briefing officer reported.

Besides the American and South Korean elements already in the city, the U.N. forces formed a widening arc from the east to the southwest Yellow Sea approaches.

The fresh South Korean 7th division pushed in from the southeast, the Commonwealth brigade moved northwest from Hwanju to Kyomipo, 20 miles south of Pyongyang, and the U.S. 24th division on the Commonwealth brigade's left flank.

Wild Race

The drive for Pyongyang was a hell-for-leather race. The South Korean 1st Division, moving over a secondary road from the east, had appeared to have less mileage to cover. The Republican forces had covered 80 miles in eight days.

But they ran into heavy resistance only eight miles from their goal.

A South Korean report from Pusan that the South Koreans had entered the capital Wednesday proved premature.

On the east coast, the South Korean 3rd Division secured the big chemical centre of Hamhung and its nearby seaport of Hungnam, within 110 miles of the Manchuria border.

A navy summary said carrier planes struck at more than 200 miles of the far northern coastline Wednesday, for the ninth straight day.

Sporadic guerrilla raids and pillaging were reported in South Korea.

'Old Irish Duck' Had Mickey To Wet Tonsils; Fined $60

An elderly man who described himself as "an old Irish duck" was found guilty on two liquor charges today and fined a total of $60 and $5 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

The man, James Heffernan, aged about 65, was charged with illegal possession of liquor and being drunk in a public place. He pleaded not guilty on both counts.

On the illegal possession charge he said that a mickey bottle full of wine found on him was given him by another man, Bill "Thingumabob."

"And he's the one who got me into this trouble. I was carrying water in that mickey bottle. You see I have to take a sip of water now and then to wet me tonsils. Me tonsils are woeful bad. I can't drink beer. I hate it worse than the devil hates holy water.

So Wine Got In

"So when Bill saw me come into the rest room (the public rest room on Charlotte St.) he asked me to have a drink of wine because he knew how well I liked it. I told him no, but he gave me the rest of his bottle and I poured the water out of this little bottle and put the wine in.

"But Bill saw me talking to this woman, and I guess he thought I was trying to make a date with her. Why, I had no more intention of making a date with her than of flying up to the heavens.

Holding Bag—No Bottle

"Bill's the one who told the police on me. He left me holding the bag. Well, it's the same thing, he left me holding the bottle of wine."

On the drunk charge, PC Claire McGillen testified he saw Heffernan walking along Brock St. in a drunken condition. "I smelled wine on him," the officer testified.

"He was a lucky man to smell wine on me that day," said Heffernan, from the prisoner's box.

"Do you want to ask him any questions," said Magistrate Philp.

"No, he's a cousin of mine," said Heffernan.

In the witness box, Heffernan testified "I don't drink; not often, anyway."

The drunk charge was Heffernan's second offence within the year and he was fined $50 and $2.50 costs or one month. On the charge of illegal possession he was fined $10 and $2.50 or 10 days, sentences to run consecutively.

Toronto Stocks Hit New Peak

TORONTO, Oct. 19 (CP). — Steels pulled industrials to new price peaks for the fourth successive day on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

The entire market opened higher with industrials and base metals setting new index highs but base metals soon began to sink and industrials settled slightly.

Steels were strong with Algoma, Atlas, Canadian Car, Dominion Foundry and Canadian Iron Foundries touching 1950 highs. Papers, recent big gainers, held the industrial board back with losses up to a point.

Golds were the most active issues in the market. Junior producers showed a wide list of gains up to 20 cents. Many of the more selective issues which have traded slowly for weeks were in heavy demand. Lomega and Lake Fortune traded briskly for small gains. Lake Fortune's activity was attributed to news of the Western Mining Company's buying oil property. Senior producers were mixed.

A handful of base metal leaders chalked up gains to 20 cents. Consolidated Smelters, Labrador, Normetal, Sherritt Gordon and Steep Rock advanced.

Western oils were mixed with gains and losses limited to pennies.

Speed Limits Dropped On Holland Roads

THE HAGUE, Oct. 19—(Reuters)—The Netherlands Wednesday announced new road safety rules, abolishing speed limits for private motorists and banning the use of the horn except in an emergency.

Payments Grow

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP). — During September family allowance payments were made to 51,502 families in Newfoundland, according to J. C. Parsons, regional director. Total payments for 142,066 children were $848,629, largest since Newfoundland became a Canadian province.

NEW ZEALAND

New Zealand was discovered in 1642 by Abel Janszoon Tasman, a Dutch navigator.

Moose Trap Hunters

HALIBURTON, Oct. 19 (CP) —Two duck-hunters said today a huge bull mose and two cow mose trapped them for more than an hour Wednesday on a sand bar in nearby Pine Lake.

Dr. Harry Bishop and Carl Hussey said they were hiding on a narrow sandspit when the three moose ambled out of a swamp. They advanced to within a few yards of the hunters, cutting off the men's retreat. Then, nibbling at foliage, they circled in the area for an hour.

The men, whose shotguns were loaded only with fine birdshot, watched anxiously.

Finally, the moose wandered down the beach and disappeared.

Train Derailed

Oneida police and members of the train crew.

Sgt. Harold Lutz of the State police said the freight-car door, cut in two by the grinding wheels of the train, lay in the centre of the tracks about the middle of the train.

Augustus Hart, superintendent of the Central's lines east of Buffalo, said the door caused the wreck, but did not know from what train the door came. However, an eastbound freight had passed through Oneida shortly before the accident.

Stores and other places of business stretch along the railroad tracks at the scene of the accident but only a small gateman's shack was damaged. The locomotive and the cars remained on the Central's right-of-way.

Little Hysteria

Phillip Krpckinluk, 67, the gate tender, said he had lowered the gates across Oneida's main street as the train approached. A rail wrapped around and demolished his little house, but he escaped injury.

Schaefer said "there was not too much hysteria" among the passengers.

A twisted rail crashed through the side of the second coach. Another rail jabbed up through the floor of the club car, which followed the coach. It drove on through the roof and twisted back almost to the ground.

All the cars remained upright, but some leaned at steep angles. The two coaches jacknifed so that they formed a "V" across the right-of-way.

Engine Jacknifed

The locomotive drove on about 200 yards ahead of the passenger cars, then jacknifed with its tender and headed in the opposite direction, the way it had come.

The fireman, Frank Romeo of Watervliet, N.Y., was killed in his cab. Engineer Frank Ronay of Menands, N.Y., died several hours later in hospital.

P. M. Leibschutz, a lawyer frmo Rochester, N.Y., related:

"The train gave a violent jerk. It knocked my shoes completely off. Everything went black. The people in our car were very good. There was very little screaming. I didn't dare light a match to see what had happened."

OutboardMarine Workers To Vote On New Contract

Outboard Marine workers will have a chance Friday to vote on the company's contract offer made earlier this month to the negotiating committee of the independent union.

A neutral returning officer has been appointed to supervise the vote which will be held in the plant. He is William Jones, former captain in the Peterborough Fire Department.

This follows a statement issued today by the company saying that a majority of the employees had approached the management claiming they had not had an opportunity to vote on the offer, and requesting a ratification vote on the company premises.

Says the company statement issued today: "On the strength of this statutory declaration and petition, the company has granted the request of the majority of employees, and will allow a vote to be taken in the plant under the direction of a neutral returning officer."

The petition to management and decision to hold a vote follows more than two weeks of bitter controversy at the Outboard plant. On October 3 a special meeting was called, ostensibly at least, to allow the membership to accept or reject the company offer to the independent union.

The offer included a reduction of the work week from 45 to 43 hours with maintenance of take-home pay, and a straight seven-cents-an-hour increase. This would give a minimum starting rate of $1.03 an hour with the lowest job rate $1.10 after automatic increases.

But the ratification vote was not held. Joseph L. McGuire, president of the independent union, proposed a vote on affiliation with the CCL. It passed by an overwhelming majority.

Unfair Tactic

One of the chief dissenters was James Higgins, a member of the negotiating committee. Mr. Higgins called the move unconstitutional and criticized it as an unfair tactic to get the CCL into the plant.

Monday the United Electrical Workers, left-wing rivals of the CCL, announced they would try to organize the Outboard plant. And that added to the bitterness of the controversy.

At the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL), Monday night, Alfred Barber, president, threw the weight of the right-wing council behind the move toward affiliation with the CCL. And all CCL locals were requested to help in the fight.

In addition Mr. Barber linked the company and the UE in an alleged conspiracy to keep the CCL out.

"The company has gone into partnership with 'the red-dominated UE' to help keep the CCL out," he said.

President Replies

A reply came today from T. P. Davies, president of Local 524, UE.

"When Mr. Barber relinquished his trade union principles and lined up fully with the CCF henchmen, he was naturally forced to come out in full support of their attempts to trick the Outboard workers into becoming dues-paying members and financial supporters of the CCF party" he said.

"The CCL officials have been trying to trick the Outboard workers into the CCL—Steel or the IUE—on the false pretext of affiliation to the CCL," said Mr. Davies. "The UE has exposed this trickery and consequently Mr. Barber relatiates by endeavoring to stand the truth on its head."

He sneered that Mr. Barber whose own union (Local 210, UPWA) had come out of negotiations with a 8½-cent-package should be the last one to tell the Outboard workers to forego a 12-cent settlement.

Victims of Trick

R. J. Leonard, president of Local 527, said the Outboard Marine workers were victims of a double trick.

"First of all they weren't allowed to vote on the tentative agreement arranged between the negotiating committee and the company," said Mr. Leonard. "Secondly, Joe McGuire, president of the independent union, claims the Outboard workers are not being affiliated to Steel, the IUE, or any other of the international unions in the CCL. Instead he says they will form an autonomous union, affiliated directly to the Congress."

"Who does he think he's kidding?" asked Mr. Leonard. "If the independent union were going to affiliate directly to the CCL all this fuss would not have arisen. There would have been no distribution of blank membership cards; an exchange of letters between the independent union executive and the CCL brass would have been sufficient."

Decide In Union Hall

J. L. McGuire, independent union president and a top advocate of CCL affiliation, told the Examiner today that union business should be decided in a union hall, not in the personnel manager's office.

"This whole matter is entirely up to the membership of the union," said Mr. McGuire. "It's a strange way of doing union business—taking petitions to the management."

Reg. Reid, personnel manager, said: "No comment." But he pointed to the company statement:

"The management of the company is not taking sides with any labor organization in this dispute, for they realize the employees will decide for themselves what union shall represent them when this question becomes the point of issue."

Cortisone, ACTH Experimental Says Professor

MONTREAL, Oct. 19 (CP).—Dr. J. S. L. Browne, a professor of medicine at McGill University said Wednesday that too litle is known about the so-called wonder drugs, cortisone and ACTH.

Dr. Browne, addressing the annual clinical conference of the Montreal Medico-Chirurgical Society, said: "It is hard to say definitely where the drugs stand in any field of medicine."

Dr. Browne has been studying the two hormones since their discovery.

"The dosage is not settled," he said. "The dangers of using them are not settled. The people who have had most to do with them are very uncertain about them."

Noting that cortisone was "liberated" from control by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration last week and that its price has dropped considerably since the discoveries Dr. Browne asked the doctors to watch for side effects and to be careful in diagnosis so the drugs will not be administered to patients who should not have the hormones.

"I personally do not believe that cortisone cures chronic conditions," he said. "It may break and arrest the symptoms, but too often they will return when administration of cortisone is stopped."

Two US Women Hear Too Much Voice Of America

WAYNE TOWNSHIP, N.J., Oct. 19 (AP)—The giant voice of America, which sweeps majestically over oceans and continents, crashed head-on- today against two steadfast women right in its own backyard.

A matter of sanctity of the home, the women said—and they want the voice to keep out.

Their telephones, they said, play the "Star Spangled Banner," and their television sets carry only the sound of some Frenchman announcing:

"Vous ecoutez la voix de l'Amerique!"

So Mrs. John Perretti and Mrs. Edgar Smith, who live a mile from the two 50,000-watt transmitters, asked the Voice of America offices in New York to do something.

The women said they were told that their own television sets need fixing, so they went indignantly to their congressman, Representative Gordon Canfield.

Canfield said he wants the two women given "an immediate apology and assurances that every effort will be made in this area to see that interference with telephone, radio and television is eliminated."

IN AN UNEXPECTED move, the cabinet appointed Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, of the Supreme Court of Canada, as arbitrator to dictate final terms of settlement in the long railway wage and hour dispute. His name had not been suggested in the general speculation on who would be given the task of carrying out the compulsory arbitration provisions of the act passed by Parliament on Aug. 30.

Hold Burial Service For John G. Hamilton

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 19 — (ENS)—John G. Hamilton, an old time resident of Campbellford was buried in Mt. Pleasant cemetery on Tuesday following funeral services in Toronto on Monday.

Mr. Hamilton, who was a printer by trade, died at his home in Toronto at the age of 79.

In his early years Mr. Hamilton was employed with the old Campbellford Dispatch, a newspaper which ceased publication shortly after the turn of the century. He married Mabel Bonnycastle in 1897 and moved to Toronto where he lived until the time of his death.

A great lacrosse player, many will remember him on local teams.

Surviving are his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Dr. Hill of Toronto.

The Rev. John McKibbon of Christ Church, Campbellford conducted the service at the graveside.

Juniors Will Compete In Livestock Classes

COBOURG, Oct. 19—(ENS)—Teams from Northumberland County Junior Farmers groups will participate in the inter-county competition on Friday at Guelph.

There will be a swine club team composed of Bob Reddom of Codrington and Claire Irwin of Campbellford and a calf club team made up of Del Merrill of Campbellford and Bob Lisle of Havelock.

Another team is planned for the Royal Winter Fair, and will be composed of Jack Dorland and Ross McMaster of Hilton and Carman Atkinson of Roseneath. This contest features all types of livestock, and the group will visit OAC on Nov. 10 and 11 for coaching, before going to the fair in Toronto.

Indians May Sell Part Of Reserve

BRANTFORD, Oct. 19 (CP)—Six Nations Indians may sell some land that was given to the tribe to keep "as long as the grass grows."

Indians on the reservation near here will vote Saturday on whether to sell a piece of land on Brantford's outskirts. The city wants to pay them about $110,000 for it and the tribe's council have recommended they sell.

The land is a section of the six miles on each side of the Grand River, from its mouth to its source that was given the Indians by treaty.

One-third of the purchase price would be paid directly to the people of the Six Nations, the remainder placed in trust funds held by the Federal government.

Labour In The Civic Elections

It is with warm satisfaction and approval that we learn that organized labour is going to enter a full slate of five candidates for the aldermanic vacancies at the next civic elections. Labour has a big stake in Peterborough, and we cannot feel that a Council which has no labour alderman is fully representative of the city. In the recent past labour has been fortunate in civic politics. It is twenty-five years, roughly, since a labour candidate, as such, was elected, although there have been men in the meantime who received a good deal of labour support and owed their election to that fact. It is unhealthy that there should be such a prolonged split between the governing body of the city and such an important faction within the city as organized labour.

* * *

Labour itself cannot escape some of the blame for this split. For one thing, it has not supported its candidates. For another, it has too often adopted an attitude which was well exemplified by the remarks of one of the speakers at the Monday night meeting of the Peterborough and District Labour Council. He warned the meeting that they must expect the Examiner to be against them; why he should utter such a warning, when for the past ten years the Examiner has said more or less what we have said in the first paragraph of this editorial, we cannot understand. Perhaps he likes to think that everybody is against him. He referred to a recent editorial in which this newspaper is supposed to have "ridiculed" Herbert Morrison of the British Labour Party. Now that is sheer nonsense, as a rereading of the editorial will prove. The Examiner has been a great deal fairer to Peterborough labour than the leaders of Peterborough labour have ever been to the Examiner. It was about a year ago that a Peterborough labour publication stated that the editorial policy of this paper was dictated by the C.G.E.—a barefaced lie which the Examiner, now 95 years old, will remember for another 95 years. How many members of the Labour Council, we wonder, read the articles on the British labour movement which we purchase, at considerable cost, for the benefit of our labour readers; the most recent appeared on Tuesday. The sharpest ridicule of the labour movement which appears in this paper is contained in the cartoons of David Low, the celebrated Labour cartoonist, and we buy them from a paper owned and controlled by the British Labour Party, the Daily Herald.

* * *

The local labour movement will never elect anybody to the Council if it talks twaddle about press opposition which does not exist and business opposition which does not exist, and industrial opposition which does not exist. It is not good for Peterborough that labour representatives should isolate themselves from other important influences in the city, and brood over imaginary wrongs. It is not good for Peterborough that labour should seek to be a community within the community. This newspaper wishes the labour nominees well, and hopes that at least a couple of them get aldermanic seats. But they will certainly not do so by believing that every man's hand is against them.

Fourteen Naked Women In Ontario

As this is being written fourteen naked women are travelling across this fair province in a public conveyance. They are on their way from the West to Kingston, or more specifically, from a jail in Nelson, B.C., to the penitentiary outside Kingston. They are women of a Doukhobor sect who were arrested months ago for disturbing the peace and have refused to promise not to disturb it again.

A report from Medicine Hat states that the fourteen women had arrived in that place aboard a tourist coach, and were sitting there playing Russian rummy while awaiting a hook-up between their coach and a scheduled trans-continental train. They had still refused to clothe themselves.

Scores of Medicine Hatters filed by the coach to stare at the Russian rummy players who are under two prison guards, who are themselves accompanied by their wives. It is reported that the greatest concern of the guards was that they would be unable to persuade the prisoners to put on clothes before they reach the Ontario border. "It would be most embarrassing if they attempt a nude protest parade in Toronto Union Station", a guard said.

What Medicine Hat can take, Ontario can take. For that matter, we doubt if Torontonians would bother their heads about the naked women. Toronto has at one time and another through the day more naked women than Medicine Hat would ever dream of. What we would be interested in is to discover the difference between Russian rummy and gin rummy.

Praise The Lord For Saliva

We saw that heading over an editorial in the Montreal Gazette, or we thought we saw it. However, when we dipped into the juice of the editorial we discovered that it was praising the Lord for salvia. Salvia is the plant with the brilliant red red flowers now ornamenting side porches, front borders, and giving a last festive touch to dying gardens. They are indeed very gay and attractive, happily keeping their bloom for the dying of the season. We are just as thankful for them as the Gazette, but, since we got off on the wrong syllable, we might as well give saliva a bit of praise, too.

How would our stomachs feel without the digestive juice which treats food while it is still in the mouth? And how could our mouth water without saliva? The mouth-watering is often the best part of the meal, since expectoration—dear, dear, we mean expectation—can be better than realization, and foods can look better than they taste. There are many things which leave a bad taste in the mouth; some which even hurt it. Saliva, besides lubricating and softening food to enable it to pass with the least inconvenience through the narrow oesophagus tube to the stomach, also dilutes irritants and protects the mucous membrane of the mouth. Another point to note in our little hymn of thanksgiving for saliva: where would man and beast be as creatures of nerves and sensitivity, if they could not occasionally go off and lick their wounds?

Thanksgiving for salvia is a timely topic; but thanksgiving for saliva should never be out of season. Spittle is man's poultice of solace... Having now cleared our throat, we shall search out a spitoon, and go back to re-read the Gazette on Praise The Lord For Salvia.

The Price Of Newsprint Rises

Every business has its special woes. In the newspaper business the increases in the price of newsprint grieve and annoy us, but there is nothing that we can do to prevent them. The painful and somewhat humiliating fact is that a mere six per cent. of the newsprint produced in Canada is consumed in this country; the remainder is sold in the U.S.A. and elsewhere, and brings in very large sums of money to this country. When it is decided to raise the price of newsprint per ton, the Canadian press has no effective voice with which to protest; neither our Government nor our manufacturers of newsprint think us of sufficient importance to be heeded.

Upon what principle the price is increased we do not know. It rises, and that is all there is to it. And we can either pay the new price f.o.b. New York (although we do not buy our newsprint in New York) or we can go out of business.

There are certain respects in which Canada is very much a colony of the U.S.A.

Hospital Costs: False Alarm

In these years the costs of hospital services and building are so prominent in municipal thinking that when the Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital makes a routine request for credit money, some people immediately think: "another bill; another wallop against the taxpayer". When the Board asked for $50,000 credit from the City Council it was nothing extraordinary; merely a matter of business procedure which the council itself uses to pay its current bills until its accounts receivable (taxes) are all in. The hospital Board has staff and goods to pay for daily; its accounts receivable are not paid daily. The gap is bridged by such a credit account as the $50,000 the Board asked the Council to authorize. There is no new bill or no new deficit, being slid under the back door of the Council Chamber.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An expert of genealogy says that the British Royal Family may have had a witch among its ancestors. The British Royal Family suffers greatly from the fact that its family tree is too well known. Heaven knows what most of us would find among our ancestors if we were so well documented.

To test public opinion, the mayor of Vancouver is roaming the streets, "disguised as a citizen", to use the words of the news dispatch. We know the disguise—ragged clothes, empty pocket-book, cross-eyes from looking for a place to park and the shifty expression of the hunted taxpayer.

Butterfly Thoughts

By ANTHONY FLEMING

WELL, it is over now; like every other sport, it has its season. Some seasons, it is true, are more definitely mapped than others; but few—at least among the real, the outdoor, sports—continue all the year round. So, too, the season of butterfly-hunting has drawn to its haphazard close.

* * *

IN sheltered gardens, in the occasional cool brilliance of early autumn sunshine, there might still have been seen, until fairly lately, a few Red Admirals and Peacocks heavy of wing, floating decorously round the scented buddleia bush or pensively settling for minutes on end on a clod of earth, the damask mainsail of their folded wings canting first this way, then that, in the almost undetectable breeze. But the long summer afternoons of scampering recklessly over allotments at the tail of a dozen impudent Cabbage Whites; of wandering through fields of tall, dry grasses to start a covey of Meadow Blues, fragile and fairytale creatures; of stalking a regiment of nimble Fritillaries along some sun-baked limestone wall; of securing the prize of a rare and wily Orange-tip—these, the great meets and matches of the butterfly season, are over till 1951.

* * *

THAT, at least, is as one remembers how the season used to go. But the summers were longer in those days, and hotter, and butterflies were, I suspect, in the same grand manner more plentiful and exuberant, and gave better sport. Even in their legions they flaunted a fine individuality, and one got on really intimate terms with one's prey. Whether the chase ended in the victim's capture and transfixion on a piece of dog-eared cardboard, or in his blithe and disconcerting ascent over the top of some towering hedge to melt into the blue of the distant sky, every occasion was a personal encounter between pursuer and pursued.

* * *

LARGELY, no doubt, because one does not find them flitting in bevies in and out of the Regency porticos of Pimlico or gadding among the bowler hats outside the Bank, but partly because the few I have met this year (including three at Wimereux and one at Bourne End) have seemed to be rather mediocre little things, I had become somewhat indifferent to butterflies of late. Indeed, it was only my encounter with the flattened cadaver of a brown and hairy caterpillar on the pavements of Victoria-street that recalled my once intimate association with the whole family. A wave of nostalgic affection engulfed me; and I remembered the many little broods of such charming creatures which I had once hatched and tended and shepherded into their chrysalis consummation.

* * *

THERE were the little black and yellow ones, for instance, which could be collected in their dozens and ate voraciously of charlock; and the black and bristly beauties which, with devilish malice, demanded a daily supply of stinging-nettles freshly plucked. There was, too, one fabulous creature who carried a proud horn on the back of his cranium: but, alas one day, after being cleaned and watered and fed and inspected, he thought to peer out at the last critical moment and was decapitated by the lid of the box.

* * *

THERE was also the tragedy of the caterpillar so exceptional — I forget in what way—that when she retired into her fuzzy cocoon her box was put in a Very Special Place which thereafter eluded the memory. Too late, in a late spring-cleaning, she was located at last behind a pile of old songbooks on the drawing-room window-seat; she had emerged an exquisite moth of a delicate downy yellow, had laid pathetic unhatchable eggs, and had died.

* * *

FOR years, I cherished as original and my own the charming idea of a human existence modelled on the life-cycle of the butterfly; and only recently did I discover to my chagrin that Anatole France had had the idea too....This does not, however, diminish its potentialities. The present dispensation is universally admitted to be, from the financial point of view, absurdly topsy-turvy. The years of our youth, rich in ideas and ambition and energy, are generally blasted by poverty; and wealth, if it comes at all, accrues to us only when we are perhaps too weary of the making of it to care greatly about the using of it, or anyway are old enough and schooled long enough to be resigned to doing with less.

* * *

BUT if, instead, we could work off our earlier years in a simple caterpillar-condition, neither young nor old, but busily hoarding resources and with no desire to do anything more amusing; if then, retreating into the coma of a cocoon, we were to pass through a sort of belated and far more thorough-going adolescence, festooned from a rack in the spare bedroom like cuddlesome sarcophagi; if finally we emerged into the perfect prime of life and were required only to be, for a brief span, beautiful and accomplished and gay, and to increase—why, living would be a much more civilized and enjoyable affair.

* * *

CONSIDER, too, what subjects for cocktail-party conversation and what little ceremonial occasions would be added to our threadbare repertoire. Gerald, we would hear, is getting sleepier and stupider every day; he'll soon be going in. Petula, we would hope, will be out in time for tennis. The Skeffington-Munt's cocoonery, my dear, is simply redolent with flowers this year; just too Marie Stopes, don't you think? While poor Poppy, in that poky little flat, has had to park Eustace in the smallest room in the house.

* * *

ALTOGETHER, the rhythm and variety of life would be admirably gingered-up; butterfly-kisses would be the order of the day; and "coming-out" parties would take on a new and more exciting significance.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

SOME FOLKS GET A LOT OF WORK DONE OVER THE WEEKEND

Letters To The Editor

NOTE: We have received several letters which are unsigned except with pen names. The Examiner will not print any letter unless the name and address of the writer are attached for the information of the publishers.

HOSPITAL'S TATTERED FLAG

Sir: Who is responsible for the deplorable condition of the flag on the new Civic Hospital?

Today a friend and the writer drove an American visitor around the city to see the various points of interest. We were proud of everything there was to show him, but from the mast-head of our modern three and a half million dollar institution there hung roughly one third of a shredded Union Jack.

Nothing at all would be so much better.

Yours truly,
E. O. WESTBYE.

OPPOSES MOVING MARKET

Sir: Perhaps you will let me have a corner of your paper in regard to the market situation. I have been a regular attendant at the farmers' market and two generations ahead of me and like Norman Moncrief understood that piece of land was given for a market for all time. If the City wants to put in meters to make money, fill in the proposed George St. site across from the packing house. It will park more cars and make more money and leave the market alone. Does the farmer not count any more?

The market is in the right place. Buyers can come on buses from all parts of the city right to the market without using transfers and running from one bus to another carrying heavy shopping bags and children.

Unless conditions have changed the George St. site is an insult to the farmers. The odour at times was more than any ordinary person could stand. Many of my customers say they could not go down there for a few things and back up town for to do the rest of their shopping. And where will the farmer put his car when he does his shopping? I heard one farmer say his car was parked out in North Monaghan. The George St. site would make a nearer parking site.

A MARKETEER.

COMMENDS AND CRITICIZES

Sir: With reference to your editorial of Friday, October 13th, entitled "The Dubious Honour of Being Quoted", I believe the Examiner is in somewhat the same position as Le Devoir.

Not so long ago the Examiner printed a letter from Mr. Endicott, whose activities in the cause of "peace" have the approval of Moscow. This letter commended the Examiner on its previous editorial, criticizing the Americans for their attitude towards Russia and communists in general. Before writing an editorial such as the one appearing in the issue of October 13th, I think the Examiner should remember that "...those in glass houses should not throw stones".

In connection with your editorial of Saturday, October 14th, on the Katherine Wallis sculpture collection, you are to be commended for your suggestions in this regard. I wonder if the members of the Council have seen the book on Katherine Wallis and her works which is included in the Centennial display at the Library.

Yours very truly,
A SUBSCRIBER.

The Fair Sex On Juries

(Ottawa Citizen)

As a matter of principle—the equality of the sexes—the resolution of the Women's Institutes urging the right of women to serve on juries is understandable. Certainly, women have proved just as reliable jurors as are men wherever they have the opportunity to serve. The Ontario Jurors Act limits liability for jury service to "male persons". But many men consider themselves fortunate if, by reason of their occupations or positions, they are excused from jury duty. Great numbers are excused, including the police, firemen, members of the armed forces and many others engaged in a wide range of public services. If women wish to swell the ranks of those eligible to become jurors, it should be agreeable to the men. The persons who get into trouble with the law will get just as fair a deal from them as from all-male juries. After all, they are the fair sex.

How Time Flies

OCTOBER 19

1920 The car of Chief Dan Whetung of Curve Lake is salvaged from 30 feet of water after it had run off the ferry.

The Dumbells are advertised for the Grand in the revue: "Biff, Bing, Bang!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand ....For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scripture; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures: and that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve: after that, he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once; of whom the greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep. After that, he was seen of James; then of all the apostles....

Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead? But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen: and if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain. (I Cor. 15: 1, 3-7, 12-14.)

* * *

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time. (I Pet. 1: 3-5.)

Commander In The West

(Ottawa Citizen)

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, until now in charge of Central Command of the Canadian Army, has been transferred to Western Command. For a time in the Italian campaign, he lead the Second Infantry Brigade, made up of units from the four Western provinces. He will therefore be no stranger to the men from the plains and mountains. His picturesque, bristling moustache, ruddy cheeks and colourful personality will be as familiar to them as gophers, wheat stubble and blue skies.

A STITCH IN OVERTIME—by GILES

"We'll finish this shop-steward gentleman another day—don't want to be fined by the Union for working extra time."

Donald Kennedy In Travelogue

Donald Kennedy, organist and choirmaster at Trinity United Church, showed films in the church Wednesday evening of places he visited in Europe this summer.

Mr. Kennedy spent six weeks travelling in England, Scotland, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France.

His pictures and accompanying remarks, took the audience on an extensive itinerary starting from Trinity United Church and thence to Toronto for 'plane to New York. He showed views of the Queen Mary on which he sailed to England and pictures taken in nine countries. Robert Allen operated the projector.

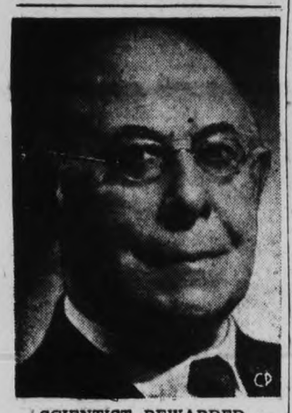
The program was arranged by Group C of the Woman's Association of the church and proceeds went towards the group $100 a year pledged for five years, for the church hall fund.

Mrs. J. A. McNeill entertained with solos during intermissions and Mrs. Hugh C. Redmond was at the organ. The Rev. Dr. G. Bruce Gordon was chairman.

Residents of Anson House were guests of the W.A. group.

Hastings WA Group 2 At Mrs. Buck's Home

HASTINGS, Oct. 19 (ENS). — Mrs. W. Buck was hostess to Group two of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church on Tuesday. The president, Mrs. F. C. Foster, opened the meeting.



The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. Cecil Oliver. The scripture was read by Mrs. M. Rymerson and the topic on thanksgiving was given by Mrs. Cecil Oliver followed by prayer.

Mrs. J. G. Thompson and Mrs. E. Hess sang a duet. Mrs. F C. Foster then gave a talk on her visit to England, Ireland, Scotland and the Isle of Man.

A white elephant table was conducted.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. Cruikshanks, Mrs. R. Clarke and Mrs. F. Crate.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Foster to Mrs. Buck for hospitality and Miss Kate German thanked Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Hess for their duet and Mrs. Foster for her interesting address. Mrs. W. S. Way invited the ladies for the November meeting.

Pay Fines Illegal

STRATFORD, Oct. 19—(CP)—The practice of paying fines for minor traffic infractons out of court was declared legal Wednesday by Perth County Judge Harold D. Lang. The ruling came when a Goderich firm appealed a conviction under the Highway traffic Act on the grounds that payment of a fine did not constitute a legal plea of guilty. Judge Lang allowed the appeal.

WA At Home Of Mrs. Graham

OMEMEE, Oct. 19 — (ENS) — Thanksgiving was the theme of the October meeting of Trinity United WA Tuesday. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. Graham, Mrs. H. Deyell presiding and Mrs. W. D. Weir in charge of the program. Mrs. V. Zufelt and Mrs. G. Overholt were hostesses.

Poems were read by Mrs. Deyell and Mrs. Weir. Mrs. C. R. Vaughan read the scripture passage and Mrs. H. Graham a commentary on Thanksgiving which was followed with prayer. The topic, "Thanksgiving," was dealt with by Mrs. S. Moyer, who recalled the origin and purpose of the celebration. Miss Margaret Graham sang a solo.

An invitation was accepted for the Association to be guests of the Bethel WA at the next meeting on November 14, to which Fairmount WA is also invited.

The parsonage committee reported interviewing a decorator concerning work to be done at the parsonage. A card of thanks was read from Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pogue for sympathy extended in their recent bereavement.

Billets were arranged in Omemee homes for nine delegates of the Bay of Quinte Young People's Union Convention to be held this weekend in Lindsay.

Mrs. V. Lang offered her home for the next WA meeting which is to be held November 22 at 8 p.m.

Local Orders Men Return To Work

BRANTFORD, Oct. 19 (CP). — Local 397, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) ordered 350 striking employees of the Brantford Coach and Body Company to return to work today.

The employees walked out Wednesday after two workers were disciplined by the company. Union officials termed the walkout unauthorized.

One of the workers was disciplined for staying away to attend a ball game Monday, the other for denting a truck body with a hammer. Each was given a two-day layoff, suspended in the former's case.

Borrow Wife's Teeth Stolen In Lunch Box

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 19—(CP). —A London man yesterday got himself into the doghouse and he won't get out until he returns his wife's teeth to her, say police, who are trying to help him find them.

The unhappy man had taken his own false teeth to a dentist for repairs, so he took his wife's teeth along to work to help him with his lunch.

After eating the lunch he put the teeth in the lunch box, being anxious not to give the borrowed set of choppers any more wear and tear than necessary.

Then fate made off with the box.

Bell's Mother Gets Proceeds Of Beach's Game

TORONTO, Oct. 19 (CP)—The Balmy Beach Football Club decided Wednesday night to turn over all proceeds of its game here Sunday to the mother of Jack Bell, Sarnia player fatally injured in a game against the Beach team.

Paul McGarry, manager of the Toronto team, said an executive meeting voted to make the game a benefit for Mrs. Jenni Bell, a widow. The Beaches meet Sarnia Imperials in a scheduled Ontario Union game at Maple Leaf Stadium.

McGarry and Carl Galbreath, Beach halfback, will attend the 25-year-old player's funeral today at Sarnia.

It was while making a flying tackle on Galbreath, former North Carolina State star, that Bell was fatally injured last Saturday and died in hospital early Tuesday at Sarnia. McGarry said that Mrs. Bell had invited Galbreath to the funeral.

The Beach team has asked Mrs. Bell to Sunday's game here at the team's expense.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

This article on curling is not meant to convey the idea that we are curling; it is just to inform our curlers and friends as to what is going on in the organization.

On Tuesday evening the 70 chosen skips met and drew players for their schedule rinks for the coming season. No doubt, now, the schedule committee will get busy and prepare the schedule book, so that the boys will have them when the season opens.

We understand that the men's schedule commences on Monday Nov. 13. It is quite likely that the preceding week will be all open nights.

The bonspiel committee have sent out notices for their first open bonspiel. It will be held on Saturday, Nov. 18, and it's for the Canada Packers' Trophy. The first 28 rinks entered make up the draw.

The ladies' club have their schedule rinks all ready and their games committee is now working on their schedule.

Our club offers congratulations to good friend Ernie Parsons, Oshawa. Ernie was elected president of the Ontario Curling Association at the annual meeting held Tuesday at the Granite Club, Toronto.

Major Bowling Loop

Cherney's hit a neat 3324 total this week at Playfair to lead the Major Bowling League, with Hurley's having high team single of 1213. J. Rogers topped individual trundlers with an even 800 and G. Reynolds smashed out a fine 359 single. Other good scores were: B. Goodson 770, A. Hunter 768, A. Woodcock 749, D. Abraham 748 (300), B. Boon 746 (321), G. Walton 741, T. Collins 731, H. Legrow 729, R. Parnall a single of 338, F. Hurley 319, J. Rogers 308, and B. Hunt 300. H. Legrow has high average so far of 250, followed by D. Abraham with 248 and B. Boon 247.

Wade's blanked Caccavella, Post Office whitewashed Campbell's 6-0, Cherney's applied the brush to Mongraw and McWilliams did likewise to Wood's; while 4-2 wins were recorded by Parkway over Hurley, McLeod against Hunt's, Selkirk over Wonder Bread, Piasas over Elliott & Browne, Odeon against Bassells, Kingsmen over Modern Tailors, Edgewater over Bickell, and Crowley's over Kawartha.

Louis Trains For Comeback Aimed At Charles

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 — (AP) — Argentine Cesar Brion is the first road block sprawled befofe Joe Louis in his projected shuffle up the long trail back to the top of Fistiana.

Ironically, the foe the former heavyweight champion will oppose at the Chicago Stadium Nov. 29 has the one asset—youth—which apparently weighed so heavily against Louis when he was pummelled by champion Ezzard Charles at New York Sept. 27.

Louis Confident

Louis, however, is confident he can brush past the 26-year-old Brion, winner of 31 bouts against three defeats. Then he hopes to whip probably Lee Oma and Rocky Marciano and then square things with Charles next June.

The 36-year-old, faded Brown Bomber will go into preliminary training at West Baden, Ind., next week and return here for his final sharpening up three weeks before his scheduled 10-rounder with Brion.

This comeback will be for blood, not for money, Joe said yesterday as he obtained an Illinois boxing licence from the State Athletic Commission.

Can Beat Charles

"I need money, sure, but the real reason I'm comin' back is that I know I can beat Charles and I want to work my way back to another fight with him," drawled Louis.

He fingered his left eye, which Charles' sharp punches had pounded into a miniature watermelon. It still is slightly puffed.

"I feel better in training than I did the night of my fight with Charles," Louis said. "I don't want to alibi, but I couldn't shake off a cold I got five days before the fight and I was taking penicillin two days before the fight.

"I just fought Charles different than I trained for him. I had worked to put him away in three or four rounds. But at the last minute I changed my mind, after two men in my dressing room advised me to box him. That was wrong." He didn't name his counsellors, but one was supposed to be welter champ Sugar Ray Robinson.

"From now on, I'm going to be a tiger again. Nail 'em fast and keep 'em down."

When somebody suggested that by the time he faces Charles next June, he'll be one year older, Louis quickly retorted:

"So will Charles" (who'll be 30 next July).

THE KING'S HORSE, Above Board, a filly, is shown winning the Cesarewitch Stakes at Newmarket, England, last week, with six lengths to spare over the rest of the field of 38. She was ridden by E. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

St. Mike's Majors play the Petes at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, and it should be a fine puck exhibition. Apart from Sullivan and Hannigan (with Marlboro seniors last year), O'Flaherty with Pittsburg and Pat Wilson with St. Louis, the players all hail from Los Angeles Monarchs pro squad of the Pacific Coast League. Here are the names and numbers: Goalie Hughes 1, Sullivan 2, Wilson 3, Psutka 4, Mesich 5, Chapman 6, Ubracio 7, Coach Peanuts O'Flaherty 8, Hannigan 9, Kennedy 10, Meldrum 11, Fowler 12, McCracken 14, Plaris 15, Mulligan 16, Watson 17, Arundel 18 and DeCourcey 19. Drake Jopling expects to ice a strong senior "B" team against these "A" players, and the game no doubt will be well worth watching.

* * * * * *

Arnold Olmstead advises us that the PMHA-ers will have Thursday nights this winter at the arena, from six p.m. right through. Schedules will be drawn as soon as the opening date is available. There are 12 teams in like this: Juvenile—Clapper's, IOOF, St. Peter's and Trojans; midget—Marines, Southenders, Trojans and St. Peter's; bantam — Otonabee Wools, St. Peter's, Marines and Trojans. The association is affiliating again with the OMHA, local teams making a good show last spring in provincial playdowns. More refs are needed, and they should write to Earl Druery at once. The minor hockeyists ought to have a swell long season on artificial ice.

Odd Guys In The Game

Some odd characters adorn the sports' scene from time to time, and certainly the wrestling game produces its share. The Masked Marvel, for example, the Angel—who would look better masked—medicos, actors, etc. A current attraction is one Yukon Eric, husky lumberjack out of Fairbanks, Alaska. The guy weighs 285 pounds, wears a 21-inch collar, though infrequently, and boasts a 56-inch chest. Strolls around in open mackinaw, blue jeans and lumberman's boots. Not a fast or smart grappler, but just about the strongest in the business. Jim Coleman wrote him up recently, but we've seen him in action here and will again ere long as he's been showing lately in Montreal.

Three grid games here this week-end. Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts wind up the ORFU schedule with Orfuns tomorrow eve at 8.30 under the lights in Morrow Park. Saturday aft at 1.30 up at the Oval, Oshawa and PCVS juniors tangle, and this one is followed by a district playoff betwixt Oshawa and the senior PCI-ers. An important melee. The PCVS junior Bees are off to Cobourg for a Saturday a.m. tussle. St. Peter's squads are idle this week-end. Football followers shouldn't pass up these games as autumn is rolling right along toward winter with hockey as the headline sport.

* * * * * *

But Hard On The Nerves

Tension piled up throughout that ORFU battle at Morrow Park last night and 'twas a relieved and happy throng that headed for the exits at the finish. Orfuns beat Oshawa 6-3 but they knew they had been through a fight. The Raiders had the margin on territorial play, passes and in kicking, yet Orfuns were full value for the victory. They were opportunists who cashed in on every chance—and they were full of fight to stop the Raiders cold at the crucial spots. That puts the Bamforth bunch safe in second place and will send 'em into provincial intermediate "B" playdowns. Cobourg hitting the "A" trail in another week. But fans will see another swell scrap here tomorrow when the Ghosts and Orfuns clash to end their schedule. We'll bet Orfuns take them this time.

* * * * * *

Two local linemen, and good ones at that, pulled the payoff play last gloaming. Gord Beatty setting it up and Frank Fitzgerald doing the rest. Whole line looked mighty good with the Beach huskies prominent defensively, Wally Farr a big help on several occasions, and Bill Huntley again showing his terrific drive as he lugged the leather lemon regularly for hefty gains. Yeah, a fine football game with lots of stuff shown, a sleeper forward pass to open it up, quick return kicks, onside hoofs, dipsy-doodle play—a bit of everything. The loss eliminated the strong Oshawa squad, but they sure went down battling.

Television Wins In Fusari Fight Only 3,924 Fans

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP). —The International Boxing Club has had some dandy Chicago Stadium scraps, such as last night's Charlie Fusari-Tony Pellone slugfest. But finding a way to make the public pay to see them is another story.

Fusari scored a 10th-round technical knockout over the incredibly-game Pellone and television scored some sort of a knockout over the I.B.C. Only 3,924 fans preferred watching the gladiators in the flesh to seeing them on the video screen. The I.B.C. had expected at least 10,000. The gross was $19,205 and the net only $14,774.

Long Contract

Just two weeks ago about 8,900 attended the also-televised Rocky Graziano-Gene Burton brawl. The I.B.C. had hoped for 12,000. So it looks like a long, lean winter at the gate for the I.B.C., which still has eight Chicago television commitments in a 10-show package deal.

Fusari, at 148, and Pellone, 146½, put on a savage scrap before tough Tony crumbled under Fusari's whistling lefts and rights. Referee Johnny Behr stopped the fight in 1.44 of the last round. Pellone courageously staggered to his feet at an eight-count, but obviously would have been decapitated by one more Fusari flurry.

Aiming at Crown

The triumph avenged Fusari's close setback by Pellone in 1947 when the Greenwich Village Toughie snapped Charlie's 45-straight winning streak. That was their only previous meeting. Now Fusari can set his sights on the welter crown Sugar Ray Robinson is expected to vacate soon.

Hockey Writers Pick NHL All-Star Team

BOSTON, Oct. 19 (AP).—President Clarence Campbell of the International Hockey League last night announced that the hockey writers in the circuit's six cities will select the 1950-51 NHL all-star team.

Three ballots, listing first, second and third choices for each of the six positions, will be cast by selected writers in Boston, New York, Detroit, Chicago, Toronto and Montreal.

In recent years the National Hockey League's coaches have participated in the all-star voting, which provides $1,000 bonuses for players named on the first team and $500 for second choices.

Campbell said the coaches asked to be relieved of that obligation because they were not permitted to vote for players on their own teams.

Orfuns Cinch Second Place With 6-3 Win Over Oshawa

Cashing in to the utmost on unexpected opportunities paid off for the Peterborough Orfuns in Morrow Park last night as they eked out a 6-3 ORFU victory over Oshawa Red Raiders. A good-sized crowd saw a fine display of football by two well-matched clubs, with the winners outplayed but gaining the verdict as better opportunists.

The win put Coach Harv Bamforth's crew in undisputed possession of second place, back of Cobourg, and will send them into provincial intermediate "B" playdowns, the Ghosts hitting the "A" trail. Oshawa and Orillia are out of the running.

The payoff count, good for the victory, came late in the first quarter. Chuck Paul had kicked for Orfuns and the ball was fumbled by receiver George Ellis on the Oshawa 50-yard chalk. Gord Beatty had hustled right through and he grabbed the leather lemon and toted it five or six yards. Seeing he was being cut off by an Oshawa backfielder, he used his head and took a look around. Frank Fitzgerald was coming up in the clear, so Gord lateralled to Fitz and the latter galloped nearly 45 yards for the touchdown. It was not converted. Those five points proved the difference as the Raiders outplayed the Orfuns the rest of the way, though passing up several chances at singles, and outscored the Bamforth band 3-1 the last three quarters.

Got A Point

Ellis kicked to deadline early in the second frame for an Oshawa point, and Armstrong rouged Jerry McGillis in the third on a kick by Ellis. March booted another point to deadline to open the fourth, but Spike Matthews' surprise kick from the 48 to deadline later evened that up, and that's the way it finished. Oshawa were just two yards away from a try in the first when West shook loose to raise 55 yards, being knocked out of bounds by Jerry McGillis at safety. McKim and Levantis stopped the Raiders cold then on successive downs.

These two and Bill Trimm played a swell game on the line, with their buddies also going good in a hard-fought game. Wally Farr blocked an important kick once and Merv Bonney threw West for a big loss at another crucial point. The Orfuns cashed in on every chance and rose to heights when the chips were down to halt the strong Raiders in their tracks. Bill Huntley shone once again in a great showing, both on his terrific plunging and in twice intercepting payoff forward passes.

All Went Good

The whole Orfuns' squad went well, but Oshawa too played a nifty game. West was their standout all the way, and Ellis kicked well. Hodgson was good on the passing, though many were short flips. Filipowicz proved a strong plunger with Armstrong and Siblock capable ends. The Raiders had no less than 12 first downs to five by the winners, edging the home crew on territorial play through the last three quarters. They also completed seven forward passes to one, and had but one fumble to two, yet that one made the difference. Several times they were in position for singles, but passed them up and possibly lost the game because of it. It was a lively and an exciting scrap with few penalties, but three fumbles, some plays called back, quick return kicks, and tension throughout. The teams:

Oshawa: Flying wing, Crandall; halves, Ellis, West, Filipowicz; quarter, Hodgson; snap, Knihnisky; insides, Murpay, P. Wilson; middles, March, Almond; outsides, Armstrong, Siblock; alternates, Brooks, J. Wilson, Lyzun, Zakarow, Beaton, Sobanski, Freeman, Harper, Lawson, Bilke, Bilsky.

Orfuns: Flying wing, Conlin; halves, Matthews, J. McGillis, Huntley; quarter, Scriver; snap, Beatty; insides, Levantis, McKim; middles, F. Fitzgerald, Sullivan; outsides, Trimm, D. McGillis; alternates, Decarlo, Hodson, Burns, Hill, Bonney, Bartley, Masters, Farr, Fraser, Marshall, R. Fitzgerald, Thompson, Archibald, Lynch, Paul.

Officials: C. Bush, F. Scambatti, J. McNulty.

Summary:

First Quarter
Orfuns 5—F. Fitzgerald's try.

Second Quarter
Oshawa 1—Ellis' kick to deadline.

Third Quarter
Oshawa 1—Armstrong's rouge.

Fourth Quarter
Oshawa 1—March's kick to deadline.
Orfuns 1—Matthews' kick to deadline.

SETS UP WIN — Veteran centre Gord Beatty set up the winning play for Orfuns over Oshawa last night in their 6-3 ORFU game by grabbing a fumble and lateralling to Frank Fitzgerald, who raced free for the touchdown. It was a heady play by a fine footballer. Beatty is shown above.

Broda Scores First Shutout As Leafs Trim Bruins 2-0

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto Maple Leafs scored twice in the final period in Boston last night and their 2-0 shutout over the Bruins shot them from a last-place to a second-place tie in the National Hockey League.

Tied with Leafs in second place are Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks, one point behind the undefeated Montreal Canadiens.

It was Toronto's first win of the young season and the first shutout for goalie Turk Broda—at 36, the oldest man in the league.

Smith, Gardner Score

Sid Smith and Cal Gardner scored for the Leafs. Smith got his early in the last period while Gardner scored with less than three minutes left.

A stubborn Toronto defence helped Broda beat back a series of Boston ganging attacks. The veteran turned back 24 shots on his cage. Young Jack Gelineau handled 26 for the Bruins.

Just before the game, league president Clarence Campbell gave Gelineau the Calder Trophy which he won last year as the outstanding rookie of the 1949-50 season. Campbell also awarded the Charles F. Adams memorial award to Milt Schmidt, Bruins' most valuable player of the season.

Clubs Idle

Both clubs are idle tonight, when Detroit plays at Chicago and New York is at Montreal.

In other games this week, New York is at Toronto and Detroit at Boston and Montreal at Detroit.

Smith's goal came as Johnny Pierson was still in the penalty box from a second-period charging penalty. He scored on Ted Kennedy's rebound as the Leaf captain led a five-man attack.

A Boston power play misfired for the second goal. Tod Sloan grabbed the puck and centred it for Cal Gardner after a rink-long dash. Gardner beat Gelineau at point-blank range.

Two misconduct penalties were called in the first period. Fern Flaman of Boston got one for arguing with referee George Gravel after an elbowing penalty. The same thing happened to Toronto's Bill Barilko later in the period when he protested too loudly about his minor penalty.

Hershey Wins 8-4 Takes Lead In U.S. League

By The Canadian Press.

Hershey Bears today are holding undisputed possession of first place in the American Hockey League's eastern division.

The Bruins last night bumped Springfield Indians 8-4 while Cleveland Barons whipped St. Louis Flyers 3-1 and Buffalo Bisons scored a 4-2 victory over Providence Reds.

The Springfield loss was the Indians' first of the season and the Bears slashed their defences to pieces. Arnie Kullman got two goals while Gerry Brown, Johnny Mahaffy, Joe Schertzl, Jack McIntyre, Gariepy and Corcoran scored the others.

Gord Tottle, Doug McMurdy, Bill Gooden and Sammy Casanato counted for the losers.

Big Crowd

In Cleveland, 7,256 fans turned out to see the season's opener and witnessed a ding-dong battle until the second period. Roy Kelly, Murdo MacKay and Les Douglas banged in the Barons' goals, one in each period. Al Baccari scored the lone St. Louis goal in the first period.

Buffalo poured on a three-goal blitz in four minutes of the second period to wallop Buffalo. The Reds had a 2-1 lead when Paul Meger, Sid McNabney and Gordon Pennell went on a rampage. Meger got the other Buffalo goal. Jackie Hamilton and Donat Deschenes scored for the Reds.

Chatham, Sarnia Play International League

CHATHAM, Ont., Oct. 19 (CP)—A joint meeting of representatives of the International Hockey League and the OHA decided that the Chatham Maroons and the Sarnia Sailors would be able to enter the OHA senior playoffs although they would continue to play in the IAHL.

However, the meeting decided that the two teams must meet OHA obligations first.

Manager Lloyd Pollock of the Windsor Spitfires and the Detroit Hettches, were advised that the Hettches would be able to enter the OHA Junior B playoffs.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Glenna Collett won her fifth United States golf championship at Los Angeles 20 years ago today. That victory over Virginia Van Wie of Chicago by six and five in the 36-hole final was followed by three straight titles for Miss Van Wie.

7 Heads Quit Protest Control

KITCHENER, Oct. 19 (CP).—Seven members of the executive of the Intercounty Baseball Association have refused to run again for office, claiming that control of baseball in the league by the senior clubs is ruining the game.

But Ernie Gomen, president and manager of the provincial champion Waterloo Tigers, says the executive members "have been saying the same thing for several years, but when the meetings come round they change their minds."

He added that senior clubs were doing more for the minors than had ever been done before.

The question is expected to be thrashed out at the league's annual meeting. Right now, opinion is divided.

James Van De Water, spokesman for Kitchener Legionnaires, says his club would like more control by the executive and less by the senior teams. He is supported by Jim Hendricks of Guelph Maple Leafs.

But Larry Pennell of Brantford Red Sox says that the league is now a professional organization with an amateur structure. Too many men on the executive, he said, don't know how a modern ball club is financed.

Campbellford Wins Inter School Meet

HAVELOCK, Oct. 19 (ENS).—With three High Schools competing, Campbellford, Norwood and Havelock, Campbellford carried off three out of four championships, and the highest number of points on Monday at the first inter-school field meet to be held in Havelock for more than 10 years.

The points gained by each school are as follows:

Campbellford 90½, Norwood 68, Havelock 45½.

Individual winners were: Junior boys' champion — Robert Barnum, Campbellford, 9 points. Senior boys' champion—Paul Ibey, Campbellford, 11 points. Junior girls' champion — Nancy Curtis, Havelock, 11 points. Senior girls' champion—Valerie DeCarrol, Campbellford, 14 points.

The race track at the Town Park, where the meet was held, was widened for the occasion by the Havelock Park Board.

The program was carried out rapidly and smoothly under a clear sky, with a good crowd of spectators in attendance. A refreshment booth was operated by the Havelock students.

Results of races were as follows (letters after the students' names denote the school):

Barrie Triumphs In Rough Game With Windsor

By The Canadian Press.

Brawls and injuries marred Windsor Spitfires' first home game of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A season last night, as Barrie Flyers took a 4-2 decision from the home team.

Officials handed out 98 minutes of penalties, 55 of them to Spits. Windsor players Elmer Skov and Martin Zorica went off through injuries.

First blow-up came in the first period, when Eddie Joss and Real Chevrefils squared off. Tempers became short and donnybrooks broke out in all three periods.

Reg Campbell, Jack McKnight Jim Morrison and Chevrefils were the Barrie marksmen. Earl Johnson and John Offidani scored for Windsor.

The win put Flyers in top spot in the standings, with a perfect three-game three-win record. Two points behind them were Guelph Biltmores, who were idle last night, and St. Catharines Teepees, who squeezed out a 3-3 overtime tie with Stratford Kroehlers.

It was St. Kitts' second tie in three games. They overcame a first-period 3-0 deficit to tie it up and go into a scoreless 10-minute overtime period.

Johnny Wood, Ross Myles and Brian McFarlane tallied in the first before Wayne Brown broke the ice for Teepees. Third-period St. Kitts' tallies came from Pierre Pilote and Bob Taylor.

In Waterloo, the new member of the 10-team loop, Waterloo Hurricanes, lost their third straight as they bowed 8-1 to Galt Black Hawks. It was the Hawks' first win in three tries.

Galt Collects Fine

Hurricanes' defence cracked in the final period and Galt punched home five goals. Waterloo went ahead on Benny Cardas' first-stanza tally, but were swamped from there.

Right-winger Don Hogan turned the hat trick for Hawks. Pete Conacher with two, Len Cooke, George Gosselin and Tonny Poeta added the others.

Oshawa Generals played host to their old foes, St. Michael's Majors, and swamped the Toronto club 11-4 for their first win of the season. St. Mikes has only a tie in three games.

Bobby Attersley took three counters for the winners, Harry Sinden two. Alec Delvecchio, Lou Jankowski, Stan Mills, Rene Leroux, George Samolenko and Rio Caron were other Oshawa scorers. Jack Weldrake tallied the St. Michaels' goal.

All 10 teams see action Friday, with senior A teams opening their schedule. In the senior loop Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen visit Hamilton Tigers.

Junior A play will see Oshawa at Guelph, St. Michael's at Barrie, Marlboros at Windsor, Waterloo at Stratford and Galt at St. Catharines.

CITY CARPETBALL

Schedule ofr the week of Oct. 23: Quaker's No. 4 vs. Legion No. 7; Glen's No. 6 vs. Fire Hall No. 9; St. Luke's No. 1 vs. SOE No. 8; St. George's No. 10 vs. Legion No. 3; LOL No. 2 vs. Legion No. 5.

There are three results at hand reporting the first games of a brand new season. King Billie and his orange squeezers went for a visit to St. Luke's, a place that was the scene of many great battles in the past, but with not a team entered for several years, and grabbed off both games from our newest and youngest team by scores of 24-9 and 12-6. These scores do not indicate the true picture of the games as those Eastsiders scored a five end against the president, and really gave him a battle in the second encounter.

The champions proved they were still tops when Pilling's Legion No. 7 paid a visit to the old Citadel and went down to defeat 16-4 in the first attack. The second saw the Sons down 5-1 going into the 6th frame when they scored a big five. Pilling went ahead by one in seven and again in the eighth frame and then quit scoring as the Sons finished strong to take it 13-7. The Southenders visited the Fire Hall and they sure had the Smokeaters talking to themselves as they blanked them 13-0 up to the 7th frame; then the firefighters finally got there high-pressure hose going and reversed the situation for the last five frames but the Saints won out 13-9. The second encounter started out four for the Fire Hall gang and two threes for the Saints, but this time the Smokeaters extinguished the opposition 21-10.

The SOE team have paid their entire entry fee, the first team to do so this season.

We have another honorary member who has paid up and is eligible to play on any team requiring another man or to fill in temporarily for sickness on any team, namely O. Varty.

Both the LOL and Fire Hall teams have a man on the sick list, W. Wilson of the former team out with a badly gashed right hand, and W. Sorrie of the latter team with a bad back injury. Here's hoping both these members progress to health rapidly.

Don't forget to sell your draw tickets; more can be obtained from Art Pilling. Also skips must turn their teams' names in to the secretary as soon as possible.

The new rules are at hand and same may be secured from the secretary for 10 cents a copy; each member should have one.

Cat Trained Wave Tail On Cue In Play

HAMILTON (CP).—A veteran Hungarian actor and a nondescript black cat who waves his tail when the cue is given are headliners in the Hamilton Players' Guild production of "I Remember Mama," set for presentation Oct. 19 and 20.

The John van Druten play is the guild's most ambitious production to date, with 32 scenes. It is intended as a coming-of-age show, for the guild celebrates its 21st birthday this month.

The easily assimilated cat and entry of Alexander Naszody, who was a member of both the Hungarian National Theatre and the Hungarian Academy of Dramatic Arts, may be taken as a sign that the company has grown up.

Paid $2

The cat was purchased in the open-air market for $2 and plays the part of Uncle Elizabeth—a tomcat who is given chloroform after being hurt in a fight. The drug only invigorates him however and his new lease on life is shown by the vigorous waving of his tail.

Hailey-Ann MacBain who plays one of "Mama's" children, had the task of teaching the cat to wiggle his tail on cue. She managed to do it, but she won't say exactly how.

Unlike the cat, Mr. Naszody needed little coaching. To the part of "Uncle Chris" he brings wide knowledge and experience of the professional theatre.

Works As Trainer

Formerly in the Hungarian army, he was a prisoner-of-war for several years. Later he saw service with the American army in Austria. Here he works as a trainer at a local stable, and is an ardent amateur gardener.

The rest of the 24-person cast includes office workers, teachers, salesmen and housewives.

Rented rooms and halls were the guild's headquarters for many years but in recent months they have had the use of a large house for rehearsals, meetings and scenery construction. Right now they are looking forward to the time—not too far distant—when they can afford to purchase or build permanent headquarters for the group.

Owen Sound Stalls, Wins Need One More For Title

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Owen Sound Crescents showed last night that they could stall as well as score as they dumped New Westminster Adanacs 8-5 and came within a game of the Canadian Senior Lacrosse title.

Crescents slipped into a narrow lead midway through the third quarter then slowed play to a walk to tie up the speedy Adanacs for the rest of the game.

The strategy gave them the game and a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven finals for the Mann Cup.

Blank Last Half

Playing behind a stubborn defence, Owen Sound goalie Lloyd Wootton kept the Adanacs scoreless through the final half.

The victory made the Crescents, in the Mann Cup finals for the first time in their five-year history, odds-on favorites to take the sixth game and the cup Friday. Adanacs must take two straight to win. They face, too, the jinx that has blocked a Western team from ever winning the championship in the east.

Ahead 6-5at the start of the final quarter, Crescents kept the ball outside the tight New Westminster defence. But they slipped Don Campbell and Jack Mason through for goals.

Coach Bob Lee, of Adanacs, said later: "We lost the game ourselves in the last quarter. through everyone trying to do it himself."

Lead In 1st Quarter

Crescents moved ahead 5-3 in the first quarter, but New Westminster tied it up by the end of the half. Owen Sound went ahead again in the third on a goal by playing coach Doug Gillespie.

Gillespie, Mason and Arnold (Onions) Smith each scored twice for Crescents. Campbell and Don McWhirter each scored once.

Bob Bremner with two, Jack Northup, Joe Jerome and Ralph Douglas scored for Adanacs.

Bremner got his first goal of the game 16 seconds after the face-off. Smith tied the score 30 seconds later and goals by Gillespie and Smith shot the Crescents ahead 3-1 before Northup and Jerome tied the score. Goals by Mason and McWhirter put the Crescents ahead again.

The Adanacs held the Crescents scoreless in the second period while Bremner and Douglas scored to tie the game. With Gillespie's final goal giving his club the lead again, Owen Sound then launched into a tight defensive formation to keep the ball from the Adanacs.

Ottawa May Get Pro Ball Club Says T. Gorman

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP)—T. P. (Tommy) Gorman, manager of Ottawa Nationals of the Border Baseball League, said Wednesday he is "definitely interested" in an International League baseball team for Ottawa in 1951 if a deal could be made for the New York Giants to shift their Jersey City franchise to the captial.

Horace Stoneham, owner of the New York Giants and Jersey City clubs, is shopping around for a better spot for his Giants because television had greatly reduced the attendance in Jersey City.

Gorman said he had been in touch with Stoneham and while other cities south of the border are also being considered, the New York Giant boss is interested in discussing the Ottawa site.

"I personally believe that an International League team in Ottawa would be the best thing that has happened in the capital for a number of years," said Gorman.

"Three other clubs in the International League have expressed the view they would like to see the franchise shifted to Ottawa. They feel it is ideally located."

Ontario County Breeders Capture Herd Banner In Black and White Show

For the fifth consecutive year Ontario county breeders were awarded the county herd banner at the East Centrel Ontario Holstein championship show here Wednesday. "We've seen a great lot of cattle here this afternoon," said George W. Henry of Todmorden in presenting the distinctive pennant to Lynn Fair of Uxbridge, agricultural representative, who accepted the coveted group honors on behalf of his county breeders.

"I wish to congratulate the Holstein breeders of Ontario county on their fine record," Mr. Henry said. "I missed the show last year, but I consider that this was a better show today and two years ago, the last time I was here."

Mr. Henry is a son of the Hon. George S. Henry whose herd from York county was not represented for the first time in four years.

Roy Ormiston contributed a hearty compliment to all the breeders who had made the 1950 district championships a big success. "We've never had a better show here" he said, "and I don't think we ever had better county groups."

The Premier Breeder Award was retained by George MsLaughlin of Elmcrort Farms, Oshawa.

The weather for the Holsteins district finals, winding up the series of county Black and White Days, was splendid, bringing out a gallery of three hundred men and women for the afternoon judging of the female classes. The male section was completedby noon.

Although McLaughlin entries took top honors in four of the eleven female classes, including the several groups toward the end of the program, they did not dominate this show as sweepingly as they did a year ago.

Northumberland breeders captured three firsts, and moved up from third last year to second place in the county herd class. York was third, Peterborough fourth, Prince Edward fifth and Durham sixth.

Peterborough took two firsts, and Durham and Prince Edward one each.

All of the female classes were heavy with entries, compelling J. Derno Innes. Woodstock, judge of the show, to spend more time than usual in placing them. The county herd event, last on the list, was about an hour later than in October 1949.

The female championships were awarded as follows:

Senior and grand champion was Elmcroft Dewdrop M. of the Elmcroft Farms herd. Reserve All-Canadian last year, and first in her strong class of 19 aged cows.

Reserve senior and reserve grand champion female was Marydell Buttercup, owned by Bertram Hoskin, of Cobourg. She placed second to Elmcroft's Dewdrop, and was selected as the best uddered female in the show.

The Junior Champion was from the herd of E. L. Anderson, of Campbellford, "Glenkindle Rag Apple Sally," who placed first in the senior yearling beifers; and the Reserve Junior Champion was a Prince Edward county entry, "Far Land Mollie," from the herd of H. J. McFarland, of Picton, an attractive March calf winning top spot in another strong class.

The name of Mr. McFarland has probably been generally noticed as a contractor's sign on eastern Ontario highway construction.

Elmcroft Farms' firsts were in the following classes: aged cows, senior heifer calves, progeny of dam, and get of sire.

Lorne Evans and Son of Warkworth drew the first of the Northumberland wins in the class for three year old heifers; Craig Nelson of Campbellford was first in the junior get-of-sire class; and E. L. Anderson won the senior yearling heifer class with his junior champion.

The two Peterborough winners were: Coughlin Brothers with first in two year old heifers; and N. W. McConkey, first in the four year cow class.

J. H. Jose and Sons, of Newcastle, was the Durham first prize taker in junior yearlings. And the McFarland junior heifer calf was in first place for Prince Edward. That indicated the more general distribution of the first prizes Wednesday.

Presenting his silver cup to Bertram Hoskin for the best uddered female, W. J. Murphy of Lindsay extended his congratulations to the show committee and Roy Ormiston, fieldman, for staging "this beautiful show and exhibition".

"We feel we have the best Holsteins in the world," Mr. Murphy said, "and we do not forget the high ideals that were set for our Association by such men as Robert Holtby, T. B. Macaulay and others. Our breeders, like the 62 who are here today, are trying to improve our cattle, and in offering this cup I'd like to help in encouraging them in the breeding of better Holsteins, and with better udders. I want to congratulate my old friend, Bert Hoskin of Cobourg, for showing the best uddered female here today."

The faternoo nresults were:

POST MORTEM ON MAJOR BALL SEASON — The major baseball leagues have packed up for the winter but their big names are blossoming forth in other roles. For instance, Art Houtteman, Detroit Tigers mound star, appeared in groom setting at Rahway, NJ, with eye-catching Shelagh Kelly, noted swimming star, as the bride.

Volomite Retires

Volomite, greatest sire in the ners, will be retired from public service and restricted as a private stallion, it was announced Wednesday in New York.

In addition, the U.S. Trotting Association reported two other famous standard-bred horses, Scotland and Guy Abbey, also have been retired as private stallions.

JUMPING SHELLS

Cockleshells, widely distributed in many seas, can burrow in mud and also jump for a short distance.

School Soccer

Prince of Wales seniors annexed two league points Wednesday at the expense of QA-QE at Knig Edward School grounds by 5-0. Right from the kick-off the North-enders forced the play inside Prince of Wales territory, but lacked the necessary touch in front of goal. Eventually Prince of Wales settled down to combination that resulted in Chambo scoring twice. On resuming, Chambo again added another count followed by two more by G. Downer.

QA-QE — W. Macklin, goal; R. Dillman and F. Anderson, backs; C. McMillan, W. Whitnell and R. Ward, half-backs; R. Whitton, R. Druce, J. Johnson, A. McClennan, and W. Whitton, forwards; subs, K. Brown, G. Heard, R. Hicks, W. Harrison.

Prince of Wales—J. Allen, goal; W. Brown and J. Bonner, backs; B. Godfrey, D. Colt and C. Whitney, half-backs; F. Chambo, J. Heorn, N. Clarke, G. Hunt and G. Downer, forwards; subs, A. Carl, P. Detlor, T. Northrop, B. Boon.

Referee—Mr. Crawford.

Central Hard Pressed

Queen Mary made the Central team battle to the limit to gain two points at King Edward on Wednesday in a senior tilt. Both teams were cautious in the opening exchanges, then Lunn rattled in two goals on individual efforts. On resuming, Lunn scored on a pass from Brooks, while Queen Mary scored two goals through Friar and Brown. This setback sent Central on the defensive until Patterson broke away to score and make the count read 4-2.

Queen Mary—H. Stinson, goal; R. Graham and K. Beck, backs; O. Schweier, R. Brady, and R. Brown, half-backs; F. Boyce, B. Dubay, D. Nisbett, R. Horton and D. Friar, forwards; subs, G. Putnam, G. Harris, and J. Dafoe.

Central — R. Gray, goal; R. Rowe and J. Matthews, backs; B. Patten, S. Brooks and B. Martyn, half-backs; B. Gardner, J. Smith, P. Lunn, R. Butler, D. Patterson, forwards; subs, D. Bye, P. Brown, R. Gibbs, R. Freeman.

Referee—Mr. Wilson.

No Score Decision

Confederation gained only one point in the senior tilt with King Edward in Exhibition Grounds Wednesday afternoon to drop down in the league standing. In the early stages Confederation kept the play inside the King Edward area, where Hobart, the King Edward goalie, was outstanding. Little scored a goal that was judged offside in the first period. On resuming, both forward lines played combination with the defence unbeatable and the forwards erratic in front of goal.

King Edward—R. Hobart, goal; R. Ttrkington, and E. Robbins, backs; J. Phillips, J. Sutherland, M. McFadden, half-backs; A. McArthur, J. Miller, C. Chalmers, A. Curtis, D. Sutherland, forwards; sub, H. Woo.

Confederation — G. McIntosh, goal; D. Goldie and R. Linsey, backs; D. Sloan, V. Hamilton, and B. Floyd, half-backs; A. Little, D. Mein, R. Miller, W. Chamberlain and C. Simmons, forwards; subs, S. Graves, B. Douglas, J. Brown.

Referee—Mr. Lawless.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A front-page story in a Toronto newspaper suggesting that McGill University football players are subsidized is described by Vic Obeck, director of athletics for McGill, as a "show of poor sportsmanship."

Obeck said in Montreal yesterday that it was the "usual story" of attempting to excuse the poor showing of University of Toronto Blues in last Saturday's game against McGill in which they lost 25-0.

The Toronto story dealt mainly with the McGill touchdown club, outlining its activities.

This, Obeck said, was everything but news. A Montreal paper had carried the story a month ago and it certainly didn't warrant front page.

Obeck said it was true that the touchdown club was booster club for the McGill team and he thought its members were doing a commendable job. "There's nothing wrong with it; these clubs exist elsewhere than at McGill."

Two top drivers at the Bay State Raceway harness track say they have been suspended by the Massachusetts Racing Commission for giving horses vitamin B1.

Harry Coleman of Augusta, Me., the track's leading driver with 190 points, and Peg Jones, of Oswego, N. Y., nationally-known one-legged owner, trainer and driver, said they would appeal the suspensions.

Coleman said he has been giving Anita Hedgewood vitamin B1 on a "veterinary's prescription to correct a deficiency in the horse's diet."

Jones was set down for feeding the diet to Pablo Hanover, owned by a "Dr. Maxon" of Hartford, Conn. The owner, Jones said, prescribed the vitamin.

Under state racing laws it is illegal to feed horses the vitamin within 48 hours of a race.

Jones contended he did not give Pablo Hanover the vitamin within 72 hours of a race.

Joe (The Toe) Aguirre of Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders' Jack Hartman are waging a close battle for the Western Football League scoring title.

Aguirre picked up five points in the last two games against Roughriders to retain the lead. But he's only three points ahead of Hartman who collected nine in the two contests and moved from third to second.

League statistics gave Aguirre a 56-point total made up of two touchdowns, five field goals, 21 converts and 10 singles. Hartman has one touchdown, seven field goals, 22 converts and one single for 53.

Tom Casey of Bombers scored a touchdown last weekend to move up to third place with 46 points. Mike King of Edmonton, previously second to Aguirre, has 45.

Bobby Locke of South Africa won the Harry Vardon trophy for the lowest stroke average in international golf, the British Professional Golfers' Association announced in London yesterday.

Locke, who won the British open championship for the second straight year, played in seven British tournaments and average 70.03 strokes a round for 30 rounds.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

McGill University was matched with Harvard at Boston, Mass. During the warm-up period Harvard noticed to their amazement that McGill's team were kicking and carrying the ball. That was something new to Harvard in 1875, so the two captains got together.

They discovered they were playing different games. McGill had come to play rugger. Harvard was ready for soccer . . . but liked the Canadian game. The result was the United States' first "football" match—ending in a scoreless tie.

First! from Canada Unlimited

Close teamwork and sportsmanship have won many firsts for Canadians. And teamwork, with sportsmanship, helps you, too. Together they keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

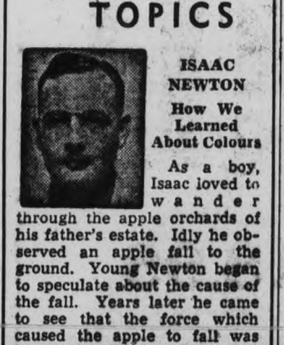
Israel Concert Tour Presents Four Outstanding Artists

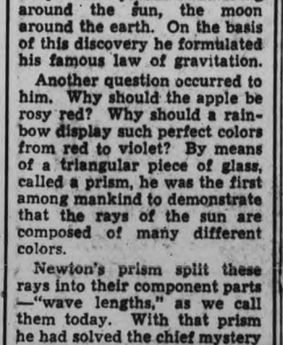
Four concert artists will be featured at the Israel Concert Tour to be presented in the Collegiate Auditorium, October 26. These artists are Ingrid Rypinski, mezzo-soprano, David Bar-Illan, pianist, Zamira Gon, interpretive dancer and Zvi Zeitlin, violinist.

Miss Rypinski is a noted interpreter of Palestinian songs. She came to United States in 1940 from Palestine and was a scholarship winner at Chatham Square Music School. She has appeared in recitals at Carnegie Hall, Times Hall, Hunter and City College. She has sung in Radio City Music Hall and has appeared as soloist with the Carnegie "Pops" Orchestra.



David Bar-Illan gave his first piano recital at the age of ten. At the age of 16 he was soloist with the Palestine Broadcasting Service Symphony Orchestra. Since that time he has studied as a scholarship student at the Julliard School of Music where he graduated in June of this year.

Zamira Gon began her interpretive dancing career at the age 17 when she gave her first formal concert in Tel Aviv. During the Second World War she toured the Near East as a member of the theatrical units of the USO. At the end of the war she came to the United States where she gave concerts and directed pageants and dancing in plays in New York, San Fransico and Los Angeles.



A violinist, Zvi Zeitlin won a scholarship at the Julliard School of Music at the age of eleven. He went to Palestine after his graduation in 1939 and appeared in numerous concerts and as soloist with the Palestine Orchestra and the Palestine Broadcasting Service Orchestra. During the war he toured for the allied forces and appeared in Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Cyrenaica and Tripolitania.

Test Tooth Decay

BRANTFORD, Oct. 19 (CP). — Board of Education has approved a proposal for a survey of Brantford school children to see how the addition of fluorine to the city's drinking water has affected tooth decay. The survey will be made by Dr. H. K. Brown, chief of the Federal Health Department's Dental Health Division. Preliminary tests have shown that quantities of fluorine in drinking water has in some cases reduced the incidence of tooth decay.

False—Thank Goodness!

PORT COLBORNE, Oct. 19 — (CP). — Corky Eden, a volunteer fireman in nearby Humberstone, raced to his own house Wednesday to answer a fire alarm. It was one time that he did not mind when it turned out to be a false alarm.

DESTROYER IN ACTION — The Cayuga, one of the three Canadian destroyers serving in Korea, has seen plenty of action. This Royal Canadian Navy photo shows an empty four-inch cartridge case, ejected from a gun, flying through the air as the gun's crew reloads during a bombardment of Communist installations on the coast of Korea.

Clean Up Niagara

FORT ERIE, Ont., Oct. 19 (CP) —The International Joint Waterways Commission has listed four Canadian border municipalities that contribute to the pollution of Niagara River as contemplating sewage disposal improvement or having plans under consideration. They are: Crystal Beach, Fort Erie, Niagara Falls and Welland.

Nylon Lanyards

HIGH RIVER, Alta., (CP). — Mr. and Mrs. Hope Hunter of High River have completed a contract with the RCMP for making 2,000 nylon lanyards, for attaching to revolvers. The Hunters, who have a reputation for making nylon equipment for cowboys, worked an average of 16 hours a day for seven weeks to fill the police order.

No Mystery

NANAIMO, B. C. (CP). — A member of the Cowichan Indian tribe was reported to have forecast a winter of heavy snow for Vancouver Island, and an enterprising reporter telephoned the tribal chief and asked "could you tell me how one goes about predicting this?" Said the chief, "Maybe they listen to the weather reports on the radio."

Make Pianos Not Musicians

EDMONTON —(CP)— Members of the famous piano-making Heintzman family of Toronto are not musicians. Authority for this information is G. B. Heintzman, president and general manager of the firm.

"We're musically inclined but we're definitely not musicians," Mr. Heintzman said during a visit to Edmonton.

"But if it's a case of selling a piano I can still sit down and play a little tune for a demonstration," he added with a smile.

It was a little over 100 years ago that Mr. Heintzman's grandfather founded the firm in the United States and made his first piano. Ten years later he transferred operations to Toronto and the firm's factory and head office still are located there.

Management of the company is a family affair. The fourth generation of Heintzmans now are being trained to take over. Part of that training involves a five-year working stint in the factory. After this tenure a Heintzman not only sells pianos but can make them as well.

Mr. Heintzman said it takes more than two years to make a piano. During much of this time the wood is drying in the yards and about four months after it goes to the mill the finished product is ready for the market.

Deer Quite At Home In Cowichan Bedroom

COWICHAN, B.C.—(CP)—Yellow Horn, a four-year-old deer, is getting as domesticated as a cat. For one thing, he's sleeping on a bed most of the time.

The buck has moved in with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Boyd in this Vancouver Island village. He started by sleeping on the verandah. He didn't take too well to the hard floor and later sneaked into the house at every chance and snuggled down on a bed.

After that, it wasn't long before he was nipping into the kitchen to nibble at a loaf of bread or a bowl of fruit in the dining room.

Yellow Horn was deserted as a fawn on the shores of Cowichan Lake. Loggers adopted him and painted the horns yellow for easy identification by hunters.

ISAAC NEWTON

How We Learned About Colours

As a boy, Isaac loved to wander through the apple orchards of his father's estate. Idly he observed an apple fall to the ground. Young Newton began to speculate about the cause of the fall. Years later he came to see that the force which caused the apple to fall was identical with the force that keeps the planets revolving around the sun, the moon around the earth. On the basis of this discovery he formulated his famous law of gravitation.

Another question occurred to him. Why should the apple be rosy red? Why should a rainbow display such perfect colors from red to violet? By means of a triangular piece of glass, called a prism, he was the first among mankind to demonstrate that the rays of the sun are composed of many different colors.

Newton's prism split these rays into their component parts —"wave lengths," as we call them today. With that prism he had solved the chief mystery of color. It is a curious fact that in all probability only the human eye can see color. Dogs and cats are color-blind.

Isaac Newton died in 1727 at the age of 85. He will always be regarded as supreme among those men who have used the eye and hand for the benefit of human progress.

YOU'LL BE YEARS AHEAD WHEN YOU ROCKET AHEAD IN AN OLDSMOBILE "88" "76"

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

JUST NATURALLY, the car that started first, is the car that's ahead right now in the march of motoring progress! Yes, Oldsmobile, brings you the benefits of its extra experience in such revolutionary advancements as Hydra-Matic Drive*—the pioneer no-shift drive that's finest because it was first in the field, and has been proved and improved through actual billions of miles of driving in the past ten years!

The great new Oldsmobile "Rocket" Engine is another first from the continent's most experienced car maker. Pioneered two years ago, it has already started a major automotive trend toward valve-in-head engines of much higher compression—but the "Rocket" is by far the greatest because it's first, it's backed by many more years of research, development and perfecting!

And all through every model of the 1950 Oldsmobile "88" and the "76", powered by its improved "Big Six" Engine, there's example after example of Oldsmobile quality leadership...advantages that come to Oldsmobile owners because Oldsmobile, the car that was first in the field of all cars made on this continent today, has the good habit of keeping the lead!

So, go ahead—go years ahead—with an Oldsmobile!

*HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE... the truly automatic drive that outmodes the clutch pedal entirely! Proved by billions of miles of driving since Olds pioneered it more than 10 years ago. So simple, so relaxing... such a thrill! Standard equipment on Rocket-Powered Olds "88", optional at extra cost on "76" 6-cylinder models.

Industrial Areas Of Africa Being Flooded By Natives

JOHANNESBURG — (CP) — Supporters of Prime Minister Daniel Malan's policy of apartheid-race separation—claim it is capturing the imaginaton of white South Africa because the huge reservoir of Africans in the native reserve has broken its historic bounds.

Throughout South Africa natives are pictured as pouring into towns which, only a few years ago, were predominantly white.

Since the beginning of white civilization in South Africa there has been a sort of geographical apartheid. The Africans are largely concentrated along the immense watershed of the Drakensberg, a range of mountains just inland from the east coast running hundreds of miles from north to south.

A century ago in a series of wars and campaigns by Boers and English troops, white civilization pressed them back to the mountains and then turned north and skirted them to the Rhodesian border and beyond.

Dikes Broken

Now the rise of South African industry has broken the dikes. With few prospects of a slim livelihood in their own crowded reserves and the reasonable certainty of jobs and wages in the factory and mining towns, native youth began trickling into the white areas shortly after the turn of the century. The First World War saw the stream of native immigration swelling, and it grew steadily between the wars.

Then the Second World War turned the stream into a flood. Since 1939 tens of thousands of Africans have flowed into every nook and cranny of the white industrial system. Overnight satellite African townships sprang up around every one of the Union's major towns. Even smaller towns and villages, wherever there is a factory chimney, have found new black populations on their doorstep.

Even under the previous government led by the late Field Marshall Jan C. Smuts town after town erected legislative barriers against the encroaching natives. But these paper controls had little effect.

One reaction was to bring defeat to Gen. Smut's government at the height of his power, because inevitably linked with his name was the policy of industrialization and the vision of satellite African townships around every white town.

Begin to Waver

While Smuts lived his United party stood firm on this policy. Only a few days after his death in September it began to waver. The tide of white fear was too strong.

Now the flood is lapping about the cities and finding the Europeans unprepared. Even Dr. Malan's Nationalist party so far has little more to offer than a slogan, a vision of a return to the geographical separation of the last century. It is a vision which finds increasing support among the whites. Its practical application meets physical resistance and world hostility.

Navy Work Halted

VANCOUVER, Oct. 19—(CP)—Construction of two destroyers and a gate vessel for the navy was halted Wednesday when more than 400 shipyard workers walked off the job, demanding a 20-cent hourly wage increase. It was the first strike in the history of Burrard and Pacific Drydock Companies, British Columbia's two major steel shipyards.

16-Week Strike Ends

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — A strike that shut down the suburban Etobicoke foundry of the Aluminum Company of Canada for 16 weeks was settled Wednesday night, subject to union membership approval. Agreement was reached after three days of negotiations between the company and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO). Terms of the agreement were not announced.

Two Youths Missing

BRANTFORD, Oct. 19—(CP)—David Stern, 16, of Paris, and Bruce Lee, of Caledonia, have been reported missing to police. Stern was said to have disappeared a month ago shortly after buying a new motorcycle. The machine later was found near Brantford. Police said Lee was reported to have been seen recently in Brantford.

Fog Blankets Lake

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — A dense fog Wednesday night blanketed western areas of Lake Ontario, slowing highway traffic and cancelling airline flights at Toronto. The fog spread throughout the Niagara Peninsula southwest of here and eastward towards Oshawa, 40 miles northeast of Toronto. The Weather Bureau said the fog may last until 11 a.m. today unless the wind changes.

Knew Criminal Code Fined $25 By Court

BRANTFORD, Oct. 19 (CP). — A "barracks room" lawyer received a lesson in legal procedure here Wednesday.

Evidence given in court was that when police ordered a concessionaire to close up at the fair at nearby Burford, ferris-wheel operator Sam Arrigo of Toronto, told the concessionaire to keep open, saying he (Arrigo) "knew the criminal code" and it would be all right.

Wednesday Arrigo pleaded guilty to a charge of obstructing police and was fined $25 or 30 days.

Norwegian Ship Arrival Recalls Daring War Escape

MONTREAL —(CP)— When the 9,200-ton Lidvard came into harbor recently from Australia she was just another ocean ship to the casual onlooker.

But to those who know her history—and particularly the Norwegians — she symbolizes a merchant marine that refused to be beaten.

It was the grey-hulled Lidvard that risked enemy shore and undersea fire to become the only ocean-going freighter to escape from the African port of Dakar after the fall of France in 1940.

The Lidvard was in Dakar discharging a cargo when police of the Vichy government ordered her impounded. Believing the Norwegians would attempt an escape if the ship were left intact, the police had some of the vital engine parts removed.

A few of the crew were left aboard including chief engineer B. J. Mordal, one of the most resourceful men in the Norwegian merchant marine.

Substitute Parts

While the Vichy police were off guard, he and other members of the crew made replacement parts from scraps of metal left about the ship.

Then Mordal went to the Dakar authorities and asked that the parts taken away be returned long enough to turn over the engines to keep them from rusting. The police agreed.

There wasn't much time, while soldiers kept guard about the ship, but Mordal and his men managed to switch the original parts with those he had made, and the police took ashore the substitute parts without knowing the difference.

A few nights later the crew moved the Lidvard out of Dakar under cover of darkness. When her absence was noticed the next morning a fleet of submarines and escort ships went after her.

Two days later the Lidvard was sighted by one of the pursuers but the Norwegian freighter succeeded in out-running her. The Lidvard skipper, meanwhile, had sent out an urgent appeal for help. It was answered by a British naval craft and the Lidvard was escorted to another African port where she later joined the Allies in the Atlantic service.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSAND of spectators watched the picturesque procession when, on Oct. 11, eve of Columbus Day, men dressed in period costume carried the urn containing the ashes of Christopher Columbus, discoverer of America, from the Town Hall (Doria Tursi Palace) in Genoa, Italy, where it has been kept for many years, to the St. George Palace, now the seat of the Harbor Commission, which will be the new resting place of Columbus' remains. This photo shows the ashes carried in a silver urn by men in costume of the 16th century during the procession.

Highland Troops Rout Koreans Brisk Skirmish With Bayonets

By TOM LAMBERT

WITH THE BRITISH TROOPS IN NORTH KOREA, Oct. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—The British-Korean force, spearheaded by Argyl and Sutherland highland troops with burrs as thick as their winter uniforms, had a brisk skirmish today as they headed north on the road to Pyongyang, Communist Korean capital.

The fight took place in an apple orchard at the outskirts of a large village near the industrial city of Sariwon.

Scots with fixed bayonets charged into the orchard and killed the few remaining North Koreans of a small group which U.S. tanks had shelled and machine-gunned for almost half an hour and which the Britons had battered with mortars.

Child Hurt

After the orchard fight, L. Cpl. Robert Stark of Dundee, Scotland, brought down through the harvested trees a tiny Korean whose left hand had been shattered into a bloody pulp by shell fire. The child was just one of the increasing numbers of civilians who are appearing along the battle route to Pyongyang.

Many of those civilians wave rough Korean flags, cheer loudly and toss apples to the soldiers, who usually are highly suspicious of such behavior.

Today's lunge by the British contingent began to bring to view some of the industries of North Korea.

Sariwon itself was mauled heavily by the United Nations air forces and was still smoking from air strikes which preceded entry of the British troops.

The lead tanks hit the city's two-lane concrete main street, clattering through smoke after passing, jeeringly, a Red starred arch which elicited the Scottish version of the Bronx cheer.

See Cubs At Play

APSLEY, Oct. 19. (ENS)—A bear and her three cubs playing happily on the road near Mrs. T. H. Lean's house and store at Jack's Lake, continued their gamboling without concern when Mrs. Lean and her dog came across them unexpectedly while out for a walk.

Mrs. Lean had the dog on a leash and was walking when she saw the bear and cubs appear from the bushes. They came out into the open for a frolic and went peacefully on their way.

Won't Free Sterling

LONDON, Oct. 19 (Reuters)—The treasury Tuesday rejected a proposal in parliament that it follow the Canadian example and allow the pound stirling to find its own level of exchange. When Sir Herbert Williams, Conservative, urged this step, Douglas Jay, financial secretary to the treasury, replied briefly, "No, sir."

Quints Startled By Welcome Given In New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (CP). — Canada's most famous sisters, the Dionne quintuplets, arrived in New York Wednesday night and immediately became celebrities.

A crowd of more than 1,500 in Grand Central Station broke through police lines for a closer look at the 16-year-old girls from Callander, Ont., on their first visit to the big city.

It was a real celebrities' welcome as the crowd pressed around them and cameramen jockeyed for shots. The five, identically garbed in grey, blinked as the flash bulbs popped and looked a little astonished by it all.

Look Scared

A policeman nearby said: "They look a little scared, but who wouldn't with that crazy crowd."

The crowd began to gather behind police lines an hour before their train was due at 8:20 p.m. EDT. The quints were ushered into the station concourse by a squad of policewomen. After photographers fired away for a few minutes police broke a hole through the crowd and led the girls to waiting taxis. They were whisked away to a convent where they will stay during their four-day visit.

The father, Oliva Dionne, will stay at a midtown hotel.

The quints were accompanied by 10 high school choirmates, two of their teachers, Sister Marie Reine Descoeurs, and Sister Lucille des Anges; a former teacher Miss Gaetine Vezina of Ottawa; a nurse Mrs. Charles McMillan, and C. M. Fellman, managing editor of the North Bay Nugget.

Special Dinner

Highlight of their visit will be their presence at the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Thursday night. They will attend a special mass in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral next Saturday morning.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, and Archbishop Alexandre Vachon of Ottawa will officiate.

While in New York the Dionne party will be guests of Cardinal Spellman.

Seamen's Union Contracts Set Aside By Board—Rival

TORONTO, Oct. 19—(CP)—The Canadian Brotherhood of Seamen (Ind.) announced Wednesday night that the Canada Labor Relations Board has set aside collective agreements between the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) and two Great Lakes shipping companies.

M. E. (Buzz) Nutall, Brotherhood vice-president, said in a press release that the action stemmed from applications for certification by the Brotherhood on behalf of employees of the two companies. In both cases, the Federal Board ordered a vote of employees to determine the bargaining agent.

The companies, both with head offices in Montreal, are the Gulf and Lake Navigation Company and the Quebec and Ontario Transportation Company.

Almost Extinct

The CBS was formed by officers who broke from the now almost-extinct Canadian Seamen's Union after the Trades and Labor Congress expelled it as Communist-led. Nutall, a former CSU field organizer, said the CBS is "non-political" and is seeking affiliation with the TLC.

The Labor Board's judgment, a copy of which was forwarded to the CBS, said that in neither case was the SIU entitled to represent employees of the two shipping companies when agreements were signed.

CSU Agent

In the case of the Gulf and Lake Navigation Company, the board said the Canadian Seamen's Union was certified bargaining agent at the time. While revoking the CSU's certification on grounds that it no longer held a majority, the board pointed out that the SIU had no authority to represent employees while another union held the certification.

Unlicensed seamen on the company's ships will be asked to vote whether or not they wish to be represented by the CBS in the case of the Quebec and Ontario Transportation Company, however, seamen will be asked to choose between the SIU and the CBS.

Winnipeg Businessmen Organize RCMP Auxiliary

WINNIPEG, Oct.—(CP)—If the Royal Canadian Mounted Police needs dependable help in a hurry, "D" Division at least would probably call on some or all of 39 Winnipeg business men.

This division of the federal force takes in all of Manitoba and most of Northwestern Ontario. Ready to forsake their pin-stripe suits for the workaday brass and brown of the RCMP, all 39 are reserve constables, specially trained to fill gaps during emergencies. These might take various forms.

A constable is suddenly taken ill and a Northern Manitoba area is unpoliced. Hard-pressed headquarters is unable to spare a man. But a quick telephone call sends a Winnipeg salesman speeding northward, fully informed and with a good idea of what lies ahead.

Another exchange of calls might put an insurance man behind the wheel of a highway patrol car; or seat a grain expert at a short-wave radio transmitter.

During Manitoba's spring flood five reserve constables worked shift with regular RCMP on patrol and relief duty.

Intensive study of what every peace officer should know, plus a smattering of physical training, basic drill and shooting, can turn an interested citizen into a passable reserve Mountie, says Asst.-Commissioner J. D. Bird, "D" Division's commanding officer.

Indoctrination in the traditions and history of the RCMP is part of the training program. Applicants for reserve duty are carefully screened for character, loyalty and physical condition although standard age and medical requirements are slightly relaxed.

Once sworn in the reserve constable is issued the brown duty uniform and basic equipment. Worn only on duty, the uniform is distinguishable by a small brass "R" fixed above the regulation shoulder badge.

The part-time Mountie is paid at full rate for the time he spends on active service or training with the force.

Commissioner Bird said 35 or 40 picked reserve constables, trained, equipped and available, can provide a division with a "second wind" during a serious emergency.

Backs Indian Reserve As Industrial Site

SARNIA, Oct. 19 CP)—Aylmer N. Plain, secretary of the Progressive Association of the Chippewas, of Sarnia Indian Reservation, Wednesday announced his organization was in favor of a recent suggestion of J. W. Murphy, M.P., that the Dominion Government take over the reserve as a potential industrial area. In direct contradcition of the expressed views of Chief Telford Adams, Mr. Plain felt the move would be of benefit to the Indians and the growing industrial district of Sarnia.

Asks Resignation Of Cabinet Men

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP).—Eamon Park, CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto Dovercourt, said on Wednesday night that two Ontario Cabinet ministers should resign as a result of the liquor and police situation in Windsor.

In a speech to the CCF Club in his constituency, he said both Attorney-General Dana Porter and Planning Minister William Griesinger, former Ontario Liquor Commissioner, should resign.

(Two Provincial Police inspectors have reported that gambling, bootlegging and prostitution went on in Windsor with the apparent knowledge of the Windsor police force. The Windsor Crown Attorney was dismissed after the report and two members of the Police Commission resigned. A new police commission now is investigating the police department.)

Mr. Park said Mr. Porter was implicated to the extent that the former Crown Attorney and police commissioners "were maintained in office by his department for so many years."

In any other British country, Mr. Park said, the exposures would have brought the immediate resignations of both Mr. Porter and Mr. Griesinger, if for no other season than to give Premier Frost a free hand to deal with the situation.

300,000 Miles On A Bicycle

TORONTO — (CP) — Basil Raynham of suburban Weston has been in an automobile only six times in his life and on a streetcar only seven times.

But on a bicycle—that's different. The wiry 51-year-old has logged about 300,000 miles through England, Canada and the United States since 1914.

When he came here from England in 1923, he had travelled only 50,000 miles, but has made up for it since then. Trips to South Carolina, Quebec City and the Adirondacks added to his score. His favorite pedalling grounds still are in Ontario, however.

On long trips, a tent, a stove, dishes and cutlery are strapped somewhere on one of his two machines. Extra clothing and a raincape are always standard equipment.

Mr. Raynham advocates more government-owned camp-sites in Ontario. "They are a boom to both motorcyclists and cyclists," he said.

He'd like to do it, but feels he has a long way to go to equal the record of another Englishman, F. J. Head of Birmingham, who has totted up some 512,000 miles.

Nazi Sub Victims Buried In France

BELL ISLAND, Nfld.—(CP)—The bodies of three French sailors, killed when a German submarine sank their vessel near this east coast mining town on Nov. 2, 1942, have been exhumed by order of the French government.

The three men—Laurent Leometti, Maturin Leneve and Ttienne Covesnon—will be buried in France.

The men were members of the crew of the Free French vessel S.S. P.L.M. 27, which was lying off Bell Island loaded with iron ore waiting sailing orders when she was torpedoed by the enemy submarine which had slipped unnoticed into the bay.

Although the sub was immediately engaged by shore batteries on Bell Island and by the RCAF based at Torbay Airport, near St. John's, the undersea craft managed to slip away safely.

Church Reaches 75th Anniversary

COLDSPRINGS, Oct. 19 — (ENS).—The 75th anniversary of St. Paul's United Church was celebrated Sunday. The Rev. A. E. Larke of Gore's Landing, chairman of Cobourg Presbytery, was guest speaker.

The choir sang with Miss Edith Hoskin at the organ, and those assisting were Miss Evelyn McBride of Port Hope, Milton Harper and Mrs. Lloyd Stinson of Cobourg, Glen Cole of Plainville and W. W. Sidney of Bridgenorth.

The chancel of the church was decorated with gladioli, autumn-toned flowers and leaves. Baskets of yellow and bronze 'mums were placed in front of the pulpit. At the left of pulpit the flowers were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Eagleson and were placed there by her family.

Those in front of the pulpit were in honor of all the ministers who have preached there during the past 75 years, namely: Rev. W. J. McKenzie, Rev. W. A. McKay, Rev. Dr. F. R. Beattie, Rev. C. H. Cook, Rev. J. R. Gilchrist, Rev. R. F. Hunter, Rev. James Skene, Rev. R. J. Ross, Rev. A. W. Gardiner, Rev. J. S. Ferguson, Rev. G. D. Campbell, Rev. T. M. Wesley, Rev. E. W. Mercer and Rev. P. C. Brown the present pastor.

The flowers at the right of the pulpit were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman Sr., Mr. Harry Bowman, Mrs. Isabelle Brisbin and Mrs. Agnes Gillespie, placed there by the Bowman family.

Next Sunday when the anniversary celebration will be continued guest speaker will be Rev. T. M. Wesley of Glen Morris, a former minister of the church.

Guests at Coldsprings for the anniversary last weekend were:

Escaped Reform Get Added Terms

SUDBURY, Oct. 19 —(CP)— Three of the four prisoners who escaped from the Burwash Industrial Farm Oct. 3 yesterday were sentenced to additional prison terms. They were recaptured after four days of freedom.

The other escapee, Frederick J. Morton, 28, of Toronto, was committed for trial by a judge. He was a trusty at Burwash and fled to join the other three.

Abraham Schuiller, 32, of London; Stanley J. Christopher, 24, of Ottawa and Ray Hazelwood, 19, of Orillia, were sentenced by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe. Stiffest punishment was that handed to Schuiller. Magistrate Woodliffe said Schuiller apparently was "not amenable to ordinary discipline" and sentenced him to two years in Kingston penitentiary.

Christopher, in Burwash for shop-breaking and theft, was given an additional year of imprisonment there. Hazelwood received another six months on the remainder of his 15-month term, started last August.

Reconstruct Skeleton Of Giant 6-Ton Sloth

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)— Six tons of fossil bones of a giant ground sloth extinct since about the end of the Ice Age, are being cleaned and repaired at the Smithsonian Institution.

Announcing this today, the Smithsonia said experts will attempt to reconstruct a complete skeleton of the sloth for display in Washington and will return the rest of the fosil bone collection to Panama, where it was dug up.

The sloth, of about the bulk of an elephant, once ranged from Argentine to the Southern United States, but until the recent expedition to Western Panama no complete remains had been recovered outside Argentina.

The animal, called Megatherium, walked on the sides of its feet, the Smithsonian said, "and must have been an awkward, slow-moving creature."

Awards Announced

TORONTO, Oct. 19 (CP)—The University of Toronto's school of graduate studies has announced awards to W. C. Winegard of Caledonia, Ont., and R. M. Wensley of Ajax, Ont. Mr. Winegard has won the T. A. Russell reseach fellowship, valued at $1,000, for advanced work in the field of physical metallurgy. Mr. Wensley receives the $1,500 Dow Chemical Company research fellowship for study of the effects of new protectants and fumigants on the chemistry and microbiology of soils.

Battalion Joins Force

PETAWAWA, Ont., Oct. 19 (CP)—The 2nd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment officially became part of Canada's Special United Nations Force Wednesday at a ceremony in this military camp. The infantry battalion was handed over to Lt.-Col. R. A. Keane of Fort William, who is to command it in the brigade raised for service in Korea.

Tourists Increase

STOCKHOLM—(CP)— Sweden reports a total of 259,000 foreign visitors during the first eight months of 1950 compared wtih 216,000 for the same period last year. This year's visitors included 39,700 from Britain and 35,000 from the United States.

Maclean Estate $1,039,802 Left To Church, Schools

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP).— Col. John Bayne Maclean, founder of Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company, left an estate of $1,039,802, it was disclosed Wednesday night.

His principal bequests are to the Presbyterian Church in Canada, three rural schools in Ontario's Wellington County, the University of Western Ontario at London, and Upper Canada College in Toronto.

Col. Maclean, who was a Presbyterian, died September 25 at the age of 88.

He left $100,000 to the University of Western Ontario, directing that the net income be applied toward establishment of a chair of health or preventive medicine in the name and memory of his friend, the late Rt. Rev. M. F. Fallon, Roman Catholic Bishop of London. Bishop Fallon died in 1931.

The sum of $10,000 is to be paid to Upper Canada College in memory of his son, the late Hector Andrew Fitzroy Maclean, "to assist in furthering the instruction of pupils in matters of health, good morals and fair play, earning a good living, saving money, and rendering public service."

Legacies totalling $53,500 are provided for members of Col. Maclean's personal staff.

The residue of the estate goes to the Presbyterian Church as an endowment fund to:

1—Maintain and develop properties at Crieff, Ont., 45 miles south-west of Toronto, where Col. Maclean, son of a Presbyterian minister, was born.

2—Augment the salary of the minister at Crieff.

3—Assist the schools in that area.

4—Provide bursaries for promising students in those schools, and enable them to attend the University of Western Ontario or Ontario Agricultural College, at Guelph.

Any surplus to be used for the general purposes of the Church.

Col. Maclean for many years took an active interest in the manse, church and townsfolk of Crieff, which was settled by Highland Scots.

Communist Purge By Labor Gains Force In Canada

MONTREAL, Oct. 19 (CP). — The Communist purge in Canadian labor is gaining steam.

Touched off by tough ultimatums from the central leadership, it is driving down into the union and local levels.

Two moves highlight the developing process of assuring Canada's unions of non-Communist officers:

1—A proposed investigation by the international office of the United Textile Workers of America (AFL-TLC) into allegations that top officials of its 20,000-member Canadian branch are under Communist domination.

2—Action of the International Chemical Workers' Union (AFL-TLC) in expelling three officers of its Toronto Consumers' Gas Local for alleged Communist affiliation.

TLC Ultimatum

Both measures stem from an ultimatum by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada that its afifiliates must cleanse themselves of Red officers or lose their affiliation with the central body.

A similar edict was issued more recently by the Canadian Congress of Labor, the other of the two big Congresses, and possible CCL action against Red-influenced bodies is in prospect.

The investigation into the Textile Workers' officers, which is to be conducted here next week by a committee from Washington, will place some officers of that union in jeopardy.

Three of them were barred as TLC delegates at its convention here last month on the ground of suspicion of Communism. They were R. Kent Rowley of Montreal, Canadian chief; Madeleine Parent of Montreal, his chief lieutenant; and Val Bjarnason, an organizer.

Warning Issued

UTWA Secretary Lloyd Klenert of Washington, who will head the investigation opening Monday, said at Washington last night that "no Communist will be kept on the union payroll."

However, he added the union has no proof against anyone in the Canadian branch. The committee was to investigate and report to the international executive.

More-direct action was taken by the international office of the Chemical Workers' Union in expelling the three Toronto officers from the Union.

The officers included local president Reg Wright, a self-asserted former member of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party. With the three Textile Union officers, he was among 18 delegates to the TLC convention who were barred from the convention floor.

FIND CORPSE — These three pipe-smokers — including the two women on the right — found the headless body of a relative, Leamon Potts, in their backwoods cabin near Hamilton, Ont., and later discovered his skull in a box beside the bed. John Horton, his wife, Mrs. Jane Horton, and Miss Daisy Potts, said they found the man's decomposed body when they returned to the cabin after three month's absence. Leamon was Miss Potts' father and Mrs. Horton's brother.

Need Classrooms

HALIFAX. — (CP) — The war boom in population of this seaport is still showing its effect in the schools. Dr. F. G. Morehouse, school supervisor, reports more than 800 children are attending part-time classes because of a shortage of classroom accommodation.

Land Values Soar

CAPETOWN—(CP)—Land values in South Africa's farming areas have risen by more than 300 per cent during the last 10 years. Total value of rural land sold in 1939-40 was £12,561,000 ($38,939,100); in 1948-49 it was £49,709,000.

Disk Jockeys Have Film Help

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 19 (AP)—And now the disk jockey can come into television.

The record spinners, considered the blessing of radio by some and a blight by others, have been concerned about the transition to television. The question arises: Who wants to look at a guy and a turntable?

A Los Angeles money man named Louis Snader is coming to the rescue of the jocks. He is the head of Snader Telescriptions, which is producing visual records for television. These are separate films featuring top musical talent and running between three and four minutes each—the same as a phonograph record.

Snader has already made 130 of them and will have a backlog of 960 in a year. Performers already lined up include Patricia Morison, Peggy Lee, King Cole, Diana Lynn, Mitzi Green, Cab Calloway, Mel Torme, Lionel Hampton and Herb Jeffries.

Of course, the film records will cost TV stations much more than phonograph records. But Snader figures the price will be cheap compared with average expenses in TV.

Capsule Review

"September Affair" is polished in all departments, including music, backgrounds and acting. It's the story of a couple who try to lead new lives together after they are presumed to have died in a plane crash. Naturally their plan is doomed, especially when his wife shows up. The story is interesting but sometimes lacks in reality and takes too long to unravel. Joseph Cotten, Joan Fontaine and some actual Italian scenery are the best elements in the film.

Seven Dogs Poisoned

GODERICH, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Provincial police are investigating the poisoning of several dogs, all of them children's pets, in this town. Poisoning is believed intentional as bones, spread with strychnine, have been placed on the premises of the owners of the animals. Five dogs in the area of Waterloo St. and two in other districts have been victims of poison.

Good Reasons?

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Case No. 1: John Falls, 29, careless driving, pleads guilty, fined $75. His story: He knew the cops were chasing him but wasn't sure he had his truck ownership permit and didn't think it wise to stop.

No. 2: Charles Mercer, 28, leaving the scene of an accident, pleads guilty, fined $100. Explanation: Didn't stop to investigate after sideswiping parked car "because it was a wet night and I had a bad cold."

Taxi Business Pays In Isolated Yellowknife

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. — (CP)— You don't have to wait long for a taxi in this isolated mining town on the north shore of Great Slave Lake.

To hail a cab, all you do is walk onto one of the gravelled streets and stop a car—any car—and you're almost certain to get a taxi.

Until recently there were only two private cars kept year-round at Yellowknife. Recent arrival of two small English cars has boosted the permanent population to four out of a summer total of approximately 40.

The result has been that taxis have made a mint of money, especially during the gold boom a few years back.

Settle Down

Since then, Yellowknife has settled down to a more stable existance with major income derived from the three big producing mines in the immediate area. And the taxi business has settled down with it.

Typical of the Yellowknife taxi industry, conducted over only a few miles or road, is the business started six years ago by Bill Frame and Jack Perkins.

They started out with a skiff and outboard engine, providing a water taxi service to one of the mines. When the first roads were put in, they started the first auto taxi service and the firm has been built up to 11 cars and three buses.

Yes. Taxi outfits here have their cars equipped with two-way radio.

Quaker Contract Gives Workers Six Cents Raise

Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), and the Quaker Oats Co. have agreed on a two-year contract that will give the 560 production workers a six-cents-an-hour wage increase.

The recommendation of the negotiating committee was accepted in a plant-wide referendum Wednesday, the vote being 305 to 117.

A five-cents-an-hour increase will be retroactive to September 1 and the six-cents, to October 1.

Included in the agreement is a one-way escalator clause: a one-cent boost for each 1.4 rise in the cost-of-living index to a maximum of two cents. Then next August the work week will be reduced from the present 44 hours to 42 with the same take-home pay.

The one-way escalator clause will be revised: a one-cent boost for each 1.4 rise in the cost of living index to a maximum of three cents, and this will be in effect till March 1, 1952.

The cost of living is reviewed every two months.

The basic rate for men is now $1.05 an hour and for women, 83½ cents.

Formerly there was a revocable checkoff at the plant. Now, present union members must retain that membership as a condition of employment; all former members of the union and new employees are subject to the checkoff.

The previous contract expired August 30 and negotiations have been going on since. And the new two-year contract will likely be signed today or Friday.

Members of Local 293's negotiating committee were President William Gunn; Bruce Morgan, chief steward; Herb Hennessey, deputy chief steward; Lorne Bebee, and UPWA representative, Lloyd Fell.

"LUMBERING" IN DURHAM COUNTY near the site of a beaver dam, 100 feet long, is inspected by Hughie Blair of Millbrook. Crouched beside a clean-cut 20-inch poplar butt, it is one of many near the dam, shown at the photo, Right. A trout fishermen's paradise is another item of interest about the stream and its location, to district rodmen, is a jealously-guarded secret.—Examiner Staff Photos.

Hot Flames Lick Lakefield Dairy For 25 Minutes

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 17—(ENS)—A short circuit in an electric brine pump on the top floor started a fire which resulted in considerable damage in the Lakefield creamery on Reid St., Lakefield, Wednesday night. Total estimate of damage is not yet known.

Flames were seen by Herb Bell and Ken Jakins at 8:15 p.m. They notified the fire department who were able to extinguish the fire in approximately 25 minutes.

The greatest amount of damage was done to 1,000 shipping cartons stored on the top floor, according to Alan Clarke, Lakefield fire chief.

The fire spread to the partitions and ceiling, but it was put out before machinery on the ground floor was damaged. As a result the creamery can still operate. Little damage was done to the exterior of the frame and metal clad two storey building.

A large crowd was attracted by the flames shooting out of the windows of the second floor.

Trout Disport In Pools Created By Beaver Dam

By NICK NICKELS

A large beaver pond in the north-east corner of Durham County has been a source of delight to nature lovers for the past several months. And no one knows it better than a retired railroader, Hughie Blair, who has watched the large bush engineering project from the very beginning. A reporter visited it a few days ago with Hughie in his ancient jalopy that grunted and ground over the rugged bush trails. It was a fairly long drive, that-a-way . . .

Near the source of one of Durham's spring - fed creeks, Hughie jerked his ancient car to a stop at the edge of a hardwood grove, not more than 50 feet from where the first beaver cuttings start. Perhaps it would be better to call it the beavers' logging ground. Eighteen and 20-inch poplars were felled all over the place, good straight timber about 40 feet tall.

A very short distance from the logging, the high ground was soggy and in some places fresh-fallen leaves covered pools that wet halfway to the knee. And before one realized it, he was walking along a solid ramp of saplings and mud, the dam, about 100 feet long.

The single beaver lodge was well embedded in the dam. Hughie thought it might house six or eight animals. But they were not to be seen at any time during the inspection.

Trout to be Found

Eight acres or so of the surrounding bush was well flooded and in the clear water pond created by the dam, several trout flashed to the cover of the banks and low hanging cedars.

Trout? Say, Hughie Blair says there is no time in season when he is not able to take a full creel limit, dandies, too. This was not idle boast. He was able to walk near the bank of this brook both above and below the dam, and point out the wily fish at will. This IS a trout stream.

Where is it? That cannot be published in all fairness to fisherman Hughie who was kind enough to guide the press on this interesting little jaunt. It is true that the merits of this stream are well known to a select few trout fishermen but none of them wishes to let the public ravage it like Cavan Brook. They want the busy beaver left alone and the trout, too.

"There's no use people buttonholing me for the location of it," warned Hughie Blair. I agreed with him and swore to keep his trust.

Car Overturns, Five Escape

Five out-of-town men escaped uninjured early today when their car overturned on Highway 28, a mile north of Springville.

The southbound car, driven by W. D. N. Wright of Cobourg, was going to Port Hope. The four passengers were G. R. Black and T. Lewis of Cobourg, and W. Jarvis and Vern Less of Port Hope.

The accident occurred shortly before 1.30 a.m. For some reason Wright applied the brakes. One of them seized causing the car to slew into the north ditch where it overturned.

Damage to the car is estimated at $350.

Provincial Constable A. T. Eady of Peterborough investigated.

CRACKED FLYING SAUCER?

While hunting partridge Wednesday Donald Whatley, 231 Westcott St., saw a silver semi-circular object with a tail diving and circling high in the sky, Mr. Whatley says the swallow-shaped object made no noise and he is positive that it wasn't a bird. Following several dives, the object circled and disappeared. Gordon Stabler, a hunting companion, was in Burnham's woods after a partridge and missed seeing the object.

Brush-Palette Club To Display Paintings

The opening night of the first public exhibit of the Peterborough Brush and Palette Club will take place October 23 at the Public Library.

This exhibit will contain approximately 75 oil and water color paintings and pastels done by the members of the club since its organization two years ago.

On Friday night a private showing will take place for the members and their friends.

The president of the club is Mrs. E. G. Brown, 760 George St.

Utilities Keeps On Schedule

Most of the season's work planned by the Utilities Commission has been completed. R. L. Dobbin, manager, reports.

At the beginning of this week scarcity of iron pipe resulting from shortage of pig iron in the steel plants resulted in "marking time" operations on small jobs, but delivery was expected before the week is out. Water mains on Ford, Western and Riverside streets have been laid.

Outstanding jobs are chiefly the Cobourg Lumber Co. houses on the High-Frank streets property, Steele St. in the Crawford's Grove area, and Elgin St. near Nicholls Oval.

A street is being opened in the old Carlisle neighborhood near the canal north of McFarlane St. that will require water service.

In the electric department a new power service has been completed to the sewage disposal plant. September work of the Commission included removal of some poles to accommodate the city's paving program. A primary line was extended on Swanston Ave. and Juliet Road to the Sands and Bateman apartment buildings.

Twenty transformers were changed to meet the growing power load.

Fifty three-wire services, and nine two-wire services were connected; 16 services were changed from two to three wire.

The department's peak load was down 234 horse power from 26,900 a year ago to 26,666, but consumption in kilowatt hours was up 408,900. That means slightly less power was purchased from Hydro, and more was sold to the consuming public.

Peak load dropped 1 per cent and kwhrs consumption increased 5 per cent. The improvement in load factor in recent months "can be attributed to the use of the additional water heater controls which have been installed this year."

Never Meant For Layman To Understand

Hydro Not Really Certain Of Cause Of Power Cutoffs

Getting back to the outages, a word Ross Dobbin, general manager of the Utilities Commission, introduced into local circulation with his reference a month ago to interruptions in the electric power service, Hydro-Electric Commission explains that they have been mainly caused by overloading the Trent system.

Utilities Commission has decided that the recurrence of these blackouts required some explanation to the public.

"Even the Hydro don't seem to be certain of the real cause," Mr. Dobbin commented at the Utilities Commission meeting this week. "But, they have promised that they will write us as soon as possible, if there are any more of these interruptions."

The letter to the Utilities Commission mentioned that from July 9 there were six occasions of outages, totalling 57 minutes. "The basic cause has been the separation of the Trent plants and associated loads from the 110 KV network.

"Unfortunately, the only way in which adequate relief could be obtained for the over-loaded Trent plants so that parallel operation with the 110 KV network could be restored quickly was to drop the Peterborough load."

The statement is couched in technical expressions relating to the high voltage power lines from the eastern generating stations on the Ottawa and Madawaska Rivers.

"At the moment, the new Peterborough transformer station is limited to 15,000 KVA transformer capacity, which makes it impracticable to supply the Peterborough load directly from this station at 44 KV. However, a second bank of 15,000 KVA is scheduled to be placed in service later this month, after which it is proposed to connect the Peterborough load directly to the 44 KV 'bus' at this station, and thence tie it in to the 110 KV system at that point. It is expected that with this connection service to Peterborough will be much improved"

It is related to problems of transmission of power on their 'buses' or system of lines, and leaves the uninitiated power consumer still in the dark, although electrical engineers know what it is all about.

Oct. 1, 22 minutes interruption at 3:31 p.m.—"Des Jochims separated from the system with consequent impairment of voltage and frequency resulting in other operations which separated the 60-cycle from the 25-cycle system."

The average customer trying to interpret that explanation is likely to land right into an 'outage' of comprehension.

July 10, seven minutes: "Severe system disturbance resulting from heavy transfer of power toward Oshawa from Scarboro caused a series of breaker operations separating the Trent plants from the 110 KV system. The load, including Peterborough, which remained connected to the Trent plants, was greatly in excess of their capacity, and in order to permit the paralleling of these plants with the system, it was necessary to interrupt Peterborough and certain other loads."

Bypass Highway Will Cut Approaches To Hospital Advisability Is Questioned

By HARRY THEOBALD

John R. Sinclair, realtor, posed today a question without comment. Do the citizens realize that the proposed bypass highway on the west side of the city will cut across the Charlotte and Weller St. Approaches to Civic Hospital? It implies a further question whether that route is desirable in the continued realty development on the west side of the city; what will the effect be on the hospital site, desired quiet at the institution and its immediate surroundings?

Probably people understand that this bypass is intended to divert from the centre of the city through traffic to the north that is from No. 28 Highway immediately south of Sherbrooke St. to No. 28 highway in the vicinity of the filtration plant.

It has been considered by the city planning commission who have recommended to the council purchase of land for a right of way between No. 28 highway, near Second or Third Ave., and Sherbrooke St. west of the highway entrance to the city at what is called Clonsilla Ave.

Second and Third are short streets down the slope from High St. to No. 28 highway. They are parallel with and south of Sherbrooke St.

Presumably, Mr. Sinclair is asking whether sufficient thought has been given to neighborhood effects of the bypass project through that western section of the city, from No. 28 northerly to Park Hill Road. From that point it will skirt the west side of Jackson Park and turn easterly in the general direction of the filtration plant.

Parking Meters Total Take $91,956 To Date

Total collection from parking meters since they were installed in 1948 to the end of September was $91,956.64, as reported to the council by City Clerk Outram Monday.

September contributed $2,838.68 as compared with $2,649.45 a year ago. Total for nine months this year was $21,190.32, an increase over the $20,472.23 in Sept. last year and $19,244.60 in Sept. 1948.

The meters will pass the $100,000 before the end of the year. Parking tickets at one dollar each were 348 last month as against 162 in Sept. 1949.

Receipts at the Clerk's office last month were: licenses $848; miscellaneous $1,118; police court revenue $1,192.25; and meters $2,838.68; amounting to $5,997.58.

Liberals Re-elect I. A. McGaughey

MARMORA, Oct. 19 (ENS). — J. A. McGaughey of Trenton was re-elected president of West Hastings Liberal Association at the annual meeting in Marmora Town Hall Wednesday. The remainder of the retiring executive was also re-elected as follows:

First vice-president, Lorne Reid, Bancroft; second vice-president, Fred Johnston, Marmora; third vice-president, Mrs. Hubert McCabe, Belleville; secretary, E. E. Follwell, Belleville; treasurer, Frank S. Follwell, Beleville.

Delegates and alternates to the provincial convention being held in Toronto Nov. 9 and 10 for the selection of a party leader for the Ontario legislature were appointed as follows: delegates—Mrs. George Wilson, Belleville; W. Norman Gilroy, Coe Hill; Robert Temple, Belleville; Mrs. Bernard W. Hughes, Marmora; I. A. McGaughey, Trenton; J. H. Jones, Trenton.

Alternates: Lorne Reid, Bancroft; Howard W. Sabine, Marmora; M. Callaghan, Belleville; Ernest Sarles, Harold; Mrs. W. Ingles, Trenton; E. E. Follwell, Belleville.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of I. A. McGaughey, retiring and re-elected president. He declared that Liberalism was definitely on the march and that West Hastings might be won for the Liberal party, were everyone to get out and work.

The secretary, E. E. Follwell, mentioned the inability of Senator W. A. Fraser to be present, due to his being in Montreal on business.

The treasurer's report was presented by Frank L. Follwell, M.P.

HOME SWEET RUBBLE — A sack of grain on her head and her child on her back, this Korean woman refugee makes her way back home through bomb-shattered Wonsan. Streams of refugees returned to the North Korean city as the battle zone moved westward and northward.

Mrs. Herbert McCabe of Belleville, regional president of the Women's Liberal Association, urged a good attendance at the Central Ontario Liberal Association's annual meeting in Kingston on October 21. She reiterated the advice given that caution be exercised in selecting delegates for the Toronto convention who could attend, that a full quota be in attendance for the important duty of electing a new leader.

Licking Doesn't Hurt

Bernard W. Hughes, defeated candidate for West Hastings in the last Provincial election, said that it never hurts to take a licking when you believe in a principle. He moved, and it was carried, that the Hon. Farquhar Oliver be commended for his work as party leader, Referring to the coming convention Mr. Hughes remarked that it was necessary to get a leader who would put steam into the Ontario Liberal party.

J. H. Jones moved and H. W. Sabine seconded "that this meeting go on record as endorsing the appointment of A. B. Collins K.C., as Senator," supporting thereby action taken by the executive of the Belleville Liberal Association.

The matter of insufficient help at rural polls was discussed and various speakers stressed the importance of this being corrected by proper organization.

The re-election of the retiring executive was carried out with A. B. Collins K.C. presiding. Resuming the chair, the president remarked that he had hoped for a new slate of officers that the old slate might have worked with, but he and his fellow executive members who also spoke briefly pledged fidelity to their office.

Frank S. Follwell M.P. for South Hastings said it was always a pleasure for him to fraternize with fellow Liberals. Salesmanship, he said, was summed up in two words: circulation and conversation and that was the policy they should follow in the Liberal party.

Two Great Men

Last summer the Dominion lost two of its greatest men in the persons of the Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell. Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent was proving he is an able leader. He mentioned that 55 Liberal members in Ottawa were from Ontario, the greatest number in the history of the Dominion parliament. All of these realized they must throw in their lot behind the Provincial Liberal cause.

He predicted a shortage of hydro power this winter which, he said, would be due to short-sightedness on the part of those responsible for hydro. He concluded with a tribute to Bernard W. Hughes. Robert Temple, president of Belleville Young Liberal Association, then outlined activities of his Association.

Norman Gilroy paid further tribute to Hon. F. Oliver and with regard to the facing of new leadership, said the Liberals should always try to get together whenever they can to build up support.

Votes of confidence in the Federal leader and in the acting Provincial leader were carried.

Student Nurses Tutored By VON

Undergraduate student affiliation with the hospitals has been resumed Miss Mary Ross, nurse-in-charge of the Peterborough Branch of the V.O.N., told the members of the board of directors at their meeting Wednesday.

"Each student in her intermediate year spends two days observing the work in the homes and writes an outline of the services they observed," explained Miss Ross.

Miss Ross told the board that in comparison with a busy summer, September was a quiet month. During the month 168 patients were under care of which 49 were new cases. A total of 455 visits were made. Of these, 172 were to mothers and babies, 32 to cancer patients, 151 to patients of long term illnesses and 80 to acute medical and surgical illnesses.

"The local Cancer Association is arranging to have a supply of dressings on hand. These will be available to persons suffering from cancer and in need of dressings," stated Miss Ross.

Correspondence was read informing the board that Miss Mary Ferguson, national supervisor of the V.O.N., will visit the Peterborough Branch on November 6 to 10 and on November 15.

US May Ban Building Amusement Centres

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Despite forceful objections from the building industry, the United States government today considered an emergency ban on the construction of race tracks, dance halls, bowling alleys and other amusement spots.

New moving-picture theatres and night clubs might also be included, but officials of the national production authority said the scope of the proposed order remains to be worked out. Its aim is to save materials for munitions.

The move would be a stiff blow to the already-tottering building boom. Severe limitations on private real-estate credit and federal home financing were imposed last Thursday, and a limitation on commercial construction credit—affecting store and office buildings—is expected to follow.

Break Lottery Ring

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—District Attorney Frank Hogan said last night that a $50,000-a-week lottery ring in Manhattan and the Bronx had been broken up with raids on the organization's headquarters and half a dozen outposts. Twenty-four persons were brought in for questioning.

Exchange Seat Sold

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(AP)—Arrangements were made yesterday for transfer of a seat on the New York stock exchange at $48,000, a decline of $2,000 from the previous sale. The market for an exchange membership is currently quoted at $43,000 bid and $50,000 asked. Highest price paid this year was $54,000 and the low $47,000.

Choose Red Delegates

MOSCOW, Oct .19—(AP) — The second all-union conference of Soviet peace partisans wound up last night by choosing a delegation of 65 which shortly will seek British visas to attend a projected world peace partisans congress in Sheffield, England. The delegation includes some of the most distinguished Soviet citizens.

Sex Talks At Dances

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Oct. 19—(Reuters)—The city government has voted $70,000 for organizing sex talks between dances at a civic dance hall. Experts will deliver the talks, illustrated by short movies. A sex education exhibition also will be staged here.

Shanghai Clubs Chose

HONG KONG, Oct. 19—(AP)—A report from Shanghai yesterday said three organizations traditional to extraterritorial days have been closed—the American Club, Columbia Country Club and the Foreign Y.M.C.A. The report did not state if Chinese Communists have taken over the properties.

Just Nothing To Wear

No Complaints

UXBRIDGE, Middlesex, England (CP).—There were no complaints when eight heavy housewives jumped up and down in a town council flat here. They were testing new sound-proof floors. "Not a sound," said a councillor after the test.

May Make Park Of Vacant Lot

COBOURG, Oct. 19 (ENS) — The vacant lot, once a cemetery on William St., from which the bodies were removed many years ago and interred elsewhere, may become a small park. The town council will enquire into the proposal that it be expropriated. If this is done, the land will be turned over to the Parks Commission.

The land runs between Ontario and William Streets, just south of University Avenue and for many years has been a short cut between the two streets. For an even longer time, it has been used as a baseball field by youngsters.

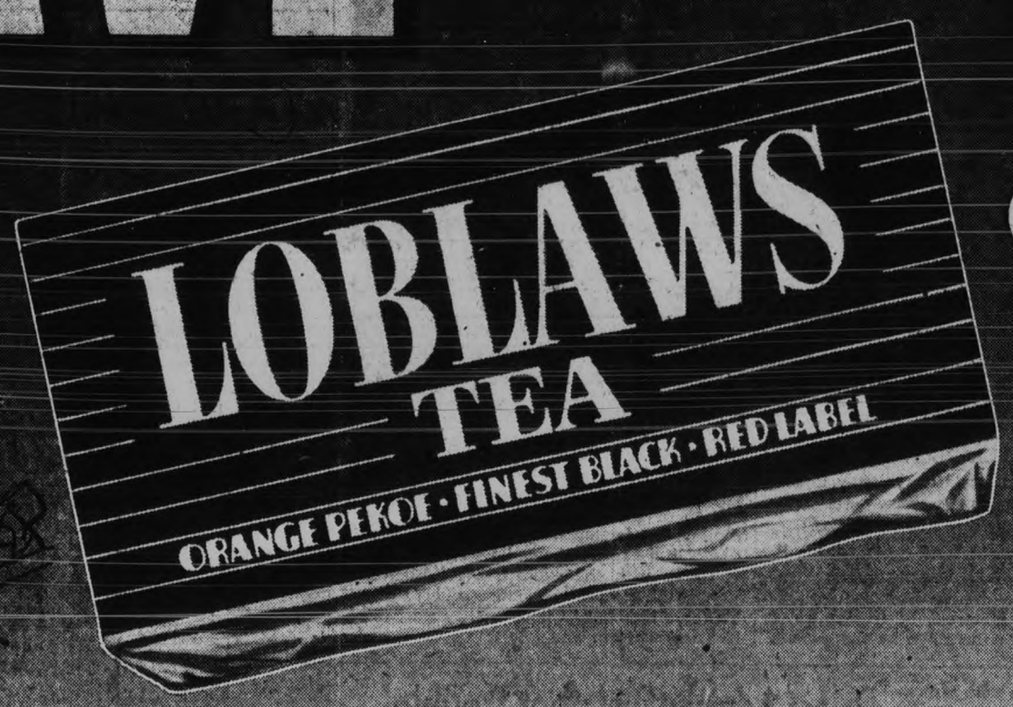
Here are the results of this test. 4 out of 5 women actually showed softer, smoother, lovelier skin—in only 2 weeks!

Get acquainted with this new idea in beauty care and let Noxzema help your skin to new natural loveliness. Here's all you do:

1. Morning—bathe face with warm water, apply Noxzema with a wet cloth and "cream-wash" your face.
2. Apply Noxzema as a powder base.
3. Evening—before retiring, repeat morning cleansing.
4. Massage Noxzema lightly into your face. Pat on extra Noxzema over any blemishes.

Lovely Rita Tennant of Vancouver says she hasn't found anything to equal Noxzema. "It's wonderful to help clear up annoying skin blemishes," says Rita. "I use it as my regular night cream."... Dainty, too. Noxzema is greaseless—doesn't stain.



Attractive Norma Forshaw, Toronto, says she now uses Noxzema religiously—morning and night. "I had the usual teen-age blemishes," she says, "but they soon vanished after using Noxzema. Now it's my regular powder base and night cream."

SPECIAL OFFER

Try it yourself! See how quickly your skin responds. Now's the best time, too—your once-a-year opportunity to get Noxzema at a special money-saving price. While this Anniversary Offer lasts, you can get the big 6-ounce 93¢ jar of Noxzema for only 79¢—at all drug and cosmetic counters.

Swollen River Adding To Cost of Power Plant

PINE FALLS, Man.—(CP)—A swollen river is increasing the cost of Manitoba's huge new power plant here.

Engineers say the Pine Falls project — last big development possible on the Winnipeg River northeast of Winnipeg—is likely to cost $21,750,000 instead of the estimated $20,000,000.

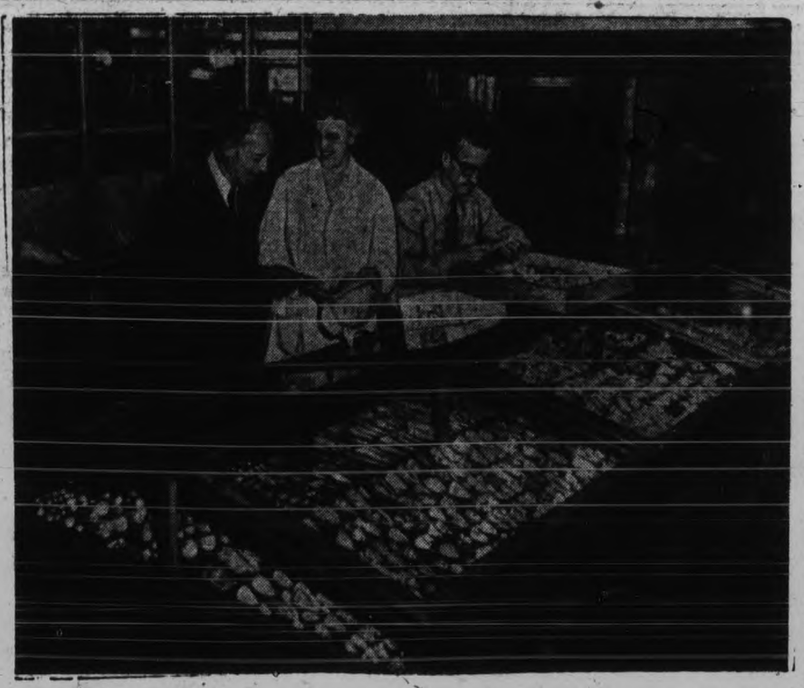
The same watershed conditions which caused the Red River flood last May are responsible.

The Winnipeg River, which drains Lake of the Woods into Lake Winnipeg, started to act up last spring. During the spring runoff it was a tumbling torrent carrying 105,000 cubic feet of water a second. Even now, when it should be flowing at a rate of 20,000 or so cubic feet a second, it is carrying 74,000.

To keep up construction schedules while fending off this tremendous water pressure has been impossible.

Engineers, facing a tight time schedule, gambled on the river: Expecting a normal spring flow, they built big coffer dams to confine the river in a narrow channel and thus speed construction from both banks.

But they lost. The river swelled until it threatened to sweep over part of the dam and a chunk of the man-made obstruction had to be blown out to relieve the pressure.



Four Months' Delay

That set back the job four months. And the summer-long flood—Lake of the Woods has been at flood stage since spring—made it impossible to close the hole caused by blasting. Only now is it becoming feasible to reduce the flow from Lake of the Woods to a point where the river channel can be narrowed again.

Most observers express greater worry over possible delay in completing the Pine Falls project than in the added cost of building. Establishment of new industries and greater domestic use of power threatens an electricity shortage. Because Manitoba's power output is fed into a connecting network of high-tension lines, almost all parts of the province would be affected.

Ultimately Pine Falls will have six generating units. The first two are scheduled for completion in November next year. Their output is expected to be taken up fully at once.

Experts say that even with six new units, there will be no surplus power in Manitoba. Hydro engineers say other projects should be started at once, if long-term demand is to be met.

ONE OF THE LARGEST collections of sea shells in the world is currently undergoing re-classification by two experts. The collection was given to McGill University's Redpath Museum in 1867 by Dr. Philip P. Carpenter, one of the world's greatest conchologists. The tremendous job of re-classifying the hundreds of thousands of shells has been undertaken by the experts through the generosity of Lovell G. Mickles, a Montreal businessman and amateur conchologist, who plans to bring the McGill collection of shells up to date, not only for display, but for teaching and research purposes. In the photo above, Lovell G. Mickles is shown with the experts, Dr. Katherine Van Winkle Palmer, of Ithaca, NY, and Vincente Conde, of Cuba, as they start the tremendous task.

Imports Illegal, Resort Fined

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Oct. 19 (CP)—Harry Frye, tourist resort owner, from nearby Bruce Mines, was fined $200 in court here Wednesday when convicted of being in possession of nearly $1,400 worth of goods illegally imported in 1948.

Defence counsel claimed the defendant had been ignorant of the provisions of the customs law and that he had "been rushed through the crossing point without an inspection."

A charge against Frye's wife of illegal possession of 25 cartons of United States cigarets was dropped when she explained they were gifts from American tourists.

Priest Adviser On Labor Trouble

EDMONTON — (CP) — The hurly-burly of the labor-management relations scene would appear a strange sphere for a gentle, 50-year-old Roman Catholic Redemptorist father.

But the Rev. J. J. Cunningham, pastor of Edmonton's St. Alphonsus Church, believes there is a real function for the clergy in helping to smooth industry's troubled path.

Recognition by both labor and management of the priest's sincere and unpartisan interest in labor problems was given recently. He was asked to act as chairman of an arbitration board to settle a six-month wages and hours dispute between the city and 1,100 civic employees.

Father Cunningham's entrance into labor relations here was made during the last packing house strike. He saw men from the plants near St. Alphonsus out of work and the city's great packing plants standing idle.

The priest organized the St. Joseph's labor school. Workers were enrolled and lectures were given by union leaders, management, government officials and churchmen.

The basic idea of the school, father Cunningham says, is that the principles of Christian social philosophy supply the key to the mutual co-operation of capital and labor.

Sarnia Goes Automatic

SARNIA, Oct. 19—(CP)—The "number please" telephone system will be replaced here, starting next week. Shortly before midnight, Saturday $2,000,000 worth of dial equipment will go into operation, replacing the manual type of operation.

May End Prov. Police

OTTAWA, Oct. 19—(CP)—The Evening Citizen said Wednesday that according to usually reliable sources, Ontario authorities are considering having the province policed by the RCMP instead of the Ontario Provincial Police. Ontario and Quebec now are the only two provinces with their own police forces.

Polio May Close School

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Authorities said Wednesday night that the public school at suburban Malton may be closed if further cases of poliomyelitis are discovered. A girl, 9, and a boy, 7, are in isolation hospital with what are termed mild cases.

Dies In Burning Plane

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Oct. 19 — Kenneth Kadarch, 22, of Montreal was killed Wednesday night in the flaming wreckage of a small plane he had flown from Quebec province. The only other occupant, passenger George Rodrique, about 40, of St. Cone, Que., suffered severe burns.

Garbage Hunters

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — There may be buried wealth in Toronto's garbage cans, thinks Street Commissioner Harold Bradley. He persuaded the Civic Works Committee Wednesday night to pay $250 a month for a survey by the Ontario Research Foundation to find out. There may be recoverable chemical wealth in such items as the 60,000 tons of paper that the civic incinerator destroys yearly, he said.

ELECTED TO PARLIAMENT —Hector Dupuis, a Montreal civic employee, was elected member of parliament for Montreal St. Mary in the Oct. 16 federal by-election. An Independent Liberal, Mr. Dupuis defeated official Liberal candidate Ignace Deslauriers.

Canned Salmon is one of Your Best Food Buys

WHY IS CANNED SALMON ONE OF YOUR BEST FOOD BUYS?

As homemakers well know, a good food buy today is a thing to latch on to. That's why so many are turning to Canned Salmon. Meal planners are discovering the penny for penny, pound for pound, thrift cost of this ready-cooked table delicacy. All meat, no waste or cut-away trim—Canned Salmon is all edible food.

Just as it comes from the can in salads or sandwiches, Canned Salmon is a taste sensation oh-so-good. Or combined with potatoes, macaroni or vegetables, it is a wonderful "extender" for appetizing hot dishes that are long on good eating yet downright economical. And here's good news for the nutrition conscious food buyer—Canned Salmon is an excellent source of food elements needed every day in balanced diets. Pick up Canned Salmon at your food store.

Business Good With Government Gang Helping

DEVON, Alta. — (CP) — Alberta's rivers are still singing the songs of the sourdoughs and Thomas Staley says it beats everything.

The way Staley pans gold today everything pans out fine, because he's virtually got the Alberta government working for him.

A little guy with a battered hat on the back of his head and a bit of graying bristle on the chin, the 64-year-old sourdough will shift his chaw of 'bacca and tell you he pans gold the same way they did 50 years ago—but he has a new twist of his own.

He has two spots on the North Saskatchewan River in this Leduc oil country. Six others are working the waters thereabouts but Staley has the spot where the government is building a bridge to replace the historic Devon ferry, overworked by the oil boom.

Gravel for the bridge construction is washed right at the site and a long flume carries the water back to the river. Staley has lined the flume with 20 feet of blanket. All he has to do is drop around every once in a while and pick up the pretty gold particles left on the blanket.

At the other location he has a mud box, 20 inches wide and four feet long, with blankets on the bottom and a screen on the top. He shovels sand into it and a one-horsepower motor pumps water from the river to wash it. He catches the gold particles on the blanket.

It takes a lot of shovelling at this spot but the stuff he sends to Vancouver assay office brings $28 an ounce and he clears about $6 a day. He splits with the gravel people his take from the flume.

Old Tom, who got his first touch of gold fever on the Fraser River, has been working the North Saskatchewan "for nigh on 16 years."

Dies Of Injuries

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 19 — (CP)—Albert Gauvin, 37, of Toronto, died in hospital Wednesday. He received severe head injuries in an automobile accident at nearby Beamsville Sunday in which eight persons were injured.

MILK can make your child's eyes shine...

JUST CHANGE IT INTO DELICIOUS RENNET DESSERTS

Apricot Surprise Rennet Desserts

½ cup sweetened apricot puree
2 cups milk (not canned)
1 package "Junket" Rennet Powder, vanilla flavor
chocolate sauce

Set out 5 or 6 dessert glasses. Distribute apricot puree amongst them. Make rennet desserts following directions on package—takes only a couple of minutes. Pour mixture at once, while still liquid, over apricot puree in dessert glasses. Do not move until set—about 10 minutes. Then chill. Just before serving, top with a small spoonful of chocolate sauce.

You don't need magic to interest children in MORE milk—only "Junket" Brand Rennet Powder or Rennet Tablets. The rennet enzyme changes milk like magic into creamy, custard-like desserts.

Customers' Corner

Packing your order may sound like a little thing, but our trained employees give it a lot of thought.

They know that it isn't right to place five pounds of flour on top of a pound of butter . . . or to place soap next to cheese.

The men and women of A&P will appreciate it if you will let them have any suggestions as to how they can make a handier package for you to take home.

Home and School Association News

BRIDGENORTH SCHOOL

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, addressed the Bridgenorth Home and School Association Tuesday evening speaking in regard to rearing of children through the forces of home, church and school.

"In the home the child needs security, understanding, serenity and a sense of humor between the parents. He should not be expected to attend church without the example being set by them," said Miss Young. "The school is where he receives his formal education," she added.

Items of interest from her daily work were also related by the speaker.

The Barbershop Choristers of Peterborough favored with several song selections, a quartette singing "The old songs" and "My Coney Island Baby," and the sextette, "I have a dream dear." The gentlemen were L. Maguire, B. Baldwin, B. Edger, J. Porter, V. Farrant and J. Murphy.

President Mrs. Earl Blewett welcomed the many members and friends attending. Reports were given by Mrs. C. Ray, Jr., field day convener, and Mrs. C. Hartman, graduation exercises convener. Health folders were displayed by Mrs. L. Lillow. Mrs. M. Hutchinson for parent education announced opening of home classes to begin November 2. A total of 61 members to date was reported by Mrs. E. Whitehill.

Mr. Bruce Patterson, principal at Bridgenorth, spoke on the new curriculum and homework.

Announcement was made of the masquerade dance being held by Bridgenorth Home and School at the Pines Pavilion on Saturday, October 28. Also of a public speaking contest to be held in Bridgenorth United Church, Monday, October 23, between pupils from schools of Smith, Harvey and North Monaghan.

Mrs. A. Connors extended a vote of thanks to Miss Young and after adjourning the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. K. Blewett and her committee.

ANCIENT SPIKE

HALIFAX (CP). — An eight-inch hand-made spike more than 200 years old was removed from one of the beams under the flooring of St. Paul's Church and will probably go to the Nova Scotia museum. It is thought the spike was brought from Boston when St. Paul's, oldest Anglican church in Canada, was built in 1750. The church now has been reinforced with cement.

Of Interest to Women

H & S Studies Dental Care And Citizenship

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 19 (ENS)—The Home and School Association heard an address on dental health from Dr. J. Craig of Peterborough and a talk by Mel Kingdon of the public school on citizenship at the October meeting this week.

Dr. Craig, past president of Peterborough Dental Association, explained that a million babies are born every year in Canada. In three years 50 per cent of them have dental decay; in four years 70 per cent, and in five years 95 per cent. The average per child is 6.7 cavities which means there are between twenty and twenty-five million unfilled cavities and only 5,000 dentists in Canada. The condition is growing worse due to the increased consumption of sugar and refined carbohydrates, he said.

There are three known ways of controlling tooth decay. First, building of a healthy tooth by adequate diet, (2) regular care—always clean teeth within ten minutes of eating (3) visit dentist regularly, he said.

Dr. Craig also said there were fewer teeth deformities in children who were breast-fed.

A movie on dental health was also shown.

Mr. C. J. Davis was introduced by Mr. Kingdon. Because Canada was bilingual, everyone should speak and write both English and French, he said.

There was a great deal of prejudice in Ontario against the French, due mostly to ignorance, he declared. He advocated family prayer once a day, no matter what the religion.

The influence of motion pictures on citizens was not always the best. More emphasis should be placed on history, literature and geography in our schools, he said. Mr. Davis also said a satisfying Canadian history is yet to be written.

Stanley Burger thanked the guest speakers. Mrs. Clarence Coons, president of the Home and School, presided.

Prize for parent attendance was won by principal E. G. Sloan's room.

Mrs. Vera Deck, secretary, gave her report, and Mrs. T. Last, treasurer gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. L. Fraser reported a profit of $2.85 at the booth at the field day. Each child was given a free treat. Mrs. Mel Kingdon, citizenship convener, was in charge of the program.

The president invited everyone to attend the card party which the Home and School is holding in Memorial Hall on Friday evening. Lunch was served by the mothers of Mr. Sloan's students and Mrs. Eric Anderson, social convener.

Britain Gives Better Status To Domestics

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON —(CP)— A new state-trained British "army" badly needs recruits.

Its members call themselves "trained houseworkers" and their purpose is to help combat the after-war antipathy to domestic service.

Recruits spend six months at a government training school, receiving a salary of 19s ($2.95) weekly. Instruction includes first aid and home nursing, how to get along with a family, how to shop and cook, do general domestic chores and be a handy-man on fuses and other household gadgets.

The girls are also expected to be skilled in fine and heavy laundry as well as hand and machine sewing. At graduation, the lucky ones leave with a diploma from the National Institute of Houseworkers and prospective employers are told:

"You may employ our houseworkers only if you agree to our standards of wages and conditions."

These include a minimum wage of £2 1s. 6d. with 30s. extra for living out, a 48-hour week, 1½ days off a week and time off for all recognized holidays. A two-weeks paid holiday yearly, with three weeks for five-year diploma-holders, is also guaranteed.

Asked if housewives would be willing to accept these conditions if the number of state-trained houseworkers became so great that women could pick and choose, Mrs. Marion Spikes, chief officer at the London headquarters, said:

"I don't think we shall have any trouble at all over that."

Most authorities agree. Anyway, the test is a long way off. So far there are fewer than 1,200 of these smartly-dressed girls in blue cotton dresses and beige collars and cuffs. Prospective employers range in the six-figure category.

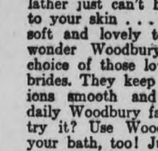
No Wonder it's so popular with so many popular hostesses! — for Canned Salmon, served cold in a salad or sandwiches — or hot in a casserole dish — is a flavour-favourite with everyone. And there's no waste, for every last morsel of the salmon in the can is perfectly cooked and ready to eat. Try this CANNED SALMON dish — for a "just-us-family" treat — or next time you entertain — (it costs less than 14c a serving!):—

Canned Salmon Ring with Curry: Boil 1½ Cups rice and place in a well-buttered mold and keep hot in oven. Prepare 1 Cup medium White Sauce, add 1 Tbspn. Curry Powder, then flake 1 Lb. can of salmon and add to sauce. Place rice ring on platter, pour curried salmon in center and garnish with parsley. Serve with buttered green beans. Serves six.

You Can Have Your "Meat"—And Budget, Too! It's so simple — so economical—to add the meaty flavour of beefy-good BOVRIL to all your meals. Bovril is so good in soups — in stews — in gravies . . . and as a hot drink on a cold day. Try this Bovril recipe:

Bovril Bouillon.
2 medium carrots
4 stocks celery
1 medium onion
4 or 5 sprigs parsley
2 bay leaves
3 cloves
3 peppercorns
1 tspn. salt
Slivers of lemon rind
1 1/2 tbspn. Bovril Concentrate (or Bovril Cordial to taste)
Cut up vegetables, and simmer with spices, in 1½ quarts of boiling salted water for 2 hours. Strain off liquid and add 1½ tbspn. Bovril Extract. Serve hot with thin lemon slices.



Absolutely Free! . . . here are cardboard cut-out toys your youngsters will be thrilled to own! Designed by the folks at Heinz (and very well, too!) . . . there are big cardboard cut-out trains or make-believe modern kitchens to delight both boys and girls. All you do to get yours is purchase 6 tins of that delicious HEINZ CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP at regular prices.
